Chamber Slates "Our Story" Conf. With Speaker Basu

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce officials have announced plans for a conference to review the progress and status of county business and to forecast its future.

Titled "Our Story," the Jan. 31 all-day program of presentations and seminars will feature the author of Maryland's annual "Economic Outlook" since 1995, Anirban Basu of RESI Research and Consulting of Towson University. "We are extremely excited to secure the expertise of someone of the stature of Anirban," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO of the chamber.

Producer and publisher of the Maryland Statistical Abstract, Basu will present the economics of Garrett County business. Joining him in addressing the anticipated crowd of approximately 100 at Garrett College will be Carol Arscott of The Washington Post. The columnist, who is also a partner in the polling firm of Gonzales-Arscott Associates, will speak on the new politics in Annapolis and its effect on Garrett County. An authority on vocational and higher education issues will also join these two major presenters.

"But the program doesn't end there," Ross said. "Internet marketing, information technology, telecommunications, the tourism industry, small business, and general rural development issues must be addressed as well."

Those attending the conference may receive continuing education credits from Garrett College as arranged by Lowell Bender, whose office will handle registration.

Members of the chamber will pay a fee of $35 for the 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. program, which includes lunch by BumBle Q's and a copy of the proceedings of the meeting. Non-members will pay

THE YEAR'S FIRST LITTLE ONE at Garrett County Memorial Hospital made her debut this morning at 3:16 a.m. Brittany Kathryn Moats, the hospital's official New Year's baby, arrived at that early hour, weighing in at 6 pounds, 13.6 ounces, born to her proud parents, Melissa and John Moats of Aurora, W.Va. She will go home soon and join her three sisters, Tiffany, 6, Katelyn, 5, and Alyssa Myers, 10. For now, the 19-inch babe will be wrapped tightly and doted on by the maternity nurses, and mommy Melissa will get some much-needed sleep. Brittany was delivered by Dr. Karl Schwalm. Congratulations, Moats family!

Two W.Va. Men Jailed After Gun, CDS Found In Car

Two West Virginia men were jailed by Maryland State Police troopers after a traffic stop on Interstate 68 near Friendsville Sunday evening. The odor of suspected burnt marijuana led troopers to undertake a search of the pair's vehicle, and more than nine grams of suspected marijuana and a handgun were discovered hidden in the car.

Shortly after 6 p.m., a 1999 Chevrolet sedan was stopped for speeding on the westbound I-68 at Bear Creek. The driver, Frank Jeter, 23, Morgantown, and his passenger, Jonathan Jackson, 24, Huntington,

Lawmakers Hold Annual Meeting; Sand Flat Residents Voice Concerns

Senator John Hafer (R) and Delegate George Edwards (R) held their annual pre-legislative meeting this week at the Discovery Center, Deep Creek Lake State Park. Nearly 50 persons attended the event to hear about upcoming General Assembly issues and to voice their concerns about them.

Eight residents who live along or access Sand Flat and New Germany roads were concerned about a legislative request that the Board of Garrett County Commissioners recently presented to Hafer and Edwards.

The commissioners asked that legislation be introduced which would increase the maximum weight limit of vehicles allowed on county roads to 80,000 pounds. This would be consistent with the limits for state highways.

Currently, vehicles weighing more than 73,000 pounds must use state roads or risk being fined by law enforcement officers. Some truckers, however, reportedly take that risk and use Sand Flat Road as a shortcut between state Routes 135 and 219, rather than going through Oakland at the routes' junction.

Sand Flat resident Alden Andersen told the lawmakers that the road was not designed for "big rigs" and allowing them on the road would make the already dangerous road even more so.

He described the road as "one of the most dangerous in Garrett County to travel on" because of its lack of shoulders, narrowness, hilliness, and numerous blind curves.

"This does a great disservice to the bulk of those in Garrett County," Andersen said about the proposed legislation. He said it might benefit "special interest groups," but not the majority of the residents.

Andersen said that as a volunteer fire department member, he has responded to many vehicle accidents that occurred on Sand Flat. Four major accidents occurred in front of his home, two of which resulted in damage to his property, he said.

"I would like to go on record," said Andersen,

COMPANY DONATES LIFESAVING DEVICE – Randy Ashby of Ashby Fire Equipment Company, Oakland, donated an MSA (Mine Safety Appliances Company) Evolution® 3000 thermal imaging camera (TIC) to the county this week. The device, which looks like a bulky camcorder, translates a thermal picture into an electrical picture and then a visual image for the human eye. When one looks through the lens at that image, hot items appear white, and cold items appear black. Between temperatures appear as gradients of gray. Valued at "a little over" $20,000, the TIC can measure as little as .02 degree difference in the heat of objects, Ashby said. Because it relies on the thermal energy emitted by all objects and not reflected visible light, the thermal imager can provide vision capability when no light is present, such as in a smoky building, up to one mile away. Firefighters could pinpoint the exact location of a trapped victim before they enter a burning building. The imager can also detect residual body heat in a car seat left by an accident victim. Rescue personnel could use the imager to determine how many victims were in the car prior to the crash and look for those who may have been thrown from the scene. When the TIC is hooked up to a television/VCR combination, several persons can view the images at the same time and help with a rescue. Those images could be recorded for future reference and used in training sessions. The camera will be shared by area volunteer fire departments and rescue squads, both in and outside Garrett County. Brad Frantz, director of Garrett County Department of Emergency Management, said one representative from each group will receive training on how to use the TIC. Ashby, who has sold the devices for 10 years, offered to help train the personnel. He said he wanted to give something back to the community, which has been very good to him. His company has been in business for more than 40 years and was founded by his late father William and mother Joanne. Ashby is pictured above, left, presenting the camera to Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Fred Holliday, and David Beard, with Frantz.

GLAF Receives $4,200 Grant From PennPAT

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has been awarded $4,200 by Pennsylvania Arts on Tour (PennPAT), a program of the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation. The grant will help fund the June 28, 2003, performance of Paragon Ragtime Orchestra.

According to a GLAF spokesperson, the $4,200 grant is the second highest award given by PennPAT in the state of Maryland for 2002-2003. It is second only behind the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center in College Park. A total of four awards were given to Maryland presenters.

PennPAT awarded a total of $175,715 in Presenter Fee Support and New Directions grants. Supporting 58 performance engagements, these awards will give 34 PennPAT roster artists an opportunity to tour throughout the region and reach new audiences. Grants were awarded in Washington, D.C., Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

The June 28 performance

Traffic Rerouted Following Tractor Trailer Accident

Traffic was rerouted for several hours along Route 50 near Red House Thursday morning following an accident involving a tractor trailer, which was hauling nine fiberboard rolls, each weighing 5,200 pounds, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

The Dick Harris & Son Trucking Company, Blountville, Tenn., truck was operated by Christopher Hilton, 27, Palling Waters, W.Va., who was treated for injuries at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

According to police, the truck was rounding a curve when the tires went into the snow on the westbound shoulder. The driver stated that he overcorrected his steering, which caused the load to shift in the trailer. The shifting load caused the trailer to go off the roadway and down an embankment.

The momentum of the trailer pulled the tractor with it, police said. The trailer struck a cement drainage culvert, which split the trailer portion into two pieces, then the trailer broke from the tractor portion near the drive wheels. The trailer was destroyed, police

Rural Legacy Meeting Set In Accident

A public meeting detailing Garrett County's Rural Legacy Program, including information on the potential for land preservation in the Accident area, is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 8, at the Accident town hall. The intent of the program is to preserve the county's farmland and woodlands by purchasing the development rights from willing sellers.

The Rural Legacy Program was recently awarded $750,000, which will enable the county to make financial offers to purchase development rights from willing sellers in the Bear Creek Drainage Basin in the Accident area. Property owners will be offered the average of two appraisals for their development rights and will retain all other property rights.

The informational meeting will also provide an update of the current year's program and a review of next year's application to the Department of Natural Resources. All property owners within the drainage basin interested in information on the program and all persons who have particular questions regarding the design and intent of the Rural Legacy Program are encouraged to attend.

For further information, persons may contact Rural Legacy Program administrator Wendell Keaton at 301-387-9465.

"Wind Farm" Proposal Set For Public Hearing Tuesday

The Maryland Public Service Commission (PSC) has slated a two-part public hearing at the Garrett County Courthouse to discuss the proposed Allegheny Heights Windpower Facility, an electricity generating plant composed of as many as 67 300-foot-tall wind turbines, that California-based Clipper Windpower is seeking permission to construct along the ridgeline of Backbone Mountain in southern Garrett County.

The hearing, which will take place in the second-floor Courthouse meeting room of the Garrett County board of commissioners, will be divided into two sessions. The first installment, slated for 10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 7, will focus on an examination of testimony taken by the PSC, to date, both supporting and opposing the project. A second session starting at 7 p.m. that same evening will allow for additional public comment to be provided by interested citizens (within time guidelines). If necessary, the process of examining previous testimony that began Tuesday morning will be continued the following morning, Wednesday, Jan. 8, at 10 a.m., also in the commissioner's meeting room.

Although the normal PSC decision-making process takes two years, state officials have decided to expedite the commission's review of the proposal in order to render its approval or disapproval within the next few months. Clipper had requested that the process be expedited in order to begin building the facility early this spring. The quick turn-around is sought because federal tax breaks available to new wind farms are slated to expire by the end of the year.

The courthouse hearings will focus on the testimony provided to date by the California based company and those who have gone on record with concerns about the project, including bird enthusiasts from across the state and Garrett County. A group of expert ornithologists have submitted testimony disputing Clipper Windpower's contention that the turbines will pose no threat to numerous birds that use western Maryland as a migratory corridor each spring and fall.

"We know a lot of birds use that area; what we don't know is whether they'll strike the {turbine} towers," noted bird biologist and author Chandler Robbins, Ph.D., commented. The Maryland resident and others are asking that migratory bird flight patterns be studied next spring and again next fall before the project gains final state approval in the form of a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Public Service Commission giving the go-ahead for the 101-megawatt wind farm.

"The Canadian Atlas of Bird Banding shows that banded birds from all across Canada funnel into the Appalachian region during fall migration," said Robbins, who has over 50 years' experience observing migration patterns of hawks, songbirds, and other species in western Maryland and

Christmas Trees To Be Accepted For Recycling

In cooperation with the Oakland Timberjax Tree Service, the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling has announced the ninth annual Christmas tree recycling event. Christmas trees from Garrett County residents will be accepted for recycling on Saturday, Jan. 11, or they may be brought to the landfill.

Residents of southern Garrett County may bring trees to the Southern High School athletic parking lot next to Dennett Road Elementary School on Jan. 11 between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and noon.

Persons living in the northern part of the county may bring their trees to the Grantsville Municipal Building parking lot next to the Grantsville Town Park on Jan. 11 between the hours of 1:30 and 4 p.m.

If the weather is bad on the 11th, the date will be changed to Jan. 18.

Trees may also be brought to the landfill until Feb. 1, 2003, during normal business hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The tree drop-off at the landfill will be free of charge. (Municipalities delivering loads will be charged $20 per ton, a spokesperson noted.)

Persons bringing trees for recycling are welcome to bring containers for the mulch. The trees should be completely free of decoration, including tinsel and/or icicles.

The Christmas tree recycling program is available to all Garrett County residents. Persons are not required to have refuse permits.

Cardboard Collection

Cardboard can now be taken to the Bumble Bee Road collection site for recycling. This is in addition to the already established cardboard sites at the landfill and in Grantsville. Recycling sites are free to the local public. Refuse site permits are not required for recycling.

For more information, persons may call the solid waste and recycling office at 301-387-0322.

A CHRISTMAS VILLAGE – Betty Beachy, Grantsville, began a collection of Christmas village pieces in 1985 and now the village totals more than 50 buildings. Among the various pieces are a library, a school, a bank, and even a Hershey's chocolate factory. The most expensive, according to Beachy, were the light houses. The buildings have been purchased from all over the area as well as New Hampshire, Ocean City, and Eldersberg. There are some made by Dickens, Artland Valley, and Department 56, and Beachy said it took six hours the Saturday after Thanksgiving to set them all up on one light switch. The first piece that she purchased was from JoAnn Fabrics. "Several people have been here to see them. It's something I really enjoy doing," Beachy said. "The hard part will be taking them all down and putting them away." Beachy also has many snowmen, and her family feels that this will be the next big collection.

"that I will be the first to volunteer as a witness in a court case involving the first accident on Sand Flat Road where there is a loss of life. I implore those assembled here not to consider this legislation. Please consider my plea and consider the welfare of those who use the road."

Tim Williams, Troy Ellington, Barbara Pritts, Gary Wright, and Jim DaMato also asked the lawmakers not to support the proposed legislation.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital physician Soltiere Savopoulos said he often had to treat emergency room patients from accidents on Sand Flat.

The doctor, who owns property along Sand Flat, said he has had "close encounters" himself with tractor trailers riding his bumper and asked why the weight limit increase was being considered.

Bobby Andersen, Alden's wife, said she thought the reason was to create a temporary bypass for Oakland, since truckers getting ticketed on Sand Flat have to go through Oakland, which creates more congestion for the town.

Edwards said the proposed legislation was not intended to replace the Oakland U.S. Route 219 bypass. He said that project was still in the works, but progress had been slow because of funding difficulties.

The delegate said he could not answer for the county commissioners as to the reason for their legislative request and suggested that the residents meet with them as soon as possible.

The Andersens and other Sand Flat residents will meet with the commissioners on Tuesday, Jan. 7, at 9 a.m. The meeting is open to the public and will be held in the commissioners' meeting room at the courthouse in Oakland.

Hafer thanked the Sand Flat Road residents for informing him. He said whether the legislation is introduced in the General Assembly or not, safety issues concerning the road needed to be addressed at some point.

The 417th General Assembly convenes next week on Jan. 8. The local lawmakers warned the residents that this year's session was full of unknowns.

With the election of several new senators and delegates, as well as the first Republican governor in the state since Spiro Agnew in 1966, the lawmakers said many changes were in store for them.

"We probably know less going into the session this year than ever before," said Hafer. "We are going to Annapolis not knowing people."

Hafer noted that of eight committee chairs in the Senate, only two were returning this session. He added that the heads of the Maryland Department of the Environment, Department of Agriculture, and Department of Natural Resources were as yet unknown.

Hafer and Edwards said, however, that since they do have seniority, are on several important committees, and as Republicans that they were in strong positions to get their issues heard by their fellow lawmakers.

"I'll be in the forefront. You may not hear about it, but I'll be there," said Hafer about making his district's concerns heard.

A greater challenge facing Maryland lawmakers this session, however, will be trying to balance the budget by June with a state deficit of $580 to 600 million.

"We have our work cut out for us," warned Hafer. "This is going to be very serious."

"A lot of tough decisions must be made," said Edwards. He said everything was "on the table for consideration" this year. The lawmakers may just have to "bite the bullet" to balance the budget and try to recoup next year, said the delegate.

Several individuals attending the pre-legislative meeting asked Hafer and Edwards, despite the budget woes, to not cut mental health services, education, and state employee benefits and wages.

Susan Athey-Oxford, president/CEO of Partnership for Children and Families, suggested that if cuts have to be made, that they be done with "results-based accountability." Programs that are not working could be cut or "reshaped," she said.

Hafer said Governor-elect Robert Ehrlich would be making a telephone number available for citizens to report governmental inefficiencies to him. The senator asked residents to take the opportunity to make lawmakers aware of those inefficiencies.

Edwards invited residents to call him and Hafer in Annapolis with their concerns, suggestions, and questions.

"We'll get you answers," said Edwards. "You may not always like the answers, but we'll get you answers."

The delegate's number is 1-800-492-7122, ext. 3435. Hafer may be reached at that number as well at ext. 3565.

The pre-legislative meeting was co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Garrett County. The league and lawmakers will hold another meeting in the county midway through the legislative term to update residents on the General Assembly's activities and proposed laws.

Men Jailed

were charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and illegal possession of a firearm, according to Tfc. Keith Stakem. The 9 mm handgun was seized by police during the search.

Both Jeter and Jackson were later released from the Garrett County Jail on their own recognizance.

Frederick Man Arrested For Drunk Driving

A Frederick man was arrested on drunk driving charges after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a call in reference to a vehicle stuck in a snow drift along Oakland Sang Run Road Wednesday night.

Thomas Lindsey Korrell, 22, was in the driver's seat of the vehicle while two other males were attempting to push the vehicle out. Korrell did not complete field sobriety tests to the deputy's satisfaction, and was charged with driving under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI).

Korrell was later released.

Pa. Woman Charged In Accident That Injures Two Others

A Somerset County, Pa., woman faces charges filed by Maryland State Police after her vehicle rear-ended a car just off Interstate 68 Friday afternoon, slightly injuring both of its occupants.

Deborah Meyers, 45, Meyersdale, was driving a 1998 Ford Bronco II that struck a 1994 Mercury Topaz from behind. The Topaz, operated by Lisa Singell, 30, Grantsville, was attempting to merge onto northbound Bittinger Road from the westbound interstate when the collision occurred. Both Singell and her passenger, Beatrice Brown, 65, also of Grantsville, were transported by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where both were treated and released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Meyers was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

SGCRWC DONATES TO AREA SCHOOLS – The Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club brought its annual "No Child Left Behind" program to a close recently by making two additional donations to a pair of area schools, Bloomington and Kitzmiller Elementary. Initiated by President George W. Bush, the program strives to support quality education for all children. The GOP women pooled their efforts with the local Woodmen of the World chapter to provide requested school items. Pictured above, from the left, are SGCRWC Ways and Means committee chair JoAnne Glotfelty, left, as she presents a United States flag, a "No Child Left Behind" certificate, and a donation check for the purchase of library books to Bloomington principal James Morris, as WOW field representative Linda Sanders presents a U.S. flag. Shown below, WOW representative Linda Sanders presents a U.S. flag to Kitzmiller principal Barbara Baker, as SGCRWC Publicity chair Nita Roberts also presents a Maryland flag, a certificate, and a check toward the purchase of Accelerated Reader books.

a fee of $50 if they register before Jan. 17. Corporate sponsorships are also available, as well as exhibit space.

"We are looking for the majority of those attending to be chamber members and representatives of other Garrett County businesses, but we have invited people from across the state who are interested in our area's business opportunities," Ross said. Educators, government officials, business owners, financial and insurance groups, utilities, developers, advertising and marketing firms, and media companies are among those invited to the event.

"By the time the conference ends we will have 'Our Story,' and we will be ready to broadcast it to the entire business community of Garrett County and our interstate region, statewide, nationally and internationally. It is a great step for Garrett," Ross concluded.

the surrounding region. "The preferred route of nocturnal migrants, which must fly hundreds or thousands of miles on their own muscle power, is to take advantage of the rising air currents along the mountain ridges. The numbers flying over in a single night can be in the millions, and based on height measurements of migrants in New York, one quarter of those could be flying low enough to be hit by the blades.

"The towers are required to be lighted, whether or not the blades are turning. Migrating birds are attracted to lights at night, [and] in studying migration at the Washington Monument, I observed that birds stop striking the monument immediately when the floodlights are turned off. Lines of lighted towers may tend to concentrate the birds in the immediate vicinity of the towers even more than a single tower would. Research along these lines is desperately needed prior to construction of a large array of towers," Robbins told the PSC during a recent hearing downstate.

In response to such concerns, DNR has already recommended 21 conditions that wind companies must agree to before receiving permission to locate in the state. Clipper Windpower has agreed to these stipulations, including one that mandates its turbines be shut down a total of 3,600 hours (in aggregate) each year during periods of peak bird migration. That figure averages out to 54 hours per turbine over the course of a year. "We're comfortable with that," Clipper Eastern Regional leader Kevin Rackstraw said from his Bethesda office last week, "although it's never been asked of us before in any project we've proposed."

The state is also requiring that wind companies monitor bird mortality rates for three years after operations begin. "If it's determined there is a mortality, we'll submit a report to the PSC, which would make a judgment on what, if any, condition should occur," said DNR's Paul Massicot, director of Resource Assessment Services for the agency. Another of the 21 stipulations will require the company to notify DNR if more than 200 birds are killed in a 24-hour period, and be subject to a turbine shutdown if the state deems it necessary.

Wind energy proponents say that concern over possible bird kills is overstated. While older lattice-style wind turbines, often supported with guy wires, had rapidly-spinning blades and were confirmed to have resulted in the deaths of and injuries to many thousands of birds in California, newer technology, including solid free-standing towers and blades that turn at slower speeds, are pointed to as mitigating potential bird dangers.

Project detractors, including Robbins, have said they do not oppose windpower per se, but insist that full studies be completed before the turbines are constructed. "I favor renewable energy sources, including wind turbines, if they can be located in situations away from major migration pathways, and if scientific, peer-reviewed on-site studies of degree of hazard to migratory birds are conducted prior to construction." If the facility does go up, Robbins added that a fine system should be in place for each bird killed or wounded by the turbines.

Oakland resident Jon Boone has also delivered formal testimony before the PSC opposing the project, focusing on dangers to birds, the visual impact of the towers on the county's highest ridgeline, and Clipper's stated expected economic windfall for the county.

Among several points Boone made in regard to the claimed economic benefits was in his view "the most significant claim ... that [Clipper] would contribute up to one-half million dollars a year in on-going business taxes ... however, the business personal property tax is gradually being

A Wordy Resolution...

Even though the great majority of New Year's resolutions are broken within a month or so, there is something to be said for making an attempt. Many of us use the turn of the new year to at least take a quick look at ourselves, both inside and out, recognize that we have some areas of deficiency, and then make a stab at some form of self-improvement.

There is one area of needed improvement that this writer wishes many in the world of journalism would address — proper use of the English language. Just being in this business makes one super sensitized to the misuse of grammar by anyone, but far more so by those who hold advanced degrees in the profession. Some of them, such as television anchors, are being paid millions.

Just today on CNN, the word (non-word) "snuck" was used repeatedly in reference to some suspicious Mideastern individuals who have reportedly sneaked into the United States. (Yes, sneaked is the correct word.)

Another pet peeve is the phrase "try and..."; e.g., "Those on each side of the issue will try and negotiate a settlement." No. Wrong, wrong, wrong! It makes no sense. It says that they will try and they will negotiate, but what they mean to say is they will try to negotiate.

Perhaps the most common misuse is that of the words lie and lay. "The dog was laying on the floor." "I'm going to go lay down." "The book was laying on the table." Wrong, wrong, and wrong. (Diane Sawyer, take note.) Lying, lie, and lying are the respective correct words in the preceding examples. Lay, in the present tense, means to "put or place." "Please lay the book on the table." The confusing part is that the word is also the past tense of the word lie. "I lay on the couch this morning"; not "laid," for laid is the past tense of lay (put or place). "I laid the book on the table yesterday."

Oh, and then there are the words its and it's. Not one in 10 know the proper usage, including many walking around with master's degrees in public relations. "It's" is always, always, always the contraction for "it is." When one is using the word to show possession, the correct spelling is always, always, always "its." "The dog injured its foot." No apostrophe. This is confusing because in nearly every other case of possession we should use the apostrophe. "The dog's foot is injured."

Yes, this all seems petty, and heaven knows there are about 6,000 other issues that are probably more important. Forgiveness is also begged for the possible smugness of this column today. But language is far more important than many realize, and it would be nice if at least those who work in the media would make a resolution to use it correctly, and then follow through (the likelihood of which is similar to following through on the resolution to "lose 40 pounds and get in shape").

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

A politician I'm not, but I'm not blind either. This country as a whole is hurting. A person can't blame Al Gore for not wanting to run for president in 2004. The way we are going, we might be in another depression by then.

The president needs to be doing a little more for this country instead of occupying all his thoughts overseas. If we are going to do something over there, we need to do it, instead of talking about it. The more we talk just gives them more time to group or build something that's going to hurt this country.

I believe that if we would have done it right the first time, we wouldn't be here again spending our taxpayers' money to fight the same battle. Then again, that might be the Republicans' way of thinking.

James Tasker
Oakland

To the Editor:

Before Christmas, my mom, Elaine Upperman, put a notice in The Republican to write to a "Lonely Sailor." This was the first Christmas that I would not spend at home.

I was shocked when, during mail call the week of Christmas, I received many cards from home. A few people who sent mail I knew, but many I did not. What a wonderful surprise it was to open my mail! One person even sent the ad from the paper, and the picture from the front page.

The caring of people here really made me feel good. Duty on the ship Christmas Eve was not so hard with the thought of each person's generosity in my thoughts. This letter is to very sincerely thank each person who sent mail to GSMFR Lloyd on the ship O'Bannon. The people of Garrett County are "The Greatest."

Sincerely,
Vicki Lloyd
GSMFA O'Bannon

To the Editor:

I hope that while the county officials are in the state of euphoria over the new industrial park at Keyser's Ridge, that they also protect what little history there is at that site.

1. The remnants of the Braddock's Trail are located through there, and it is important to try to preserve what is left of them.

2. The six graves that are located behind Tom Menges's garage. These graves are those of members of my family. Robert Ross who is buried there was a stage coach driver for the Colonial Road. It was his choice and his family's to be buried there. There is a grandson, a small DeHaven child lying beside Grandmother Rachel Ross. There is a small tree that is also part of that cemetery. Please don't allow anything to happen to this sacred piece of ground.

I know that they claim how many jobs this will create, but we all know how that goes. Look at the lake.

I just wish this county would consider the history that is being destroyed in this county. That beautiful courthouse that use to be in Oakland, and the new section that is an eyesore to even look at. Tear it off and restore the courthouse the way it was.

I haven't said much in the last few years, but I couldn't let this industrial park get by without trying to preserve some of the historical value that is there and to make my feelings known about that courthouse.

Thanks to The Republican for giving us a chance to express our opinions. I buy the paper so I can keep up on the issues that are important to me and someday to our grandchildren.

Fitzwater Heavy Towing and Maryland State Highway Administration personnel removed the truck and the contents. The Sheriff's Office was assisted at the scene by Gorman and Aurora fire departments.

In other police news, Roger Franklin Beckman, 45, Oakland, was arrested and charged with drunk driving offenses late Friday night after deputies observed his vehicle crossing the center line.

After failing the field sobriety tests, Beckman was arrested and charged with driving under the influence (DUI), driving while impaired (DWI), and failure to drive right of center.

Beckman was released on his personal recognizance after seeing a district court commissioner.

Deputies also arrested Jennie Rebecca Meyers, 25, Swanton, after her vehicle was observed failing to drive right of center early Sunday morning.

Meyers was charged with DUI, DWI, failure to drive right of center, failure to display license on demand, and driver consuming an alcoholic beverage in passenger area of vehicle on highway.

10 Keys For Success With New Year's Weight Loss

Nearly everyone sees the New Year as a chance to make a new start or an important change. Many of us make formal resolutions, and up to 60 percent of them involve improving our health or appearance.

Certified trainer and fitness guru James Villepigue, author of the popular Body Sculpting Bible for men and women, offers these suggestions for forming good resolutions and then sticking with them.

1. SET REASONABLE GOALS. Losing 30 pounds in a month is neither realistic nor safe. A better goal is 1 to 2 pounds a week. If you set an unattainable goal, you'll only get discouraged when you fail.

2. REMEMBER ALL THE BENEFITS. While you may start an exercise program to improve your appearance, don't forget all the other benefits. Regular exercise helps relieve stress, improve energy levels, and helps prevent heart attacks, strokes, osteoporosis, and a wide range of other health problems.

3. START WITH SMALL GOALS THAT LEAD TO BIG REWARDS. If going to a gym every day seems impossible with your schedule, don't give up on exercise entirely. Add a little exercise to your day — take the stairs, walk on your lunch hour. Hit the gym just once a week, and as you start to feel your energy increase, you'll be motivated to find more time in your week.

4. BUILD IN REWARDS. Although a healthier body should be its own reward, sometimes it helps to get something tangible in return for your hard work. When you hit a goal, reward yourself with a massage, a new outfit, or a movie night out with friends (just avoid the jumbo popcorn!).

5. PICK UP THE WEIGHTS. Despite common misconceptions, weight lifting won't make you stiff or give women big "bulky" muscles. In fact, weight training with dumbbells or a resistance machine helps burn fat, build lean muscle tissue, and can even help fight osteoporosis and heart disease.

6. AVOID "GET THIN QUICK" SCHEMES. If it sounds too good to be true, it is. From "fat burning" diet pills (dangerous) to electronic ab stimulators (really!), the promise of results without effort is just a marketing gimmick designed to reduce your wallet--not your waistline.

7. DON'T GO IT ALONE. Proper diet and exercise go hand in hand. One without the other is a recipe for failure. Just because you walked for 30 minutes doesn't mean you can reward yourself with a pint of your favorite ice cream.

8. BE AWARE OF YOUR CHOICES. Put extra thought into making wise food selections. Choose lean chicken or fish in place of steak, take steamed vegetables instead of mashed potatoes, and skip the heavy sauces and gravy. Just thinking about what and how much you eat can make all the difference in the world.

9. FIND THE FUN. Getting in shape doesn't have to mean the same workout day after day. Enjoy yourself. Find a great exercise class. Go dancing. Ride a bike. Get a dog and talk it for long walks. Experiment with cuisine around the world while making healthy meals. Join a walking or hiking club.

10. REMEMBER THAT HEALTH STARTS AT HOME. While the obesity rate for all Americans is climbing, the rate for children and teenagers is particularly alarming. Everyone in the family can benefit from joining you in healthy activities and better meals, and you'll help them develop good habits for life.

If you have any trouble staying with your fitness plan, Villepigue has a suggestion. "Visualize or see yourself the way you want to look. Use these mental images to fuel your determination to achieve success," he said.

James Villepigue is an ISSA certified personal trainer and nationally recognized authority on health and exercise. His new books, "The Body Sculpting Bible for Abs: Men's Edition" and "The Body Sculpting Bible for Abs: Women's Edition" are available from booksellers everywhere.

COMIN' OUT THE OTHER SIDE

By Mary Sincell McEwen

We're still hanging there, just on the other side of the wringer. The Christmas holiday wringer, that is. In another week or so, life will resume its normalcy, but we aren't quite there yet. Getting three tired boys up and out for school today was no easy task, and I'll bet lots of moms and dads out there know exactly what I mean.

The holidays are like a chute that we all slide down, faster and faster, gripping in vain at the sides to slow down, 'til we fall into the actual "day," and then we bounce around for a week with no school, weird work schedules, and lots of visiting. There's rich food to eat at every turn, and there are batteries needed for every toy. The kids stay up too late because the parents are too confused to remember what time it is. Everyone is tired, everyone is either crabby or completely punch-drunk silly, everyone has a passing dream of it all being over. It's a bit overdone, really, and I have had several moments of feeling guilty about the gluttony of the season. We have a ridiculous amount of stuff in our lives, don't we?

On top of the general hubbub at our home, we have a few confounding elements. A great many members of my family came to our house on Christmas Eve for dinner. Freezing rain was falling fast, making the footing treacherous on our brick steps and porch. "Cat litter," everyone advised. "Pour cat litter on it." So I did. It worked wonders, yes, but now our steps and porch are still covered with it, and with the recent rain it has transformed into a sort of wet oatmeal. With every entry, this gooey stuff is being tracked in, and there's kitty litter all over my house. Disgusting.

Another element is the fact that we presented Alex with a kitten on his birthday, which was Halloween. The kitten, named Strider (yes, we are Lord of the Rings fans), is a hilarious addition to the house, but also a messy one. He especially enjoys the garbage, which he crawls into and explores routinely, pulling out enticing items to spread all over the place. Our 18-year-old Siamese, Zoe, is not at all amused at her new pesky little brother. She is the object of his fascination, though, especially her neck, which he loves to jump on and bite. She's had more exercise in the last two months than in the last two years. When she gets furious, she smacks him hard and hisses and growls. This action freaks out the boys, who worry that one of the felines is going to come to the end of its allotted nine lives. I don't think that will happen, but the tussles do get spirited and very growly. Poor Zoe. I had her before I even had John. Now she's surrounded by boys and a brat kitten, who thinks her tail is the best teething toy ever.

School starting today confounded our lives, too. Oh, we knew it started today, but there were too many other things to do than to get ready for it. So this morning was a disaster. We weren't prepared to pack lunches, so two boys have some rather unorthodox items for their meal (granola bars, cheese curls, a few carrots, and some other stuff I can't recall. I tried to cover the food groups as best as I could). Michael couldn't find his shoes (they were under the coffee table) and Rob couldn't find his lunch box (it was in its regular location, but cleverly camouflaged). If I were a really efficient mom, I would have had everything laid out and prepared. But I have come to accept that I just don't operate that way, so the rest of my family doesn't either. It could be worse. We could be bank robbers or something.

We are indeed about to fall out the other side of the holidays, but we aren't there yet. We will keep our house decorated for the entire 12 days of Christmas (unlike those who toss their tree out on Dec. 26), and we will probably stay tired for a little while. The weekend looks good, though. Nowhere to go except a little Rotary basketball action for Alex, perhaps some napping, and I suppose some vacuuming. I might even plan some lunches if I'm feeling particularly efficient.

So the weekend will mark almost the end of the entire holly-daze season. If you, too, are weary and sore from the Christmas chute, trust me when I say you are not alone. We'll all finally drop off the end of the wringer, and I'm pretty sure we'll survive it.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

A new version of the old favorite Christmas song "I'm dreaming of a White Christmas" might now be "I'm dreaming of an old-fashioned Christmas in Bittinger when the winds are blasting and the roads are closed." This is the white Christmas that I have always known, especially when the favorite sport is pushing cars out of a drift in sub-zero wind chill weather and the dog refusing to go out, and you pray just to get home safely. The winds whistle, no children are playing outside, and your furnace runs double time. Sometimes your invited guests do not show up on time.

This is the kind of Christmas we had in Bittinger in 1960 and 1977, which are two years that spring into my mind, along with the many years during my almost 50 years of residence in Bittinger. One year when I lived in Ohio just a few miles from Lake Erie, they never got as much lake-effect snow as we got here, which is about 200 miles east and south.

I guess it was around 1970 during our Christmas break from Northern High School that my friend and I spent almost full time at the slopes of the Wisp. One Thursday evening I headed out for night skiing and I got a ride from Ellen Hershberger. We did all right going out, but when I tried to get through the long lane to her house at what was known as "Hard Struggle Acres," it took every hand available to get my parents' car unstuck. It is funny how many memories I have connected with pushing cars in a blizzard. I guess it was not really funny.

I visited briefly at the supermarket on Christmas Eve morning with Bill Aiken, and he told me of his plans for Christmas Day. He planned to get out his horse and bobsled and deck them with sleigh bells. I wondered whether we would have enough snow, but Bill was confident that we would get snow. He was right, as we got the new snow, but the ride wouldn't be quite as pleasant this afternoon with the brutal winds and plenty of white-outs.

During my family's gathering over the field at the home of my brother, Rodney Glotfelty, my siblings and I and our broods, plus Courtney Englar and, of course, my mother, Ruth DiPaolo (Gram), exchanged gifts and pigged out with hot chicken wings, etc., as the cold weather was terrible outside.

My younger brother Barry was intent on introducing Courtney to cross-county skiing, using Courtney's new boots and poles on a snowmobile trail on Negro Mountain. I am not sure that today was the perfect day to introduce a novice to that rugged sport. They should have gotten a fair idea of the weather conditions when they dug out the Bass family van when they prepared to head north to Altoona to visit Kevin's sister Kyler and family, and Kevin's parents, Bill and Barbara Bass, from Anderson, S.C. Gram cautioned them, "You shouldn't go if it gets bad," and Kevin replied, "It is bad." The weather was bad, terrible, frightful, and not fit for man or beast. I was very glad that all the preparations, shopping, and socialization that I had to do this year are over, so "let it snow, let it snow."

Actually during the few minutes of peace and quiet I was able to do four or five excellent paintings of winter landscapes. However, I left out the blowing snow, and used mainly blue skies with lots of drifts and snow-covered pine trees. Now it is a clearer, gentler version of winter in the Glades of Bittinger. Maybe tomorrow it will look like my paintings, but today if I paint the view outside, it would be a just big blurr of white. Maybe I should do that picture and it would appeal to the more avant garde viewer. Why bother to paint it at all, as I could just get a piece of white cardboard and frame it and title it "Rock Lodge Road in a White Out."

My two youngest daughters stayed longer at the family party than Claire and I did. But finally they had enough of a big crowd scene and were ready to come home and enjoy their new presents. Claire is a licensed driver and her car is much better in the snow than mine. So she had to brave the storm to go pick them up, but Rodney's lane was so bad with just one huge drift halfway into the house, so Caitlin and Mere had to walk out to meet her. Mere started to fall backward in the deep snow, but luckily she had her back to the wind so it blew her upright. But it was nice to snuggle up in our home without anywhere we had to go the rest of Christmas Day. When I came home a few hours ago I was shocked to see my lane was clear. I don't know who was the good soul was who cleared it, but I was truly grateful for that good deed. Thank you! Thank you! My mother later told me that it was her friend Rick, who has hunted on our farm for years and has been so good to her. He has a plow on his truck and is "Johnny on the spot."

However, just when I kinda settled down, a new social obligation came up. We were expected at the Whittemore house after dinner for dessert. I really wanted to just say "no" to going anywhere until the weather improved even a little bit, but I got dressed for outside again and made another trip down the icy deck and ramp. I didn't have the gifts for the Whittemores wrapped up yet and don't feel like I can do it right now. But I did enjoy the get-together and enjoyed pigging out on chocolate, pumpkin, and apple pies and then playing Scrabble with David Whittemore and a few of my nieces and nephews along with my girls. But I lost the game, which was a rare event for me. But just getting down there and getting home was pretty tough. When we got home the lights flicked on and off a couple times and I thought, "Oh no, not again ... please, not again." But our power stayed on. I am not sure I can stand another power outage this winter. We did fill up the bathtub with emergency flushing water and got the flashlights with the few fresh batteries we had around. Thank goodness we did not need any of those things.

But the day after Christmas I was so worn out that I slept most of the afternoon, mostly so I would not nag my girls to clean up the mess of Christmas and let them enjoy themselves playing with their new Monopoly game that I gave them. We enjoyed a couple days with Aunt Helen Englar and Aunt Dorothy Quaintance. We had a Friday holiday meal at the home of our late "Pappy" Dale, and it turned out a little ugly for me, as I took a nasty fall on the snow-covered sidewalk leaving. I really did not get hurt much, but was just a little sore the next day.

Thelma and Bill Emory enjoyed a quick visit from their former tennants and extended family, Laura Bulka and kids. Laura and the boys also visited the Bass family and me for a very quick visit. Our downstate friend, Janet Bevea, was up for a quick visit while she completed the purchase of a future retirement land on Accident-Friendsville Road which has an awesome view of the Yough Valley very far below. She will have the Herpel family and the Hannibal family nearby for neighbors, so she will not be too lonely on that very back road.

I heard that Ellen Housely delivered a toast to late "Pappy" Dale at her Christmas Eve party. I did not get to attend, but my girls, my mother, and the Glotfeltys and Bass family were also there. They had quite a good crowd and enjoyed the delicious food and drink. The party followed the Christmas Eve service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. My mother had to be especially proud of her seven grandchildren who sang Christmas carols before the service, and also the Glotfelty twins and Robbie, who played a rendition of "Green Sleeves" during the service of communion. Other special music was presented by the choir, Lana Brenneman, Leslie Buckel, and Carolyn Maxim, and Sheila Buckel. Eric Maxim also performed a saxophone number.

Jim Glotfelty continues to improve after receiving broken ribs in a fall from a ladder in his barn. Many family members, friends, and neighbors have visited him during his recuperation.

Gathering at the home of William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa., for a Christmas dinner and celebration were: Jeff and Sheli Gray, Ashlin and Abbie, Hanover; Lisa, Adam and Amanda Platter, Smithsburg; Karmen, Janelle, and Allison Carey, Frostburg; Anthony Carey, Springfield, Mo.; Tom Glotfelty, Detroit; Tim, Jim, and Donna Glotfelty; and Ida Reckner. Donna Glotfelty entertained her young grandchildren and great-grandchildren with an annual New Year's treasure hunt.

Lillian and Charee Reckner, Michaele Puliti, McHenry, and Karl and Cathy DeBoeser, Kara, and Marc of Allentown, Pa., brought Saturday evening supper to Ida Reckner's home, and spent the evening visiting with her. Other callers were Jim and Tom Glotfelty and son Tim.

Now it is time for the New Year to begin, and I wish you all a wonderful and blessed new year.

HUMBERSON MAKES DONATION – The Garrett County Head Start Program received a $300 donation recently from Jerry Humberson, president of Humberson Homes/Mountain Properties. The funds will be used to purchase classroom books and provide for additional curriculum needs. Humberson is shown presenting the check to Jennifer Moreland, president of the Oakland Head Start Room 1 Parent Group.

GCMH HONORS EMPLOYEES – Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently recognized 75 employees during its annual service awards ceremony. See story for details. Among those honored was Tom Dunbar, above right, who has completed 40 years of service, the longest of any current GCMH employee. He has served as director of housekeeping for 30 years. Prior to that position, he was housekeeping supervisor. Pictured above with Dunbar is hospital president/CEO Donald Battista.

GCMH Honors Employees During Awards Ceremony

Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently recognized 75 employees during its annual service awards ceremony.

Among the honorees was Tom Dunbar, who has completed 40 years of service, the longest of any current hospital employee. Dunbar served as director of housekeeping for 30 years and as housekeeping supervisor prior to that position.

"I've seen a lot of changes in every department over the years," said Dunbar. "In 1962, we had one old-time washing machine, and now we have all new modern equipment."

Rainbow Girls Initiation Slated

Oakland Assembly No. 8, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, will hold an initiation and installation of officers on Sunday, Jan. 5, 2 p.m., at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple.

Heather Brown, Grand Worthy Advisor for the state of Maryland, will preside and make her official visit to Oakland. Michaele Puliti, Grand Representative to New York, will be installed as Worthy Advisor for the coming year.

Alyna Raynovich is Grand Representative to Arkansas, and Nicole Raynovich is Grand Representative to Kentucky. All members of the Masons, Eastern Star, and former Rainbow Girls are invited and encouraged to attend this meeting and support the youth organizations.

The 2003 advisory board will be installed following the installation of officers.

The Order of the Rainbow for Girls is open to all girls between the ages of 11 and 20. They perform service projects; raise monies for charities; teach poise, public speaking, and manners; and travel around that state and country in an "attempt to broaden their horizons."

For more information, persons may call Bette Welch at 301-334-1586, or Charee Reckner at 301-387-2807.

Subject: Wireless Products

Dear Alice,

I just got into the office this morning and there are technicians here setting up our new network. At least I think that is what they are doing...there are NO WIRES! It was the strangest thing and I think I even heard something about 'BLUE TEETH'?

I couldn't let a comment like that just go by so I asked them about it. He corrected me and explained that it was 'BLUETOOTH' and it is a wireless technology along with others which are really changing the wired world.

Going wireless is best for businesses that are growing or changing and that need network flexibility. It also helps mobile workers who need to access the network, get email, or access the Internet from anywhere, at anytime. The best feature of wireless is it is easier, faster, and less expensive than wired networks to deploy.

This wireless technology is so neat I am even thinking of getting it to use at home so I can synchronize my Laptop and PDA without wires.

But, the greatest part of all this wireless-stuff is my feet won't get tangled up in all those cables under my desk. Speaking of that, last week when we were tidying up for the new hook-up I made an interesting discovery...what I thought was a dust bunny turned out to be a moldy PB&J sandwich trapped in the 'cable jungle'. I wondered why everyone kept asking if I got new perfume.

Please relay this wireless information to your company :)
More information is available on the web at www.vitalink.info/wireless or call 800-528-9324.

AURORA/EGLON

Personals

Keith and Delores Douglas returned Dec. 20 to their home in Aurora. They had spent the previous week in Renick with Keith's sister and brother-in-law, Alice and Earl E. Roth. Mrs. Roth was convalescing from double bypass surgery, and she wishes to extend thanks to all her friends, relatives, or others who sent get-well wishes by way of cards, notes, flowers, and phone calls. She also wishes to let everyone know that she seems to be progressing very well and feeling so much better.

Doris Hauser Denison of Palm Beach, Fla., spent two weeks visiting her mother, Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge.

Aaron Layman visited his mother and stepfather, Lois and Don Beckman, Horse Shoe Run, and grandparents, Jessie Winters of Eglon and Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora, Dec. 21-22, returning Sunday to his home at Orchard Park, N.Y.

Dean Sisler of Aurora, her five daughters and their seven children traveled to New Zealand over the Thanksgiving holiday. While in New Zealand, they visited with Sisler cousins they had never met. They toured Aukland, went to the harbor where the America's Cup sailing trials were being held, and went to several volcano sites and beaches. They spent two days in Rotorua, where there are geothermal and mud pools. On their return, they flew to Sydney, Australia, where they saw kangaroos, koalas, and wombats at the Sydney Zoo, visited the Opera House in Sydney Harbor, took a harbor cruise, and shopped.

Jane and Jim May have returned to their Cotter, Ark., home after being here for the funeral services of Mrs. May's father, John Eston Teets, Mr. Teets died Dec. 22 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Also here for this occasion was Nathan Teets of North Carolina, son of Leland and Ardis Teets, Eglon.

Relatives here received word of the Dec. 23 death of Margaret Rose Wotring McDaniel of Cumberland. She was a daughter of the late George and Ada Teets Wotring, who had lived in Aurora.

Visiting with Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis at Eglon Dec. 20-24 were Emily Lewis and her fiancé, Chuck Young, of Martinsburg.

Recent overnight guests of Claude and Jean Winters, Eglon, were their son and daughter-in-law, Carl and Nancy Winters, Manassas, Va.

Christmas Eve dinner guests in the home of Ron and Avenell Parsons, Eglon, were Mrs. Parsons' children, Bill and Sandra Hauser and their family, Gary Roth, and Mary Rembold and her sons.

A Christmas Eve dinner at the home of Jessie Winters included her children and their families: Neil and Bonnie Winters, Lois and Don Beckman, and Rhonda and Larry Channel.

"Chip" and Vicky Paugh, Matt and Casie, Eglon, spent Christmas with Vicky's parents in Berryville, Va.

A family Christmas dinner was held Sunday, Dec. 22, at the home of Gene and Bernadine Bachtel, Eglon, and attended by their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Jackie and Alma Snyder of Aurora made a Dec. 22 visit to Fairmont to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Grace and Jerry Winter.

Norman Fike and Carolyn of Belington were guests of his mother, Louella Fike, Aurora, on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Correspondent's Note

As writer of this column, I wish to extend to each of you all good wishes for the New Year. May God in His mercy see fit to somehow grant us peace! And may I ask again for your cooperation? I just can't read minds, but your news is important to someone. You'd be amazed to know how many former residents like to keep track of your comings and goings, to know that you are still able to do it. Just call me at 735-5763 or mail it to RR 1, Box 252, Eglon 26716. Thank you—Jean Winters

CARING FOR THE BIRDS – The character trait for the month of December at Dennett Road Elementary School has been "caring," and Mrs. Foley's third grade class has been demonstrating this trait with its Feed the Birds Project. The class collected change from the staff and students at Dennett Road to be used to purchase bird seed. A total of $128.98 was collected during the past two weeks. The birdseed will be placed in the school's arboretum to feed the various birds that visit there. Mrs. Foley and her class are shown with Mr. Gary Galloway, principal at the school.

ACCIDENT

Catherine Munson returned home to Baton Rouge, La., recently after spending two weeks with her parents, Fred and Delores Alexander. The family also spent a few days in Hagerstown. Catherine and the Alexanders were dinner guests of her brother and sister-in-law, Dale and Nancy Fike, one day. Catherine and Delores spent an evening visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Linda and Harold Swauger. Catherine was a guest of the Ladies Aid Christmas party with her sister, Ruth Bowman. Catherine, the Swaugers, Wayne and Barb Fike, and Ruth were dinner guests of Dale and Nancy Fike on Saturday, Dec. 14. Catherine, the Swaugers, and Dale and Nancy Fike had dinner at Penn Alps restaurant on Sunday, Dec. 15, and Catherine was a dinner guest of her niece, Anna Marie Bowman, and friend Marianna Herpel, the following day.

FRIENDSVILLE

The children and grandchildren of Bud and Bernadine Friend returned to their homes after spending the Christmas holidays with their parents and grandparents.

DENNETT ROAD TO SELL PRETZELS – The environmental committee at Dennett Road Elementary School will be sponsoring a gourmet pretzel sale to benefit the school's ongoing arboretum project. Dennett Road students and staff, as well as Boy Scout Troop #31, will be selling Jeanne's Gourmet Soft Pretzels, which come in blueberry, cinnamon sugar, original butter, pizza, and garlic. The pretzels, which could be a nice alternative to candy for Valentine's Day, have received rave reviews from the staff members who have sampled them. To order pretzels, persons may call the school at 301-334-3452, or Elizabeth Goldsborough at 301-334-2108. Orders will be taken until Jan. 16. Pictured above with a box of the soft pretzels are Dennett Road students Cody Aaronhalt, on the left, and Taylor Swift.

MASSAGE THERAPY

Garrett College is approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork (NCBTMB) as a continuing education provider under Category A.

Licensed/nationally certified massage therapists may obtain Category A continuing education hours by enrolling in 'Category A' designated courses. Proof of licensing/national certification must be submitted at the time of registration. We regret that financial aid is not available for these courses at this time. For additional information, please call Tom Kierstead at 301-387-3084.

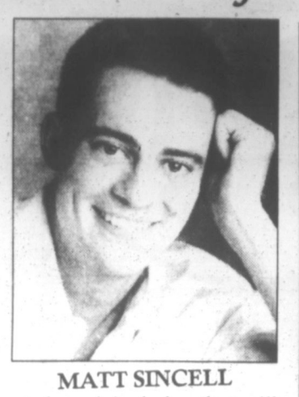
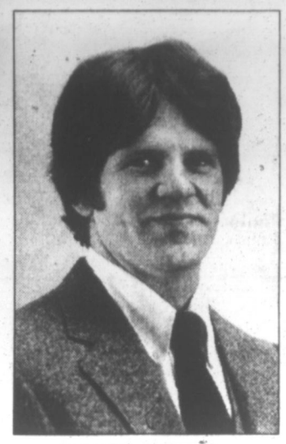
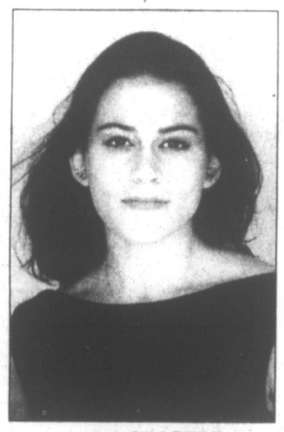
Local Talent Involved In Premiere Of NYC Comedy



MATT SINCELL



BEN SINCELL



SARA SINCELL

An original play that will make its premiere in New York City later this month will feature the talents of three Garrett County natives.

One of the leads in Activity Placemats, written by Kirk McGee, will be Matt Sincell, a native of Mtn. Lake Park; the set and light designer is Ben Sincell, professor of drama and speech at Garrett College; and serving as stage manager is Matt Sincell's sister Sara.

The comedy will be performed at the Sargent Theatre, 314 W. 54th Street, January 15-19, 21-25, and 27 to February 1 at 8 p.m. each evening.

Matt Sincell is a 2001 graduate of West Virginia University with a bachelor of fines arts in acting. Among other New York stage credits are the role of Romeo in a national tour of Romeo and Juliet and the role of Lodovico in Othello with TSI Studios. Film credits include the role of Young Federal in the epic Civil War film Gods and Generals, a Ted Turner film to be released next month, and the role of Dode in The Man Who Stole the Moon, currently in production by Pioneer Productions.

Ben Sincell holds a bachelor of arts degree in arts, speech, and dramatic arts from West Virginia Wesleyan College, and a master of fine arts degree in theatrical design from West Virginia University. He has been the designer and technical director for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival since its inception in 1987, and is the designer, technical director, and a board member for Our Town Theatre in Oakland. He has also been a semi-professional magician for over 30 years.

Sincell has designed and constructed numerous sets for productions in Garrett County and at WVU.

Sara Sincell is a 2002 graduate of Shenandoah University with a bachelor's degree in theatre. She performed numerous roles in various Shenandoah productions, and moved to the New York area this past fall to pursue her professional career.

Matt and Sara, nephew and niece of Ben Sincell, are children of Don and Suzie Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park.

Persons wishing to attend a performance of Activity Placemats may make reservations by telephoning 212-561-1949. More information may also be obtained by calling Don and Suzie Sincell at 301-334-3650.

Young Readers Club To Discuss Girl In A Cage

The Ruth Enlow Library's Young Readers Club, a book discussion group for students age 9 through 11, has set its upcoming monthly meeting for 4:15 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 16, to discuss the historical novel Girl in a Cage by the popular children's author Jane Yolen.

Set in Scotland in the year 1306, Girl in a Cage tells the story of Marjorie Bruce, who "is overjoyed when she learns that her father has proclaimed himself king of Scotland," according to the book jacket.

"What 11-year-old girl hasn't dreamed of being a princess? But her father's claim to the Scottish throne also means that she and all her family are now the targets of ruthless King Edward Longshanks of England. And when she is captured, Longshanks imprisons her in a cage in a small English village square.

"Exposed to taunts and missiles, and the scorn of the king himself, Marjorie is determined to survive. After all, she reasons, a princess is a princess, whether in a castle or a cage."

Youngsters interested in participating in the discussion group may call the library at 301-334-3996, or visit the library to pick up a copy of the book. The library also offers book clubs for teens and adults. More information can be obtained by calling the library or visiting its web site at www.relib.net.

All book clubs are funded by the Friends of the Library.

Our Town To Host "Kidstuff" This Saturday

The year's first "Kidstuff" day at Our Town Theatre in Oakland will be held Saturday, Jan. 4, at the theatre, which is located along Center Street.

Through various activities, participating children will learn about puppetry, drumming, dance, mime, acting, technical theatre, oral interpretation, and other aspects of the performing arts.

To attend Kidstuff, children must be registered by their parents before 5 p.m. on the Friday before the class. The classes, which are held from 1 until 2:30 p.m. every other Saturday from January to March, are free, although donations are appreciated, according to Jane Avery, artistic director of the theatre.

For more information or to register a child, persons should call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Auditions For Musical Comedy Slated At OTT

Our Town Theatre in Oakland will hold auditions for Birds of Paradise, a musical, on Friday, Jan. 3, 7-9 p.m., and on Sunday, Jan. 5, 4-5 p.m., at the theatre.

The musical is a comedy about a small-town community theatre group that produces its own version of Anton Chekov's tragedy The Seagull. It will be directed by Jane Avery, with musical direction by Muriel Franc.

"This piece is hilarious," Avery said. "The music is well-written, and the lyrics are wonderfully clever. It's going to be a joy to direct."

The cast of eight includes one male and one female in their early 20s, three females and two males in their 30s or 40s, and one male in his 50s-60s. Auditioners are encouraged to bring sheet music.

Persons who wish to try out but cannot make either of the audition times may call the theatre and arrange for another time slot, Avery said. All questions should be directed to the theatre.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

Editor's note: The following is a new column that will appear from time to time in The Republican. Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). He lives at Deep Creek Lake and teaches physics at Garrett College. He is a consultant in energy sciences, and author of the textbook Introduction to High Temperature Superconductivity.

Q — I have a large TV, VCR, radio, computer, and printer plugged into the same power strip, which is plugged into one outlet. I usually don't run more than three of these simultaneously. Am I in danger of blowing a fuse?

A — As a preliminary, "blow a fuse" is just a figure of speech nowadays. Nearly everyone, except some very old houses, has circuit breakers, which "trip" (i.e., open a switch) when the circuit is overloaded.

Answering your particular question: None of these appliances draws very much electric power. The toaster or dishwasher or refrigerator draws much more power. If you had, say, the TV and VCR turned on, and then you tried to toast some bread while the refrigerator was running, you might trip the circuit breaker.

As long as you just have the five appliances you named plugged into one power strip, it's not likely that you'll overload the circuit. It likely depends on what else is connected to that circuit, commonly in another room (such as another person's bedroom on the same floor of your house). The monitors of the computer and the TV are the biggest users of electricity in this cluster. By only running three of them at most, you're adding a slight extra margin of safety.

However, if you plug a high-wattage lamp into the same circuit (although a different wall plug), you would be decreasing your margin of safety. Still, all of these put together don't add up to one refrigerator, toaster, or electric oven.

When you read about these awful fires that happen around Christmas time, started by a Christmas-tree fire, it's usually because the people used very old sets of lights on which the wiring insulation had deteriorated, and electricity was allowed to flow where it shouldn't (perhaps through some tinsel); in those cases the fire got started because the circuit breaker did not trip. Once in a while, in a very old house, some idiot has taken out a fuse and put a copper penny in its place. That amounts to replacing a 20-amp fuse with a 10,000-amp fuse, and that will indeed allow egregious overloads to continue drawing power, in which case the whole house can burn down and still the overloaded electrical circuit will not shut off.

Persons wishing to submit questions to Dr. Sheahen may e-mail them to our newsroom at: newsroom@therepublicannews-.com.

Rams Top Hereford, Linganore To Win Snowball Classic Title

Most Valuable Player Dennis Tressler paced the Southern High School boys' varsity to capturing the championship of the 2002 First United Bank & Trust Snowball Classic, hosted by the Rams this past weekend.

Tressler scored a total of 44 points in the tournament, 25 in a 50-39 win over Hereford on Friday and 19 against Linganore in a 61-57 overtime victory for the title on Saturday. He also recorded 10 rebounds against Hereford and 11 versus Linganore.

The pair of victories upped the Rams' overall record to 5-1, a mark they will put on the line this Friday at home against Fort Hill.

The Rams started slowly against Hereford, allowing the visitors to win the first quarter by an 11-8 margin. They finally began to hit the mark in the second stanza and outscored Hereford by a 15-5 margin to take a 23-16 halftime advantage.

The third period was mostly defense, with Southern scoring only six points and Hereford connecting for just four, giving the Rams a 29-20 advantage going into the final eight minutes.

Tressler made good on all five of his free-throw attempts in the fourth quarter, while A.J. Bender hit two of two to help secure the Ram win.

Also reaching double figures for the Rams was Matt Stephens, the tourney's Most Outstanding Player, who netted 14 points.

Matt Jones scored 17 points, including 9 from three-point range, and Mark Eye had eight rebounds to pace Hereford.

Linganore coasted into Saturday's title game by crushing Frankfort in the other Friday contest, 88-43.

The Rams also had to play catch-up against the Lancers, as they trailed by six, 18-12, at the end of the first quarter, and were down by two, 27-25, at intermission. Southern out-scored the visitors in the third stanza, 15-10, to take a 40-37 into the fourth period.

The Lancers were up 54-52 with just 16 seconds left in regulation, but that's when Southern's Nathan Fitzwater hit a two-pointer to tie the score. The Rams then forced a turnover and had an opportunity to win at the foul line with just a few ticks left, but they could not convert and the contest went into overtime.

A tip-in by Cory Bosley, followed by a free throw just moments later, gave the Rams the lead for good. Tressler iced the win and scored the final point of the evening by hitting the front end of a one-and-one with just six seconds left.

Tressler finished with six field goals and was seven-for-12 at the line, while Stephens connected for 17 points on six buckets and five of six at the line. He also had seven assists.

Also reaching double figures was Fitzwater, who had 14 points and pulled down seven rebounds. Bosley provided eight points.

Leading the Lancers were Zach Hayes and Leif Jackson with 13 and 10 points, respectively, while Anthony Absalon was right behind with nine points.

The Rams won the game at the foul line, from which they made good on 23 of 34 opportunities. The Lancers finished with a 23-19 advantage in field goals, but converted only seven of 12 shots from the line.

Hereford won the consolation game by whipping Frankfort, 65-30.

Named to the All-Tournament team were Fitzwater of Southern, Jackson and Hayes of Linganore, Matt Jones of Hereford, and Aaron Stonebraker of Frankfort.

Following Friday's Western Maryland Interscholastic League game at home against Fort Hill, the Rams are scheduled to entertain Allegany next Tuesday in another WMIL clash, and host Petersburg on Wednesday.

Rice's Shooting Helps Garner Outstanding Player Honors

The Northern High School McDonald's Christmas Basketball Tournament was nearly taken by the Husky boys' varsity team, as the hosts opened with a 55-51 win over Beall before dropping the title game to Westmar by a six-point margin, 60-54. NHS guard Jason Rice delivered a pair of three-point shooting clinics during the tourney to earn Most Outstanding Player honors, while forward Andrew Frantz's strong play under the basket netted All-Tournament recognition.

Westmar rolled into the tourney final by thrashing Turkeyfoot 60-28 in the opening round. Turkeyfoot's woes continued in the consolation game, which Beall took handily 50-32.

The Husky/Mountaineer match-up was a pitched battle, as NHS held a slim 12-10 lead after one quarter of play before Beall battled back to take a 22-21 advantage at the half. The two squads were deadlocked at 37-all as the fourth quarter got under way.

Frantz sank seven field goals on his way to 15 points, and also hauled down eight rebounds. Rice connected for four three-pointers and was two-for-two from the foul line to tally 14 points. Senior forward Aaron Mitchell recorded 12 points on five field goals and two free throws in as many attempts, and grabbed seven rebounds and six assists. Mahlon Harper paced the Mounties with 18 points.

Northern put up a fierce fight against Westmar's Wildcats in the following night's championship round, as the Huskies battled back from a 20-10 first-quarter deficit to cut the margin in half, 31-26, after two stanzas. Westmar rolled back up a 46-35 advantage as the fourth quarter opened before NHS fought to cut the difference to the final six-point margin.

Rice, who hit several three-pointers during the Huskies' fourth-quarter rally, was on the mark throughout the night as he netted 25 points, all but four from trey range. Mitchell contributed 11 points and seven rebounds. Bobby Alkire paced the Wildcats with 16 points, one shy of his tally against Turkeyfoot the previous night, to secure Most Valuable Player honors. Joining Frantz on the All-Tournament Team were Turkeyfoot's Bob Lager, Beall's Harper, and Westmar's Jason Lee and Russell Miller.

NHS (4-4) visits Bishop Walsh tomorrow night and Westmar Tuesday, with both contests slated for live radio coverage by WKHJ at 104.5 on the FM dial. Game previews get under way 15 minutes prior to the varsity tip-offs. The jayvee games both have a 6 p.m. start time.

Northern JV Boys Cruise To Rogers Tourney Crown

The Northern High School boys' junior varsity squad pulled out all the stops to roll to an easy triumph in the Eddie Rogers Memorial Junior Varsity Tournament in Lonaconing this week. Paced by tourney Most Valuable Player Chris Speicher, who recorded 39 points in the two contests, the Husky jayvees took a 64-51 opening-round win over Beall, then demolished Bishop Walsh in the championship game by a 70-47 margin. Northern's Blake Walker was noted with All-Tournament Team recognition.

Bishop Walsh came into the final round after downing Westmar 62-35 in its opener. The consolation game was taken by Beall as the Mounties defeated the Wildcats 48-29.

Speicher turned in 23 points against the Mountaineers in Round One, while NHS teammate Eric Johnson contributed 19 points. Matt DeRosa had 23 points for Beall.

Northern's 23-point thrashing of BW in the final contest came through a balanced team effort, led by Speicher's 16 points and teammate Walker's 15 points. J.B. Neubauer had 15 points for the Spartans.

Joining Walker on the All-Tournament Team were BW's Neubauer (who had 41 points in two games) and fellow Spartan Griffin Detrick, Westmar's Bill Sloan, and Beall's Shane Hager.

All proceeds from the annual JV boys' basketball tourney benefit the Eddie Rogers Memorial Scholarship Fund, named after the young Bloomington resident killed in his home when a coal train derailed a few years ago.

NHS Girls Net Third Straight Turkeyfoot Tournament Crown

Frantz Named MVP For Third Straight Tourney

Amanda Frantz and her Northern High School girls' varsity basketball teammates renewed their dominance of the Turkeyfoot Christmas Tournament this week as the senior took her third consecutive tourney Most Valuable Player Award in pacing the Huskies to the tournament title for the third straight season. Along with Frantz, who recorded 39 points and 23 rebounds in the two contests, honors were bestowed in the form of All-Tournament Team recognition earned by Northern senior guard Heather Lander and sophomore center Lakin Weimer.

NHS downed Salisbury, 48-33, in the opener, and nipped host Turkeyfoot in the title battle 44-41. Turkeyfoot had advanced to the final round by opening with a win over Hyndman, and the ensuing consolation game saw Salisbury defeat the Hornets.

The Huskies ran away from the Elks in Round One last Thursday, Dec. 26, jumping out to a 17-5 first-quarter advantage en route to a 26-12 halftime lead. NHS was still firmly in command at the end of the third quarter, which ended with the Huskies up 45-21.

Frantz recorded game-high scoring honors by netting 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws. Lander recorded nine points and grabbed seven steals, while junior guard Lyndsi Butler contributed seven points. Salisbury's top scorer was Wendy Miller, who had 10 points.

The next night's contest was a more hard-fought affair, as the Huskies maintained a slim lead with the Rams nipping at their heels throughout. NHS was up 11-9 after one quarter, 24-23 at the half, and 30-28 as the final stanza opened.

Frantz had an outstanding game for the second night in a row, as she turned in tallies of 20 points and nine rebounds, connecting for seven field goals and five foul shots along the way. Lander scored eight points, and sophomore Jeseca Gibson had six points. Janet Augustine led Turkeyfoot with 18 points.

Joining Lander and Weimer on the All-Tournament Team were Augustine and teammate Laura DeHaven, and Salisbury's Natasha Munion.

The Huskies (3-2) are slated to host Frankfort tonight, visit Southern Saturday, host Beall Monday, and travel to Salisbury Wednesday. Varsity game starting times are 7:30 p.m., and the JV contests get under way at 6 p.m. The NHS-SHS cross-county battle will be broadcast live on WKHJ radio at 104.5 on the FM dial. Pre-game coverage will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Ram Girls Roll To Title Of Meyersdale Tourney

Gregg Named MVP As Stemple Passes 300 Wins

The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball squad took the Maple City Christmas Tournament title in Meyersdale this week by besting Berlin 59-52, and downing host Meyersdale 66-58 in the championship game. Ram guard Robbin Gregg netted a two-game tally of 46 points to earn the tourney's Most Valuable Player honor, and teammate Justine Pagenhardt recorded 36 total points to garner All-Tournament recognition.

The tourney's other bracket pitted Meyersdale and Keyser in opening round in a fierce battle that the Red Raiders took in double overtime, 62-55. Berlin downed the Golden Tornado 38-36 in the following night's consolation game.

The annual holiday classic marked a milestone in the career of long-time SHS coach Don Stemple, who cracked the 300-win mark in the first round, before going on to claim win #301 against the Red Raiders in the finale.

Southern exploded to claim a 21-6 first-quarter lead in Friday's opening round, but Berlin's Mountaineers climbed right back into the fray by outscoring the foul-plagued Rams 24-7 in the second stanza to grab the halftime lead, 30-28. SHS regrouped to outscore Berlin 17-8 in the third stanza to take a 45-38 lead heading into the final quarter. Southern ran up a lead of as many as 16 points during the final eight minutes of play.

"We really had to go deep into the bench, and felt if we could hang on and stay close by the end of the first half we'd be in good shape," Stemple remarked. "We re-established ourselves in the third quarter, regained the lead, and built on it the rest of the game."

Gregg and Pagenhardt paced the Rams' win with 18 and 16 points, respectively, and forward Becca Flanagan had nine points and nine rebounds. Pagenhardt and fellow juniors Flanagan and Sabrina Scheffel dished out five assists apiece. Berlin's Trisha Suder and Ashley Allen each recorded 12 points.

Southern rolled up a 24-10 first-quarter lead over Meyersdale the following night in the championship game, and kept racing out to a 42-24 halftime advantage. The Red Raider hosts fought back to cut the margin to 53-44 after three stanzas of play, and pulled to within four points during the final stanza. A superb foul-shooting performance by the Rams, who sank 9 of 10 free throws over the fourth quarter including a 4-for-4 tally by Gregg, gave Southern the victory. Over the course of the entire game the Rams shot an astounding 84 percent from the charity stripe.

Gregg hit 11 field goals and five free throws, including all four of her foul shot attempts during the Rams' crucial fourth quarter run, to rack up a 28-point total. Pagenhardt added 20 points on seven field goals and a 6-for-6 free throw tally, and also grabbed eight rebounds while dishing out five assists. Meyersdale's Erin Johnson had an outstanding game in the losing effort, netting 35 points on 17 field goals and one free throw.

The two tourney wins gave Stemple a 301-139 mark for his 21-plus years at the SHS girls' helm, making for an outstanding .684 winning percentage. Stemple's overall record in 27 years as a Southern coach (including five as the boys' varsity skipper) is 374-186.

Southern (4-1) is slated to host Fort Hill tonight and Northern on Saturday, with both varsity contests set to begin at 7:30 p.m. following the 6 p.m. junior varsity games. The Rams/Huskies showdown will be broadcast live, beginning with a 7:15 p.m. pre-game show, on 92.3-FM "The Train." SHS closes out the week with a Monday evening road trip to Petersburg (also slated for a live radio broadcast) for a rematch with the only team to have defeated the Rams this season. The Vikes snapped Southern's 26-game regular season winning streak two weeks ago by a seven-point margin in a very physical contest.

Mahre Brothers To Be Guests At Canaan Valley

Former Olympians and World Cup ski champions Phil and Steve Mahre will be the featured guests at the Wendy's Family Challenge fund-raiser at Canaan Valley Resort (W.Va.) this Saturday, Jan. 11. The brothers will also ski at Canaan Valley Resort's ski area on Sunday, Jan. 12.

Chuck Trader, managing director for Canaan Valley Resort, said, "In an effort to help raise funds for the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption, Canaan Valley Resort has joined with Wendy's to host a silent auction. Phil and Steve Mahre will be the guests of honor and serve as event hosts."

Trader said the silent auction will begin at 6 p.m. Saturday evening in the Canaan Valley Resort lodge. The event is open to the public, and guests will have the opportunity to bid on various items, including ski and golf vacations.

"While the primary purpose of the Wendy's Family Challenge, and the Mahres' visit, is to raise money to find good homes for children in need, the brothers will also participate in a NASTAR-style ski race on Sunday, Jan. 12," Trader said. (NASTAR is a program providing skiers of all ages and abilities a means to compete against their friends, family members, and the U.S. Ski Team.)

Skiers will be able to race against the course times set by the former World Cup champions, who will be the first out of the gate on Sunday. Trader stated that the brothers will also ski the mountain and visit with guests.

For additional information, persons may contact the resort at 1-800-622-4121, or visit the Web site at www.canaanresort.com.

Oakland Rotary Dribblers Club To Start On Saturday

The Oakland Rotary Dribblers Club (ORDC) will begin this Saturday, Jan. 4, at Dennett Road Elementary School.

The ORDC is a youth basketball league open to all boys and girls in the third and fourth grades who attend elementary schools in the southern Garrett County school district.

The club will meet every Saturday through January and February, with third graders playing from 9 until 10:30 a.m. and fourth graders playing from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

This Saturday, Jan. 4, the third graders will register at 8:45 a.m. and the fourth graders will register at 10:45 a.m.

ConDoerr Sole Leader In Mtn. Top Standings

ConDoerr captured sole possession of first place in the Mtn. Top Basketball League on Sunday by defeating Smiley's, 86-71, in the second game of the afternoon. The door was opened for ConDoerr in the first game, in which Plaza Hobby was edged in overtime, 75-74, by Automotive Machine.

Plaza Hobby had to play without the services of leading scorer Brett Rice, while Doug Copeland ripped the nets for 28 points to lead Automotive Machine. Ricky Reams and Jason Shreve added 19 and 18 points, respectively, for the winners.

The contest was sent into overtime after Reams hit a bucket with just four seconds remaining in regulation to knot the score. Reams then immediately fouled Ryan Adams on the inbounds play, and Adams could have won the game with his free-throws. But he missed the front end of the one-and-one, sending the contest into overtime.

ConDoerr jumped out to

Ice Fishing Contests Set By Chamber

The first of a series of weekly countywide ice fishing contests will open Sunday, Jan. 12, sponsored by Deep Creek Outfitters and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. The contests will run each Sunday through Saturday, until the ice recedes in late winter.

Winners will be announced weekly based on the largest catch of each of eight species of fish: bluegill, chain pickerel, crappie, largemouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, smallmouth bass, walleye, and yellow perch. Certificates will be presented to each weekly winner. At the end of the season, the tournament winner in each category will be awarded a plaque. First consideration will be granted for length of fish.

In order to participate in the contest, ice fishing enthusiasts must take their catch to Deep Creek Outfitters, located along Deep Creek Drive in McHenry, to be weighed and recorded during business hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week.

"Over the last four or five years, there has been a noticeable increase in the number of people going out on the ice to fish," said DC Outfitters owner Bob Browning. "Most of them are local residents, but a good number are also visitors."

For further information on the ice fishing contest, persons may contact Deep Creek Outfitters at 301-387-6977, or the Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386 or 301-245-4400.

a 28-17 lead in the first quarter of the second game and coasted to victory behind a 36-point effort by Ronald Rhodes.

Smiley's cut the lead to three points in the third quarter, but Poke Winters and Dennis Gibson responded with two three-pointers apiece to squelch the threat. Jason Brenneman, who led Smiley's in scoring with 31 points, was held to just four in the fourth quarter.

Also reaching double figures for Smiley's were Joe Refosco and Oliver Jones with 16 and 12 points, respectively. Zack Gibson chipped in with nine points.

Others reaching double figures for the winners were Dennis Gibson with 19, Winters with 12, and Mike Saturday with 11.

Automated Packing used physical inside play and hot outside shooting by Mike Davis and James Endler to hand 84 Lumber its second straight defeat, 62-60.

After Automated Packing held a 36-28 halftime lead, 84 battled back to tie the score in the third stanza and took a brief lead in the fourth behind the strong inside play of Travis Bohrer. But Davis hit another of his six three-pointers to give Automated Packing the lead for good.

Davis scored a game-high 22 points, eight of which were recorded in the fourth quarter. Endler finished with 11.

Pacing 84 Lumber were Steve Charity and Greg Mortimer with 17 apiece, and Bohrer with 11.

The third game was no contest, as Skiles hammered Scott Ford, 100-57, despite a 27-point, first-half performance by Ford's Chad Reese.

Reese hit eight three-pointers in the first half, and was cruising for a 50-point-plus evening, but then did not play in the third quarter, and did not score in the fourth.

Scott Ford actually held a nine-point lead at intermission, 48-39, but Skiles regrouped and went on a 30-9 tear in the third quarter to put the game out of reach. Bryan Panther and Nathaniel Panther led the winners with 25 and 20 points, respectively. Also reaching double figures for Skiles were Chad Panther with 12, Jimmy Yoder with 14, Nathan Long with 12, and Justin Stephens with 11.

Picking up the lead scoring chores in the second half for Scott Ford was Shaun Myers, who had only five in the first, but finished with 21.

Games scheduled for this Sunday, Jan. 5, are as follows: Midas vs. Automotive Machine at 1 p.m.; ConDoerr vs. 84 Lumber at 2 p.m.; Smiley's vs. Scott Ford at 3 p.m.; and Automated Packing vs. Plaza Hobby at 4 p.m. Respective scorekeepers are: ConDoerr, Automotive Machine, 84 Lumber, and Scott Ford.

phased out in Garrett County and very likely will be eliminated by 2004. Given this circumstance, it is difficult to see how Clipper Windpower would generate any significant ongoing revenue to the county, especially in light of the very generous federal schedules of depreciation to which it would be entitled."

Boone also questioned the true amount the county could expect from real property taxes, which would be based on the lease amount with the property owners. "As yet, no lease amount has been divulged. However, it seems likely that Clipper Windpower will pay a minimum to lease the property, enticing the property owners with promises of higher revenues from royalties," he conjectured. "If so, the county would receive very little by way of revenues from real property taxes."

Boone said, prior to construction, bird studies should be conducted over a two-year period, potential penalties should be in place if the company does not produce promised economic benefits, and the company should be required to absorb all costs imposed on electrical transmission and grid management by the "intermittent, highly variable, and often unpredictable output from wind turbines.

"I am concerned about issues of sustainable economics and as such am disposed to favor energy technologies which generate 'green' power," Boone said. "[However, my research has led me to] what I hope is a misguided concern that politics, not science, is of paramount importance [concerning this project].... Unless cooler heads prevail, the major casualty aside from the prospect of many dead birds will be the informed decision. The PSC should decide this matter after appropriate studies are concluded.

"[So far] this is the same level of process — all in the name of progress and public health — which brought the indiscriminate use of DDT as well as the environmental degradations of strip mining and industrial toxic waste management, much of which are now left for taxpayers to repair," state Boone.

After receiving input from eight state agencies (the Office of Smart Growth, the Maryland Energy Administration, and the departments of Planning, Environment, Natural Resources, Agriculture, Business and Economic Development, and Transportation), each of which reviewed Clipper's application to the state, DNR's Power Plant Research Program last month recommended that the PSC approve the project. Power Plant Research Program director John Sherwell said that the wind farm, and a smaller-scale project proposed by another wind company for an Allegany County stretch of Big Savage Mountain near Lonaconing, were both "constructive additions" to Maryland's electrical power generating system.

All public documents to date concerning the proposed project, pro and con, are available on the PSC web site at www.psc.state.md.us. Persons interested in seeing a windpower facility currently under construction can view the West Virginia-based project that is going up just south of Garrett County. Those towers are now visible, day and night, from many locations in the Oakland area and the surrounding southern portions of Garrett County.

Clipper
WINDPOWER, INC.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Western Maryland

As one of your newest neighbors, we would like to take a moment of your time to introduce ourselves. The Clipper Windpower Criterion Project is a carefully planned wind energy facility that will benefit the region's economy and environment. When complete, the Criterion Project will include up to 67 turbines distributed over an area of approximately 41 acres on Backbone Mountain in Garrett County, Maryland.

Our name may be new to you, but you know our partners well. Several local landowners share our vision for the future of this great community and have agreed to allow us to site our turbines on their land. As we reach out to residents to provide information about the project, we appreciate the support we continue to receive. We look forward to sharing more information about our project with all of you in the weeks and months ahead.

Criterion will be one of the largest projects ever constructed in Garrett County and will create as many as 175 construction jobs and 6-8 permanent operation positions. It will generate an estimated $3.75 million in construction phase work for local companies and serve as a consistent source of tax revenue — at least $500,000 in local property taxes — for many years to come.

The project will help the Western Maryland region meet expected future power demands with a safe, clean, renewable, reliable, domestic source of power. Once we are fully operational, the Criterion project will provide enough energy to serve 35,000 households in the Mid-Atlantic region annually.

For more information please see our website at www.marylandwind.com. If you have a specific question or concern, feel free to contact me directly at 301-263-0028, or Krackstraw@clipperwind.com. We welcome the opportunity to speak with you and look forward to working with you to bring clean energy to Western Maryland.

Sincerely,

Kevin Rackstraw

GOD DOESN'T EXPECT YOU TO BE PERFECT AND NEITHER DO WE! YOU CAN BE WHO YOU ARE WITH US!

The people who gather at our church are all striving to become all God intends for each of us, but do so knowing that, as human beings we can never attain perfection. Only God is perfect. But, the beauty of the Bible is that we find that our God understands our struggles to live life as He knows is best for us and provides for us in the midst of our struggles. Though we'll never be perfect, He still loves and cares about us with an unconditional love that is beyond our understanding.

Our fellowship is imperfect and contains flaws, but we are a congregation filled with joy because we know God sent His Son to touch us with His unconditional love, mercy, and grace. If you need His touch, visit with us for Sunday worship. We'll save a place for you!

CATCH ME IF YOU CAN

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 2:20 - Released 12/25/02

"People believe what you tell them," Leonardo DiCaprio says repeatedly in Steven Spielberg's Catch Me If You Can. I'm afraid the great director might be taking his main character a little too seriously.

Catch Me If You Can claims to be "inspired by" (read: very loosely based on) the like-named autobiography of Frank W. Abagnale Jr. (co-written by Stan Redding), a brilliant con man and counterfeiting expert who, between 1964 and 1967, lived a life of intrigue that would not be believable if it weren't true, forging millions of dollars worth of checks and masquerading as an airline pilot, college professor, stockbroker, pediatrician, and assistant attorney-general, as well as a graduate of Harvard and Berkeley universities, all before the age of 21. What's even more amazing is that after finally being captured and imprisoned for several years, Abagnale was actually employed by the FBI, where he aided in the apprehension of people like himself. Having repaid his stolen millions and his debt to society, he has since become known as one of the world's most respected (and well-paid) authorities on check fraud and secure documents.

This is all well and good, but can the movie deliver? Well. That's hard to say. While it's an interesting story, somehow the presence of talents like Spielberg and Tom Hanks seems to work against the project as a whole by raising the expectation to a level that is unreachable by way of Jeff Nathanson's screenplay. DiCaprio is believable as Abagnale, and Hanks is as reliable as always as FBI Special Agent Carl Hanratty (the detective who dogs Abagnale throughout the story and comes tantalizingly close to apprehending him several times before finally succeeding). Christopher Walken and French actress Nathalie Baye do adequately as Frank's estranged parents, and good performances are given by numerous supporting cast members like Martin Sheen, Amy Adams, and James Brolin. But the film is vaguely disappointing given Spielberg's stellar track record. Large credibility issues are glossed over as if they are unimportant; everyone Frank deals with is conveniently naïve, and all of his daring schemes work without the slightest hitch.

Perhaps this is one of those occasions when a truly unbelievable story must be brought a little closer to Earth in order to be sold on the screen. Even if it really happened exactly like this, it needs to be told in a way that doesn't make it look so easy. Although Frank is seen pretending to be doctors, lawyers, etc., he's seldom put in a position where he's forced to think on his feet. The one exception is a scene in which, as a doctor, he is totally out of his element in an emergency room, but those around him appear too remarkably stupid to notice—again, making it too easy. We are told the most incredible stories and expected to accept them as truth simply because the other characters accept them, characters who seem too dim and unassuming to be real people. DiCaprio exudes the charm Frank must have had to succeed, but the text makes it look like he didn't need anything but charm.

Regardless of the outrageous elements of the plot, the talented people involved with this film made it into an enjoyable one, with all the expert technique we have come to know from them. In addition to those mentioned, the presence of longtime Spielberg collaborators like cinematographer Janusz Kaminski, with his odd angles and smoky filters, and composer John Williams, whose playful, frenetic score is different than any I have heard from him, adds yet more professional savvy to the proceedings.

I like this movie for its fun-loving tone and technical genius. But I don't love it the way I loved Schindler's List, Amistad, Saving Private Ryan, A.I., and Minority Report. It is an enjoyable film. It is an amazing story. But sometimes incredible stories have to be made a little more credible in order to be believed. ★★★★

Combined Worship Services To Begin At Hoyes, Paradise

Deep Creek United Methodist Ministries of Hoyes and Paradise churches will offer one service of worship at Hoyes Church during January, February, and March at 10 a.m., with Sunday school immediately following. Services at Paradise Church will not be held during these winter months. Two services of worship will resume in April.

To celebrate the beginning of the combined services on Jan. 5, Azure Fields will lead the worship service. Azure Fields is a contemporary and traditional singing and instrumental group composed of Suzanne and Alec Receveur, Corey Cottrell, and Paul Schilling.

A soup and sandwich luncheon will be held after Sunday school for all those attending.

The group will have copies of their CDs available for purchase.

The public is invited to attend.

GRANTSVILLE

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on December 12. President Jennifer Lowdermilk called the meeting to order.

Before the meeting, the members shared their annual Christmas dinner. Food was brought by all of the members' parents, and the location was at the Sand Spring Church.

In new business the club had election of new officers, and announced seniors of the club who will be leaving. The leaving members are: Will Gallagher, Mitchell and Michael Guard, and Jennifer Lowdermilk.

The next meeting will be held January 9 at the Guard farm.

"Take Control" Diabetes Class Slated In Jan.

SCOTT ROHRBAUGH

A series of monthly diabetes classes will be offered throughout Garrett County beginning this month. The first class is "Take Control of Your Diabetes Through Medication Management" and is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland.

The class will be taught by Scott Rohrbaugh, a local pharmacist at Gregg's Pharmacy. His focus will be on the different classes of diabetes medications, various functions of those medications, and the variety of insulin options.

The monthly classes are part of a yearlong effort led by Jennifer Thorn, registered and licensed dietitian, of the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension.

Persons may call 301-334-6960 to reserve a class space or for more information about future classes.

Bloodmobile Visits Slated For January

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make three visits to Garrett County this month, the first one of which is this afternoon, Jan. 2, at the Kitzmiller Elementary School. The second will be this Friday, Jan. 3, at Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, in Oakland, and the third will be Monday, Jan. 3, at the Grantsville fire hall.

Donors are being welcomed today in Kitzmiller from 2 to 7 p.m. This Friday's visit to Oakland will be from noon to 6 p.m., and hours for the Grantsville visit will be 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

In order to be eligible to donate blood, persons must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, be in generally good health, and not have donated for at least 56 days. Persons desiring more information about the ARC blood services program may telephone the Western Potomac Chapter of the ARC at 1-800-361-9481.

SCHOLARSHIIPS AWARDED – Railey Realty presented scholarships to the four students who served as the 2002 Autumn Glory Festival Royal Court. Sponsored by the realty company and coordinated by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the royal court consists of a king, queen, prince, and princess who are selected by the administrators at Northern and Southern high schools to preside over the five days of festival events. Railey Realty provides the gowns and other regal accoutrements for the celebration, and presents a $300 scholarship to each member of the court. Pictured from the left are chamber president Charlie Ross, Railey Realty representative Mike Kennedy, Prince Brian Crabtree of SHS, and King Brian Covell and Princess Amanda Nicole Friend, both of NHS. Queen Kelly Marie Wade of SHS was not available for the photo.

DNR To Present Forest Work Plans At Public Meeting

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources State Forest and Park Service will host a public meeting to present the proposed Fiscal Year 2004 work plans for Potomac Garrett and Savage River state forests from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 10, in Room 314 of Garrett College's Continuing Education Building.

DNR staff will present proposals for new construction and changes in forest use and harvests. Forest managers formulated work plans last winter, and the plans were presented for departmental interdisciplinary review in June and for review by forest advisory boards in October.

A copy of the annual plans will be available at the meeting, and at the state forest headquarters, and can be viewed on-line at www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/pgplan04 or www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/savageplan04.

Written comments must be received by Monday, Feb. 10, and should be mailed to Potomac Garrett State Forest, 1431 Potomac Camp Rd., Oakland, MD 21550, or Savage River State Forest, 349 Headquarters Rd., Grantsville, MD 21536.

For further information, persons may call Savage River State Forest manager Larry Maxim at 301-895-5759 or Potomac Garrett State Forest manager John Denning at 301-334-9180.

Many of us will make resolutions again this year. Some of those resolutions will concern the improvement of our physical fitness. For example, taking a walk is beneficial exercise that most of us can do regularly.

Why not consider improving your spiritual fitness as well? While you are walking, you can talk to God. Or, perhaps you would like to just listen for God to speak to your heart as He walks by your side, for we walk by faith, not (only) by sight. (2 Corinthians 5:7)

Walking with God and worshipping weekly in His House is the best resolution. It will positively affect each day of your life by filling it with the peace and serenity that brings joy and prosperity. Thou dost keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusts in Thee. (Isaiah 26:3)

May you have a healthy and faithful new year.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ONE THING MISSING

January 5, 2003

Background Scripture: Mark 10:17-27
Devotional Reading: 1 Timothy 6:6-19.

In college I was a member of the Army ROTC. One day our company was assembled in a large hall, four of us to a table. On each table was a 50 caliber machine gun and our assignment was to disassemble it and then put it back together again.

I decided to play a joke on my colleagues at the next table. I filched a small piece of the their machine gun. Although small in size, without this piece they could not get their gun back together. My tablemates and I could hardly stifle our laughs as we heard them fuss and fume over their machine gun. There must have been fifty parts in all, but the one piece I had taken was the key to getting it all together.

That can serve as a kind of parable for all people in general and Christians in particular. People may accumulate lots of things, material and non-material, but still find something is missing in their lives, so that they cannot satisfyingly put those lives together. I believe it was St. Augustine who said that at everyone's heart there is "a God-shaped blank," a void that only God can fill.

"Good Teacher"

A man ran up and knelt before Jesus, asking: "Good Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" (Mk. 10:17). Some of those who asked Jesus questions did so, not to learn from him, but to put him on the spot. But this man knelt before Jesus, showing reverence, calling him "Good Teacher," and indicating that he was quite sincere.

As he often does, Jesus replies with a question: "Why do you call me good? No one is good but God alone" (v. 18). Some scholars argue whether Jesus' words indicate something contrary to the righteousness that Christians ascribe to him. But, this humble, unassuming response is the natural attitude of a pious and devout Jew of this day.

"You know the commandments," Jesus continues, and the man quickly replies, "Teacher, all of these I have observed from my youth" (v. 20). This may sound somewhat audacious, but in Jesus' day rabbis thought it quite possible for a man to keep the whole law. So is Jesus implying that eternal life is the reward of those who keep God's commandments? No, I think Jesus is leading him to a higher understanding and, in fact, is challenging him: "You lack one thing; go, sell what you have , and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me".

Owned By Possessions

Unfortunately, this sincere man went away with a fallen countenance because his great possessions owned him and were more precious than eternal life. Had he stayed, he would have heard Jesus say, "How hard it will be for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!" and the startled disciples' response: "Then who can be saved?" Jesus' answer indicates, not that people are saved because of their worthiness, but by the grace of God—"With men it is impossible; but not with God; for all things are possible with him" (v. 27). All of the commandments he kept so faithfully could not earn him God's gift of eternal life. Neither can a wealth which, in fact, can keep us from it.

Our local grocery store puts our purchases in plastic bags with large handles, enabling me to carry a large number of them from the car to the back door. Most often, I can get to the back door, but not through it. I have to put something down. Isn't that what Jesus is saying?. It is virtually impossible to enter the kingdom if your arms and your life are loaded with things. You've got to put something down to get inside.

He was a fine, respectable young man and Jesus loved him. But, though he faithfully kept the commandments, the most important thing of all was lacking, total commitment of himself to God. Respectability and good works were not enough. Unwilling to give up his possessions, he demonstrated all too clearly that they came first. and God second. He could not receive God's grace without laying down his wealth.

Take a look at your own life: what do you need to lay down?

Herbal Alternatives to Prescription Estrogen

Women concerned about the effects of taking prescription hormone replacement therapy (estrogens and/or progesterone) are considering alternative medicines to help relieve symptoms associated with menopause. When taken by mouth, compounds referred to as isoflavones (found in soy) appear to be a safe and effective way to reduce hot flashes and me risk of osteoporosis. In menopausal women, soy provides a type of isoflavone that acts as a weak estrogen replacement. A daily dose of soy needed for relieving hot flashes ranges from 20 to 60 grams.

Another herbal ingredient taken for estrogen replacement is black cohosh (also known as squawroot). While considered safe when taken in appropriate doses for up to 6 months, it should not be used during pregnancy or nursing. A widely studied commercial product containing black cohosh is Remifemin. Some feel that this product may need to be taken every day for up to 8 weeks to achieve its maximum effect.

Completes Realtor Institute Training

Debra S. Savage, a sales agent for Long and Foster Realtors, has been awarded the Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) designation by the Realtors Institute of Maryland after successfully completing 90 hours of specific education outlined by the National Association of Realtors.

The Realtors Institute of Maryland, conducted by the Maryland Association of Realtors, was developed to provide more training in various phases of real estate. "By taking the courses offered by the institute, a realtor or realtor associate can become a more competent professional, render broader and more effective service, and elevate the standards of the real estate industry," a spokesperson said.

The GRI designation is conferred upon realtors and realtor associates who complete the institute program.

The December meeting was called to order by Vice President Steve Knepp, who led pledges. The sunshine baskets were given to Ed Hinebaugh and Rebecca Sliger. The club also signed cards to give to Carl Bittinger, Gay Durr, and Mrs. Hauser.

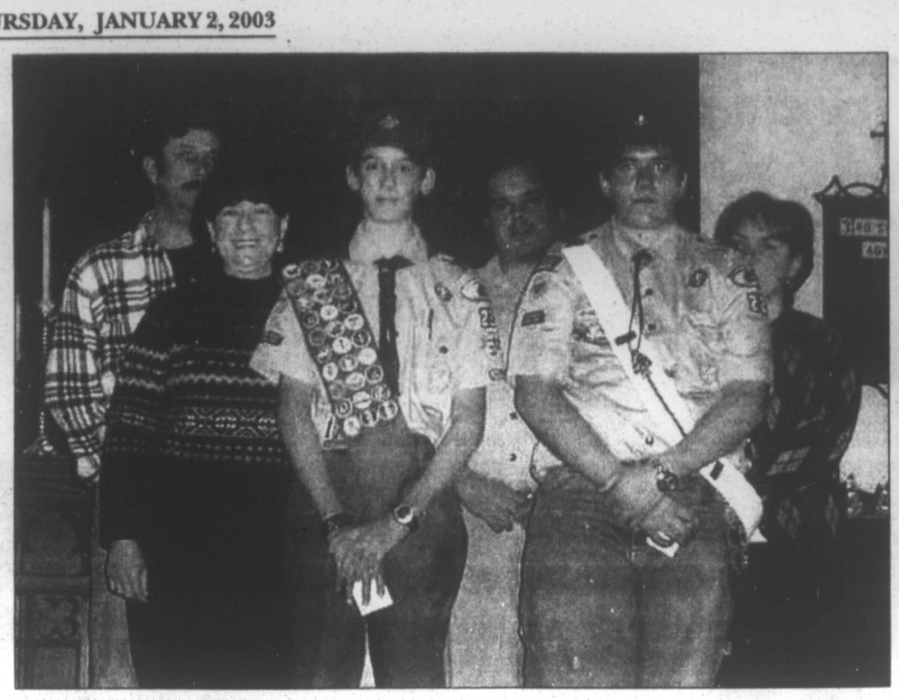
After the meeting the club enjoyed a Christmas dinner, and after that we had a "Crazy Christmas Exchange." The next meeting is scheduled for January 8. All members are to bring their record books.

Ruth Enlow Library Seeks Donations For Yearbook Collection

The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County is collecting copies of yearbooks from Northern and Southern high schools, and the old Oakland High School. Northern High yearbooks will be housed as part of the permanent collection at the Grantsville library, while the Southern High and Oakland High yearbooks will be added to the Oakland library's permanent collection.

"Yearbooks are valuable resources for anyone conducting family history research and also provide a nice picture of the local community through the years," stated library associate Keela Pfaff.

Persons interested in donating an old SHS or OHS yearbook may contact Pfaff at the Oakland library at 301-334-3996, ext. 105, or via e-mail at pfaff@relib.net. Those interested in donating an old NHS yearbook may contact Kim Lishia at the Grantsville library at 301-895-5298 or via e-mail at lishia@relib.net. Because of a lack of shelving and storage space, the library system is only able to accept up to two copies of a particular yearbook; therefore, potential donors are asked to call ahead to see if there is a demand for the specific yearbooks they wish to donate.



TROOP 22 HOLDS COURT OF HONOR CEREMONY – Members of Boy Scout Troop 22, sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, held their Court of Honor ceremony at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland recently, as 15 merit badges were awarded to 10 troop members, and 11 boys received rank advancements. Senior Patrol Leader Brian Georg presided at the event, which opened as the Screaming Eagles Patrol presented the colors. Royce Warnick Jr. delivered the invocation, and Ben Peracchio and Doug Stephens led singing. Carolyn Gorley, Janet White and Leslie Warnick served refreshments. Pictured above are new Life Scouts Brian Georg, left, and Drew Taylor, shown standing in front of their parents, Jeff and Debbie Georg and Allan and Robin Taylor. The Star advancement exercise is shown below, as Troop committee chairman Tom Gorley reads the Star Scout Charge to Sam Lauver with parents Phil and Marjorie Lauver looking on. First Class advancements were bestowed in the ceremony pictured at the above right, as Troop advancement chairman Allan Taylor administers the First Class Scout Charge to Matt White, Zach Gotsch, and Evan Savopolous. In the second row are parents Janet White, Ken Gotsch, and Patty Gotsch, and Susan and Sotiere Savopolous. Troop 22 is planning several activities for upcoming weeks including a winter campout and the Frozen First Aid Meet. For further information about Scouting in this area, persons may call Scoutmaster Bob Stephens at 301-334-8647.

Wendy Makkena

Q: What ever happened to Wendy Makkena after "Sister Act" and its sequel? Where could I write to her? –Scott in Euclid, Ohio.

A: Makkena, a native New Yorker, vanishes so completely inside her characters that it's often hard to believe it's the same actress from role to role. Just compare her sunny but shy nun, Sister Mary Robert, from the "Sister Act" movie comedies with her tart work as Denis Leary's weary, wary wife on ABC's underappreciated "The Job," for example.

In addition to a long list of stage credits, Makkena also has appeared in such films and TV movies as "Eight Men Out," "Serving in Silence: The Margarethe Cammermeyer Story," "Air Force One" and "Air Bud."

Look for Makkena's hilarious work as the title character's Jackie O.-obsessed mother in "Oliver Beene," an upcoming Fox midseason sitcom. In addition to "The Job," Makkena previously had regular or recurring roles on such series as "Santa Barbara," "A League of Their Own," "NYPD Blue" and "Judging Amy."

Write to Makkena c/o "Oliver Beene," Fox Broadcasting Company, P.O. Box 900, Beverly Hills, CA 90213.

Q: Who plays Aphrodite in the syndicated reruns of "Hercules: The Legendary Journeys"? I can't match a name to her face in the credits. –Tom in Michigan City, Ind.

A: That's Washington, D.C., native Alexandra Tydings, 30, putting a ditsy valley girl spin on the character of the goddess of love in both "Hercules" and "Xena: Warrior Princess."

Tydings, who performed with punk bands and theater groups in her earlier days, enjoys performing a cabaret act at Hercules and Xena fan conventions. She and close pal Claudia Christian ("Babylon 5") also are trying to get a sci-fi TV project called "Hourglass" off the ground.

Like many performers, Tydings keeps in touch with her fan base via an official Web site, alextydings.com, where she posts her schedule of appearances and markets autographed posters and pictures.

Q: A co-worker insists that Dennis Weaver starred in the old TV series "Gentle Ben." I say it was Clint Walker. Who is right? –Gloria J. Lawson, Woodstock, Ga.

A: Your co-worker. Weaver played Tom Wedloe in that 1967-69 CBS family drama. You may have been confused by the fact that Weaver's son was played by child actor Clint Howard, and/or that Clint Walker tangled with a bear in the 1966 movie "Night of the Grizzly."

In Focus

No topic is sacred when Wanda Sykes takes the stage in Comedy Central's hilarious "Wanda Sykes: Tongue Untied" Friday, Jan. 10.

She starts the one-hour stand-up special joking about network suits who wanted to cast her as a sitcom maid who wins the lottery but stays on because she loves the family. She told her agent to take the meeting so she could slap the idea out of their heads.

Sykes also ribs the president for laughing like a villain, and men for lacking deep thoughts.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Famed mystery novelist Agatha Christie was originally interested in a career as a concert pianist. Legendary football coach Knute Rockne wanted to be a chemist.

• There wasn't modern-style disability insurance in the 1600s, but there was a certain honor among thieves. If a pirate was maimed, he would be paid from the bounty taken a set amount that varied according to the injury. If he lost an eye, he'd be paid $96. Losing the right arm was worth $576, while the left arm was worth $480. Evidently, arms were worth more than legs: A pirate who lost his right leg would be paid $480, and one who lost his left leg would get $384.

• Ever hear the French expression, "a tout a l'heure"? Probably not. But I'm sure you're familiar with the English expression derived from it: "toodle-oo."

• Life Savers candy has come in many different flavors over the years, many of which have been discontinued. Among the abandoned flavors: choc-o-mint, anise, cin-o-mon, root beer and molas-o-mint.

• According to Korean wedding customs, it seems that the bride's family may end up broke. In addition to paying for half of the ceremony, they are traditionally responsible for buying the groom's clothing, the groom's mother's jewelry and all the furnishings for the couple's new home. They may also offer the potential groom an office, an apartment or a car — as an added inducement to marriage.

• One city in Switzerland once made it illegal to slam a car door.

• The man who wrote the famous Alka-Seltzer jingle — you know, "Plop, plop, fizz, fizz, oh, what a relief it is" — was actress Julianna Margulies' father.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 8, 1815, two weeks after the War of 1812 officially ended with the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, U.S. General Andrew Jackson achieves the greatest American victory of the war at the Battle of New Orleans. It also marked the last armed engagement between the United States and Britain.

• On Jan. 12, 1904, racing driver Barney Oldfield set a new speed record in a stripped-down Ford automobile. Driving across the frozen surface of Lake St. Clair, he reached a top speed of 91.37 mph.

• On Jan. 6, 1919, Theodore Roosevelt, the 26th president of the United States, dies at Sagamore Hill, his estate overlooking New York's Long Island Sound. A dynamic and energetic politician, Roosevelt is credited with creating the modern presidency.

• On Jan. 10, 1920, the League of Nations formally comes into being when the Covenant of the League of Nations, ratified by 42 nations in 1919, takes effect. In 1946, it was officially dissolved with the establishment of the United Nations.

• On Jan. 9, 1972, in Hong Kong harbor, a fire breaks out aboard the Queen Elizabeth, and by the next morning the famous vessel lies in a wreck on the bottom of the sea floor.

• On Jan. 11, 1978, writer Toni Morrison wins the National Book Critics Circle Award for "Song of Solomon." The award brought her national attention for the first time. Morrison went on to win the Pulitzer in 1988 and the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1993.

• On Jan. 7, 1979, Vietnamese troops seize the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, toppling the brutal regime of Pol Pot and his Khmer Rouge. Much of the international community hoped that his captors would extradite him to stand trial for his crimes against humanity, but he died of apparently natural causes while under house arrest in 1998.

Marilyn Monroe

Q. I have a pocket calendar from 1954 that features a nude picture of Marilyn Monroe. I would like to contact a Monroe collector to sell it. — Mary, Roseville, Mich.

A. Pocket calendars, playing cards, pinups and other assorted materials with a nude Monroe are more common than you might think. A check of eBay produced a pocket calendar similar to yours but issued in 1955 priced at $25.

Clark Kidder is a dealer who also appraises Monroe collectibles. His addresses are 3219 E. County Road "N," Milton, WI 53563; ckidder@jvlnet.com; and www.jvlnet.com/marilyn/. Denis Jackson is also an expert and the author of "The Price and Identification Guide to Marilyn Monroe." His address is P.O. Box 1958, Sequim, WA 98382.

Catch That Rascally Runaway

Q. Help! I just got a pet hamster for Christmas, and when I took him out to play, he ran under the dresser! Now I can't find him anywhere. How do I catch him? — Jessica L., Worcester, Mass.

A. So, your new pet made a break for it, eh? Well, take heart — he's probably still somewhere in the house, gnawing on something expensive.

Your first step is to determine what room he's in. Just before bedtime tonight, pile about 10 sunflower seeds in the middle of each room in the house, and then shut the doors and stuff towels along the bottom of each door. In the morning, check each room. The room with missing sunflower seeds is the room your new pet is hiding in. Seal off that room again.

Place your hamster's sleep cage on the floor of the room he's hiding in. Hamsters like to sleep in a cozy spot during the day, and if he discovers his own bed right there in the room, you'll probably find him snoozing away in there after a short time.

Another method is to build an impromptu trap in the center of the room. Find a small bucket and place some of his used bedding along the bottom (it serves as a lure and a cushion). Then sprinkle seeds or raisins on top of the bedding. Place a hamster-sized ramp up to the edge of the bucket (tape it in place if need be) so he can climb up to the edge. If he loves treats, he'll dive in and be unable to get back out.

Just remember to put lots of padding in the bottom of the bucket, so your pet isn't injured when he falls in. Good luck!

The improvements thereon being known as No. 3496 Old Morgantown West Road.

The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "As Is" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representation or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property including without limitation, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $55,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $8,500.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within thirty (30) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 12.85% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder thereat, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of the interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water rent and ground rent, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, located and situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County, Maryland, to the Garrett County Commissioners, who assigned same unto the plaintiffs in this proceeding, consisting of .61 of an acre, more or less, designated as Lot 25 of Section 3, Block V, Piney Mountain Corporation, Garrett County, Maryland, and recorded in Liber 361, page 240, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. The complaint states, inter alia, that the amount necessary for redemption has not been paid.

It is thereupon, this 10th day of December, 2002, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland ORDERED that notice be given by insertion of a copy of this order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three (3) successive weeks, warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court, by the 10th day of February 2003, and redeem the property and answer the complaint, or thereafter a final judgment will be entered, foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the plaintiffs a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Grace Lutheran Church

Morning worship services at the Grace Lutheran Church are held every Sunday morning at 9:45.

Seminarian Russell Trackte from the Lutheran Seminary of Iowa will be assisting Pastor Nairn from January 3 through January 23.

Petition for Office

Anyone interested in running for a position on the town council in the Feb. 2003 municipal election must submit a petition for office to the clerk treasurer prior to noon on Monday, Jan. 6.

The clerk treasurer will be at the town hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 3 p.m. and on Monday, Jan. 6, from 10 a.m. to noon.

Town council members eligible to seek re-election are Wayne Friend, Edward Kelley, and Robert Sines. Holdover council members are Frances Friend, James Lininger, Terry Spear, and Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle.

Fire Dept. News

The Friendsville Fire and Rescue Dept. Inc. is holding "Wing Night" every Friday from 6 to 10 p.m. Takeouts are available. Other items are also offered, such as french fries, chicken fingers, hotdogs, nachos and cheese, etc. All support in this endeavor will be appreciated.

Friendsville Fireflies

The Friendsville Fireflies 4-H Club will hold a special meeting for all 2002 members on Monday, Jan. 6, at the home of Alice Long, beginning at 6 p.m.

The next regular meeting of the Fireflies will be held Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 6 p.m. at the Friendsville Elementary School cafeteria. This meeting will give new members an opportunity to sign up.

THE NORTHERN GARRETT COUNTY RESCUE SQUAD VISITED the Friendsville After-School Program, which is held at the Friendsville Elementary School every Tuesday evening. Volunteers from the squad educated the children on emergency procedures and donated coloring books and stickers. The Friendsville Community Watch and the Garrett County Health Department sponsor the program. Persons with questions regarding the after-school program may contact Brenda Frazee, outreach worker, at 301-334-7730.

Birth Announced

A daughter was born to James (J.R.) and Janet Thomas on Tuesday, Dec. 17, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Arizona Nicole was born weighing 8 pounds, 1.4 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Dave and Judy Reams and John and Robin Nickleson, all of Confluence, Pa. Paternal grandparents are Alice and Gary Long of Friendsville, and Jim Thomas of Kingwood. Arizona is the new sister of Taylor.

The Wishing Well
by Lucretia Sines

Leona Ross was recently a patient at Cumberland Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, for surgery. She will be moved to a rehabilitation center for healing and recuperation. Cards can be sent to her at 1028 Ross Ave., Friendsville, MD 21531.

If you know anyone whom you would like to include in the Wishing Well or Birthday Wishes, please contact me at 301-746-5933 or P.O. Box 411, Friendsville, MD 21531.

WOW News

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 will meet Thursday, Jan. 16, at Grace Lutheran Church, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The purpose will be the installation of officers.

Garrett College Slates Courses In Grantsville

Garrett College has scheduled a variety of continuing education classes that will be offered at the college's Grantsville Outreach Center. The course list includes the following:

Blueprint Reading will meet from 9 to 12:15 p.m. over three consecutive Saturdays beginning January 11. The course is designed for students who are pursuing knowledge and skills to read blueprints, and the topics will include construction documents, layout, symbols, specifications, and scales.

Computer Skills I, a two-part course, will be offered from 6 to 9:15 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, Jan. 14 and 16. Designed for beginners, the sessions will offer interactive instruction on the essentials of working with a computer. Topics include common elements of the computer, basic computer terms, mouse techniques, menu bars, and managing files.

Keyboarding I will be offered from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. over four consecutive Tuesdays beginning January 21. This course will introduce the student to the use of the computer for the development of keyboarding skills by the touch method. Basic introduction to word processing and practical application will also be explored. Previous computer experience is not required.

Medical Terminology will meet from 6 to 9:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting January 21 for a total of 10 sessions. Students will receive instruction in how to communicate, write, and interpret medical terms effectively. The syllabus includes organization of terms on the basis of roots, prefixes, suffixes and derivates, and study of body systems. This course is offered as one of a series of courses designed to prepare students for the Medical Coding profession.

Weight Loss for Your Body Type, a one-session course slated for 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27, will explore the connections between an individual's blood type, diet, and susceptibility to disease. The course covers the use of blood type in the selection of foods, nutritional supplements, and which mode of exercise is best for an individual.

For additional information about these classes, persons may contact Terry Beachy at 301-895-3368, or the GC Continuing Education Division at 301-387-3069.

ACCIDENT

North Star 4-H Club

The North Star 4-H Club will hold its next meeting this Saturday, Jan. 4, at 9 a.m. at the home of Rachel Schmidt. The purpose of the meeting will be to make plans for the new year and to work on record books. Members attending are asked to bring a soup or sandwich and drink, and plan to spend the whole day.

Flowery Vale Fitness Center

Beginning Saturday, Jan 11, and continuing for four consecutive Saturday afternoons at 1 p.m., "Learning to Love Exercise and Your Body Again" will be held at the Flowery Vale Fitness Center. Elaine Kackley, exercise fitness trainer, will instruct the course. Jan. 11 will begin with a motivational lecture and lead to participant commitments to exercise.

This exercise course is one of nine learning opportunities for adults and is offered by the Center for Life-long Learning at Garrett College. For more information, persons may call 301-387-3069.

MLP Man Gets Three Years For Felony Theft

A Mtn. Lake Park man was sentenced by Judge Jim Sherbin last week in Garrett County Circuit Court to three years at the Department of Corrections for a felony theft charge. Charles Howard Burgess III was also found to owe restitution of $12,500 to the victims in the case.

The charges stem from an investigation by detectives with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation, who were contacted by a family in southern Garrett County in June 2000. The family reported $12,500 in cash was stolen from a chest in their residence, along with two handguns they were storing for a friend.

Burgess, 20, resided with the family in the spring of 2000 and was a suspect during the initial investigation, which was suspended in the summer of 2000 for lack of evidence.

In the summer of 2001, officers received information about items allegedly purchased by Burgess with large sums of cash immediately after the theft, and he had traded at least one of the stolen guns to a Friendsville-area juvenile. The officers then interviewed a number of the witnesses.

Two handguns were recovered, with one having been seen in Burgess's possession shortly after being stolen, said State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

The evidence was presented to the members of the September 2001 grand jury, who issued an indictment.

Burgess pleaded guilty to the felony theft charge in November 2002. Related charges of misdemeanor theft and transferring a gun without the proper waiting period were dismissed upon his plea.

ADORNED IN A MANTLE OF WHITE – Every twig of every tree on the mountaintop was dressed in white this past week in the midst of one of the prettiest snowstorms of the season. Snow has been the order of the day for weeks now, and although today's temperature is to rise as high as the mid-40s, snowfall is to return late tonight and continue for days. It's a skier's paradise, although those who live and work here do grow weary of shoveling driveways and drying out socks. But the dazzling scenes shouldn't be ignored. Go outside and take a look. Both stark and lovely, Garrett County is worth seeing.

Water, Sewerage Projects Making Progress In GC

Ron Petrella, Garrett County Sanitary District administrator, updated the county commissioners last week on several projects, including Deer Park water, Keyser's Ridge water, the McHenry water tank, and Meadow Mountain sewerage.

The Deer Park water project has been stopped for the winter, said Petrella. Work will resume when weather permits. The project is on schedule, however, and should be completed by summer.

The administrator said the water tank installation was 83 percent complete in 81 percent of the contracted time. The water distribution system is 49 percent complete in 60 percent of the time. The paving has also been completed.

"There is very little work to do with the tank," said Petrella. "The wall panels, top, etc., are all ready to go, but joints have to be sealed in warm weather."

The Garrett County Sanitary Commission is currently waiting final funding approval for the Deer Park treatment plant. That project is also on winter shut down, said the administrator.

Petrella also reported on the progress of the Keyser's Ridge water project. Grantsville and the sanitary commission need to sign an agreement. Petrella hopes to have that finalized within the next 30 days.

The Maryland Department of the Environment is expected to issue appropriations permits soon. The department also needs to give its final approval of the project's second water source, according to Petrella.

Two wells will supply the system. The project's hydrologist indicated that the second well should serve as the primary source and should produce 150,000 gallons per minute, said Petrella.

A sewerage system is also planned for the Keyser's Ridge area. That project, though, is still in the early design stages. The water and sewerage systems will serve the county's proposed Keyser's Ridge industrial park.

Commissioner Fred Holliday said the sanitary commissioner, Department of Economic Development, and others needed to meet to discuss the systems and park.

Petrella also updated the commissioners on the McHenry water storage tank. The loan will soon be closed on the 500,000 tank, he

Sand Flat Residents Oppose Bill To Raise Weight Limit On GC Roads

The Garrett County commissioners held an informal meeting this week with 14 residents who live along or access Sand Flat Road. The residents requested the forum to try to persuade the officials not to raise the maximum weight limit on county roads.

Also attending the meeting were timber company owners, Garrett County Roads Department officials, and police officers.

Earlier this month, the commissioners asked Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer to introduce legislation in the Maryland General Assembly that would allow Garrett County to increase the maximum weight limit from the current 73,000 pounds to 80,000 pounds. This would be consistent with the state's limit for its highways.

"This issue did not come about lightly," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg about the legislative request. "A number of factors were taken into consideration."

The commissioner said he wanted to reiterate that at this point no specific roads had been earmarked for the increase.

"It would be morally wrong to allow this legislation to proceed and to gamble with our safety," said Bobby Andersen. The Sand Flat resident said her hilly road, with its numerous blind curves and narrow shoulders, was not suited for fully loaded 18 wheelers, especially when it is snow covered.

Reportedly, some truckers with loads of more than 73,000 pounds still use Sand Flat as a short cut between state Routes 219 and 135 to save time and to avoid the traffic congestion in Oakland. As a result, they are sometimes caught by police officers and ticketed for overweight loads.

Andersen said if the proposed weight increase bill passes, it would be an invitation to all truckers to use Sand Flat as an Oakland bypass and further increase the traffic and danger on that road.

"This [proposed legislation] has nothing to do with the Oakland bypass," said Gregg.

Nonetheless, said Tory Ellington – president of the Pergin Farms Homeowners Association – Sand Flat does make a nice bypass. He said if the road is to be used as a "de facto" bypass, it needed to be improved. "We need to make it safer before opening it up to heavy traffic," he said.

Ellington added that lowering the road's speed limit would not help since many persons do not obey the 45 mph now. He said truckers were the worst violators and often rode his bumper when he traveled Sand Flat Road.

Former police officer Paul Ludwig said he knows of at least one trucker who was ticketed for going 78 mph on Sand Flat and a Prominent Local Businessman Dies Suddenly

Prominent local businessman Mervin R. "Skip" Bernard, 56, McHenry, died Friday, Jan. 3, 2003, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born Feb. 19, 1946, in Philippi, W.Va., he was a son of the late Mervin C. Bernard and Virginia O. (Glotfelty) (Bernard) Hullett. He was also preceded in death by one son, Jeffrey A. Bernard; his foster mother, Lena (Harvey) Glotfelty; and his father-in-law, Harry S. Murray.

He was a member of the Deep Creek Baptist Church. Skip was the president of Team One Auto Mall, Oakland, and Bernard Motor Sports Inc. He spent most of his life as a businessman in the Deep Creek Lake area.

As a teenager, he worked with his great uncle, Perry E. Glotfelty, who also raised him. They developed a close father/son relationship while working together at Glotfelty's Garage and Glotfelty's Motel, McHenry, and later at the Trading Post. He worked at Storey's Landing for a time and over the years owned Skip's Trucking and was a land developer.

Windpower Meetings Generate Public Discussion, Pro And Con

Maryland Public Service Commission officials and representatives of several other state agencies were in Garrett County this week to hear a variety of opinions expressed by local citizens concerning the proposal by Clipper Windpower to place up to 67 electricity-generating wind turbines on Backbone Mountain. The wind company is seeking expedited permission from the PSC to go ahead with the project in order to take advantage of tax breaks that expire at the end of this year, while a cadre of opponents are seeking to derail or at least delay state approval for a variety of reasons.

The comments voiced at Tuesday night's meeting at the Garrett County Courthouse were most interesting because of how similar the goal of both "opposing" viewpoints seemed to be, although the various opinion holders seem to be at loggerheads on how to get where they want to go.

Eleven of the more than 60 persons on hand for the public input session took to the floor to express their views. Proponents and opponents alike spoke of the need for "clean" power in order to reduce pollution caused by smokestack power plants, and the need to "wean ourselves" away from non-renewable sources of energy, even in relatively small amounts.

The similarities stopped there, when the specific "Allegheny Heights" project proposal was addressed. Opponents raised repeated concerns that focused on three main topics: the speeded-up permission process sought from the state by the wind company; the impacts to the natural scenery of Maryland's highest mountain ridge; and potential bird fatalities that could result from impacts with the turbine towers and blades.

"I don't think it's fair for people in the entire area around Backbone Mountain to have their property values suffer," said Henry Moomau, who operates a farm within plain view of the proposed site. Fred Jacoby, a neighbor of Moomau's, said that the project would entail "visual pollution. Backbone is a Maryland treasure, and it is the state government's responsibility to protect natural resources."

Oakland resident and birding enthusiast Jon Boone, one of four Boone family members who spoke out against the project, focused on the potential for harm to large numbers of birds that use the ridgeline as a migratory pathway. Alleging "regulatory collusion" between Clipper Windpower and Maryland Department of Natural Resources officials, Boone said, "When the nation's leading expert on migratory birds [Garrett County landowner Dr. Chandler Robbins] challenged Clipper, casting more than a reasonable doubt on the developer's claims about bird safety, the DNR retorted

Two Arrested In Burglary At Local Animal Hospital

Two Oakland men have been arrested and charged in connection with the recent burglaries at the Countryside Animal Hospital, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Kevin William Goralski, 18, and Ronald Reagan "Reggie" Ridder, 21, were each charged with two counts of second-degree burglary, two counts of misdemeanor theft, two counts of malicious destruction of property, one count each of possession of ketamine, and one count each of possession with the intent to distribute ketamine.

Following bail reviews, Ridder was placed in the Garrett County Detention Center on $100,00 bond and Goralski on $75,000 bond.

The arrests are the results of a combined investigation

Women Arrested On Drug Charges After Car Search

Two women were jailed on drug charges by Maryland State Police troopers Tuesday evening following a traffic stop near Grantsville.

Jennifer R. Fisher, 18, Addison, Pa., and Winter L. Villarreal, 23, Friendsville, were stopped at approximately 6 p.m. on eastbound Interstate 68 at the Casselman Bridge after a trooper observed an inoperative headlight on the 1991 Ford LTD Fisher was driving. A K-9 scan of the vehicle revealed a key chain containing suspected marijuana, two smoking pipes, and one hand-held scale. Fisher was also found to be in possession of a clear plastic bag containing suspected marijuana.

Both Fisher and her passenger, Villarreal, were

Oakland Man Sentenced For Endangerment

An 23-year-old Oakland man was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court for reckless endangerment. Keith Franklin Douglas was sentenced to two years at the Department of Corrections. Six months of his sentence was suspended, and Douglas will spend the remaining 18 months in the Garrett County Jail. He will be on probation upon his release.

Douglas was charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in March 2002 after being called to the Bloomington fire hall for a reported assault with a knife. The victim and witnesses reported that, as they were leaving a fund-raising event at the hall, they witnessed Douglas in an altercation with a female.

A 37-year-old Grantsville-area man attempted to intervene to calm the situation, and Douglas stabbed him twice in the arm with a pocketknife, according to State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

The victim was later treated at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland. Douglas was apprehended in a vehicle in the area a short time later, and the knife was recovered.

Douglas had appeared in the Circuit Court for a jury trial in December, but elected to enter a plea of guilty to the charge. Related charges of assault were dismissed upon his plea.

Perkins Restaurant And Bakery Slated To Open In McHenry

Responding to rumors circulating during the past few weeks, Umbel Enterprises recently confirmed that Hugh Umbel has secured a franchise commitment from Perkins Restaurant and Bakery to build and operate a 4,500-square foot restaurant next to the Deep Creek Foodland Fresh in McHenry. It is anticipated that construction will begin in February and the restaurant will open by mid-June.

The successful Perkins organization operates family-oriented restaurants throughout the United States, with the closest located in Wheeling, W.Va. In addition to serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, the restaurant will feature a quality bakery with pies, cakes, muffins, and cookies prepared throughout the day.

Ken Wishnick, executive manager for Umbel Enterprises, has looked at several restaurant options before deciding on Perkins. "I've dined at five Perkins' locations in three states and believe Garrett County is ready for the kind of well prepared meals, large portions, great service, and reasonable prices that Perkins has built its reputation on. I believe Umbel Enterprises will be very successful with this new venture," he said.

According to Wishnick, the search for key managers is currently under way. He anticipates that hiring will begin in February. Extensive training will be provided at Perkins University in the Orlando area for managers, and local training will be conducted in the April/May timeframe for all other personnel. "Perkins' emphasis on employee training and development is one of the most important factors in their success," said Wishnick. In all, 65-75 new jobs will be created and $1.5 million in-

GET READY TO CHASE SNOWFLAKES – The staff of the Garrett County Health Department is gearing up for the annual Uno's Snowflake Chase, to be held at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Saturday, Jan. 18. The health department is encouraging all "Just Move It" participants to take part in the 5-mile run/2-mile fun walk, which will benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters. Starting time for the race is 10 a.m. Race day registration will be held from 8:30 until 9:30 a.m. in the park's maintenance garage. Persons may pre-register by picking up an application at the community health office (room 206) of the health department, or by contacting the race director, David Ritchie, at 301-369-9579. Post-race activities will be held at Uno's Restaurant, where a complimentary lunch of pizza and soft drinks will be available to all participants.

Man Ordered To Pay Check Theft Victim Over $6K

A Mtn. Lake Park man was ordered to pay restitution to his own brother after he pleaded guilty to taking some of the man's personal checks and forging several of them to take a total over $6,400 from the victim's bank account. The hearing took place in Garrett County District Court recently, with Judge Ralph M. Burnett presiding.

Darvin Clifford Moon, 39, entered guilty pleas to charges of felony theft, forgery, and uttering bad checks. In addition to the restitution order, Burnett mandated that Moon remain on unsupervised probation for a one-year period, and complete 100 hours of community service. Moon had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in October after he had taken the checks and committed the forgeries to both acquire cash and to make transfer deposits into his own account. Two additional counts each of felony theft, forgery, and uttering were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other District Court news, Michael DeWayne Thompson, 22, Oakland, pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of a motorcycle that stemmed from his May arrest by sheriff's deputies. The judge ordered that Thompson's record indicate the conviction led to a "time served" period of incarceration, while the remainder of a one-year sentence was suspended, and he was placed on three years' supervised probation. He had taken a motorcycle from a Hutton area residence without the owner's permission and hid it in another location. Additional charges of felony theft and unauthorized taking of a motorcycle were not prosecuted.

Robert Eugene Johnson Jr., 37, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to a harassment charge and received a 90-day suspended sentence with a three-year unsupervised probation order from visiting Judge Paul Stakem. The charge was filed in November after Johnson had sent several letters containing threatening language to her from the Garrett County Jail, where he was an inmate at the time.

Johnson also faced charges of fourth-degree burglary and misdemeanor theft, neither of which were prosecuted, that stemmed from an earlier incident at the Wildwater Inn near Grantsville. State troopers had jailed him in April 1998 after he allegedly broke into the establishment and took three cases of beer.

Kevin Patrick Burns, 51, Charlottesville, Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a 60-day sentence by Burnett, who also imposed a $200 fine, six months of unsupervised probation, and 60 hours of community service. Burns had been jailed by sheriff's deputies who searched his car during a May traffic stop on Hutton Road. The search, which was initiated after deputies noted the odor of burnt marijuana emanating from Burns's car, uncovered a bag of marijuana, a smoking "bong," and rolling papers. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Ellen Delores DeWitt, 21, Oakland, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 80 hours of community service. Her September arrest by sheriff's deputies took place after the odor of burnt marijuana was noted coming from her car during a traffic stop on Sand Flat Road. A search uncovered a metal smoking pipe bearing residue that was concealed in a diaper bag in the vehicle. An additional charge of paraphernalia possession was not prosecuted.

Two hearings resulted in stet rulings for the defendants, meaning that the cases can be recalled for trial at any point within the next 365 days if the court deems appropriate.

Ryan Lee Sines, 26, Friendsville, was handed a stet ruling on a malicious destruction of property charge, along with an order to complete 20 hours of community service. He had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in September when he reportedly threw a rock through the window of an Accident tavern after staff members had asked him to leave because he was overly intoxicated.

Danny Alvin Riley, 22, Oakland, received stet rulings on charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace, along with an order to complete 20 hours of community service. His October arrest by Oakland police officers stemmed from a disturbance he was causing at the annual Oktoberfest celebration, when he used loud profanity in addressing festival staffers who had requested he comply with displayed rules regarding alcohol consumption.

Three counts of second-degree assault faced by Gokula Parandhamaia, 36, Swanton, were not prosecuted. The charges were filed in September after an investigation of allegations that he had struck his juvenile children with his open hand and a "paddle."

Joshua David Hathaway, 19, Oakdale, Pa., had faced a charge of possession of the drug ketamine that was not prosecuted. Sheriff's deputies had filed the charge in May after a Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff member who helped check Hathaway into the emergency room for treatment discovered a small plastic bag of a suspicious substance as she inventoried his belongings.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

Several driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in traffic court recently.

Carlton Jay Shomo, 20, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a one-year sentence, 10 months of which was suspended. Judge Burnett also placed Shomo on two years of supervised probation.

Christopher Alan Glotfelty, 29, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a six-month sentence, all but one month of which was suspended, fined $500, and placed on two years of supervised probation. Glotfelty was also deemed to be in violation of an existing DUI probation agreement, which was revoked with a 30-day sentence reimposed.

William Joseph Harvey, 22, Md., was found to be in violation of DUI probation, which was revoked with a four-month sentence reimposed.

Roy Lee Friend, 31, Md., pleaded "not guilty" to DWI, but was nonetheless convicted and handed a 60-day jail term and a $500 fine.

Rickie Dwayne Wilburn, 45, Md., was deemed to be in violation of DUI probation, which was revoked with a 55-day sentence reimposed.

Jason Dwayne Petry, 31, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a 60-day sentence, half of which was suspended, along with a $300 fine and two years' supervised probation.

Jeffery Duncan Culp, 35, Pa., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 60-day suspended sentence, fined $555, and placed on two years of supervised probation by Judge Stakem.

Michael Wayne Greene, 42, N.C., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, a $455 fine, one year of supervised probation, and 20 hours of community service by Judge Burnett.

Terry Lee Carathers, 51, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $455, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

Kelly Jean Lattimer, 41, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, a $300 fine, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service.

Larry Clyde Barnes, 56, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and received a 30-day suspended sentence, a $300 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Several probation before judgment rulings (PBJ) were handed down from the bench. A disposition of PBJ means that a guilty verdict can be imposed in the defendant's record should terms of the probation agreement be violated.

James Carlisle Simakas, 47, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day suspended sentence, a $555 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Thomas Neal Porter, 45, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $455, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Virginia Catherine Mayles, 47, and William Thomas Resh, 29, both of Maryland, pleaded guilty to DUI, and each was handed a PBJ along with a 30-day suspended sentence, a $400 fine, one year of supervised probation, and 20 hours of community service.

Erin Nicole Selders, 23, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day suspended sentence, a $300 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Albert Lynn Boch, 70, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $200, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.

Simple Steps to a happier winter

1) Don't leave dogs outdoors when the temperature drops.
Most dogs, and cats, are safer indoors, except when taken out for exercise. No matter what temperature, wind-chill can threaten a pet's life. If your dog is an outdoor dog, however, he/she must be protected by a dry, draft-free doghouse that is large enough to allow the dog to sit and lie down comfortably, but small enough to hold body heat. The floor should be raised a few inches off the ground and covered with cedar shavings or straw.

2) Pets who spend a lot of time outdoors need more food in the winter because keeping warm depletes energy. Routinely check your pet's water dish to make certain the water is fresh and unfrozen.

3) Warm engines in parked cars attract cats and small wildlife, which may crawl under the hood. To avoid injuring any hidden animals, bang on your hood to scare them away before starting your engine.

4) The salt and other chemicals used to melt snow and ice can irritate the pads of your pet's feet. Wipe the feet with a damp towel before your pet licks them and irritates his/her mouth.

5) Antifreeze is a deadly poison, but has a sweet taste that that may attract animals and children. Wipe up spills and store antifreeze out of reach.

Probably the best prescription for winter's woes is to keep your dog or cat inside with you and your family. The happiest dogs are those who are taken out frequently for walks and exercise but kept inside the rest of the time. Dogs and cats are social animals who crave humane companionship.

Your animal companions deserve to live indoors with you and your family.

Feds' Extension of Jobless Benefits Could Reach 20,000 Marylanders

by William Wan
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - President Bush signed a bill Wednesday extending federal unemployment benefits for about 20,000 jobless people in Maryland, and about 2.5 million nationwide.

Bush signed the bill within hours of the House's 416-4 vote Wednesday afternoon. The Senate passed the bill unanimously Tuesday.

In most states, including Maryland, the new measure gives jobless people as many as 13 more weeks of benefits. In three "high unemployment" states – Alaska, Oregon and Washington – the statute offers up to 26 extra weeks.

It comes not a moment too soon, said Tom Wendel, director of Maryland's Office of Unemployment.

"These people need this money to keep their families fed and their mortgages paid," he said.

Congress originally approved an extension of jobless benefits in March, while the country was still reeling from the Sept. 11 attacks and the economy was faltering. Since then, Wendel said his office has handed out about $70 million in additional aid.

When the program ended Dec. 28, about 10,000 people in Maryland and 750,000 nationwide lost what for many was their only income.

"We sent out letters and press releases to let people know," the benefits were ending, Wendel said. "A lot of them called in and said thanks for telling me but it doesn't do me any damn good."

In addition to the 10,000 Marylanders who have already lost their extended benefits, the bill signed Wednesday will cover an estimated 10,000 other workers whose standard benefits were scheduled to run out by June.

Barring further action, the extended benefits program will end in June.

The bill passed Wednesday will not cover an estimated 1 million people who exhausted their standard and temporary benefits and are still unemployed.

More than 130 Democrats backed a substitute bill Tuesday to cover those 1 million unemployed workers. But that proposal failed on a largely party-line vote, with Republican leaders arguing that the 1 million workers "Democrats refer to . . . have already received federal extended benefits."

The Republicans "only have so much compassion to go around," said Rep. Steny Hoyer, D-Mechanicsville, in a prepared statement.

After the substitute measure failed, the House overwhelmingly backed the GOP version. All eight members of Maryland's House delegation voted for it.

Most states expected Congress to pass a new bill and continued taking claims, said Jessica Goldberg, an unemployment analyst for the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities.

"There shouldn't be a major interruption of checks," she said. "Workers cut off Dec. 28 will go on receiving their remaining weeks."

Checks in Maryland could be mailed as early as Thursday morning.

"We have everything set up and ready to roll," Wendel said. "We're getting tons of calls already asking, Where the hell's my check?'"

Oakland City Police Note Various Arrests

The Oakland City Police Department noted several arrests made this week involving persons charged with disorderly intoxication, violation of protective orders, and on the strength of a bench warrant.

Darrin Jay Fritz Sr., 42, Oakland, was arrested by Officer S. Durst and a deputy this week after the defendant reportedly failed to comply with a police order. Fritz, who was reportedly intoxicated, was ordered by police to stay in his room at the Town Motel in Oakland. He was told to stay in the room for personal safety reasons, the police said.

After being returned to the room three times by officers, Fritz apparently became disorderly. He was charged with disorderly intoxication, and failure to obey the lawful order of a police officer.

In a separate case, an Oakland man was arrested for allegedly violating a court-ordered protection order. Gregory Jean-Baptiste, 20, was arrested after he apparently violating the order, which commanded that he not have any contact with Christine Jean-Baptiste. After his arrest, he was taken before District Court Judge Ralph Burnett, who set a bond at $2,500, according to the report.

In a third case, Douglas Ray Ferguson, 19, Oakland, was arrested by Cpl. S. Fratz on the strength of a bench warrant. He is accused of failing to appear in court.

MSP Probe Theft Of Items From Grantsville Car

Maryland State Police troopers are requesting the public's assistance as they investigate a weekend felony theft from a parked car in Grantsville. Persons with any information on the incident are asked to contact Tfc. DeLauter at 301-387-1101.

DeLauter said that the theft occurred on Sunday between the hours of 2:30 and 9 a.m. when unknown person(s) entered an unlocked 1992 Ford Explorer and removed one Pioneer brand CD player, one black CD case that contained 20 various CDs, and 15 additional CDs.

Oakland Men Exonerated Of Assault Charges

Two Oakland men who appeared in unrelated hearings during recent Garrett County District Court proceedings were both deemed not guilty of their respective assault charges.

Larry Walton Wagner, 55, was exonerated of an accusation that he pushed Linda Wagner to the ground during an alleged altercation. Sheriff's deputies had made an arrest following the May report by Mrs. Wagner.

David Jonathan Jones, 25, Oakland, was deemed not guilty of a second degree assault charge stemming from his August arrest by Oakland police officers on allegations that he had struck Selena Jones during an argument.

Two Injured In Single-Vehicle Mishap Friday

Two people were transported for injuries after a single-vehicle accident Friday around 1 p.m. along Maryland Highway near Altamont Road, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Brenda K. Lee, 38, Kitzmiller, was operating a 1998 Dodge Stratus when the vehicle slid on the icy road and struck a guardrail, police said.

Lee and passenger Harry J. Sims, 88, Kitzmiller, were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated for their injuries.

Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

Va. Man Gets One Year, Fined For Possession

A Newport News, Va., man was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court by Judge Jim Sherbin to one year in the county jail for possession with intent to distribute marijuana. All but 60 days of James Wayne Marshall's sentence was suspended. A fine of $2,000 was also imposed.

Marshall, 23, was charged by Maryland State Police troopers in September 2000 after ¾ pound of marijuana, scales, and other paraphernalia were found in the trunk of the vehicle Marshall was driving.

He was originally stopped for a speeding violation on I-68.

Marshall had pleaded guilty to the possession charge in December. A lesser possession of marijuana charge was then dismissed.

The Garrett County Commission for Women is continuing to seek nominations for the ninth annual Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 15, 2003.

Nomination forms are available at all Ruth Enlow libraries, or they may be obtained by calling Bobbi Sisler at 301-746-8107.

The celebration breakfast for the 2003 inductee or inductees will be held on Saturday, March 22.

Local Woman Injured After I-68 Mishap

An Oakland woman was treated at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, after she was involved in a motor vehicle accident Friday afternoon along Interstate 68 west of Flintstone Creek, according to Maryland State Police, LaVale barrack.

Amanda Pagenhardt, 19, was operating a 2002 Subaru when she lost control and skidded of the roadway and into an embankment, police said.

Witnesses told police the driver was traveling in excess of 65 mph on the snow-covered roadway. Pagenhardt was charged with failure to reduce speed in dangerous highway conditions.

Sand Flat Road Collision Injures Oakland Woman

An Oakland woman was slightly injured early Friday night when her car skidded out of control on ice-covered Sand Flat Road and struck an oncoming vehicle, according to Maryland State Police stationed at the McHenry barrack.

Shortly before 8:30 p.m., Holli Rebecca Harris, 18, was traveling south when her 1999 Dodge Neon went into a skid on a patch of ice in a curve north of Paradise Point Road. Her car slid across the center line and into the path of an oncoming 1999 Ford Contour operated by Eileen Ellen McCrobie, 52, Oakland.

Harris was slightly injured in the ensuing collision, and was transported by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. McCrobie escaped injury. Personnel from the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

State troopers charged Harris with failure to drive right of center.

GBI Reviews Activity In 2002

During the year 2002, the Garrett Bureau of Investigation handled a total of 412 cases.

Through the effort of law enforcement personnel, allied agencies, and community involvement, 346 cases (83%) were successfully closed, which resulted in 123 adult arrests and 19 juvenile arrests for various offenses, according to a GBI spokesperson.

In addition to those arrests, $149,172.21 in stolen property was recovered.

"With the continued support of allied agency interaction and community involvement, GBI investigators look forward to serving the citizens of Garrett County," said a spokesperson.

Two Arrested

by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

In other police news, no injuries were reported after a school bus carrying eight students and a 1989 Chevrolet truck collided Friday afternoon, according to deputies.

Obscured by heavy snow, the operator of the truck claimed not to be able to see the bus, police said. Both vehicles sustained damage. The bus was operated by Leona Maxine DeWitt.

The juvenile was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

In another incident, John Wayne Rinker, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence and exceeding the maximum speed after deputies stopped his vehicle along Weber Road Friday night.

Rinker was released pending trial, police said.

A Dangerous Move...

The Garrett County commissioners are beginning the new year treading in some controversial waters, as they have apparently decided to seek legislation that will permit them to raise the maximum truck-weight limits on county roadways. Usage of one particular piece of road — Rt. 38, or better known as Sand Flat Road — has prompted this move, as area truckers are anxious to be allowed to use this short-cut around Oakland. Some of them have been ticketed for traveling on the road in violation of the current weight limit. Residents of Oakland certainly would not mind having fewer large trucks passing through town.

The commissioners imply that passage of this legislation will not automatically raise the weight limit on Sand Flat Road, or any road. They said that a public hearing would be held in each case before a decision is made.

This assurance did little to address the concerns of some of the residents along Sand Flat Road, and we totally understand their anxiety. Most of this road is curvy and has little in the way of shoulders. Some of the curves are not banked well, and yet it is very easy to exceed the posted speed limit. Several of the driveways of homes along the road sit atop rises, making it dangerous to pull out onto the road if any oncoming vehicle, let alone a large truck, is exceeding the speed limit. And we all know that, the heavier the moving vehicle, the more distance is required to bring it to a stop.

The comment was made at Tuesday's meeting that, if the weight limit is going to be increased on a county road to the level allowed on state roads, then a prerequisite should be to first bring the county road up to state road standards, such as the widening of shoulders. But that usually requires seizure of road-front property, not to mention huge expense.

If the commissioners go through with this, and ultimately raise the weight limit on Sand Flat Road, they should also lower the speed limit on that road for trucks to, say, 40 mph, and then rigorously enforce it. Any trucker caught breaking that limit more than once should then be permanently banned from using the road.

If the weight limit is raised and nothing else is done to help ensure safety, then we will be forced to join the Sand Flat residents in their prediction that some horrible accidents involving large trucks are going to occur on that stretch of road.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

With the constant change that surrounds our lives and community there comes a heightened sense of excitement, both positive and negative. One form which change may take is the closure and/or sale of a business. These changes are not about the money made or lost, but rather the people who through the years have become a part of our heritage. With the dawn of a new year, part of our community's heritage will be forever changed with the closure of Silver Tree Inn and the sale of Bill's Marine Service.

I write so that this time does not pass us by without thanking and honoring Bill Sisler. Bill, your long-term, consistent commitment to family, community, and those of us fortunate enough to know you as a customer, friend, or employee has benefited all, and should not be forgotten. Your handshake was as good as any contract ever written. When you were wrong, you always admitted it. When you were right, you never bragged or rubbed it in a person's face. Your disciplinary (a-chewin's) interviews are memorable to this day, but even more so were the thank-yous and praise given. Your penmanship was horrible at best, but your message was clear. Your public speaking was non-existent, but your word was gold.

When I came to Garrett County as a long-haired kid on a motorcycle, you gave me my first job for $1.65/hour. Even though there were pay raises over the next six years, I never felt they were big enough. I was wrong! Without the time and lessons that you invested in me, life's road could have been costly. I am but one of those who have benefited from your investment.

Yes, change does bring excitement, but for now, thank you, Bill, for the lives that have been influenced by your never-ending commitment to everything that's right. Your style was never meant to be exciting, but the style of your influence has been. May you always be a part of our community's heritage, for we all have much yet to learn.

To the Editor:

I would like to take the opportunity to thank my family, friends, co-workers, students, church family, The Republican newspaper, and entire community for your generosity and support of a recent event. I was part of a team called Joints in Motion, which is a training team that supports the Arthritis Foundation. I committed to raise funds for the Arthritis Foundation as I trained to run a marathon.

After months of bake sales, yard sales, car washes, candle sales, raffles, and generous donations from businesses and individuals, I raised over $4,500 to help find treatments and hopefully a cure for arthritis. I was overwhelmed by the support and generosity of fellow educators, businesses, and friends! It is so encouraging to live in a place where people selflessly give of themselves. I especially want to thank my fiancé Scott and my family, whose support and contributions kept me going. I also want to thank Jane Avery, whose generosity left me speechless.

The months of fundraising and training were complete, as I participated in and finished the 4th largest marathon in the world on December 8: the Honolulu Marathon. Included in the 30,428 runners were Joints in Motion teams from all parts of the country and Canada, all running in support of the Arthritis Foundation. Many of us were running, not to compete with world class runners who finish in two hours and 12 minutes, but to accomplish a goal: raise funds for a cause and finish a marathon.

I ran in honor of my dad, who was recently diagnosed with arthritis in his back. However, as many runners in the Honolulu Marathon claimed, "I run because many others can't." I am proud to know that I not only accomplished a goal and helped contribute to a worthy cause, but most of all to be part of such a generous, loving, and supportive community. Thank you to each and every person in our community who contributes every day to make a difference in someone else's life.

Sincerely,
Angie Teagarden

To the Editor:

There are many in Garrett County and the surrounding area who have yet to hear that Jim McReynolds, a nationally recognized bluegrass musician and Grand Ole Opry artist, passed away last week. Jim, along with his brother and duet partner Jesse and their band, appeared many times in Garrett County and, through their music and appearances here, benefited several significant causes.

I first met Jim and Jesse shortly after they had just joined the Grand Ole Opry. I found them on a Friday morning as they were taping some radio shows for Martha White Flour in the studios of WSM in Nashville. This was in November 1964, when I was invited to come to the music city by WSM as Mr. D.J. U.S.A. for guest appearances on the Friday and Saturday night Grand Ole Opry shows. I was working at WMSG Radio in Oakland at the time.

Over the course of that weekend we became better acquainted. Within a few months of that meeting I booked them for their first appearance and their initial introduction to Garrett County. The show was held at Southern High School. At first glimpse, they fell in love with the area, and even stopped their tour bus to get out and take pictures of Deep Creek Lake.

Even though they climbed to legendary status in the country and bluegrass music fields, traveled internationally, received many awards including the prestigious National Endowment for the Arts Award at the White House, recorded in such far-away places as Japan, they continued to feel a special affinity to the mountains and the people of Garrett County. They loved to return to the county, and they did many times.

It was Jim and Jesse who were the first headline country-bluegrass act to appear as a part of the Autumn Glory Festival, and that happened the very first year the event was held. The show was in the Oakland National Guard armory. Over the years they returned again and again to successfully play for the festival and other events for the benefit of the former Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council. In recent years, they have appeared at the festival for the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. Had their schedule accommodated it, they would have played the festival last fall for the benefit of the Dove Center.

It was Jim's idea and vision to have a bluegrass festival in Garrett County, and he talked of this over the years. Largely through his efforts and his friendship with the famous Lewis Family, a Bluegrass Spectacular, as he named it, was held for three years or so for the benefit of the Southern Garrett High School Band Boosters. Although it was, and is, unheard of for a professional music group of Jim and Jesse's caliber to work a show on a percentage fee basis, this is what they did because they liked playing in this area, and because they wanted to assure that the band boosters would realize a gain. Most professional groups want guaranteed fees, regardless of a sponsor's profit or loss.

Jim and Jesse also appeared several years ago in Thomas, W.Va., for the benefit of the then envisioned Cortland Acres Nursing Home. The show was held at the old Thomas Theatre. Sisters Norberta and Hila, then assigned to the Catholic Church there, were looking for a fundraising opportunity to benefit the cause, and it happened that Jim and Jesse were traveling through this region and were, again, willing to work on a special fee basis to make the event and support possible.

When I saw Jim last fall, unfortunately for what would be the last time, he was talking about coming back to Garrett County hoping to play an outdoor show at the Oakland Train Station sometime soon.

Few know the kinship Jim and Jesse have felt to Garrett County, its causes, and its people over the years. Even fewer know they sometimes planned their travels to be able to stay a day or two extra to enjoy the area. So that's why I thought this might be an appropriate time to mention it.

Jim McReynolds was 75. A funeral service was held Saturday, January 4, in Nashville, with the Friday and Saturday Opry radio and TV shows also being dedicated to his memory. A service of interment was held Sunday in his hometown of Coeburn, Va., and he was buried beside his wife Areta, who died just two weeks earlier.

I am happy to not only call him and Jesse personal friends, but also special friends of our area. Thanks, Jim and Jesse. Your work and sharing, even though done discretely behind the scenes, have impacted the life and progress of our area.

Sincerely,
Lynn Beckman

milk truck that was going 70 to 75 mph.

Alden Andersen, Bobby's husband, said 16 vehicle accidents occurred in the Deer Park Community Volunteer Department's area last year. Of those, six occurred on Sand Flat, according to Andersen, who is a member of the DPCVFD.

"This statistic demonstrates the claim that Sand Flat Road is an inherently dangerous road to travel," he said.

Commissioner Fred Holliday asked Andersen if any of those six accidents involved trucks. He said he did not think so.

Bobby Andersen noted that a head-on collision had occurred on the road just last week. One woman was, reportedly, injured. "Do you not think that if a log truck had been involved, she would have lived?" Andersen asked Holliday.

Gary Wright asked the commissioners why the legislation was being introduced in the first place.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt said during visits to local logging, mining, and other companies, all had asked for legislation to enable the county to increase the weight limit.

Commissioner Fred Holliday said the request was made because truckers were having to use state Routes 495 and 219 to avoid getting fined on New Germany, Chestnut Ridge, and other roads.

He noted that one trucker was cited because his load was 27,000 pounds over the weight limit on Old Frostburg Road. The trucker could not avoid being on a county road, however, because that was where his delivery site was located, said Holliday.

"We depend on the roads department and Traffic Advisory Committee, which is made up of officers with the Maryland State Police and Garrett County sheriff's officers, to make recommendations," Holliday added.

Garrett County Roads Department superintendent Fred Polce said he did not think the weight increase would result in increased traffic on Sand Flat, only increased weight loads on the trucks already traveling that road.

Alden Andersen asked if it would be possible to limit truck traffic on Sand Flat Road to only local truckers to avoid increased traffic from out-of-state truckers.

Major Gary Berkebile, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, said that regulation would be nearly impossible to enforce. Sgt. Fischer of the Maryland State Police agreed.

Gary Sisler, one of the owners of Sisler Lumber Company, said he did not think the increased weight limit would lead to increased traffic on Sand Flat.

"I don't see why all this traffic has to come through Oakland," said the 40-year Garrett County resident. He said it was difficult to drive his timber trucks through Oakland because of sharp turns, traffic light delays, and cars parked on both sides of the streets.

"Sand Flat is a much safer road [to travel], in my opinion, than through Oakland," Sisler said.

He noted that his drivers can save an hour each trip if they use Sand Flat Road to get to the paper mill in Luke, rather than going through Oakland. Each truck costs him $60 an hour to operate, Sisler said, so if a trucker makes two trips to the mill a day, that translates into a savings of $120 a day. He has 10 trucks.

"We all have good points," said Art Beckman of Beckman's Lumber. "We're just trying to make a living." He said he would be happy with a 6,000 pound weight increase. At $20 a ton, he said he could then make $60 more per truck load.

He noted that it was difficult to know exactly how much weight a truck is hauling, with mud, ice, and other factors involved.

Sheldon Dearden said there had been no talk of improving Sand Flat. The condition of the road should be the first criterion to bring it up to state highway standards, before allowing the weight increase, he said.

"There ought to be a comprehensive plan to upgrade," Dearden said, "instead of spending tons of money on just asphalt."

"If a road were being designed as a bypass under today's specs, would it be done the way Sand Flat is today?" asked Jeff Gosnell, whose wife and children were in an accident on that road. "The truckers need to be accommodated," he said, "but don't jeopardize others."

Garrett County Roads Department engineer Dwight Emory said county roads were "inherited," not designed. When upgrades are made, they are made to state highway specifications. In order for Sand Flat to meet those specifications, however, residents would have to give up road frontage, the engineer said.

He added, though, that Sand Flat's road base could currently hold the 80,000-pound weight limit.

Only one county road in the state, Linkmark Road in Dorchester County, is listed in the Maryland Motor Vehicle Law manual as allowing a weight limit of 80,000 lbs., said Berkebile, referring to the book in front of him.

"There's only one in the state," said Dr. Sotiere Savopoulos. "Now Garrett County wants to do this and no others. Does that tell you something?"

Paul Ludwig, who used to live on the Eastern Shore, pointed out that Dorchester County was as flat as the conference table top in front of him.

"Sand Flat Road is anything but flat," he said, noting the irony of the name. "It's sand something. It's sand dangerous." Ludwig added that the road was also "not banked properly."

He also noted that several accidents had occurred in front of his and his neighbors' homes, some of which caused property damage. Ludwig said he knows one day a vehicle will come through his front window while he is having his morning coffee.

"This is not an easy decision," said Gregg about the commissioners' decision to go ahead and request the legislation. "It is not a blanket decision." If the bill is approved by the General Assembly, he stressed, the commissioners would review each county road individually before proposing that its weight limit be increased. Public hearings would then be held for each of those proposed roads.

Edwards and Hafer will write the bill requesting that the county be allowed to raise the weight limit on county roads and introduce it to the General Assembly, which began its 417th session this week.

Pagenhardt said the bill will most likely be approved by state lawmakers since it is a county issue. He pointed out that the legislation would only give the commissioners the ability to change the weight limit and that no action had yet been taken.

said. Located on Marsh Mountain, the tank was completed last summer.

Currently, two wells supply the tank, producing in excess of 70 gallons a minute. A hydrologist, however, is looking at other potential well sites to provide even more water.

"We would like to get more water up there in excess of 100 gallons a minute," said Petrella. "We try to keep pace with the growth of the lake."

The Meadow Mountain sewer project is now operational. Sewer lines were installed along State Park and Brant roads in the fall. Petrella said the project went very well.

Some customers are already connected. The remaining customers should hook up by April 1. After that date, said Petrella, they will be billed whether connected or not.

"We are working to upgrade the Deep Creek Lake sewage treatment plant, to get it permitted for higher flows this summer," added Petrella. The sanitary commission is currently working with the MDE and engineering consultants to accomplish that goal.

THE EMPEROR'S CLUB

Kevin Kline continues to show his depth as an actor in Michael Hoffman's prep school drama The Emperor's Club, with a remarkably subtle and textured performance as the teacher of classics who tries to instill in his young protégés the importance of understanding ancient history. Unfortunately the film is not exactly equal to Kline's performance; although its theme is a thought-provoking study on what exactly it means to succeed or fail as a teacher, its screenplay (by Neil Tolkin, based on the short story The Palace Thief by Ethan Canin), teeters on the edge of oversentimentality, occasionally just going ahead and falling in. With a style not unlike the 1989 Robin Williams vehicle Dead Poets Society, it tells the story of a man so passionate about his subject (in this case, ancient Greek and Roman culture) that his students, for the most part, become caught up in it as well; however, in this story one comes along whose attitude clashes so badly with the teacher's, it begins to disrupt his entire well-ordered universe.

Kline plays Professor William Hundert, who in 1976 is apparently the most respected member of the faculty at St. Benedict's Academy for Boys—in fact, the film practically makes it look like he's the only instructor, except for the headmaster (played by Edward Herrmann) and a Latin professor (Rob Morrow), neither of whom we ever see in a classroom. Although Prof. Hundert presumably has more than one class per year, we only see one, focusing primarily on four youths whose academic achievement puts them in the running for the school's prestigious Mr. Julius Caesar award. This honor is granted once each year to the student who not only gets excellent grades in the classroom, but also wins a public trivia contest about ancient civilizations. Three of the boys, Martin Blythe (Paul Franklin Dano), Deepak Mehta (Rishi Mehta), and Fred Masoudi (Jesse Eisenberg), are all serious and diligent scholars until the arrival of a new student named Sedgewick Bell (Emile Hirsch), the spoiled son of a U.S. senator, whose intellectual brilliance is matched only by his contempt for authority. Soon Sedgewick's attitudes (not to mention his love for cigarettes, alcohol, porn mags, and various other contraband) have rubbed off on his classmates and all the guys are playing pranks and flouting the rules. Finally, however, after a revelatory meeting with Sedgewick's father (played in full-blown Rich Bastard mode by Harris Yulin), Prof. Hundert is able to calm the boy down by convincing him that he has a shot at the coveted Caesar title. What happens at the competition, however, has a staggering impact on Hundert's self-image, his career, and his outlook on life.

This is one of those movies that, although it's supposed to end on a positive note, has a melancholy, what's-the-use feel that pervades everything up to about 5 minutes before the closing credits. The final third of the film takes place in the present (or rather, 2001), when the students re-convene for a sort of reunion and are all played by different actors, none of whom look like they are 25 years older than their former selves. This final act gives the impression that things are going to be more positive, but it ends up hammering home the same depressing points made by the preceding portion, and does so with some truly bad dialogue and syrupy sentimentality. Still, Kline's performance, like it did in Life As A House, cuts through the treacle with astounding effectiveness, as if he is using his technique willfully to defy the writers' ill-advised intentions. It is truly fascinating to watch the subtlety with which his facial expressions evolve during his conversations with other characters; he is able to show us the wheels turning inside his mind with a clarity unmatched by most actors working today. Good work is also done by the 17-year-old Hirsch, and by Embeth Davidtz, whose miniscule role seems to exist for the sole purpose of making sure we understand that Hundert is not gay.

This is obviously not the first story of its kind to hit the big screen; neither is it the best. But the presence of Kevin Kline is as much reason to see it as is necessary. Good acting can cover a multitude of sins, and that is exactly what it does here. ★★★½

General Assembly's First Day Comes With Sweeping Changes

by Christine E. Hines
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS - The Maryland General Assembly opened its 417th session under rare circumstances – with a new House speaker, the first black lieutenant governor-elect, and the first Republican governor in 30 years set to take office.

"It was a great eight years for me, but coming back here was like coming back home," said Gov.-elect Bob Ehrlich, referring to his four terms in Congress and eight years in the House of Delegates.

The Democratic-controlled Legislature greeted Ehrlich and his Lt. Gov. Michael Steele with a standing ovation, as outgoing Gov. Parris N. Glendening looked on.

While the governor-elect's presence on opening day was significant, the House of Delegates made history of its own when it elected its leadership.

The House of Delegates elected Adrienne A. Jones, D-Baltimore County, as speaker pro tem. She is the first African-American woman to hold the position.

Delegate Michael E. Busch, D-Anne Arundel, was elected speaker of the House, replacing Casper Taylor, D-Allegheny. Taylor lost in the 2002 elections after 28 years in office.

Busch recognized Taylor in the session and described him as "a great leader and a great person."

Facing a divided government for the first time since the 1960s, the legislators advocated cooperation in the upcoming session.

"The dynamics may have changed, but the goals remain the same," said Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert, after he was unanimously re-elected to serve a 17th year as the body's leader. Senate President Pro-Tem Ida Ruben was also unanimously re-elected.

Ehrlich, who took the podium with Steele, said he looked forward to working with the governing body.

"I mean it when I say the president and I understand each other," Ehrlich said of Miller.

Ehrlich and Lt. Gov.-elect Steele earned the loudest applause from the body when they entered mid-way and spoke about the need for cooperation this session.

The display of camaraderie was also present in the House of Delegates, where Ehrlich and Steele also appeared.

But underlying the friendliness were references to the Legislature's challenges, including the looming budget deficit and the threat of cutbacks to state programs.

Delegate Shirley Nathan-Pulliam, D-Baltimore County, said she was concerned with finding a way to keep programs afloat.

"Where there is a federal mandate, I think there ought to be federal money," said U.S. Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Baltimore, about the federal government's role in solving state budget problems.

The Legislature will also debate whether installing slot machines at race tracks is a suitable cure for the state's budget woes. Members were apprehensive about gaming.

"We want to make sure that we know what impact it will have on everyday citizens," said Jones, D-Baltimore County.

Ehrlich must also face his previous decision to lift the moratorium on executions despite a recently released study concluding that death penalty decisions have historically been racially biased.

Young Professionals Go "Back To Class" At Southern High

Young area professionals were back in the classroom this week as part of the Achievement Counts Business Speakers Program, an effort to share "real world" experiences with high school ninth graders. The Greater Cumberland Committee (TGCC) sponsored the initiative.

Six young adult workers spoke at Southern High School, Oakland, on Wednesday, which kicks off the first week of the eight-week long speakers series.

The Achievement Counts program will place more young professions in ninth grade classrooms in Allegany and Garrett County schools to talk to students about the important connection between achievement in school and success in the workplace and in life.

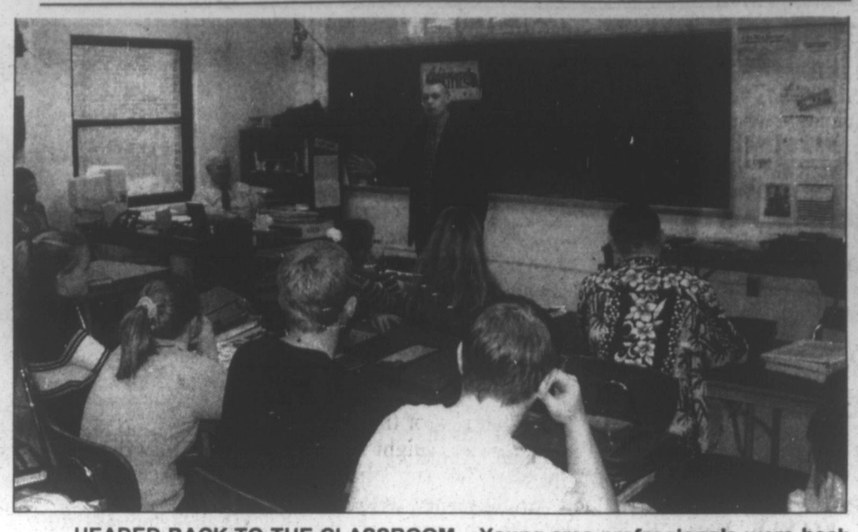
"TGCC has recruited 61 energetic, articulate businesspeople from various educational, ethnic, and cultural backgrounds for the program," said Juli Shroyer of TGCC. "Careers represented include finance, office management, law enforcement, health care, nonprofit, labor and computer."

The young adults share cost of living information, post-graduation options, and stress the importance of a good high school record or transcript.

Before going into the classroom, however, all the speakers are trained. The Allegany County training session is set for Wednesday, Jan. 15, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at Allegany College of Maryland, Continuing Education building in Rooms 12 to 14. This is a rescheduled date because of inclement weather in December.

The Maryland Business Roundtable for Education (MBRT) started Achievement Counts three years ago. It currently provides speakers in 12 counties. This is its first venture into western Maryland.

For more information about becoming a volunteer for the speakers program, persons may contact the Greater Cumberland Committee at 301-722-0090 or at info@grcumbcom.org.



HEADED BACK TO THE CLASSROOM – Young area professionals were back in the classroom this week as part of the Achievement Counts Business Speakers Program, an effort to share "real world" experiences with high school ninth graders. Six young adult workers spoke at Southern High School, Oakland, on Wednesday, which kicks off the first week of the eight-week long speakers series. Pictured above, Jason Sweitzer, investment executive with First United Bank and Trust and 1996 graduate of Southern, spoke to a technology education class, taught by Jon Carpenter, who is a long-term substitute for Jeffrey Bush. Other speakers included Steve Green of High Mountain Sports and Juli Shroyer from the Greater Cumberland Committee, which sponsored the initiative. Green spoke to the technology education class taught by Mark Angle, a long-term substitute for A. Dowain Ford. See story for mora details.

In Loving Memory of
who departed this life on Dec. 10, 2002

Soar high, my son, my friend
Peace at last, peace at last
Unbearable pain from society's hand, the ultimate price, the life of a man
Distraught from dishonor, then driven to death, soar high, my brother, my friend for now you rest. As your spirit soars over the mountains that you loved, may your soul find rest in Heaven, as you look down from above, from the wings of a challenge, a song can be heard, in the bark of a dog, to the flight of each bird, the songs being echoed in the valley below, Soar high, my uncle, I miss you so...
You are greatly missed by all of our hearts, you touched.

The Man Who Dares

The man who decides what he wants to achieve
And works till his dreams come true,
The man who will alter his course when he must
And bravely begin something new,
The man who's determined
To make his world better,
Who's willing to learn and to lead,
The man who keeps trying and doing his best
Is the man who knows how to succeed.

As we mourn and reflect, we ask that you keep the Team One family in your thoughts and prayers.

Members will be visiting the nursing home on Thursday, Jan. 16, at 6:30 p.m.

Voter Registration

The town of Friendsville will hold voter registration on Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the town hall from 4 to 6 p.m. Registration will enable persons to vote in the upcoming municipal elections.

Free Diabetes Classes

The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension is offering diabetes classes at the Friendsville Senior Center every third Tuesday of each month. The classes will be taught by experienced health professionals and focus on the latest diabetes topics, such as medications, blood glucose monitoring, foot care, eye care, exercise, and more.

"Healthy Eating With Diabetes," the first topic to be discussed, will be offered in a three-part series of classes starting Tuesday, Jan. 21, from 2 to 4 p.m. A registered dietitian will teach about diet recommendations, meal planning, carbohydrate counting, label reading, dining out, artificial sweeteners, and more.

The classes are free to the public, and interested persons should call 301-334-6960 by Jan. 14 to reserve a seat.

Crime Watch Meeting

The next meeting of Friendsville Crime Watch will be held Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the Friendsville Elementary School cafeteria, beginning at 6 p.m.

School News

December was a busy month for students, even though there were two snow days and the holiday break.

Mrs. Paul's class made gifts for their parents for Christmas. Ms. Miller's class studied about Christmases around the world. Mrs. Livengood's second graders sang during the town's Light-up Night. Mrs. Schofield's class dissected lungs as part of the respiratory system studies.

Mr. Friend's math students of the month were Sydney Thomas, 1 st grade; Brandon Bennett, 2nd grade; and Dillon Russell, 3rd grade. Mrs. Lewis's math students of the month were Zach Dunn, 4th grade; Andrew Sisler, 5th grade; Kim Riggin, 5th grade; Hannah Fike, 5th grade; Russell Frazee, 4th grade; and Ariel Slagle, 5th grade.

Mrs. Lewis had a baby boy. Melissa Paul is substituting while Mrs. Lewis is on maternity leave.

A Christmas program was presented to the public on Dec. 19.

Library News

The Ruth Enlow Library is seeking old Northern High School yearbooks to be kept at the Grantsville Library. They are used as a source of information for genealogy. Anyone wishing to donate yearbooks may contact Kim Lishia at the Grantsville Library at 301-895-5298 or lishia@relib.net.

Christmas Tree Recycling

Christmas trees from the northern end of the county can be taken for recycling on Jan. 11 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Grantsville Municipal Building parking lot. They can also be taken to the county landfill until Feb. 1 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Town News

The following Petitions for Office of Town Council were filed with the clerk treasurer prior to noon on Monday, Jan. 6: Philip Smith, Jane Fox, Robert Sines, Wayne Friend, and Edward Kelley. Municipal elections will be held in February.

The Wishing Well by Lucretia Sines

Edna Sines was recently a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital due to congestive heart failure. Her address is P.O. Box 211, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Shirley Coddington was also a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital. Her address is 59 Lee Lane, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Jean Selby is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital because of a heart attack.

Glen D. Frazee is a resident at Goodwill Nursing Home following a stroke. Cards can be sent to him at P.O. Box 310, Grantsville, MD 21536.

The Year in Review by Lucretia Sines

As I sit here on Jan. 6, 2003, trying to figure out what to put in my year-end review, we are once again getting a snow storm, and as coincidence would have it, we also got a snowstorm on Jan. 6 of 2002. What snow we didn't get last year we are making up for this winter so far. The weather is always a topic of conversation these days. A lot of people are tired of all of the snow already, but at least it isn't ice again. Who can forget the terrible icestorm on Oct. 29, 30, and 31 that knocked out electric in Friendsville for three days and more than that in other parts of the county? Did you know that we have gotten a winter storm of some sort every week since Nov. 29? Is that a record, I wonder? Oh, well.

The year in Friendsville was pretty much uneventful, except on Jan 3 when the bank was robbed. As luck would have it, my sister-in-law was in the bank at the time. The last time the bank was robbed, another sister-in-law of mine was there also. The robber was caught the next day.

One of the most exciting things to happen was on Sept. 27 when a Marine helicopter had to do an emergency landing in Blaine Frantz's field outside of town. With all of this talk of war and terrorism, the town folk didn't know what was up.

Speaking of terrorism, the events of Sept. 11, 2001, brought about a spirit of patriotism in the community and was shown through different services during last year. The National Day of Prayer was acknowledged on April 18 in the yard of Jessie Sines with many people attending. On Memorial Day a community memorial service was held in the front of Freedom Chapel to honor rescue workers, officers, military men and women, and leaders. On Sept. 11, 2002, the Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 saluted America's heroes with a ceremony, "In Honor and Remembrance," with singing, speeches, prayers, and dedication of a flag pole in the town park. Many people came in support and remembrance of the one-year anniversary of the tragic events.

Friendsville Days was a community effort this year because of the number of volunteers who helped in the planning and the work. A lot of people volunteered their services to keep the fire dept. from bringing the "psychic ladies" in to do a fund-raiser.

Friendsville people in the news included Thomas E. Bratten Jr., who was named Disabled American Veterans Outstanding Veteran of 2002; and Pat Bowser, one of three women inducted into the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame. Congratulations to them!

It is always nice to reminisce of the year gone by and to look forward to a fresh new year ahead of us. A new year is ahead for us to look forward to, but let us also reflect on the lives of those from the Friendsville area who have passed away in the last year and will be greatly missed by many: Rancelor Sisler, Ward Livengood, John Wisor, Retha Humberson, Gladys Elliott, Pearl VanSickle, Pauline Frazee, Nedra Kisner, Martha DeWitt, Junior Fike, Grace Hook, Victor Bracey, Elva DeWitt, Sandra Wilt, Betty Shahrokni, Lottie Jackson, Ted Morrison, Eugene Coddington, Ivan "Buster" Savage, Styrl Niner, Dorothy Hoover, Bernice Fisher, Cecil Savage, Dorothy Watson, Helen Vitez, Gerald Johnson, Bennie Pook, Floyd Frantz, Elsie Vitez, Waneta Metheny, Helen Lancaster, Winifred Pletta, LuAnn Toston, Jennifer Lowdermilk, Tim Umbel, Ellen Taylor, Leroy Davis, Eleanor Burdick, Doug Sisler, Michael Harvey (infant son of Randy Harvey and Lacie Dumire), and Floyd Frazee. Memories of these friends and loved ones will be carried on in our hearts forever, and the touch that they had on our lives will be eternal.

RE-ELECTED IN LOCH LYNN – Larry Friend, on the right, was recently re-elected as mayor of Loch Lynn, and sworn in by David Martin, Clerk of the Circuit Court. He will serve a two-year term through 2004. Also re-elected were councilpersons Carolyn Corley and Ronald Friend for the same term.

Winter Fun Fest Scheduled At DCL State Park

A Winter Fun Festival has been slated for Saturday, Jan. 18, from noon to 4 p.m. at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

The family-oriented educational event will include an ice-fishing demonstration, a snowshoe demonstration (snowshoe rentals will be available), animal track identification with track casting, and a series of activities based on the park's most abundant natural resource this time of year—snow. There will be snowflake studies, snowflake craft-making, and a snow sculpture activity.

An admission fee of $5 per family will be charged, which will entitle those attending to participate in all activities. For further information, persons may call the park's Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will welcome donors at the Grantsville fire hall next Monday, Jan. 13. (The date was incorrectly reported as Jan. 3 in last week's issue of The Republican.)

Donors are asked to respond to the visit from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. Persons who are at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 105 pounds, who are in generally good health, and who have not donated a unit of blood for at least 56 days are eligible to donate. The entire process of giving blood usually takes less than one hour.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information about two apparent cases of arson.

A boat located at 647 Mill Run Road in Friendsville was destroyed by fire on Jan. 29, 2002, at about 11 p.m. David Murphy owns the property where the incident took place.

In a separate case, a shed located at 264 Plessinger Lane, Oakland, was burned on April 9, 2002, around midnight. Witnesses reported seeing a black Dodge truck in the area prior to the blaze. Robert Thomas is the owner of the property.

Both cases were ruled arson by the Maryland State Fire Marshal.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crime are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names or appear in court, and are eligible for rewards up to $1,000 if they give tips that lead to arrests.

Spruce Forest Village Seeking Resident Artisan

Spruce Forest Artisan Village is seeking a resident artisan for its upcoming summer season (May 1 to Oct. 31). "This is a fine opportunity for a local artisan to showcase his or her talent, as well as market the finished products to the tens of thousands of visitors who travel to Spruce Forest and Grantsville each year," said a spokesperson for Spruce Forest.

During the summer season each village artisan works five days per week (Monday to Saturday), choosing one day of the week as his or her day off. The hours of business are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and the village is closed Sundays except during special events such as the Summer Festival and Quilt Show in July and the Fine Arts Festival in September.

The new artisan will work inside the Alta E. Schrock Cabin, a small plankhouse of approximately 125 square feet that has served as a studio for a number of years. The structure is heated with a small propane unit, and the selected artisan will be responsible for propane heating costs in addition to a nominal rent.

Applications and samples of work will be juried by the Spruce Forest Artisans' Guild, with the final selection slated for early February. The decision-making process will include jurying, verification of references, and possible in-person interviews for final candidates.

Artisans are asked to call village administrator Trish Morgan at 301-895-3332 to schedule delivery of their work.

AURORA/EGLON

YOUTH LEAGUE BASKETBALL TO BEGIN

Youth League basketball begins this Friday evening, Jan. 10, and will continue each Friday evening and Sunday for the next six weeks. Evening games begin at 6 p.m., Sunday games at 1 p.m.

PERSONAL MENTION

Nina Layman underwent surgery last Thursday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she had been admitted the previous week. She is now recuperating at her home near Aurora.

Tina Fint of Bellingham, Wash., was a Christmas holiday visitor with her parents, Carl and Betty Fint, Aurora.

Harold Loughrie of Grantsville was admitted Dec. 23 to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated for pneumonia. He remains a patient there in Room 472, where he now faces chemotherapy treatment for return of an apparent malignancy. This former Aurora resident would appreciate cards of encouragment.

Recent Christmas dinner guests of Dale and Wilda Harsh, Aurora, were Mrs. Harsh's children and families: Beverly Whetstone of Arthur; Eugene, Linda, and Adam Wilt, Rowlesburg; Travis, Sharon, and Logan Wilt of Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Janice, Arthur, and Lora Forman, Amboy; Kathy, Tom, and Jennifer Barr and friend Kenneth Jones; Danny, Martha, and Joshua Poling, Parsons; Craig and dachel Wilfong of Oceanside, Calif.; and Steven Wilt, local.

Word was received here of the July 2002 death of Callie May Tolley Nontalbano of California. She resided here when her first husband, Truman Tolley, was the vocational agriculture teacher at Aurora High School.

Wilma Waybright of Brookside is recuperating at her Brookside home following recent outpatient surgery at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Gary, Julie, Grayson, and Madison Baker returned Sunday to their home at Virginia Beach, Va. They spent last week with Mrs. Baker's family, Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis, Eglon, and with Gary's father, Steven Baker, Aurora Pike.

Chris and Lauren Roth accompanied their father, Gary Roth, to the Christmas Eve dinner at their grandmother's home, that of Ron and Avenell Parsons, Eglon.

Floyd Knapp was admitted last week to Garrett County Memorial Hospital from Cortland Acres Nursing Home.

PRINCIPAL'S LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

The Leadership Academy would like to offer suggestions to live by. The following are weekly suggestions for all students and staff to make as a part of our everyday lives at Southern High School: Jan. 6-10, "Feel others' pain"; and Jan. 13-17, "Put yourself in others situation."

SOUTHERN NEWS BOWL TEAM RANKS 10TH IN NATION

Students throughout Southern High School recently participated in News Bowl, an online current events assessment program which is partnered with the Cumberland Times-News Newspaper in Education (NIE) program, but one team excelled. Steph's Zany Zapotecs, one of Mr. Dave Bender's world history classes, placed second in the state of Maryland high school rankings and tenth in the national high school rankings. Congratulations to these worldly tenth graders!

FINANCIAL AID WORKSHOP TO BE OFFERED

A financial aid workshop will be offered Monday, Jan. 13, at 7 p.m. in the media center of Southern Garrett High School for seniors and their parents. A financial aid officer from Frostburg State University will explain how to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form as well as answer questions about the financial aid process. "This workshop is specifically aimed toward high school seniors and their parents," said Beverly Sincell, SGHS guidance counselor, who will also be at the workshop to discuss information on scholarships and how the Guidance Office can assist families through the process of applying for college and for financial aid and scholarships. Students planning to attend a technical or business school, a community college, or a 4-year college are encouraged to attend. Persons may call Mrs. Sincell with any questions at 301-334-1660.

WPXI-TV CHANNEL 11 AIRS SPECIAL ON TRUANCY

As part of the Connecting with Kids community initiative, WPXI-TV Channel 11 will air an important half-hour special on truancy called "Roll Call" on Saturday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. This documentary investigates why teenagers are truant, why they drop out of school, and how their decisions impact their lives.

JANUARY PARTNER OF THE MONTH

Since 1994, 113 South 3rd Street, Oakland, has been the home to one of Garrett County's most dedicated and community-orientated businesses. The January Ram Partner of the Month is the Renaissance Learning Center, which provides the community with a wide array of services and continues to grow, adding more benefits for area residents as the need arises.

In the beginning, the center offered only after-school tutoring for students. However, as time passed, and the needs of the county grew, it began offering driver's education classes for Garrett Countians of all ages. The Renaissance Learning Center evolved again last year when it began offering pre-kindergarten classes for young children. The purpose of the new class is to involve young students in interactive educational programs.

Educational opportunities are now being offered outside of school to expand the horizons of students seeking help and to provide thorough driver's training, as well as involve young children in positive interactive atmospheres.

According to the owner, Fred Gregg, "The goals of the Renaissance Learning Center are to work closely with area schools in an attempt to fill in certain areas that perhaps the schools do not wish to or are unable to provide to students." The center continues to provide the community with opportunities to learn and grow.

Thank you, Renaissance Learning Center. Your support is appreciated!

COACH STEMPLE ACHIEVES 300TH WIN

The Southern Athletic Department would like to congratulate Coach Don Stemple on achieving his 300th win with the girls' basketball program.

SHS RECEIVES STOP SMOKING GRANT

Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene recently awarded a $2,000 grant to fund the "Students Against Starting Smoking Club." SHS peer counselors will be helping counselor Connie Camp organize proposed activities. A majority of the money will be presented to essay contest winners this spring.

GC FINANCIAL AID REP TO VISIT

The Garrett College Financial Aid Office has arranged six different dates when financial aid representatives will be available at Southern Garrett High School to assist students and parents in filling out financial aid forms for the 2003-04 school year. Anyone can meet with these representatives, even those students who do not plan to attend Garrett College. The dates representatives will visit the high school are: Jan. 16, 2-4 p.m.; Jan. 30, 4-6 p.m.; Feb. 4, 2-4 p.m.; Feb. 13, 4-6 p.m.; Feb. 18, 2-4 p.m.; and Feb. 27, 4-6 p.m.

Persons having questions can contact the Guidance Office at 301-334-1660.

GUIDELINES FOR ATTENDANCE APPEALS

Students requesting an appeal of attendance must:

1. Write a letter of appeal to the administration prior to Jan. 17, for semester one. This letter should include (but is not limited to) the following statements (this letter should be signed by both student and your parents): Full name and grade, schedule in order 1-4 (class and teacher name); number of days you have been absent; reason for the absences; if you have applied for an attendance appeal in the last three (3) school years; and why you feel an appeal should be granted.

2. Have a doctor-certified reason for any excessive absences from school.

3. Have no more that two (2) unexcused tardies or early dismissals per semester.

4. Have a written recommendation from a teacher, in the class you are presently enroiled, supporting your appeal.

5. Have agenda book for committee to use for documentation purposes.

Appeals will be screened using the above criteria prior to the attendance committee hearing.

FAFSA IS NOW AVAILABLE

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is now available for high school seniors and college students interested in applying for state and federal financial aid. Students can pick up the FAFSA at a high school counselor's office, the Maryland Higher Education Commission office, local libraries, or a college or university financial aid office. Students may also file the FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov.The forms cannot be submitted before Jan. 1, but should be submitted by March 1 for priority consideration for Maryland financial assistance. Students may also find applications to some of Maryland's financial aid programs online at www.mhec.state.md.us. The Maryland Higher Education Commission awards more than $80 million in financial aid to Maryland students annually. For more information, persons may contact MHEC's Office of Student Financial Assistance at 1-800-974-1024, 410-260-4565, or online at www.mhec.state.md.us. Guaranteed Access Grant and Hope Scholarship Program applications are also available.

WISP'S READ TO SKI

The Wisp's Read to Ski program offers a free skiing or snowboarding day pass to all K-12 students who read a book. The passes can be used Sunday through Friday.

SERVICE LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES

Students needing service learning hours for graduation can find opportunities posted on the school Web page www.ga.k12.md.us/Schools/SH/ (select links). Students can also see Rhonda Tasker for opportunities. Any organization needing student volunteers for service learning projects can contact Tasker at 301-334-9447 or Karen Ray at the Board of Education. This is a wonderful time of year to complete this graduation requirement.

RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH

The second December RAM student of the month is Andrew Waligorski, nominated by John Coffman and Kayla Cathell. Andrew has been working as the Media Center assistant for two years. He is eager to work and shows great diligence in accomplishing the tasks assigned. "He is always ready to work, whether it's setting up refreshments around the building with Mrs. Cathell, or taking care of the Media Center technical problems. We feel that Andrew is certainly deserving of this award," said Coffman.

SKI CLUB HEAD TO RUTLAND, VERMONT

The Southern High Ski Club in conjunction with the Southern Success Celebration Team is running a ski/educational trip to Killington Ski Area at Rutland, Vt. Students going on the Vermont trip need to have all paperwork and full payment to Mr. Freyman by Jan. 24. There is still room on the trip for interested students. See Mr. Freyman in Room 2213 as soon as possible to get the necessary paperwork.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

As the New Year begins the most notable item around my home is the big flock of chickadees dining at my bird feeder. Several of my holiday visitors commented about how many there were around here. Yes, it is true I have lots of them, but how many? Who can count, as they just pop in and out every few minutes? Whether it was the new snow that caused one of them to look so blue (almost indigo bunting), I don't know.

I wrote the previous paragraph last week, before the people living along the north part of Rock Lodge Road between Rt. 495 and Mosser Road were treated to a real life rendition of a hit song by Jerry Lee Lewis, but now performed by my young nephews' band White Noise. "Great Balls of Fire" attracted quite a lot of attention in the early Saturday morning hours.

The traffic flow slowed or just halted as the big power lines on a stretch across our family farm exploded in a major light show starting about 2:30 a.m. It was so bright and flashy that it attracted a flood of concerned neighbors from way back on Peat Moss Road, including Patty and Steve Diehlman, Sheila and Bill Southerly, Denny Buckel, and from Beachy Road, Baird Beitzel, long before the power company crew showed up. It was a major power line breakage, and it was a very good thing that our ground was covered with almost one foot of snow because the fire was pretty scary. We might have had a "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," but it knocked out power to our house for about 12 hours. By the time it was back on late Saturday afternoon the house was pretty cold.

When we called Allegheny Power in the morning they told us about 150 people lost their power northward toward Grantsville. They lost their power when they had to switch a major artery to hopefully fix the break. Actually, we had two breaks, one between my house and Rodney's, and the other between my house and Peat Moss Road.

When I checked with Sheila Southerly, the first thing that alerted her was a strange noise, like a humming and buzzing sound coming from their appliances. After checking outside they saw the eerie blue-white light. It is remarkable that both Denny and the Southerlys could see it since their houses are in the woods almost a mile away. Sheila told Bill that she thought maybe the aliens had landed. So they got in the car to look for the trouble, and weren't long in discovering it.

Sheila and Bill were without power, and she was almost in a panic as she had to face a funeral for her Aunt June Buckel Green at Emmanuel Church on Saturday afternoon. June died on New Year's Day. She had a bad fall and was in Cumberland Memorial Hospital. I heard that they finally got power at the church in time for the funeral.

Without the power I felt like I should just put a match to my Christmas tree and burn it for some heat. Bill mused that maybe it was time for a move. But he also said that we should now be used to it, with almost two weeks without power already this winter. We are not way out in the backwoods, not with all the traffic we have on our road, and maybe even a stretch-limo passes at least every month during the summer.

My house was so cold that even my dogs did not mind going outside. That is pretty cold. I even joked about it when my power finally came on about 4 p.m. Now I can truly appreciate the beautiful sight of the branches of my maple tree, soft and lacy with a coat of fresh snow. Before, looking at them only made me more colder. Now with the furnace running again, my house is almost cozy.

Now is a good time to say that I was pretty wrong about my winter forecast based on the wooly worm. I said our January would be mild once we got past November and the first part of December, after which we would get several months of mild winter until a late spell. The last week was not mild, even by Bittinger's standard. It is true we have not gotten any sub-zero weather, but we still have gotten a fresh coat of snow every time it started to get shabby looking. My lane has been almost snowed closed every couple days.

I know that the sleep clock in my body had already been off for several weeks and I had hardly gotten a full night's sleep, but that night I started to go into a deep sleep when I was roused by my daughters to get out of the house, as they didn't know what was going on with all those fireballs in the field. In spite of all the excitement, I still got up very early. After the power failure I finally hibernated in my bed, as it was the only way to get myself warm. After about an hour's nap the phone started ringing because the power had finally come on again. But at sunset I still had not had a single cup of hot coffee. When I got up I made a nice big fresh pot of coffee, because in the morning, who knows, the power might be off again. It flickered for a moment and I almost panicked. Thanks go to Denny Buckel, who drove out Peat Moss Road and saw the downed lines in our fields. He went to find the power company workers, who were taking a break down at Brenneman's after fixing two of the breaks.

When Sheila Southerly and I discussed the event, we agreed that it is past time for Allegheny Power to replace the old, worn-out line from Rodney's house to Peat Moss Road, which is the whole length of our family farm. I saw many lightning balls rolling across them. Of course, it would be better if they wait until summer. We have had enough of living without electricity this winter.

Low and behold, as I wrote the above I was again wakened by my frightened girls as the fire balls were coming off the pole at our house and lighting the whole sky again about 11 p.m. Rodney saw the fire and called the power company and 911 to get some quick action. It took them a couple hours to get here, but again the power was off until 11:30 Tuesday morning. Luckily, Rodney's and my power stayed on, but my mother and Carol lost theirs again. Kevin immediately jumped into action and started generators going.

A young rural ministry seminary student had his eyes opened when he arrived from the D.C. area on Monday. Pastor Pat and he will travel to Elkins for the first training session for the rural ministry program. They will be traveling with people from Accident and Oakland. He was born in South Korea, and when he was 18 years old his family moved to Canada, so winter weather is not a totally new thing to him. But the heavy snow in the metro area over the weekend delayed his arrival here. He will be with us until January 23.

He will not be the only Korean who has recently visited us. At our Christmas Eve service a new granddaughter-in-law of Beulah Moon graced our church with her remarkable beauty. Those two young persons give us even more reason to pray for peace in their foreign land where dark clouds of threatened war now gather.

Sunday afternoon a lot of residents of Bittinger, along with our neighbors of the Pittsburgh region, breathed a big sigh of relief as our Pittsburgh "Stellers" came back big time and defeated their rival Cleveland Browns to ensure their place in another NFL playoff game. Personally, I am glad they will be brightening the rest of our long winter days, something I really look forward to. Even though this year's team is in no way as good as the teams of the 1970s, we are still die-hard Steeler fans, even if we are south of the Mason-Dixon Line. They always give us reason to keep on believing. So we will do the same thing for this Steeler team. Winning the final game will be like winning for the former Steeler players and, of course, Art Rooney, who has a vacation home on the Lake.

I don't know about people who are not fans of sports events, because it is a glorious metaphor for everything about human life — heroes, faith, loyalty, and even the possibility of miracles. More about my sport heroes in my other column "Notes from Other Places" on this page. I hope I can share my experiences from other places that I called home besides Bittinger. When my life at my true home on our family farm in Bittinger seems to be limited and unexciting, I often take a trip to other places, other times.

New Year's Eve guests of Sheila and Bill Southerly and sons were Rob, Meredith, and David Vagnetti, Sally, Lenny, and Torrey Poholsky, and Denny Buckel. New Year's Day dinner guests were Denny and Shane Buckel.

New Year's Eve guests of Rodney and Marci Glotfelty and family were Courtney Englar, Ruth DiPaolo, Lesa and Maddy Whittemore, Kevin and Carol Bass and family, Claire, Caitlin, and Meredith Sussman, Angie Kamp, Mary and Russ Conway, and the Herpel family from Accident.

The Bittinger 4-H Club met Monday night at the fire hall. Robbie Glotfelty presided at the business meeting.

New Year's dinner guests of Julius and Karmen Carey at their home at Longstretch were Anthony and Amanda Carey, students at Evangel College, Springfield, Mo.; Chris, Janelle, and Allison Carey, Frostburg; William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa.; Amanda Platter, Smithsburg; Jim and Donna Glotfelty; and Ida Reckner. Ida was also a Saturday guest there while she was without electricitv.

Linda Oester visited her parents, Jim and Donna Glotfelty, Sunday evening. Jim continues to do quite well after a fall a few weeks ago.

NHS After-Prom Meeting Slated

The Northern High School After-Prom committee has scheduled a meeting for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 21, for all parents of NHS students and other members of the community interested in planning for the spring event.

Persons desiring further information may contact committee member Debbie Workman at 301-746-8717.

New Arrivals

A son was born December 20 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Curtis and Daisy E. Yoder Duff, Oakland.

A daughter was born December 30 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Joseph F. Snell and Wendy K. Bray, Shallmar.

A daughter, Emily Clare, was born January 8 to Clinton and Anita Sisler, Corpus Christi, Texas. Paternal grandparents are Leon and Eloise Sisler, Friendsville.

Stet rulings, along with an order to complete 20 hours of community service, were handed down to these DUI defendants: James Eric Moon, 25, Harold Dean Michaels, 50, and Ronald Blaine Swiger, 30, all of Maryland. Melvin Douglas Sines, 39, received a stet ruling, along with an order to complete 20 hours of community service, on a DWI charge. James Eric Secrist, 25, W.Va., received a stet ruling on a DUI charge.

Notes from Other Places

by Joan Sussman

A few weeks ago I went back in time to 1971 when I was a 17-year-old college freshman in a co-ed dorm at the University of Maryland in the D.C. metro territory. Ninety percent in my dorm were from the Baltimore-D.C. region. Only Tom Turner from Grantsville was with me and rooting for the Pittsburgh Pirates in the World Series games against the Baltimore Orioles. This was one of my very favorite teams of all times, even better than the early 1970 Steelers. Players like Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargel were the best, and Pop Stargel gave the players stars for their caps when they did something outstanding. As I watched the seventh game of the 1971 World Series back then, and as I watched it the other night on ESPN Classics, I am still equally as awed at the exciting plays executed by the Pirates as when I watched it the first time.

Then suddenly the TV switched to nine years later when that game was replayed, and I was sitting on the top of a shabby apartment building on the lower east side of Manhattan listening to the game on the radio. The homer by Roberto Clemente in the seventh game was being celebrated on the street below where many Puerto Ricans hung out. They were some of Roberto's big fans from their island. He was an inspiration to many from Puerto Rico. As the rest of the World Series played out, Roberto proved he was one of the greatest. In his final game of 1972 he reached 3,000 career hits and showed to all that even in his late 30s he still had many great seasons in his future.

But on December 31, 1972, he died a hero's death when his cargo plane loaded with emergency supplies bound to an earthquake-torn South American area crashed. He was aboard that plane to ensure that the supplies he brought would get to the people in need of them.

Somehow for me, that courage of his put him on a throne. Even more than all his MVP awards, his swing, his arm, along with his beautiful smile as he holds his child during a commercial, his courage somehow proved to me that a black man could be better than anyone. He was truly made of the real American Dream, that someone from a poor background and from nowhere could reach the highest level of America's society.

I remember that day in 1972 because I cried long and hard for a lost man whom I had never known, but he still is living in my heart and my mind. Seeing this old film of his playing is a powerful, emotional journey into my past and into my heart and mind. Winning a game, a World Series, a national championship does not really matter and is not why sports are an important part of our lives, but it is the rare showing of character that lights up our lives and inspires us.

But why so many lives with so much promise and with so much more to do to make the world a better place leave this earthly life early (namely Scott, Bobby, Sadat, Roberto, the names go on), I don't know.

Huskies Win Invitational By ½ Point

When the matches were finally completed in the Garrett County Invitational Wrestling Tournament on Saturday at Northern High School, and the final numbers were compiled, the host Huskies emerged with the tournament team championship, edging Braxton County by just ½ point.

Coach Scott Stough's squad amassed 163.5 points in the 10-team tourney, while Braxton County finished with 163. Francis Scott Key was just one point behind in third place, followed by Jefferson Morgan, 136; the Southern High Rams in fifth place with 117.5 points; Annapolis Christian, 107; Keyser, 97.5; Linganore, 95.5; Lansdowne, 87; and Winter Mill, 25.

The Huskies were led by three individual champions, as Danny Ganoe, who was declared the tournament's Most Outstanding Wrestler, won the 135-pound division; Darric Kamp, who was the champion in the 152-pound division; and Lee Yoder in the 189-pound class.

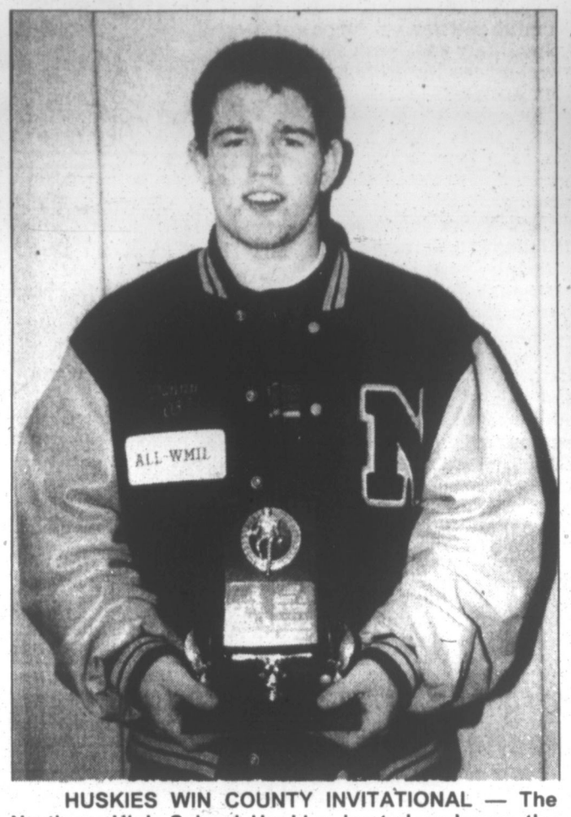
Earning runner-up titles for the Huskies were Casey Kamp in the 103-pound class, Mitchell Guard at 130 pounds, Michael Wolf in the 145-pound division, and Jordan Brenneman in the 160-pound category.

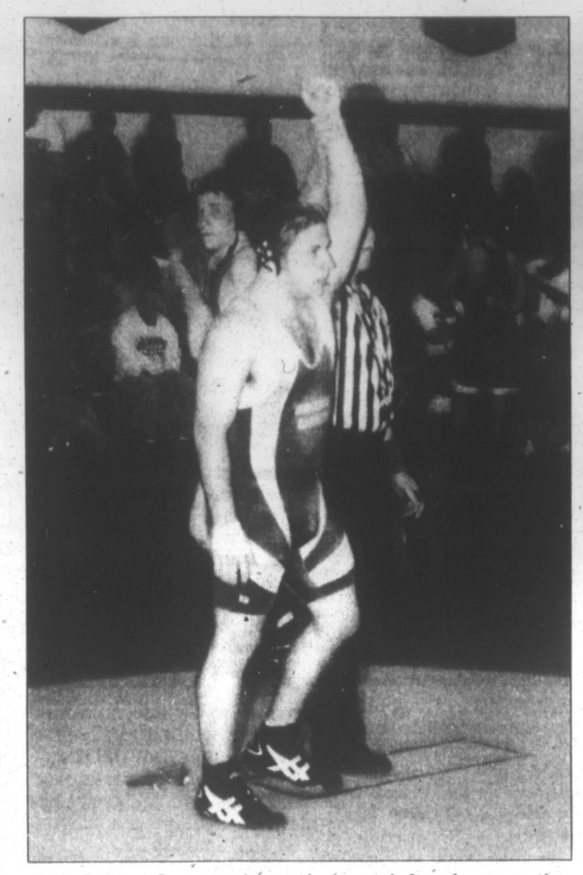
The Southern Rams, coached by Dave Taylor, were paced by Geoff Tressler and Anthony Oliverio, who were runners-up in the 171-pound and heavyweight divisions, respectively. Taking third places were Jason Weeks at 152 pounds, Chris Hayhurst at 160, and Chris Bennett, 189 pounds. Mike Steyer was fourth in the 125-pound division.

There was also a junior varsity tournament held, with nine of the schools participating, although team scores were not tabulated.

Mike Moyer and Remington Friend won first places for Northern in the 140- and 145-pound classes, while Southern's Chris Tepper placed second in the 160-pound final.

Winning in consolation rounds to take third places were Charlie Sines (125) and Roco Andres (135) of Northern, and Justin Fitzwater (171) of Southern. Southern's Rikkilee Rose finished fourth in the 112-pound division.





HUSKIES WIN COUNTY INVITATIONAL — The Northern High School Huskies hosted and won the annual Garrett County Invitational Wrestling Tournament on Saturday, emerging at the top of the 10 teams that participated. The outcome could not have been closer, as the Huskies edged Braxton County by ½ point, and third place Francis Scott Key by 1½ points. Southern High School placed fifth as a team. Named the tourney's Most Outstanding Wrestler was Northern's Danny Ganoe, pictured above left, who won the 135-pound division championship. He was one of three Huskies who captured individual titles. The others were Lee Yoder, pictured above center after winning the 189-pound final, and Darric Kamp, pictured above right, in a most unusual tangle with his opponent. Kamp won the 152-pound division by defeating Gage Rindt of Francis Scott Key. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.

NHS Matmen Top University, Fairmont To Up Record To 7-1

After winning the team title in Saturday's Garrett County Invitational Wrestling Tournament (see other story), the Northern High School wrestling team continued its winning ways last night by topping both University and Fairmont Senior in a tri-meet hosted by the Huskies.

The Huskies defeated University, 46-25, and stopped Fairmont, 47-21, to up their dual meet record to 7-1.

Recording pins for the Huskies in the win over University were Michael Wolf in the 145-pound division, Darric Kamp in the 152-pound class, Jordan Brenneman in the 160-pound bout, Mike Deem at 215 pounds, and Shane Snider in the heavyweight division.

Point victories were gained by Casey Kamp at 103 pounds, Mitchell Guard in the 130-pound match, and Danny Ganoe in the 135-pound division, while Michael Guard was awarded a forfeit in the 140-pound class.

Recording pins for the Hawks were Kyle Turnbull (112), Matt Earle (119), and Matt Thompson (189).

In the win over Fairmont Senior, Casey Kamp, Brenneman, and Deem won on pins for the Huskies, and Eric Garlitz (125), Mitchell Guard, and Wolf garnered decisions. Taylor Jones (112), Ganoe, and Darric Kamp were awarded forfeits.

Allen Ford (119) and Matt Bosley (heavyweight) recorded pins for Fairmont.

The Huskies will try to record another pair of victories when they host Keyser and Hyndman this Friday, when competition will get under way at 6 p.m. They will entertain Allegany next Tuesday and host Southern next Thursday.

Two Inducted Into Northern Hall Of Fame

Two individuals were named to the Northern High School Wrestling Hall of Fame during special ceremonies at the Garrett County Invitational Tournament, hosted by the Huskies on Saturday.

Inducted were Dale Garlitz, a former NHS wrestling standout and former Northern coach; and the late Leonard Wilhelm Sr., who died last September at the age of 100 years, and whose descendants have had a profound effect on the NHS wrestling program.

Garlitz was a member of the Northern wrestling team in 1966-67, and recorded a dual match record of 19-1-1 during two seasons. He continued his academic and athletic career at Fairmont State College, where he was a successful member of the wrestling team. He broke into the starting line-up at Fairmont as a freshman, and among his accomplishments was a second-place finish at the Ashland College Invitational in 1969, where he defeated an NAIA College All-American and lost by one point in the finals of the 118-pound class to another NAIA All-American.

Garlitz earned a degree in physical education, later earned a master's degree in guidance and counseling, and served as principal of Grantsville School. He is currently an elementary school principal in Washington County.

Garlitz was instrumental in the development of the highly successful Northern Youth Wrestling Program.

Leonard Wilhelm, although never a wrestler himself, was the father of 19 children, and had 65 grandchildren, 110 great-grandchildren, and 37 great-great-grandchildren, and out of that large number of descendants there have been 21 wrestlers at Northern, many of whom were outstanding. Thirteen of them placed in the regional tournament, seven placed in the state tournaments, and one (Tirrell Burdock) finished third in the national high school championships.

Rams Nip Allegany, Defeat Vikings, Up Record To 2-1

A one-point squeaker over visiting and second-ranked Allegany on Tuesday night, 46-45, and a 57-43 win over Petersburg 24 hours later, also in Oakland, has solidified the Southern High School varsity boys' grip on first place in the area rankings.

The pair of victories upped the Rams' overall record to 7-1, and the win over Allegany gave them a 2-0 mark in Western Maryland Interscholastic League play. The Rams and their coach Tom Bosley continue to be almost impossible to beat on their home court, where they have won 14 straight games, and 38 of their last 41.

The Rams held leads at the end of the first three quarters against the 5-3 Campers, but clung to a one-point edge in the final seconds to gain the victory. Southern was on top by three, 16-13, at the end of the first quarter, and led 29-26 at halftime, as A.J. Bender ended the first half with a steal and lay-up for the Rams. They built the lead to as many as eight points in the third quarter, and took a 40-34 advantage into the final stanza.

Alco chipped away at the Rams' lead in the fourth, and trailed by one with six seconds remaining in the game, which is when Jonathan Rebuck took a shot. The ball bounced off the rim, and Allegany's Adam Smith won the rebound. Smith tried to take a follow-up shot, but Southern's Corey Tressler stripped the ball, and it dropped into the lap of Bender, who had fallen along the baseline.

"This was a big win for us, and a great match-up between the two top ranked teams in the area," stated Coach Bosley.

Besides winning the final scrape for possession of the ball at the buzzer, the fourth quarter was a general disaster for the Rams, who commited six turnovers in the first half of the quarter and eight for the period. They had but one field goal, and were 4-for-9 from the foul line, well under their average.

The Rams finished with twice the number of turnovers committed by the Campers, 18-9.

Dennis Tressler once again led the Rams in both scoring and rebounding, as he finished with a game-high 24 points and eight rebounds. He connected on nine of 13 attempts from the floor. Bender contributed seven points, while Matt Stephens recorded four points, five rebounds, and seven assists.

Ian Grady paced the Campers with 20 points and seven boards, and Aaron Laffey also reached double figures with 12 points and four assists.

The Southern junior varsity was topped in the preliminary game, 47-35, as Mike Paige netted 12 to pace the Campers. Brad Reese also hit a dozen points to lead the Rams.

The Petersburg Vikings came to Oakland last night riding a four-game win streak after dropping their first three games of the season, but were never able to gain the momentum over the Rams.

Southern held a 10-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, were up 18-12 at half-time, and stretched their advantage to 12 points, 37-25, by the end of the third stanza.

Tressler finished the night close to his average in scoring and rebounding, hitting 24 points and pulling down a team-high 10 rebounds. He had 11 field goals.

Stephens contributed 10 points and five assists.

Pacing the Vikings were Ryan Hahn and Corey Lambert, who scored 13 and 12 points, respectively.

The Southern jayvees bounced back into the win column in the first game by defeating the Petersburg junior varsity, 47-38.

The Rams will play again this Friday at Tucker County and then play their next WMIL game at Westmar next Tuesday. They were scheduled to host Fort Hill last Friday, but that contest had to be postponed because of weather conditions.

RAMS WIN A PAIR — Two victories within 24 hours were recorded this week by the Southern High School boys' varsity, as the Rams upped their overall record to 7-1 by nipping visiting Allegany, 46-45, on Tuesday in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match-up, and then topped Petersburg last night, 57-43, also in Oakland. Driving against a Petersburg Viking in the photo above is Southern's Robby Stemple. Going up for two at right is Ram Cory Bosley, while Corey Tressler (#40) positions himself for a possible rebound. The Rams, who are currently ranked #1 in the area, will travel to Tucker County this Friday. Photos by John McEwen.

Huskies Drop Road Battles At Bishop Walsh, Westmar

Northern High School's boys' varsity basketball squad took to the road this past week, but took it on the chin in a 72-55 loss to Bishop Walsh Friday and a 75-54 defeat at the hands of Westmar's Wildcats Tuesday.

The outing at Bishop Walsh was a game of two halves, as the Huskies nipped at the hosts' heels throughout the first half before the Spartans ran away from Northern over the course of the second half. NHS was down by only three points, 18-15, after the first stanza, and the same margin separated the combatants at the intermission with BW holding a slim 28-25 advantage. Bishop Walsh came out running and gunning in the third quarter to roll up a 52-36 lead as the stanza expired.

NORTHERN (55)
Aaron Mitchell 9 0-0 23, Andrew Frantz 2 1-2 5, Landon Southerly 0 1-2 1, Jason Rice 5 0-0 13, Matt Younkin 4 2-3 11, Max Beitzel 0 2-2 2. Totals 20 6-9 55.

NHS forward Aaron Mitchell slashed his way to 23 points, tying BW's Steven Amoroso for game-high honors. Mitchell was on the mark for five three-pointers, and teammate Jason Rice connected on a trio of treys on his way to netting 13 points. Guard Matt Younkin added 11 points, including one three-pointer. Alex Krstic had 21 points and 10 rebounds for Bishop Walsh (5-8).

The Huskies bombed away from three-point range to hit a total of nine treys.

Northern fell in a close junior varsity contest by a 47-43 margin. The Huskies' Chris Speicher led all scorers with 17 points, while Griffin Detrick recorded 15 for the BW victors.

Tuesday night's road trip to Westmar saw the Huskies fall to an extremely balanced Wildcat attack that rolled up a 21-point win. The hosts held a sizeable lead from start to finish, with a 19-8 first-quarter advantage, a 33-18 halftime margin, and a 50-31 tally at the end of the third quarter.

Mitchell led the Huskies as he netted 15 points on six field goals, including a trio of three-pointers, and Frantz and Younkin each scored seven points. Westmar's Bobby Alkire paced all scorers with 22 points, teammate Kevin Smith contributed 17 points, and Wildcat Jason Lee hit for 13 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to record a double-double.

Northern lost Younkin and Billy Jones to foul trouble.

Thank You

On behalf of our daughter,
Cynthia A. (Cindy) Clark,
who went home to be with her Lord, and Joshua, our grandson, who went to her heavenly home with her, we want to express our thanks to everyone who helped us during her illness. It is with grateful hearts that we want to say a "special thanks" to Dr. Charles A. Walch and the nurses and aides at Garrett County Memorial Hospital; to the members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad for their services; to the doctors and nurses and aides at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, Wv.; to the doctors and nurses and aides at Presbyterian Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and the help and assistance from Stewart Funeral Home. We are indebted to Rev. Ivan and Cindy Ackerman for all their help and offering such encouraging words of inspiration at the funeral service and at the cemetery.

We also express our sincere thanks to the many family members and friends for the gifts of food, cards, memorials, and prayers during this most difficult time. The personal visits to our home by so many of you was so uplifting for us and Cindy's children, Jessica, Ryan, Erin and Tyler. We are so grateful for Mr. Galloway and all the teachers and students who came to the funeral home. This was a great expression of kindness for our family and Cindy's children.

We are grateful for the fine luncheon that was served by the ladies of the Loch Lynn Church of God. This was truly a time of reflection by the family and friends of our daughter, Cindy, and her son.

May God bless each of you richly for many kindnesses and expressions of love during this time of our great loss.

Earl and Carol Clark and family

Ram Girls Run Away From FH, NHS; Raided By Vikes

It must feel like a case of déjà vu for opponents of the Southern High School girls' varsity basketball squad, and the Rams themselves, after a 2-1 Southern showing on the hardwood this week.

Fort Hill and Northern could be wondering if last year's SHS dynamic duo of Ashley Liller and Jennifer Bosley have returned, as juniors Robbin Gregg and Becca Flanagan pace the Rams to a 62-39 blowout of the Sentinels Thursday and a hard-fought 63-52 win over Northern Saturday. For its part, the Southern team got whacked with its own memories as Petersburg beat the Rams for the second time this season Tuesday, 68-59.

Gregg hit for 20 points and Flanagan recorded 17 in the 23-point triumph over Fort Hill. Gregg's game-high tally came on eight field goals and four successful free throws in five attempts at the charity stripe. Flanagan also sank eight field goals, and was a terror on defense as she nabbed seven steals. Justine Pagenhardt, another junior in the young Rams' line-up, netted 12 points while grabbing seven rebounds and handing out six assists, and Sabrina Scheffel dished out six assists as well. Kelly May had 13 points to lead the Sentinels' effort.

Southern was up 17-11 after the conclusion of the first quarter, then ratcheted up the pressure to run up a 33-18 halftime lead and a 52-26 advantage as the fourth quarter opened. During the 16-minute span of the second and third stanzas, the Rams' defense stole the ball 20 times.

SHS's junior varsity squad put on a clinic of its own earlier in the evening, as the Rams hammered FH 56-26. Kayla Nazelrod paced Southern's win with 16 points, while Kyli DiNicola led the Sentinels with seven.

Gregg and Flanagan teamed up for well over half the Rams' point production for the second straight contest Saturday, recording 19 points each against Northern in the hard-fought 11-point win. A total of 42 fouls were committed during the highly physical contest, with NHS being whistled for 22 infractions while SHS racked up 20 fouls. Southern benefited from the sloppy play, as the Rams netted 19 points from the free-throw line to the Huskies' nine. Northern's top trio of playmakers—Frantz, Lander, and Butler—fouled out during the contest, leaving the Huskies with just four players on the floor by game's end. No Rams reached a fifth foul.

Southern opened by taking a 17-12 first-quarter lead, a Ram advantage that the Huskies cut to three points, 28-25, at the half. SHS slowly began to wrest control of the game in the third quarter, which closed with the Rams up by a 44-38 tally.

NHS's Frantz turned in a fine performance, hitting five field goals and three free throws on her way to netting 16 points, and Butler contributed eight points. Heather Lander and Jeseca Gibson recorded seven points each. Helping round out Southern's attack were Scheffel's eight-point performance and Pagenhardt's seven-point tally.

The JV contest was no contest at all, as the Rams walloped the Huskies 54-19. Kendra McLaughlin paced SHS with 20 points, while Tiffany Yoder led Northern with 12.

The Rams held sway through most of Tuesday's rematch with Petersburg Tuesday, but 32 Viking points to SHS's 19 over the final eight minutes allowed the hosts to walk away with the win. Prior to that, Southern had been down by a slim 12-10 margin after one quarter, then raced to a 25-20 halftime lead on the way to a 40-36 advantage as the third quarter ended. Petersburg did not regain the lead for good until the clock was down to less than two minutes to play, and the Vikes went 8-for-10 from the free throw line as time ground down and the Rams were forced to foul.

SHS mounted a very balanced offensive attack, as Gregg netted 18 points on nine field goals, Flanagan recorded a double-double of 12 points and 10 rebounds, Pagenhardt scored 15 points, and Scheffel contributed 10 points. Gregg also dished out six assists to lead Southern. The Vikings also placed four players in double figures, led by Tara Feaster's 20 points.

Gregg and Flanagan both fouled out by game's end.

Southern took the JV contest, but the score and statistics were not available.

The Rams' (6-2) eight-game road swing, which got under way with the Petersburg game, continues this week with a visit to Keyser tomorrow night and an outing at Allegany Wednesday.

SHS BATTLES TO WIN OVER NHS – It was a hard-fought contest (as always) when the Southern and Northern High girls' basketball squads battled for cross-county bragging rights Saturday night in Oakland. The high-flying SHS girls took the contest by a 63-52 margin, with help from playmakers like junior guard Robbin Gregg (#15), shown above going up for two from the charity stripe. Jockeying for position, from the left, in their respective Husky blue or Southern white are Casey Taylor (#22), Kelly Stein (#10), Heather Lander (#4), Justine Pagenhardt (#10), Amanda Frantz (#20), Nina Stoner (#23), and Megan Shaffer (#12). Game-high scoring honors went to Gregg and Flanagan, who hit for 19 points apiece, while NHS's Frantz, pictured below finding the basket in the midst of Stoner, Lander, Taylor, and Sabrina Scheffel (#11), paced the Huskies with 16 points before fouling out. Southern's Rams currently hold a 6-2 mark, while the Northern Huskies stand at 6-3, despite the disadvantage of a very small varsity roster. The two squads will meet again in two weeks on Wednesday, Jan. 22, at Northern High.

Elks' Free-Throw Shooting Contest Set For Saturday

The Garrett County kick-off of the annual Elks National Free Throw Contest, better known as the "Hoop Shoot," is set for this Saturday, Jan. 11, with registration beginning at noon in the auxiliary gymnasium of Southern High School.

The contest is open to all boys and girls from the age of 8 through 13. The first 40 contestants to register and participate will be given a free Elks National Free Throw Contest T-shirt, and all participants will receive a certificate. Category will receive an engraved trophy and a certificate of achievement; second-place winners will receive an engraved trophy, and third-place winners will be awarded a medal. First-place winners will compete in the district "Hoop Shoot" competition, set for Saturday, Feb. 1, in Hagerstown. Winners from that competition will advance to the National "Hoop Shoot" finals in Springfield, Mass., slated for April 24-27.

For further information, persons may call Elks Youth Activities chairman Robin Spiker or Hoop Shoot chairman Mike Smith at 301-334-1119.

Both varsity games will begin at 7:30 p.m., following the 6 p.m. jayvee match-ups, and the Alco battle is slated for a live radio broadcast on 92.3-FM "The Train." Pre-game coverage will kick off at 7:15 p.m.

Huskies Pull Together To Take Three Of Four

A gritty Northern High School girls' varsity basketball squad, determined not to be derailed by the defections of three members from its line-up, put forth a fine team effort this week to take three out of four outings, including a big upset over fifth-ranked Beall, to take its record to an excellent 6-3. The Huskies edged Frankfort 40-38 last Thursday, Jan. 2, before putting up a valiant fight in a hard-fought 62-53 loss at Southern Saturday. NHS rebounded from that defeat by stunning the powerful Mountaineers Monday by a 36-31 margin, and bagging Salisbury's Elks last night in a 62-21 runaway win.

The narrow victory over Frankfort was marked by a stirring come-from-behind NHS effort. After the Falcons ran out to a 15-8 first-quarter lead, Northern fought back to claim a 23-22 advantage at the half. Frankfort was up 30-27 as the fourth quarter got under way, but a 13-8 Husky run over the final eight minutes gave NHS the victory. Amanda Frantz and Lyndsi Butler played a big part in the comeback, as Frantz sank a three-pointer and Butler connected on the lone successful NHS free-throw of the night to put their squad in the driver's seat with a 40-34 lead late in the fourth quarter.

The Huskies were paced by Amanda Frantz's double-double of 14 points and 10 rebounds. She rounded out the fine showing with five assists to lead NHS in each of the three categories. Lyndsi Butler contributed 13 points, hitting a pair of three-pointers to match Frantz's long-distance shooting tally, and she dished out four assists of her own. Frankfort's Julie Cessna led all scorers with 17 points.

Northern nearly lost the game at the foul line, as the Huskies connected on just one of seven attempts to the Falcons' 10-for-15 rate of success. In the end, it was three-point shooting that gave NHS the win. Northern hit five three-pointers (with Jeseca Gibson adding a single trey to the pair put in by both Frantz and Butler). Frankfort (1-5) hit just a pair of three-pointers, both netted by Cessna.

Northern's junior varsity unit came out on the short end of a 35-19 Falcon rout. Ashley Spiroff hit for 14 Frankfort points, while Tiffany Yoder netted nine for the Huskies.

NHS stayed close through the first three quarters at Southern Saturday night, but the hosts used a strong final stanza to take a nine-point victory. Frantz turned in a fine Husky performance with 16 points. (See SHS coverage for details.)

Monday night's home-court match-up with Beall was a defensive battle that saw the squads accumulate a combined total of just 67 points. Although the shooters were connecting at both ends of the floor through the first quarter, which ended with NHS holding a 15-14 lead, the Huskies went cold in the second stanza and found themselves down by five, 25-20, at the half. A stonewall Northern defense effort held the Mounties scoreless for the entire third quarter, while NHS recaptured the lead 29-25.

The Huskies' clampdown continued during the fourth quarter, as they held Beall scoreless until just under three minutes to play; however, shortly after Kacey Kahl bagged a Mountaineer three-pointer to tighten the gap to a two-point Northern lead, the Cove gym lights went dark in a wind-attributed power outage. After 15 minutes of inaction, the lights were restored and play continued as Lander sank a pair of free throws with less than 15 seconds left to up NHS's lead to three, and a late steal and score by Gibson finished off the five-point victory.

Gibson and Frantz paced Northern with 10 points apiece, as Gibson recorded eight in the second half. Frantz hauled down a game-high 12 rebounds. Kahl led Beall with 15 points.

LAKERS SHOOT DOWN HAWKS – Some superb performances helped pace the Garrett College women's basketball team to a 71-51 thrashing of the visiting Hagerstown Hawks last night in McHenry. Among the stellar GC showings was the effort of freshman guard LaTonya Crowder (#12), shown pulling up at the end of a Laker fast break to bag a 15-foot jumper. Crowder, surrounded by teammates Tiffany McFarland (#50), Charlena Reeves (#21), and LaSha Anderson (#42). Crowder tallied 12 points, five steals, and four assists overall, and Anderson was herself a one-woman wrecking crew in amassing 29 points and hauling down a team-high nine rebounds. The Lakers (4-2) take on a strong 10-1 Cecil squad Monday in a 4 p.m. homecourt battle. Photos by John McEwen.

Anderson Leads 20-Point Garrett Romp Over HCC

Garrett College freshman guard LaSha Anderson treated fans of the Laker women's basketball team to a show last night in McHenry, as she helped pace GC to a 71-51 thrashing of Hagerstown Community College. The Martinsburg, W.Va., native shredded the nets for a game-high 29 points, and ripped down nine rebounds for a team-high tally.

It was a second-half surge that put the Lakers over the top, as the two squads had battled to a 28-all halftime deadlock. GC went on an offensive rampage, and played airtight defense on the other end of the floor, to put the game away with a 43-23 run over the course of the second half. "The second half we played defense, and that won the game for us," Laker coach Steve Willison commented.

In addition to Anderson's fireworks on the floor, Garrett got a fine all-around performance from fellow freshman guard LaTonya Crowder, who had 12 points, five steals, and four assists, and freshman center Tiffany McFarland with her 15 points and eight rebounds. Sophomore guard Angel Kendall passed out five assists. Kristi Gaines paced the Hawks with 23 points.

The win boosted Garrett's record to 4-2, and gives the Lakers some much-needed momentum as they head into Monday night's 4 p.m. homecourt battle with a powerful 10-1 Cecil squad. The Frederick Cougars pay a visit Wednesday evening for a 5 p.m. battle.

HAGERSTOWN (51)
Amanda McGee 1 1-6 3, Kristin Long 1 0-0 2, Kim Davis 7 0-0 17, Autumn Parsons 1 2-3 4, Tiffany Tucker 1 0-0 2, Kristi Gaines 10 3-5 23. Totals 20 6-14 51.

GARRETT (71)
Angel Kendall 3 0-1 6, LaTonya Crowder 4 2-3 12, Cornelia Calliste 1 0-0 2, LaSha Anderson 9 8-9 29, Tiffany McFarland 6 3-5 15, Charlena Reeves 2 0-0 4, Carrie Pardue 1 0-0 3. Totals 27 13-18 71.

Halftime Score: Garrett 28, Hagerstown 28.

Three-point goals - Garrett 6 (Crowder 2, Anderson 3, Pardue 1), Hagerstown 3 (Davis 3). Total fouls - Garrett 14, Hagerstown 18. Fouled out - none.

Holiday Break Seems Costly As Lakers Edged By Lions, Turnovers

The holiday break can sometimes cause a bit of rustiness in athletic performance, which may have been demonstrated by the Garrett College men's basketball team last night, as turnovers, particularly during an overtime period, resulted in a 104-102 defeat for the Lakers at the hands of Dundalk Community College.

The Lakers, who had not played a game since Dec. 14, dropped to 9-3 with the loss.

The contest was close from the opening tip-off, as the score was deadlocked at 36-36 at halftime, and knotted 88-88 at the end of regulation. Crucial turnovers in the overtime period gave the Lions the final two-point edge in scoring. GC committed 28 turnovers for the game, while Dundalk finished with 18.

"We built several leads, but each time we had a lead, we would turn the ball over," stated Coach Dennis Gibson, "and they hit most of their shots off our turnovers."

A bright spot for the Lakers was the debut of Rashaun Copeland in the lineup, who was ineligible to play the first semester. Copeland finished with a team-high 23 points, with all but two of those points being recorded on seven three-point buckets.

Four other Lakers finished in double figures. Antuon Townsend had 16 points and seven assists; Alvin Jones went 7-for-7 from the line and finished with 15 points; Lee Parris netted 14 points and pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds; and Kevin Essex contributed 10.

The top scorer for the evening was Dundalk's Dawud Drew, who poured in 30 points. Chason Holmes recorded 22 points and 13 rebounds, Valdez Preston scored 16 points, Melvin Curry finished with 15, and Larry Rice chipped in with 13 points.

The Lions finished with a 40-34 lead in field goals, but the Lakers hit a total of 16 three-pointers, compared to seven by Dundalk. Garrett was 18-for-22 at the foul line, and Dundalk made good on 17 of 21 attempts.

The Lakers will play again this Saturday at Cecil CC and then host Baltimore City next Wednesday in a 7 p.m. contest.

DUNDALK (104)
Melvin Curry 4 6-6 15, Dawud Drew 12 3-4 30, Chason Holmes 11 0-0 22, Larry Rice 3 7-8 13, Valdez Preston 6 1-3 16, Rodney Spriggs 4 0-0 8. Totals 40 17-21 104.

GARRETT (102)
Antuon Townsend 5 3-6 16, Neil Watson 3 3-3 10, Tristan Largent 3 0-0 8, Alvin Jones 3 7-7 15, Rashaun Copeland 7 2-2 23, Kevin Essex 5 0-0 10, Lee Parris 6 2-3 14, James Jones 2 1-2 6. Totals 34 18-22 102.

Halftime Score: Garrett 36, Dundalk 36.

End of Regulation: Garrett 88, Dundalk 88.

Three-point goals - Essex 7 (Drew 3, Preston 3, Curry), Garrett 16 (Copeland 7, Townsend 3, Largent 2, A. Jones 2, J. Jones, Watson). Total fouls - Dundalk 20, Garrett 19. Fouled out - Copeland, Essex (Garrett). Rebounds - Dundalk 46 (Holmes 13), Garrett 39 (Parris 10). Assists - Dundalk 12 (Holmes 6), Garrett 20 (Townsend 7). Turnovers - Dundalk 18, Garrett 29.

Huskies

The Huskies' JV squad took a 32-16 over its Mountie counterpart, as freshman Sarah Stewart dominated with 12 points, 17 rebounds, and six blocked shots. Kaitlin Greig had eight points for Beall.

NHS capped its busy week with last night's road romp at Salisbury, as Lander and Frantz led the pack with 17 and 12 points, respectively. Butler, Gibson, and sophomore guard Megan Shaffer, recently promoted from the JV roster, netted eight points each in the balanced attack. Two of Gibson's buckets were three-pointers. Molly Wolf grabbed five steals on defense. The Elks were paced by eight-point tallies by Susan Kolb and Natasha Munion.

Northern jumped out to a 20-10 first-quarter lead and steadily widened the gap to 30-14 at the half. By the end of the third quarter the Huskies had run out to a commanding 45-20 lead.

Salisbury's junior varsity defeated Northern 19-16 in a close battle.

The Huskies, winners of five of their last six outings, have a bit of a breather this week, with only two games on the schedule. NHS visits Fort Hill Monday and Berlin Wednesday, with jayvee contests slated for 6 p.m. and varsity battles set for 7:30 p.m.

JUMPING RIGHT INTO THE FRAY in his first outing for the Garrett College men's basketball team last night was newly suited-up guard Rashaun Copeland (#24), pictured above challenging a Dundalk defender in last night's hard-fought 104-102 overtime Laker loss in McHenry. Copeland paced GC with 23 points in a performance that saw the 6-2 sophomore, one of three Lakers who played high school basketball together for the Wakefield Warriors in Arlington, Va., sink seven bombs from three-point range. Fellow backcourt player Alvin Jones (#22) is shown below starting a drive to the basket for two of his 15 points. Garrett all but handed the game to the visitors by committing 29 turnovers to Dundalk's 18. The Lakers (9-3) are poised to travel to Cecil Community College for a Saturday match-up.

Rams Scheffel, Bonser Lead All-Area, All-WMIL Selections

SABRINA SCHEFFEL

LAURA BONSER

The All-Area and All-Western Maryland Interscholastic League girls' soccer teams were announced recently, with the two Garrett County high schools well represented on those honorary squads.

Heading up the local representation are Southern High School juniors Sabrina Scheffel and Laura Bonser. Scheffel was named Player of the Year in the WMIL and Co-Player of the Year and one of four team captains, All-Area, while Bonser was named WMIL Defensive Player of the Year and also one of the four team captains on the All-Area first team.

Also receiving first-team All-Area honors were Brittany Naylor, Casey Taylor, and Robbin Gregg of Southern, and Carrie Friend and Kayla Kamp of Northern.

Naylor, Taylor, Gregg, Friend, and Kamp were also named first-team All-WMIL.

All-Area second team selections included Kristen Oxford and Alasha Rush of Southern, and Megan Shaffer, Laura Costa, and Lyndsi Butler of Northern, while Jasmine Scheffel of Southern and Karie Kamp of Northern received honorable mention.

Jasmine Scheffel and Oxford, Karie Kamp, and Butler were all named to the second team, All-WMIL, while Shar Hollingsworth and Chelsea Remley of Southern, and Brittany Milbourne and Tiffany Yoder of Northern earned honorable mention.

In the three seasons that Sabrina Scheffel has been on the field, the Southern High School girls' varsity has amassed a record of 36-8-1, which includes three WMIL titles and two area championships. This past season, which the Rams finished with an 11-4 overall record and a share of the WMIL title, was Scheffel's most productive to date, as she set a school record scoring average of 3.40. She was second in the area in both scoring and assists, with 20 goals and 11 assists in 15 matches. She recorded three hat tricks, including a four-goal performance against Northern.

The junior striker was fifth in the area scoring as a freshman, with eight goals and four assists, fifth as a sophomore, with 16 goals and three assists, and the runner-up this past season as a junior, second only to Karen Knight of Bishop Walsh, who finished with an average of 3.88.

"It has been a real pleasure to coach Sabrina," stated Ram coach Ron Petrella. "She is competitive, has a great attitude, and likes to win. She has been a positive influence on the entire team, and obviously her goal scoring abilities are key to our success over the past three seasons. I really look forward to her senior season, which should also be very successful."

The Southern varsity girls allowed a total of only 16 goals this past season, and according to Coach Petrella, the play of junior defender Laura Bonser was a primary reason for that achievement.

"With the graduation of Miriam Sincell (two-time All-Area Defensive Player of the Year), Laura had some big shoes to fill. But she stepped in and got the job done," Petrella said.

The Southern defensive unit recorded seven shutouts this past fall, and gave up just one goal in two other matches. In WMIL contests, the Rams allowed a total of just three goals.

"Laura worked so well with our stopper, Kristen Oxford, and our keeper, Alasha Rush, who led the area in save percentage (.944)," Petrella said, "and she was instrumental in working with new players in the fullback position and helping them develop.

"As with Sabrina, I'm really pleased that she will be back again next fall to lead our defense."

Southern players have earned the Defensive Player of the Year honor four of the past five years, with Sincell in 2000 and 2001, goalkeeper Becky Martin in 1998, and Bonser in 2002.

BRITTANY NAYLOR

"An exceptional player and team leader" is how Coach Petrella describes senior Brittany Naylor, a four-year starter for the Rams. The team captain and center midfielder was the second-leading scorer on the team and third in the area. She recorded 16 goals and 10 assists for 42 points this past season, with six of those goals coming on a pair of hat tricks.

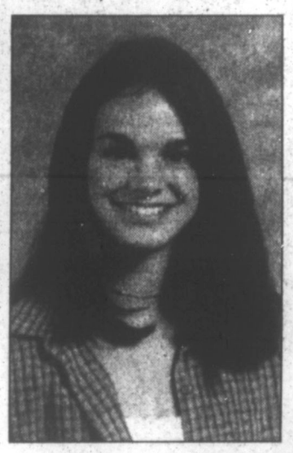
"Brittany is strong in every area of the game," Petrella said, "especially in shooting, passing, crossing, and corner kicks. She has been a major factor in our success over the past four seasons."

CASEY TAYLOR

After playing her sophomore year in a school in Ohio, midfielder Casey Taylor returned to Southern and made a definite, positive impact in her junior season. She finished 10th in the area in scoring with nine goals and six assists for a 1.6 average.

This is the second time Taylor has been named first-team All-Area, as she earned the same honor after her freshman season two years ago, when she scored nine goals and had four assists.

"Casey has solid all-around skills, and is very good one-on-one against a defender," Petrella said.



ROBBIN GREGG

Another talented, all-around athlete, Robbin Gregg added seven goals to the Ram total from her midfielder position this past season, including four in one game.

According to Petrella, Gregg is a "versatile and unselfish player" who would have scored more goals for the Rams, but was called upon to play several different positions when the team was hit with a number of injuries.

"Robbin is the consummate team player, and I'm glad she will be with us for one more season," he said.

CARRIE FRIEND

As the only senior on the Northern High School girls' varsity, which finished in a three-way tie for the WMIL championship, Carrie Friend was greatly needed by second-year coach Lynn Lais to provide team leadership.

But besides providing leadership, her speed, stamina, and tenacious play as a defender were major factors in the Huskies' going on an eight-match winning streak, during which the unit allowed a total of only seven goals.

Northern then allowed just eight goals during the final nine matches of the season.

Although a defender, Friend scored two goals for the Huskies.

"Carrie is well-skilled," Coach Lais said. "She has the ability to pick up a ball in the defensive end and carry it all the way to the goal. She is also an excellent passer, and the leadership she brought to the team pushed her teammates to better game performances."

KAYLA KAMP

After playing good defense for two seasons for the Huskies, junior captain Kayla Kamp moved to the center fullback spot, from which she excelled both offensively and defensively.

"Kayla is a smart player with good quickness," Lais said. "She has exceptional timing tackling and intercepting the ball, and you will almost never see her out of position. She consistently plays well under pressure, which makes her great plays look routine."

All of the honorees will be recognized at the 55th annual Dapper Dan Awards Banquet, slated for Saturday, Feb. 1, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club in Cumberland.

Windpower

that its purpose in this case is 'to support future windpower in the state,' rather than investigate it. Such boosterism clearly makes protection of wildlife a secondary goal."

Several speakers took issue with the concerns of Boone and other bird enthusiasts, noting that a specific wind farm in Altamont, Calif., oft-cited for the numbers of birds killed there, used older technology of lattice-style towers and rapidly spinning turbine blades. "That wind farm does kill birds," commented Mark Moynahan, who has lived on Backbone near its high point for a decade. "But more birds are killed in collisions with TV towers and neon signs, and the total kill rate of the latest turbines is much less than the number killed by impacts with windows in homes and offices."

Paul Shogren, a retired federal forester who also lives in the Oakland area, took issue with statements alleging a conspiracy between state officials and the windpower industry. "There has been a lot of review by state agencies, and at some point we as citizens have to accept the credibility of our agencies — that's what we pay government experts to do, so let them do their job. Clipper has had to jump through a lot of hoops to get to this meeting tonight.

"Visual pollution is in the eye of the beholder," Shogren continued. "Personally, I think modern wind turbines are beautiful machines. We also have to take into consideration the rights of the private landowners involved. We, the public, have the responsibility to look into what is being done, but the landowner has the right to do what he or she wants."

One of those landowners, who freely stated that two turbines would be placed on his property if the project went ahead, is Pleasant Valley Road resident Tracy Riley, who said, "I'm in favor of windmills, because coal is dirty all the way around. Coal is dirty to mine, dirty to move, and dirty to burn. I'd rather see a clean source of energy be used," the lifelong county resident added.

Other landowners in the viewshed, including some who are not leasing land to the wind company, also supported the wind project. "It's high time somebody got started using alternative energy," said Sand Flat Road resident Alden Andersen. "I've visited the windfarm in Pennsylvania, and the site that's being built close by in West Virginia, and I think they're beautiful. We need to put all these arguments in perspective, including the bird issue. The cats in Garrett County kill more birds than the wind turbines would, and we're not going to get rid of cats."

"We're all in favor of windpower," out-of-county resident Daniel Boone said. "The question is how much of our natural and cultural heritage do we want to preserve? Between 5 and 7½ percent of electricity in Maryland will be required to come from renewable green power in the future. Projecting that figure ahead to the year 2020, the state will need over 1,000 windmills. Garrett County has good wind, open land, and many of those windmills would be coming here. We need to tell developers which vistas we want to preserve and which are off limits."

The PSC, which is continuing to take written comments from interested citizens for the next two weeks, is expected to make a decision within a month's time. For guidelines on submitting comments, and the address, persons can consult the commission's Web site at www.psc.state.md.us.

Clipper Windpower's detailed application to build the project, transcripts of testimony recorded by the commission to date, and rulings by the various state agencies that have examined the project, can be obtained by using the Web site's "Case Search" function and typing in the case number "8938."

RAISE FUNDS FOR FOUNDATION — Oakland resident Angie Teagarden, pictured left, recently participated in the Honolulu Marathon in that city, and as a result earned over $4,500 to benefit the Arthritis Foundation. Teagarden was a member of a team called Joints in Motion, and ran the 26.2-mile event in honor of her father Glenn, who is affected by arthritis. Pictured with her is a friend, Kim Yost, also a member of the Joints in Motion team. Over 30,000 runners participated in the marathon. Teagarden noted her appreciation to all of those who sponsored her in the event by making a donation to the foundation.

Germany Honors GC Resident For Historical, Cultural Research

Judge Gerard William Wittstadt Sr., a resident of Baltimore and the Deep Creek Lake area, has been awarded the Bundesverdienstkrenz (Cross of the Order of Merit) of the Federal Republic of Germany for his many years of work in promoting the study of German-American history and culture in the United States.

"Through this award to Wittstadt, the Federal Republic of Germany acknowledges the importance of researching and recording the contributions to the United States by German immigrants," stated Eberhard Koelsch, German minister to the United States, as he presented the award during a ceremony last month in Washington, D.C. "An awareness of the contributions these immigrants have made to all facets of this country fosters a positive response toward German-Americans and ultimately toward Germany."

Wittstadt has served as president of the Society for the History of the Germans in Maryland since 1987, the longest anyone has held the post in the organization's history. The oldest association in the United States devoted to the recording of the contributions made to the United States by German-Americans, the society has published the scholarly Journal of German-American History since 1886.

For over 20 years, Wittstadt has also played a leading role in one of the oldest ethnic organizations in the United States, the German Society of Maryland. This society was founded in 1783 to offer assistance to German immigrants who entered the United States through the Port of Baltimore, which along with the Port of New York were the chief ports of entry for German immigrants during the 19th century. Today, the purpose of the German society of Maryland is to keep alive the German legacy. Wittstadt currently serves this society as a lifetime director and as its legal counselor.

With the assistance of Pastor H.J. Siegfried Otto of the Zion Lutheran Church of Baltimore, Wittstadt initiated in 1989 an ecumenical service of thanksgiving for the re-unification of Germany following the destruction of the Berlin Wall. This service continues to be held annually in a Baltimore church.

Wittstadt's own family lineage includes the German-born American Revolutionary War hero Major General Baron Johannes deKalb. After rising to the rank of general in the French Army, deKalb was invited by the Continental Congress to render aid to the American military, and was the senior officer to come from France in response to that request. He was appointed commanding general of the Maryland and Delaware lines, and died in the Battle of Camden in South Carolina while leading his troops.

Wittstadt has published a biography of deKalb, and he has lectured extensively throughout the U.S. about the baron's contributions to this country. The judge represents General deKalb in the society of the Cincinnati, which was founded by General George Washington in 1783 for the officers of the Continental Army and Navy. Today, membership in this organization is hereditary and limited to the eldest living male descendant of an original member.

Wittstadt is presently assisting professor Randall Donaldson of Loyola College of Maryland in organizing the annual Symposium of the Society for German-American Studies, which will be held in Baltimore in April.

Born in Baltimore, Wittstadt graduated from Mount Saint Joseph College, and went on to earn his bachelor of arts degree and doctor of jurisprudence from the University of Maryland. He served as assistant attorney general of Maryland prior to joining the Maryland Judiciary, where he served from 1976 to 1992, presiding primarily in the Baltimore County courts but also in other counties throughout the state.

In Loving Memory of
Harriet Virginia DeBerry
Joining her beloved father in heaven
January 13, 1998

Some of us never said goodbye, but we knew she loved us very much. She was the hardest working woman we ever knew. She was a wonderful mother, grandmother, sister, aunt, and wife to our father, and most of all our beloved friend.

She was an angel and will continue to watch over us. She gave us praise, strength, and encouragement to make it each day, and somehow I have become what I lost, in one way or in many.....A mother.....

Now my mother looks down from heaven with a smile for the birth of her granddaughter, Brooklyn Virginia-Marie Tasker, born to us on November 8, 2002. Memories keep our hearts smiling.

Garrett College Slates Meeting For Plant Raisers

Garrett College has scheduled an informational meeting for persons interested in growing and marketing native plants to generate supplemental income. The meeting will take place from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Jan. 18, at the college's Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies (located along Mosser Road behind the Panorama Motel).

The guest speakers will include Roy List, founder of Maryland Natives Nursery, and regional natural resource specialist Jonathan Kay of the University of Maryland.

List has operated his business since 1991, meeting a rapidly growing need for trees and shrubs native to the mid-Atlantic region. He is exploring an expansion into western Maryland, where local growers are needed to help meet demand. List will explain the types of plants that are needed, growing methods, and marketing opportunities for native plants.

Kay's presentation is designed to help new and existing farm and forest landowners evaluate their time, skills, and resources for a variety of natural resource and agricultural enterprise options. Examples of income-generating enterprises to be discussed will include ginseng, crafts, custom sawmilling, kiln drying, firewood, mushrooms, Christmas trees, collecting wild plants, fee hunting and fee fishing, sporting clays, and vacation cabins.

Persons interested in attending may register by calling GC agriculture professor Willie Lantz at 301-387-3331 or Garrett County Extension Service agent Jim Simms at 301-334-6960.

COMMUNITY PARTICIPATES IN LIVE NATIVITY – St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oak Hill 4-H Club, and the Accident Community Planning Group joined together on Dec. 22 for Accident's live Nativity. Pastor Nairn of St. Paul's read the Christmas story, while the 4-H members participated in the Nativity and the planning group sang Christmas songs. Following the live Nativity, the participants went to the church, where planning group members served refreshments. Cookie trays were donated by Annie's Kitchen, Taste Unlimited, and the planning group. "It was a great evening of fun, with a large turnout from the town and surrounding areas," said Tania Glotfelty.

Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, will host "College Goal Sunday" on Feb. 9 beginning at 2 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Delaware-District of Columbia-Maryland Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators Inc. (ASFAA)

Endorsed by the U.S. Department of Education and the Maryland Higher Education Commission, College Goal Sunday associates provides college-bound students free professional assistance in completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

"Tens of millions of dollars are awarded annually to college-bound students in Maryland, Delaware, and Washington, D.C., for higher education, said Kristie Durr, spokesperson for College Goal Sunday. "A student's first step to access funds is to accurately fill out the FAFSA, the form required by colleges and universities, and private career schools to qualify for scholarships, grants, and loans."

Students attending College Goal Sunday need to bring proof of 2002 income and benefits information, such as completed IRS federal income tax returns and W-2 forms, or proof of untaxed income, for the student and the parent(s).

College Goal Sunday, a nonprofit campaign, is currently being funded through grants issued by the Lumina Foundation for Education and USA Funds, two nonprofits with a particular interest in higher education. Comcast is a premier media sponsor for the college Goal Sunday 2003.

For more information on College Goal Sunday, persons may call 866-GO2-GOAL or visit www.GO2-GOAL.org.

DC Methodist Churches To Install Officers

The Deep Creek United Methodist Ministries of Hoyes and Paradise churches has slated installation and dedication of officers for this Sunday, Jan. 12, during the 10 a.m. service at the Hoyes church. All officers of the church will be recognized during the worship service, which will include the sacrament of holy communion.

Sunday school will be offered for all ages beginning at 11 a.m. Sue Wachter will teach the children using the "One Room Sunday School" literature geared for all ages of children. The topic will be "What it means to be a disciple for Jesus." Rev. Sam Wachter will teach the adult session, which will focus on the parables of Jesus.

From now through March, all services for the Deep Creek UM Ministries will be held at the Hoyes church. A schedule of two services of worship, one at the Hoyes church and the other at Paradise church, will resume in April.

Subject: Secure Remote Backups

Dear Alice,
You'll never believe this one. My boss and I spent the last several weeks working on a presentation for a group of our customers. It was scheduled for this morning, so the boss and I came in early to put on the finishing touches. Well, both of us were working on it at the same time and something terrible happened. POOF!! Just like that, the whole thing disappeared! Most of the guests had already arrived and I don't have to tell you we were sweating. Profusely!

Unfortunately, no one remembered to do the back-up last night (or the night before). I crossed my fingers as we checked the back-up done late last week. Turns out, it didn't work. In fact, none of our recent back-ups worked. You can imagine my embarrassment when I sheepishly told our guests we'd have to reschedule the presentation due to 'technical difficulties.' I overheard one guest say it was a good thing the boss's wife brought coffee and donuts or it would have been a total loss of his time. I only hope this back-up catastrophe doesn't totally destroy their confidence in us.

The boss gave me the job of finding out about reliable back-up procedures. We've learned the hard way not to rely on tape drives and CD's. Too much room for error, especially if we 'forget' to back-up; or, we remember to back-up and lose the tape. Right away, I called VITALink for available back-up solutions. They suggested secure remote back-ups. (Since 9-11 companies have found that 'remote' is an important aspect of the back-up procedure.) VITALink setup a secure remote back-up procedure to run automatically every night. No tapes or CD's to carry around or lose. Plus VITALink verifies the back-ups each morning and calls if there is a problem.

Contact VITALink so they can incorporate secure remote back-ups as part of your back-up solution. More information is available on the web at www.vitalink.info/backup or call 800-528-9324.

Farming On The Mountaintop

USDA Announces 2002 Wool And Mohair Deadline

The United States Department of Agriculture announced this week that producers, under the new wool and mohair program, have until Friday, Jan. 31, 2003, to request LDPs for 2002-crop wool and mohair that have not yet been marketed and remain in storage.

If LDPs are not requested, producers have until Jan. 31, 2003, to request loans for 2002-crop wool or mohair. Each year thereafter, the period to request loans and LDPs will extend until Jan. 31 of the year following the crop year in which the applicable commodity is sheared.

Several special conditions also apply, said the USDA. The Farm Bill authorized LDPs for 2002-crop wool or mohair producers even though they had lost beneficial interest before the program was implemented. The regulation governing the programs was published on Oct. 11, 2002.

Producers who sold their wool or mohair before Oct. 11, 2002, may apply for LDPs through Jan. 31, 2003. Producers who sold their wool or mohair after Oct. 11 but before Nov. 4, 2002, were notified by the Farm Service Agency that they could still apply for LDPs through Dec. 6, 2002. (FSA offices obtained the necessary application forms Nov. 4, 2002.)

Producers who did not sell their wool or mohair before Nov. 4, 2002, must have had beneficial interest to be eligible for the payment on the date they applied.

Wool and mohair nonrecourse marketing assistance loans provide eligible producers with interim financing on their production and facilitate the orderly marketing of the commodity itself as collateral, said a USDA spokesperson.

The loan helps an eligible producer pay bills when they come due without having to sell the wool or mohair at a time of year when prices tend to be lowest.

To be eligible for a nine-month marketing assistance loan or LDP for wool or mohair, producers must demonstrate compliance with wetland and highly erodible land conservation requirements.

For additional information, persons may call the Garrett County FSA Office at 301-334-6954.

Extension Office Slates Trip To Machinery Show

The Preston County Extension Office has planned a bus trip to the National Farm Machinery Show in Louisville, Ky. The bus will leave on Friday, Feb. 14, at 11 a.m. and will return on Sunday, Feb. 16, at approximately 2 p.m.

"The 2003 National Farm Machinery Show is the showcase for the future of agribusiness," said extension agent Bill Shockey.

With more than 800 exhibits under one roof, the event is the largest indoor farm show in America, according to Shockey. It will feature such things as chemicals and fertilizers, buildings, sheds and fencing, dairy equipment, feed and nutritional supplements, grain handling and storage equipment, livestock handling and feeding equipment, and mowing and harvesting equipment, as well as many other exhibits.

"We plan to also attend the Friday night, Saturday afternoon, and Saturday evening shows, which include super modified trucks, pro stock tractors, and modified tractors," said Shockey. "Saturday evening will include the finals and will be a very exciting show."

The deadline for registering for this trip is Friday, Jan. 10. "We must have 40 people in order to take this trip," said Shockey.

For the cost and other information concerning the trip, persons may call the Preston County Extension Office at 304-329-1391.

Garrett County Farmers Escaped

For the past few months there has been a lot of concern in the agricultural community about the new laws governing Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations (CAFO). Producers that would fall within the rules and regulations will be required to have a comprehensive animal waste management plan that would assure that no pollutants from feedlots would be entering the waterways. In some cases producers will have to reduce animal numbers to meet the requirements.

Fortunately, none of the Garrett County farming operations fall within the animal numbers to require the comprehensive plan. Large CAFOs are defined in the rule as operations raising more than 1,000 cattle, 700 dairy cows, 2,500 swine, 10,000 sheep, 125,000 chickens, 82,000 laying hens and 55,000 turkeys in confinement.

Natural Resource Business Opportunities Workshop

Do you have available land that you would like to utilize to put some dollars in your pocket? If so you may be interested in attending a workshop on growing and marketing native plants along with generating dollars from your woodlot.

Roy List owner of the Maryland Native Nursery Inc., is very interested in expanding the production of nursery native trees and shrubs in our area. Presently Mr. List cannot keep up with the market demand for native plants. He will address the opportunities, type of plants, production methods, and marketing of native plants.

Jonathan Kays, Regional Natural Resources specialist, University of MD, assists new and existing farm and woodlot owners exploring a variety of natural resource business enterprises. Some examples of the enterprises to be discussed include ginseng, crafts, custom saw milling, kiln drying, firewood, mushrooms, Christmas trees, collecting wild plants, fee hunting and fishing, sporting clays, vacation cabins and more. A number of resources and information will be provided to help you get started in business.

The workshop will be held on Saturday, Jan. 18, from 9 a.m. to noon at Garrett College, McHenry, Md. The workshop will be in the Center for Adventure Sports and Outdoor Studies located along Mosser Road behind the Panorama Motel and the college dormitory. In order to prepare for handout materials reservations are requested by calling Willie Lantz, Garrett College (301-387-3331), or Garrett Cooperative Extension (301-334-6960). The workshop is free of cost.

If you have a disability that requires special assistance for your participation in this program, please contact Jim Simms at 301-334-6960.

Maryland Makes Economic Dev. Top Ten List

Citing the importance of investing in economic fundamentals such as skilled workforce, technological capacities, and quality of life, particularly for states looking to emerge from the current national recession, the Corporation for Enterprise Development has again placed Maryland on its Development Report Card Top Ten Honor Roll list. According to the 2002 study, states that have historically invested in the building blocks of long-term economic development, including K-12 education, world-class universities, and research and development, appear to be performing better overall than their peers, despite hard economic times.

"This national survey confirms our belief that Maryland's fundamentally strong economy is built on our strong commitment to education," said Governor Parris Glendening. "Our investments have been strategically focused on achieving success in the new economy by supporting our most important economic development tools — education and excellent quality of life. Maryland is indeed well positioned to prosper as the national economy bounces back."

For the second time in the state's history, Maryland was one of 10 states selected as 2002 Honor Roll States by the corporation, a national nonprofit economic development research and policy group. Maryland received A's in two major categories — performance and development capacity — and a B rating in business vitality. The "report card" from the corporation, which compares state economies using 71 measures to provide a relative, state-by-state assessment of economic development, assigns states grades from A to F in performance, business vitality, and development capacity.

According to the report, Maryland ranked:

•first in federal obligations for research and development per capita;

•first in research and development expenditures at doctorate-granting institutions;

•first in the percentage of households with at least four years of college;

•third in the percentage of non-elderly population covered by employer-based health plans;

•fourth in the progress made by state governments in the adoption and utilization of digital technologies to improve the delivery of government services to their citizens;

•fourth in the number of employed doctoral scientists and engineers per 1,000 workers;

•fifth in the percentage of population living in households with incomes below the poverty line;

•sixth in the number of small business innovation research grants awarded (in dollars) per worker;

•eighth in the percentage of households with computers; and •ninth in the number of venture capital investments, dollars per worker.

"Making the 2002 Honor Roll for the second year in a row is an affirmation of the strength of the Maryland economy and the outstanding assets we offer — a highly skilled workforce, a supportive business climate, and an excellent quality of life," said David S. Iannucci, secretary of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development. "In today's technology driven global marketplace, companies can locate almost anywhere. We must continue to invest in the future in order to stay competitive and ensure Maryland's economy remains strong."

SCOUTS HOLD BRIDGING, REDEDICATION CEREMONY – The Girl Scouts of Troop 5004 recently held a Bridging and Rededication Ceremony to kick off another year of Scouting. Girls entering Junior Scouts spent the fall working on their requirements to bridge to that level. Brownie Scouts learned about the Girl Scout Law and Promise for their Rededication Ceremony. The youngest girls entered Scouts as Daisies this year and earned the Daisy petal center by reciting the Girl Scout Promise. The troop has also been busy with other activities such as crafts, visiting the Garrett County Animal Shelter, and watching two of their own participate in Tom Sawyer at Broad Ford Elementary School. The Scouts have planned a busy second half of the year with camping, a visit to the Discovery Center, trips to Carnegie Natural History Museum and Swallow Falls State Park, a sleep over, crafts, and their annual cookie sales, which start Jan. 10. The girls will again participate in the Caring and Sharing Program, which allows them to raise funds to donate cookies to the charity of their choice. Troop 5004 hopes to top last year's total of 153 boxes of donated cookies. Pictured above left are the Junior Scouts who completed their Bridging Ceremony. In the front row, left to right, are Jordan Body, Rebecca Wilkes, Rosemary Rosser, and Alycia Horner. In the back row are Melissa Walch (leader) Kristen Yant, Corinne Weaver, Katelynn Hanick, Lara Schad, and Emily Huxford. Not pictured are Mary Rosser (leader) Emily Rosser, and Cadette and Claire Wilkinson. Pictured below are the Brownie Scouts completing their Rededication Ceremony: left to right, Hannah Lynn, Hannah Newcomb, Raeslee Weimer, Karisa Weissgerber, Jillian Yant, leader Elisabeth Huxford, and Nicole Walch. In loving remembrance of our dear one, who passed away January 13, 2002.
Joy White,

We cannot see you with our eyes
Or hear you with our ears,
But thoughts of you are here with us still
And often dry our tears.

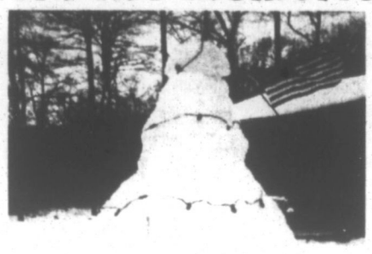
A part of you remains with us
That none can take away
It gives us strength to carry on
At dawning of new day.

We think of happy times we shared
And then we softly sigh,
But this we know, we'll meet again
And never say goodbye.

Sadly missed but fondly remembered by her children and grandchildren.

We are comforted by the fact that joy is now hers.

Hold the Memories



This white snow pine 9'11" takes me to Christmas years ago when the true meaning of Christmas was in every heart and every home, so don't be like this snow pine and just go away. Keep the memories forever.

Clipper
WINDPOWER, INC.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Western Maryland

As one of your newest neighbors, we would like to take a moment of your time to introduce ourselves. The Clipper Windpower Criterion Project is a carefully planned wind energy facility that will benefit the region's economy and environment. When complete, the Criterion Project will include up to 67 turbines distributed over an area of approximately 41 acres on Backbone Mountain in Garrett County, Maryland.

Our name may be new to you, but you know our partners well. Several local landowners share our vision for the future of this great community and have agreed to allow us to site our turbines on their land. As we reach out to residents to provide information about the project, we appreciate the support we continue to receive. We look forward to sharing more information about our project with all of you in the weeks and months ahead.

Criterion will be one of the largest projects ever constructed in Garrett County and will create as many as 175 construction jobs and 6-8 permanent operation positions. It will generate an estimated $3.75 million in construction phase work for local companies and serve as a consistent source of tax revenue — at least $500,000 in local property taxes — for many years to come.

The project will help the Western Maryland region meet expected future power demands with a safe, clean, renewable, reliable, domestic source of power. Once we are fully operational, the Criterion project will provide enough energy to serve 35,000 households in the Mid-Atlantic region annually.

For more information please see our website at www.marylandwind.com. If you have a specific question or concern, feel free to contact me directly at 301-263-0028, or Krackstraw@clipperwind.com. We welcome the opportunity to speak with you and look forward to working with you to bring clean energy to Western Maryland.

Sincerly,

Kevin Rackstraw

Heartburn Relief the Natural Way

WASHINGTON — Research indicates that a new type of chewable tablet containing an extract of deglychrizzed licorice (DGL) may actually strengthen the body's reaction to acid naturally. Medical experts say that GI problems are not the result of excess acid, but the body's inability to deal with it. This chewable tablet is available over the counter and is called Cidaban DGL™.

Cidaban DGL not only works on stomach acid immediately but also addresses the underlying causes of digestive problems. Studies appearing in a British medical journal have shown that DGL works effectively like Zantac®, Tagamet® and/or antacids without all the side effects.

The problem with antacids is that they actually disrupt or interfere with normal digestions. Cidaban DGL is a natural alternative to antacids or acid blockers and is available at pharmacies and nutrition stores without a prescription or call 1-800-729-8446.

Diabetes Mgmt. Topic Of Class In Friendsville

JENNIFER THORN

Friendsville area residents are reminded that a three-part series of classes on the topic of managing diabetes through nutrition and healthy cooking are scheduled for the third Tuesdays of January, February, and March at the Friendsville Senior Center.

The free classes, to be taught by Jennifer Thorn, registered dietitian with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, will begin at 2 p.m. on Tuesdays, Jan. 21, Feb. 18, and March 18. They will include detailed diabetic meal planning techniques, including the diabetic exchanges and carbohydrate counting, and techniques for dining out, using artificial sweeteners, and understanding food labels.

Persons may reserve a space in the class and/or obtain more information by telephoning 301-334-6960.

Dinner Slated To Benefit Meals On Wheels Program

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging will sponsor a fund-raising dinner tomorrow, Friday, Jan. 10, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center, located at 125 Durst Court (off Pennsylvania Avenue.)

Proceeds from the event will benefit the county's Meals on Wheels Program, which delivers hot meals to homebound Garrett Countians.

The menu will include a choice of ham or oven-fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, coleslaw, roll, and beverage. The cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12, and desserts will be available for an additional charge.

The Area Agency on Aging has slated fund-raising dinners for the second Friday of each month. Monthly menus for upcoming dinners include: February – all-you-can-eat salad and pasta bar with garlic bread and beverage; March – meatloaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, mixed vegetables, coleslaw, roll, and beverage; and April – all-you-can-eat fish and fries with coleslaw, bread, and beverage.

Walk-in diners are welcome, although the agency requests that, if possible, reservations be made 24 hours in advance by calling the Grantsville Senior Center at 301-895-5818. Take-out meals will also be available.

TOWN DONATES – The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department recently received a donation from the town of Grantsville that enabled the department to obtain a new repeater system, as well as an additional $1,000 check for needs throughout the year. This new repeater system better enables the fire department to receive and respond to calls. The fire department also received $500 donations from Hill Top Fruit Market and Della Miller. This year holds special significance for the department as it celebrates its 75th anniversary. Since June 25, 1928, the volunteer organization has been successfully serving the community. Pictured above, town mayor Gerry Beachy stands with Tony Bittinger of the fire department. Below, Linda Carr of Hill Top Fruit Market also poses with Bittinger. Della Miller was unable to be present for a photo.

Small Business Dev. Center Sets Short Courses

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett College will offer several short courses on a variety of topics in coming weeks. For more information or to register, persons may call the center's Sue Smith at 301-387-3080.

A one-session Microsoft Office XP course will meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a one-hour break for lunch, on Thursday, Jan. 16. The course will teach participants how to use the new features and changes that have been implemented to make the XP program more user friendly. Among the topics set for discussion are voice recognition, pop-ups, and new automation.

A one-session course titled "Better Business Planning," slated for 9 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 18, will include breakfast and lunch. A wide spectrum of decisions that business owners must make will be discussed, as well as how to formulate a plan to address those decisions. Among the topics on the course agenda are marketing, bookkeeping, accounting systems, inventory, loans, employees, pricing, insurance, taxes, and deductions.

"Marketing, Advertising, and Increasing Sales," a two-session course, will meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, Jan. 21 and 23. This course will explore how marketing and advertising can create a demand for a business's products and services, how market share can impact and increase sales, and why market share is important to a business's success.

A one-session Advanced Word "crash course" is set for 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 23, with a one hour break for lunch. The course agenda covers electronic word processing and the basic elements of the Word program, with in-depth discussion of Mail-Merge, pictures, and tables. Working knowledge of basic Word is required for this class.

Accident Elementary School

The second graders will visit Hickory this Friday, Jan. 10.

The next PTA meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 14, in the school cafeteria, beginning at 7 p.m.

The fifth grade will be going on a ski trip to the Wisp on Friday, Jan. 17.

North Star 4-H Club

Members of the North Star 4-H Club met at the home of John, Darlene, and Rachel Schmidt on Saturday, to plan for the new 4-H year. The group spent the morning planning programs, activities, and community service events for the year. They then shared a soup and sandwich lunch. Afterwards, they worked on record books.

Those in attendance were Annamay, Robert, and Gerald Broadwater; Christina House; Kara, Deane, and Nancy Savage; the Schmidts; Kevin, Bonnie, and George Haenftling; Anita, Tessa, and Chyanne Gardner; Brett Stanton; and Brittany Gank.

Flowery Vale Fitness Center

Beginning Saturday, Jan. 11, and continuing for four consecutive Saturday afternoons at 1 p.m. a program titled "Learning to Love Exercise and Your Body Again" will be offered at the Flowery Vale Fitness Center. Elaine Kackley, exercise fitness trainer, will instruct the course. Jan. 11 will begin with a motivational lecture and lead to participant commitments to exercise.

This exercise course is one of nine learning opportunities for adults and is offered by the Center for Life-long Learning at Garrett College. For more information, persons may call 301-387-3069.

Free Pap Test Screening Clinics Slated By GCHD

The Garrett County Health Department will be offering free Pap test screening clinics in Oakland on Jan. 24, and in Grantsville on Feb. 5.

According to the American Cancer Society all women who are or have been sexually active, or women over the age of 18 should have a Pap test every year. After three normal tests (within three years), the Pap test may be performed less frequently, as directed by a medical provider.

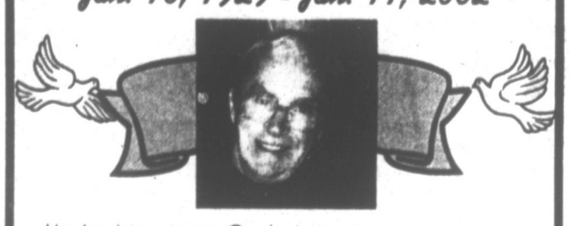
Persons may call 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111 for an appointment, or talk to a medical provider.

In Loving Memory Of
DELMAS WRIGHT MARTIN
Jan. 11, 1953 - Feb. 17, 1989
On His 50th Birthday!

Softly the leaves of memory fall,
Gently we gather and treasure them all.
Those we love don't go away,
But walk beside us everyday,
Unseen, unheard, but always near,
Still loved, still missed, still very dear.

Always loved and sadly missed by:
Sue, Jill, Cricket, Dewey, Jessica & Matthew

In Loving Memory of
John W. Wisor
Jan. 10, 1929 - Jan. 11, 2002



Under his wings, O what precious enjoyment!
There I will hide till life's trials are o'er;
Sheltered, protected, no evil can harm me,
Resting in Jesus I'm safe evermore.

You are so deeply missed.

With much love,

Local Homeless Pets Showcased On Internet Site

Homeless pets in the area have a better chance of finding a home since the Garrett County Humane Society Rescue League, Oakland, joined Petfinder.com, a searchable database that showcases their pets worldwide via the Web.

The rescue league has its own home page on the Web site, and each of its pets has its own page which features a description and usually a photo. They can be viewed at petfinder.com/shelters/MD122.html.

Potential adopters can also search by type of pet, breed, size, age, and gender. Pets that match the search criteria are ranked in proximity to the visitor's ZIP code.

"We are gratified by the changes Petfinder has made in the way pets are rehomed," said Betsy Saul, president and co-founder of Petfinder.com. "They no longer have to wait for someone to happen in the door. People can find them from miles and miles away."

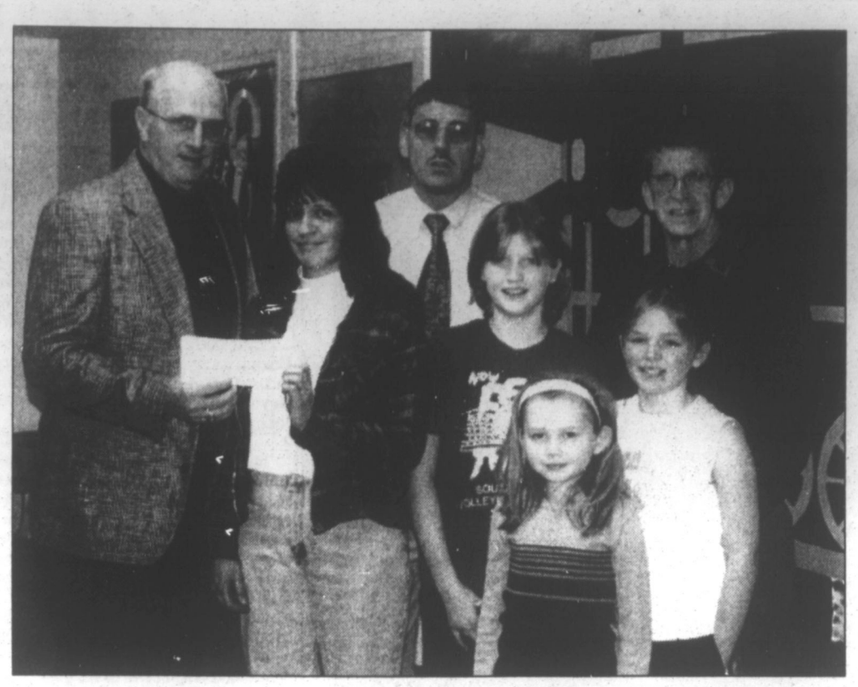
According to Petfinder.com, the company receives hundreds of stories monthly from people who have traveled many miles to adopt the "perfect" pet they first saw from the comfort of their own homes.

"For many people, doing their initial search for a pet online relieves the stress of visiting a shelter," Saul said, "and a more informed choice can be made."

Each adoption is handled by the animal welfare organization which houses the homeless animal. Petfinder.com facilitated more than half a million adoptions last year, according to the company.

Petfinder.com represents about 4,500 shelters and rescue groups nationwide and in Canada, and is free to potential adopters and to its members. This is made possible by sponsors such as Purina, Bissel Homecare Inc., PETCO, Frontline®, and Heartgard®.

The Petfinder.com site also features an extensive library of pet-related materials, kept current by the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA), a Petfinder.com partner.



TEST DRIVES LEAD TO DONATION – Lonaconing Motors Inc. in Lonaconing recently helped raise $430 for Bloomington School with its minivan "Drive for the Kids" program. The fund-raising event was held in conjunction with the school's fall carnival, sponsored by Bloomington School's PTA. The Chrysler Division of DaimlerChrysler donated $50 toward expenses involved in hosting the event and $5 for each demonstration drive completed with an evaluation form. A Chrysler Town & Country minivan, a PT Cruiser, and a Jeep Grand Cherokee were provided for parents and friends to test drive and evaluate. Lonaconing Motors supplied the vehicles, and volunteers from the local dealership were on hand to assist in this fund-raising activity. "'Drive for the Kids' is a mutually beneficial program," said Everett A. Spiker, president of Lonaconing Motors. "We enjoy helping the school. Parents are genuinely interested in testing new Chrysler vehicles. Everyone has a good time, and we are able to provide additional dollars to schools in our area." Through its "World of Work" program, hundreds of Chrysler employees also volunteer time and skill to tutor and mentor students in plant communities. "Across the country, Chrysler Division has a special interest in education and has committed financial and human resources in support of educational grants and programs," said Bloomington School principal James Morris. "In addition to Drive for the Kids school fund-raisers, the corporation has spent millions of dollars in support of education initiatives including award-winning reading and child safety programs." Pictured above, left to right, in the front row is Brooke McClintock, grade 3. In the second row are Spiker; Barb Davis, Bloomington School's PTA president; Alex Barnard, grade 7; and Christin Feaster, grade 4. In the third row are Morris and Donald Magruder, Bloomington School's secretary and media assistant.

GCSO Releases Annual Statistics For Previous Year

Garrett County sheriff Dick Sanders Jr. recently released the agency's annual statistics for 2002. A total of 17,562 control numbers were assigned for a variety of different functions requiring officer action throughout the year.

These statistics were: 167 arrests for driving under the influence, 505 motor vehicle accidents requiring deputy response, 50 hit and run motor vehicle accidents, 607 traffic complaints, 284 thefts, 72 controlled dangerous substance complaints resulting in 48 arrests, 85 domestics, 41 domestic assaults, 195 destruction of property incidents, 346 disturbance complaints, 1,144 traffic citations issued, 3,950 court papers served, 971 patrol checks, 390 alarms, 68 missing persons, 270 assisting other agencies, and 1,209 adults arrested by deputies.

In the Garrett County Detention Center, 1,129 people were incarcerated, 1,125 were released, and the average daily inmate population was 60.

Disaster Action Team Mtg. Set

The American Red Cross Western Potomac Chapter will hold its Disaster Action Team (DAT) meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 6 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the downstairs classroom of the chapter headquarters office located along 400 Cumberland Street, Cumberland.

All DAT members from Allegany, Mineral, and Garrett counties are invited to attend.

Any questions regarding the DAT meeting may be directed to Leona Phillips, Emergency Services Director, at 301-722-1760 or 1-800-361-9481, ext. 302.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge #192, Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 14, in regular session at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, located at Liberty and First streets. All members and Master Masons are invited to attend. Installation of officers and routine business will be conducted. There will be an installation dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Store Appoints New Manager

The Sheetz gasoline station and convenience store chain recently named Diane Stott to the position of manager of its Oakland store. The Lonaconing resident has worked for the company for eight years, most recently as an assistant manager in Frostburg.

"We are delighted to welcome Diane to the management team," said Sheetz regional director Dave Woodley. "Her enthusiasm and experience in the industry have made her the best candidate for the job. She brings significant skills in marketing and business management."

The Oakland store employs a staff of approximately 20 associates.

4-H Club News

NORTH GLADE
By Samantha Gibson

The North Glade 4-H Club held its December meeting prior to its Christmas party at Smiley's Pizzeria. Debbie Friend called the meeting to order and discussed old business of record books and re-enrollment forms. Members then enjoyed a pizza party, Lazer Tag and other games, and exchanged "secret Santa" gifts.

The next meeting is set for 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 16, in Mtn. Lake Park at the building located between Stompers Shoe Store and Tressler's Auto Electric. Pizza and drinks will be provided by Debbie Friend. Members are asked to take note of a reminder that speeches will be delivered at the February meeting, and each member is responsible for presenting one demonstration on each project undertaken.

A parent volunteer training session is slated for 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 17, at the Extension Office, with Ann Sherrard facilitating the session. Persons desiring more information may call Julie McClosky at 301-387-2990.

State Park Programs

In the dictionary the word "success" is listed as a noun. However, is it possible that true success can be viewed as an ongoing journey, perhaps more aptly a verb? If so, what is the route and where do we find our direction? What about the detours? Through trial and error...mostly error...it is found that if you continue to follow the route numbers you are given, the detours won't deter you from reaching your destination. Don't take another road because you doubt your direction; you will get lost every time.

We read in Proverbs 3:5-6, "Trust in the Lord with all our heart, and do not rely on your own insight. In all ways acknowledge Him, and He will make straight your paths." Your faith in God will increase your strength and your confidence. It will give you the courage to continually challenge yourself on the road to success. How far will you go in life? Begin by worshipping at your local church or synagogue this week, for you will go as far as your faith will take you.

Echinacea May Ward Off Infection

Echinacea is an extract of the common coneflower. The herb was used by American Indians for a variety of health purposes and was used in mainstream medicine in the U.S. from the 1880s until the 1930s when sulfonamide antimicrobial agents became available. There is evidence that some flower species may stimulate the body's immune system, helping it to ward off infections or speed recovery from infections.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

EVERYONE NEEDS A 'BETHANY"

January 12, 2003

Background Scripture:
Luke 10:38-42; John 11:20-32.
Devotional Reading:
John 15:12-17.

In one of my former parishes there was a warm and receptive home where I received as much or more help than I gave there. It was not that there weren't many other homes in my parish that were 'warm' and 'receptive,' but this one was for me a special place. In a sense, it was my 'Bethany.'

Mary, Martha and Lazarus are mentioned only in two of the gospels. Luke 10:38-42 tells us of an incident during which Jesus was received in the home of Mary and Martha. It is in John 11:20-32 that we learn that they live in Bethany, a small town just two miles outside Jerusalem, and John adds a brother, Lazarus. Obviously, their home was a very special place for Jesus and they were friends as well as followers. But that doesn't mean they were perfect. In Luke we see a clash of temperaments that are probably quite familiar to most of us. We all know someone like Martha who becomes so involved in her hospitality that she misses the opportunity to learn more from the Master.

Also, like many people who want to do "something for us" resentment may creep: "Lord, do you not care that my sister has left me to serve alone?" (Lk. 10:39), a rebuke of her sister, but is also a muted one to Jesus, for he was keeping Mary from doing her share of the work! But Jesus replies with deep understanding of Martha (and us!): "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things; one thing is needful. Mary has chosen the good portion..." (10:41).

Feeding Our Own Egos

When Jesus says, "one thing is needful," he is probably not saying that Martha's preparations are not worthwhile, but that she is overdoing it. A simple meal would be more appropriate. While he appreciates her efforts, he knows that she may also be unconsciously feeding her own ego. Look at what I'm doing, Jesus, and I'm not even getting any help from my lazy sister! So are we, like Martha, also "distracted from much serving.", so "anxious and troubled about many things" that we miss out in our relationships with spouses, children and others? We need a balance between sheer business for Christ and quiet receptivity of Christ, for John assures us that Jesus loved both Mary and Martha (Jn. 11:5).

If we can identify with Luke 10, I think we can also find ourselves in John 11. When Lazarus becomes seriously ill, Martha and Mary send word to Jesus, "Lord, he whom you love is ill" (11:3). But, after assuring us that he loved this family, John tells us: "So, when he had heard that he was ill, he stayed two days longer in the place that he was" (11:6). Questioned by his disciples at this unconscionable delay, Jesus implies that a greater purpose is to be served than if he would leave for Bethany immediately.

If You Had Come....!

By the time he arrives there, Lazarus has already been in the tomb four days. Martha greets Jesus with an exclamation of both faith and reproach. "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died. (11:21). Yes, I have faith in you Jesus, but why didn't you come? Can you not hear your own voice speaking those words: Yes, Lord, I know this will all be resolved in the kingdom of heaven, but I wanted help now!

When Martha replies, her assurance is not in the knowledge of what Jesus will do, but in what he is—"Yes, Lord; I believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God..." (11:28). She trusts Jesus even though she does not understand why he has seemed to fail them. She doesn't realize that during those two days he was responding to her prayer. In all likelihood, he was praying, for, standing at the tomb of Lazarus, although he

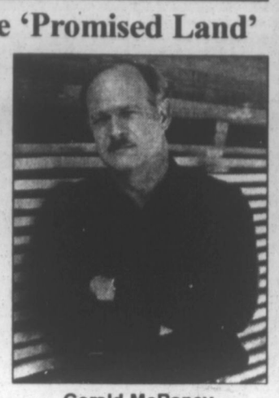
McRaney finds the 'Promised Land'

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it



Gerald McRaney

Q: Please help me remember the name of an actor and a lovely family show he used to appear on. He played a father with a family in a camper, I believe. I saw him on a "JAG" episode recently. I believe he married Delta Burke from "Designing Women." –Opal M. Wade in Freeport, Ill.

A: Actor Gerald McRaney starred as recently laid-off factory worker Russell Greene in the wholesome 1996-99 CBS drama series "Promised Land," a spinoff of "Touched By an Angel." Russell began a cross-country trailer trip with his family at the behest of angels Tess and Monica, who urged him to redefine what it meant to be a good neighbor and recapture the American dream.

Q: On a recent "Ed," the character Mark, the teenager who is grossly overweight, agreed to have gastric bypass surgery. Is the actor portraying him actually going to undergo the procedure? –Joy Baird, Montrose, Colo.

A: He already has, and you can expect to see quite a transformation in Mark Vanacore and his off-screen alter ego, Michael Genadry, the 24-year-old native of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., who plays him.

"Michael had the surgery in September, and since then he has lost more than 100 pounds," reports Joanna Giddon, NBC's publicist on the critically acclaimed Wednesday series.

Q: Can you please tell us who the surgeon was who operated on Niles in a November episode of "Frasier," as well as what series he used to be in? –Cathy Murphy, Columbus, Ohio.

A: "Frasier" viewers got two Nileses for the price of one in that Nov. 19 episode, which guest-starred Daniel Davis as Dr. Shafer. Fans of "The Nanny" will remember Davis for his hilarious performance on that CBS sitcom as the mischievous butler, Niles.

Q: Is the guy who does the voice of "Garfield" the cat the same guy who did the voice of Carlton the doorman on "Rhoda"? –Karen Lish, Layton, Utah.

A: Yes, the colorful Lorenzo Music, who died of cancer in 2001, was a man of many talents. He provided voices for many other characters in addition to the two you mention, and was a highly regarded writer and/or producer on such shows as "Rhoda," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "The Bob Newhart Show." He and his wife, Henrietta, also co-wrote the theme song to the Newhart sitcom mentioned above.

Q: Was Rob Lowe on "Northern Exposure"? –Shirley G. Lind, Long Beach, Calif.

A: "Northern Exposure" starred Rob Morrow as Dr. Joel Fleischman, but Lowe never appeared on the series.

IN FOCUS

Willie Nelson sings with Toby Keith on "The 30th Annual American Music Awards" on ABC Monday, Jan. 13.

The show that celebrates a huge variety of music opens with Sir Elton John singing "Tiny Dancer" with Tim McGraw.

Shania Twain, who has the No. 1 album in the country, Christina Aguilera and Kelly Osbourne are among the performers. Osbourne, joins her family as hosts of this year's awards. Presenters include Paula Abdul, Pat Boone and Justin Timberlake.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Michigan once had a law on the books that stated that married couples must live together or be imprisoned.

• Comedian Red Skelton, author James A. Michener, singer Merle Haggard and entrepreneur Winthrop Rockefeller have something in common besides being well-known names in America: They were all once hobos.

• The Empire State Building has 1,860 stairs, and someone once climbed all of them in a record time of 10 minutes and 15 seconds.

• Grimm's fairy tales are well-known throughout the world, but some are more well-known than others. You've probably never heard of some of the famous brothers' less popular tales, such as "The Girl Without Hands," "The Three Army Surgeons," "The Death of the Little Hen," "Hans My Hedgehog" and "The Story of the Youth Who Went Forth to Learn How to Shudder."

• It's still not known who made the observation: "What makes folly so impossible is that no amount of improvement perfects it."

• Many environmentally conscious people recycle these days, but it's not a new idea. The Japanese began recycling paper way back in 1035.

• The Virginia Code of 1930 contains a statute prohibiting bribery or corrupt practices by any person other than a political candidate.

• If lumped together, six full-grown elephants would weigh about 60,000 pounds. That is also the approximate weight of the food you will consume over the course of your lifetime, if average.

• The name of the popular breakfast food the bagel comes from the word "beugel," which means "stirrup."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 18, 1778, the English explorer Captain James Cook becomes the first European to sight the Hawaiian Islands when he sails past the island of Oahu. Two days later, he landed at Waimea on the island of Kauai and named the island group the Sandwich Islands, in honor of John Montague, the earl of Sandwich and one of his patrons.

• On Jan. 15, 1831, Victor Hugo finishes writing "Notre Dame de Paris," also know as "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." He completed the novel in only four months.

• On Jan. 13, 1962, Chubby Checker's hit "The Twist" becomes the first song to reach the No. 1 spot twice in two years. "The Twist" had hit the top of the charts in September 1960. The song was on the Top 100 charts for 39 weeks, longer than any other single except "Red Red Wine" by UB40.

• On Jan. 17, 1977, Gary Gilmore, convicted in the double murder of an elderly couple, is shot to death by a volunteer firing squad in Utah, becoming the first person to be executed in the United States since the death penalty was reinstated in 1976. Gilmore's last words were, "Let's do it."

• On Jan. 14, 1980, after being released from government control, the price of gold posted its most staggering increase, soaring to more than $800 an ounce.

• On Jan. 19, 1983, Klaus Barbie, the Nazi Gestapo chief of Lyons, France, during the German occupation, is arrested in Bolivia for his crimes against humanity four decades earlier.

• On Jan. 16, 1991, the Gulf War begins when fighter aircraft are launched from Saudi Arabia and off U.S. and British aircraft carriers in the Persian Gulf on bombing missions over Iraq.

Steiff Bears

Q. I recently purchased a Steiff stuffed bear at a garage sale. Can you tell me if bears of this type have any value and where I might sell it? — Nellie, Shelby, Ohio

A. Margaret Steiff started a small toy company in Germany in 1880 that quickly became famous throughout the world for its fine-quality stuffed animals and dolls. The company's first products were wool-felt elephants. In 1903, the jointed mohair teddy bear was introduced, and within five years more than 970,000 units were produced. The bear's-head label became the symbol for the firm and, according to the 34th edition of "Warman's Antiques and Collectibles" edited by Ellen T. Schroy, it was at about the same time that the famous "Button in the Ear" round, metal trademark was used to identify its products.

Steiff bears are still being marketed and are quite collectible. A quick check of eBay found several Steiff bears from the 1950s and '60s in the $500 range. As with most collectibles, values depend on several factors including rarity, condition and desirability.

There are several reference books about collectible bears. One of my favorites is "Teddy Bears and Steiff Animals" by Margaret Fox Mandel (Collector Books, $19.95). In addition to the history of early bears, the book is fully illustrated and offers tips on where to find bears and how to determine values.

To find out the value of your bear, you should contact an expert. Ann Miller is a member of the International Society of Appraisers and is knowledgeable about Steiff bears. Her address is Bright-Miller Appraisals, 19750 S.W. Peavine Mountain Rd, McMinnville, OR 97128. You should expect to pay for this service.

Paw's corner

Cold-Weather Concern

Q. My neighbors routinely walk their Great Dane along the icy sidewalk without placing any protection on his paws or even putting a doggy blanket around him. Isn't exposure to such elements dangerous to a dog's health? What can I do to get these people to take care of their pet? — Holly H., Hartford, Conn.

A. While your concern for the dog next door is admirable, take comfort in the fact that large dogs, like Great Danes, handle cold weather much better than smaller dogs. Unless the dog is shivering or seems uncomfortable being outside, a fitted blanket or doggy sweater isn't necessary.

Bare paws on an icy sidewalk can pose a problem, however. A sharp piece of ice can cut his pads or the sensitive tissue between them, and sand or salt can cause irritation. On especially frigid days, frostbite might be an issue as well.

Your neighbors may not be irresponsible. Some pets just don't like wearing protective booties and will make every effort to remove them. In this case, all the owner can do is check the dog's paws after each walk for injuries and wash away sand and salt.

Confronting the neighbors about this isn't the best way to address your concerns. It could damage your relationship with them, and the dog won't be helped at all. However, if you happen to meet them and their dog on the sidewalk, ask how he's doing in the icy conditions. Many owners are happy to tell you about their pet, and a casual conversation will settle any fears you have. By all means, don't lecture these folks on caring for his paws — chances are, they know already.

Income Tax Filing Season Begins; Most Can E-File Free Of Charge

The Internal Revenue Service says Maryland taxpayers will find new Web site features, expanded free e-filing options, and more helpful services as the IRS launches the 2003 filing season. Taxpayers will also see reduced tax rates, more deductions, and fewer forms to file.

This week, more than 38 million tax packages — over 725,000 in Maryland — and 25 million electronic-filing brochures — or over 477,000 in Maryland — will begin arriving in people's mailboxes nationwide. Nationwide, the IRS estimates about 132 million individual tax returns will be filed this year. The mailing of tax packages has traditionally kicked off the filing season, but millions of taxpayers each year abandon paper returns in favor of going electronic. IRS expects about 2.8 million individual returns from Maryland taxpayers.

The 2003 filing season provides taxpayers with more ways to help with their taxes online at www.irs.gov. Key changes being introduced for this year include:

•Taxpayers can check on the status of their refund by visiting the "Where's My Refund" section on irs.gov.

•For the first time, more than 60 percent of all taxpayers will be able to prepare and electronically file tax returns for free on the Internet. The IRS Free File program, offered through private-sector partners, will be available beginning in mid-January through its irs.gov Web site.

"The IRS makes history this year with new electronic services for taxpayers. We want to make it easier than ever for taxpayers to get help, and the IRS Web site does just that," said Jim Dupree, IRS spokesman for Maryland. "People can use the Web site to answer many of their tax questions. They can use irs.gov to find options for free e-filing programs. And, taxpayers can use the Web site to determine whether their refund checks are on the way."

The irs.gov Web site is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The 2002 Instructions for Form 1040, which many area taxpayers will receive in the mail this week, contains a partial listing of helpful publications that can be viewed online or ordered by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM. The IRS Web site also contains plain-language explanations for many tax issues under "Tax Topics" and "Frequently Asked Questions." Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," also is a plain-language guide for individuals and can be viewed online.

"The irs.gov already is one of the busiest Web sites in the world. We urge taxpayers to give it a try this year. They will find it helpful and easy to use," Dupree said. "We're trying to provide taxpayers with as many options as possible to get help when they need it. With irs.gov help is just a click away."

Another new IRS Web site feature is "Where's My Refund?" which will be highlighted on the home page. Taxpayers can easily check the status of their refunds by using a little information found on their tax return:

•Taxpayer's name (listed first on a joint return);

•Social Security number (listed first on a joint return);

•Filing status (single, head of household, married filing jointly, married filing separately);

•Refund amount on return.

With just a little information, taxpayers can use irs.gov to track their refund status. "Where's My Refund?" also can tell taxpayers if the IRS has received their tax return. It can let them know if there is a problem and how to resolve the problem. For those who do not use direct deposit, the "Where's My Refund?" feature also can tell taxpayers if the IRS was unable to deliver their check through the mail.

"Taxpayers instantly can answer the question that most concerns them: Where's my refund?" Dupree said. "This feature will tell taxpayers if the check is on its way; it will tell them when the check was deposited or mailed; and, it will also tell them if a mistake is being corrected."

In addition to "Where's My Refund?" on irs.gov, there is also a new toll-free refund hotline at 1-800-829-1954. Taxpayers will need the same information as for the Web site to find out the status of their checks.

In another landmark step, an agreement between the IRS and a consortium of participating tax-software companies means more than 60 percent of Americans will be eligible for free electronic filing. More information on who will qualify for Free File will be announced later this month. The program, which will also be featured on the front page of irs.gov, promises new avenues to easy electronic filing for millions of Americans.

The American Customer Satisfaction Index survey of electronic filers found a satisfaction score of 78 out of 100, which is a better score than many private companies receive and one of the highest in the federal government.

Last year, a record 47 million tax returns were filed through IRS e-file. In Maryland, over 897,000 of the 2.8 million returns filed were e-filed. Electronically filed returns, combined with direct deposit, may mean refunds within 10 days. Paper filed returns can mean refunds take up to six weeks.

Other 2002 tax year highlights for taxpayers include the following:

•Reduced tax rates. Most tax rates have decreased by ½ percent, and a new 10 percent tax rate applies to all filers.

•Form 1040, Schedule B. Most taxpayers won't have to file a separate Schedule B unless either their interest or dividend income exceeds $1,500. This change means 15 million taxpayers will have one fewer form to fill out. Previously, taxpayers had to complete a Schedule B if they had more than $400 in either taxable interest or dividends.

•Tax credit for teachers. Educators may deduct up to $250 in out-of-pocket expenses they paid for classroom supplies.

•Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC). More working families may qualify for the EITC as a new law excludes nontaxable income such as retirement contributions, dependent care offered by companies and supplemental military pay for housing or combat.

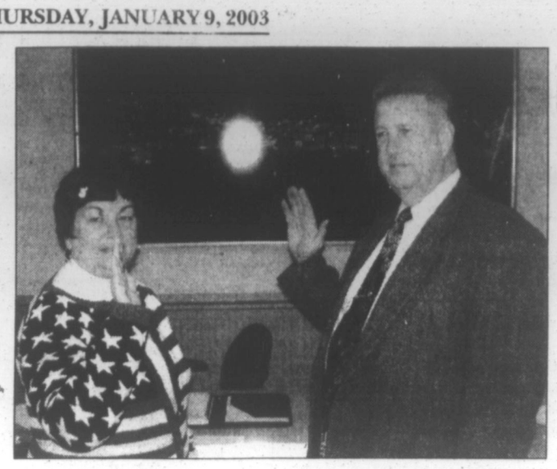
•Deduction for tuition and fees. Taxpayers may be able to deduct up to $3,000 of qualified higher-education tuition paid in 2002 for themselves, their spouses, or dependents.

•Retirement Savings Credit. Taxpayers who meet certain income guidelines may be able to take a credit up to $1,000 for qualified retirement savings contributions.

In addition, the personal and dependent exemptions increased to $3,000 each. For those taxpayers who do not itemize, the standard deduction increases to $4,700 for single, $6,900 for head of household, and $7,850 for married filing jointly. Also, the maximum Individual Retirement Accounts contribution increased to $3,000 for the 2002 tax year ($3,500 for taxpayers 50 and over in 2002).

The IRS also is introducing some new toll-free telephone numbers this year to expand customer services to individuals and businesses.

Small businesses, corporations, partnerships, and trusts that need help or information related to business returns can call 1-800-829-4933. Individuals needing tax help can call 1-800-829-1040 to speak to a customer service representative or arrange for a face-to-face visit by calling one of the eight taxpayer assistance centers located in Maryland. Individuals can call 1-800-829-4477 to hear prerecorded tax information. Individuals, businesses, and tax professionals can call 1-800-829-3676 to order forms, instructions, and publications.



STEPPING IN – Mary Lou Stemple was recently sworn in by Oakland mayor Asa McCain as the new town councilperson. Stemple is filling the vacancy left by the election of Dave Beard to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

Why does using salt on icy paths help?

Pure water freezes at 0° C = 32° F. However, whenever water contains something else, the freezing temperature drops (and, incidentally, the temperature of boiling rises). A lot of substances, like sugar or milk, make only a very small change in the freezing point, unless you put in an awful lot of it.

However, there are some chemical molecules whose component atoms break apart when dissolved in water in such a way that one atom takes along an extra electron, and the other atom goes off with one electron missing. These are called ions, and such chemicals are termed ionic compounds. When a chemical that can form ions is put into water, the drop in freezing point is appreciable, even for small amounts. Ordinary table salt (sodium chloride, NaCl) works just fine, but rock salt (calcium chloride, $CaC12$) is a whole lot cheaper.

For demonstration purposes, you can make "salt water ice cubes" and notice that it will take longer for your refrigerator to harden them, compared to normal tap water ice cubes. But if you want to coat an entire sidewalk, rock salt is the way to go.

If the temperature is only a little below 32° F, salt can melt all the ice, turning it into water. But if it's very cold out, the best you can hope for is to break up the ice, in the following way: The individual grains of salt that fall on any point form an extremely concentrated solution of salt water in the immediate vicinity of each grain. Effectively, that "burns" a hole all the way through the ice, down to the cement below. If you come by with a shovel an hour later, you'll find it much easier to shovel up the ice, which by now is full of little holes, and crumbles easily.

Some municipalities use rock salt to melt ice on their roads. The only trouble is that the ionic solution is partially hydrochloric acid (HCl), which is harmful to both steel and pavement. If there are any pits or nicks in the paint on a car (or the chrome on a bumper), that acid will start to eat away the steel. To avoid damage, you'd have to take your car to a carwash with an "under-body" spray wash every now and then.

The paving material can only be washed off by Mother Nature. At every tiny crack, the salt solution creeps in and does damage, making the crack a little bigger, and allowing more water to enter the crack. Eventually that leads to repeated freezing and thawing deep within the cracks (usually in late winter), and that causes pavement to break up. To avoid this, some cities have switched to using calcium magnesium acetate, a more expensive form of salt, but one which forms only the mild acetic acid instead of the harmful hydrochloric acid.

The homeowner who sprinkles rock salt on the sidewalk is not at serious risk of causing damage. However, if a lot of salty melted ice gets tracked into the house on shoes or boots, damage to the carpet could gradually occur.

A Very Special Thanks!

This year we lost a very dear friend, Joe Healy, to cancer. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. We would like to thank everyone who helped and participated in the fundraising activities that took place to help Joe out.

A special thanks goes to:
The Committee and Staff of the Deer Park VFW, especially Mary for being so helpful. The girls from Oakland Elks Lodge #2481, Shellie, Genny, Laura, Dee, and Judy. Cathy Lohr and Lohr Distributing for all their contributions and support. And, to all the friends who were there to show their support and love for Joe.

THANK YOU!!!

Sincerely and Gratefully Yours,
Jeff Kurilla, Joe Healy, Jr., Pamela Hinkle, and Wyatt Hinkle...

Charter Revision Resolution 2002-1

A Resolution of the Mayor and Town Council of Accident, pursuant to the authority in Article XIE of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and Section 13 of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1957 edition as amended, to repeal the present Charter of the Town of Accident and to replace it with the revised Chapter to be known hereforth as the Charter of the Town of Accident, Garrett County, Maryland, December 2002 Edition.

Be it resolved by the Mayor and Town Council of Accident, that the present Charter of the Town of Accident be repealed and replaced entirely with this January 2003 Edition, a true copy of which will be posted at the Accident Town Hall for a period of forty (40) days following this enactment.

A fair summary of the major changes proposed, in addition to removing gender specific language and revising semantics, syntax, and grammar follows:

1) Corporate Boundaries. Legal description of the corporate boundaries is eliminated and notation is made that the exact corporate boundaries are on file at all times with the Clerk of Circuit Court for Garrett County and the town office.

2) Section 1-4: amended to state the newly elected officers will be sworn into office at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Council following the election.

3) Section 1-7: amended to state the Town Meetings will be held at a time and date as determined by the Council and that the Council has the right to close meetings to the public in accordance with the state law.

4) Section 1-13: added to state how a Mayor or any Council member may be removed from office.

5) Section 1-15: states the town ordinances will be available for public inspection during normal business hours.

6) Section 1-17: revised to state the general powers of the Council.

7) Section 1-19: revised to state the Council has the power to decide if a violation of an Ordinance or the Charter shall be a misdemeanor or a municipal infraction and may afix penalties.

8) Section 1-21: revised to state the power of the Clerk-Treasurer and the Council concerning the town elections.

9) Section 1-23: states any voter, who is a registered voter in Garrett County, is qualified to vote in the town's elections; the town shall maintain a supplemental registration list of voters who wish not to vote in the County's election; and a person must be registered to vote at least thirty days before an election.

10) Section 1-26: states the Mayor and two Councilmembers are elected odd numbered years and two Councilmembers are elected on even numbered years.

11) Section 1-33: states tile Clerk-Treasurer is to be hired through an application process with the final approval by the Mayor and Town Council.

12) Section 1-38: states the budget will be adopted by resolution.

13) Section 1-40: states the Council may make supplemental appropriations if revenue is in excess of the budget; the Council may make emergency appropriations if there is an emergency affecting life, health, property or public peace; any transfer of funds must be approved by the Council; and any of the above appropriations must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the entire Council.

14) Section 1-43: states in the absence of either the Clerk-Treasurer or the Mayor, a member of the Council, with prior approval of a majority of the Council, may countersign checks.

15) Section 1-47: states that property taxes are due and payable as stated in the tax-property article of the Annotated Code of Maryland; all taxes not paid and in arrears one year after their due date and payable shall be collected as stated in Section 1-48.

16) Section 1-52: states the town has the power to obtain obligation bonds and revenue bonds.

17) Section 1-54: changed the dollar amount for which a project requires a wrtiten contract.

18) Section 1-62: changed the name of Maryland State Roads Commission to Maryland State Highway Administration.

19) Section 1-67: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

20) Section 1-69: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

21) Section 1-72: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

22) Section 1-75: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

23) Section 1-79: eliminated the complete section on the procedure for special assessments.

24) Section 1-81: eliminated the phrase "Article 33A of the Annotated Code of the Public General Laws of Maryland (1957 Edition, as amended) title "Eminent Domain"" and replaced it with the words "State Law."

25) Section 1-87: rewrote how violations of ordinances should be handled.

26) Section 1-88: discusses Municipal Infractions.

27) Section 1-92: eliminated this section altogether.

The Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Accident hereby gives public notice of the adoption of this Charter Revision and to publish a fair summary of the changes proposed by this Revision to be published in a local newspaper of general circulation in the Town not less than four (4) times, at weekly intervals, within a period of at least forty (40) days following the enactment of this Resolution.

If a proper petition for a referendum has not been received within forty (40) day timeframe, this charter Revision shall become and be considered the Charter of the Town of Accident in all respects to be effective and observed as such upon the 1st day of March 2003.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption from tax sale on the following properties in Garrett County, Maryland, sold by Patty L. Glover, Collector of taxes for the State of Maryland and the County of Garrett to Plaintiffs Patrick Kelly and Melissa Kelly. The parcels of land are described as follows:

All that parcel of land assessed to JoAnne E. Lell, situate in Election District 18, containing 0.46 acre, more or less, and described in deed from JoAnne E. Lell, Attorney-in-Fact dated October 21, 1983, and recorded on October 31, 1987, in Liber 441, folio 208, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint stated among other things that the amount necessary for redemption has not been paid. The sale was on May 10, 2002, and more than six (6) months have passed since the date.

It is thereupon this 3rd day of January 2003, that the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland:

ORDERED, that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in one newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, on or about the 24th day of January 2003, warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court by the 4th day of March 2003, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint or thereafter the final judgment will be entered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff to said property in fee simple, title free of all liens and encumbrances.

Dore, Mark S. Devan, Michael T. Pate and Jennifer Matthews Herring as Substituted Trustees under the Deed of Trust aforesaid, The Provident Bank being the current holder of the Note (s) secured thereby, and default having occurred under the terms thereof, the undersigned Substituted Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Courthouse door, Alder Street entrance, Oakland, Maryland, on Tuesday, January 14, 2003, at 2:30 PM.

All that lot of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, State of Maryland, and described as follows:

BEGINNING for the same at a stake standing South 57 degrees 710 feet from an existing iron pipe, which said pipe is also in the southern margin of the old Morgantown County Road, at a point, which is 595.89 feet from an existing corner of the larger tract of which this is a part, and at the northwest corner of Lot No. 1 as described in a deed from Thomas G. Davis Jr., et ux, to David C. Humberson, et ux, and which was executed in a deed from the said Thomas G. Davis Jr., et ux, to Marline R. Lawson (et ux, dated August 8,] 972, and recorded in Liber No. 327, folio 392, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and running thence with the western boundary of said lot, South 33 degrees East 264 feet to a stake, thence South 57 degrees West 165 feet to a stake, thence North 33 degrees West 264 feet to a stake in a fence line and with it, North 57 degrees East 165 feet to the place of beginning, containing one acre, more or less.

The improvements thereon consist of a dwelling.

The property will be sold in "As is" condition, subject to any existing building violations, etc. and also subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any. Neither the trustees nor their respective agents, successors or assigns make any representation or warranties, either expressed or implied with respect to the property including without limitation, description, use, recorded or unrecorded leases or other occupancy agreements, if any, operating and management agreements, physical conditions or to the environmental conditions of the subject property.

A Statement of Mortgage Debt has been filed in the foreclosure case in the approximate amount of $55,000.00.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Cash or certified check deposit in the amount of $8,500.00 will be required of the purchaser (other than the above-named Holder) at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, immediately within thirty (30) days of the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, time being of the essence, and to bear interest at the rate of 12.85% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. In the event the above-named Holder purchases the property at the sale as the high bidder thereat, no deposit will be required and the requirement of interest on the balance of the purchase price shall be waived. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of the interest. If the purchaser defaults, in addition to all other remedies including but not limited to attorney fees, the Substituted Trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorney fees and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. Taxes, water rent and ground rent, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall have the responsibility of obtaining possession of the property. In the event the Substituted Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit.

OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
31 SHERMAN HARE RD.
GRANTSVILLE, MD 21536

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Jeffrey D. Liller and Darla F. Liller, dated May 26, 1999, and recorded in Liber 775, Folio 79 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Courthouse Door, Oakland, on JANUARY 16, 2003, AT 2:30 P.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $5,000 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property may be resold at the purchaser's risk and expense. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $500 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. In the event the sale is not ratified for any reason, the purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit. Additional terms, if any, to be announced at sale. Purchaser agrees to pay $245.00 at settlement, to the Seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents.

TRUSTEES' SALE

Trustee's Sale of valuable fee simple property improved by premises known as 30 BAKER ROAD, GRANTSVILLE, MD 21536. By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from CAROLYN LOUISE WILEY, dated March 11, 1999, and recorded in Liber 768 at Page 0470 among the land records of the COUNTY OF GARRETT, in the original principal amount of $49,600.00 with an interest rate of 7.250% . Upon default and request for sale, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the front of the Courthouse for the COUNTY OF GARRETT, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on January 24, 2003, at 3:42 p.m., all that property described in said Deed of Trust as follows:

ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND LYING AND BEING ON THE NORTHERLY SIDE OF RT 495 LEADING FROM GRANTSVILLE TO JENNINGS IN GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, DESCRIBED BY METES AND BOUNDS BY DEED RECORDED IN LIBER 480, FOLIO 727, CONTAINING 1.13 ACRES, MORE OR LESS, EXCEPTING AN OUT CONVEYANCE OF 0.45 OF AN ACRE BY DEED RECORDED IN LIBER 661, FOLIO 140. PARCEL TAX ID #03-019896.

Said property is in fee simple and is improved by a dwelling and is sold in "as is" condition and subject to all superior covenants, conditions, liens, restrictions, easement, rights-of-way, as may affect same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $4,900.00 cash or certified fund shall be required at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price with interest at 7.250% per annum from the date of sale to the date of payment will be paid within TEN DAYS after the final ratification of the sale. Adjustments on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by purchaser. If applicable, condominium and/or homeowner association dues and assessments that may become due after the time of sale will be the responsibility of the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, transfer taxes, title insurance, and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. Time is of the essence for the purchaser, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at risk and costs of the defaulting purchaser. If the sale is not ratified or if the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title, the purchaser's only remedy is return of the deposit. Trustee's File No. 02-76193P. LOAN TYPE = CONV.

How To Buy An Outdoor Furnace
1. Read the warranty. Will the dealer give you a copy to look at? Know what you're buying.
2. Look in a new furnace, not a used one. See what you're buying. Is it designed well to save on wood and coal?
3. How many years has the furnace been manufactured?
4. 20 year warranty? What does it cover?
5. Shop the internet for furnaces and warranties. If warranty isn't listed, they don't want you to know. Look Out!

Maryland Receives Mixed Grades For Tobacco Prevention Efforts

In the first American Lung Association State of Tobacco Control (SOTC) report, which analyzes state tobacco control laws, Maryland scored one A, two B's, and one F. The ALA SOTC report evaluates how well each state fares in enacting strong tobacco control laws to protect the health of its citizens, and highlights the current efforts of each state in four areas: Tobacco Prevention and Control Spending; Smokefree Air; Cigarette Tax; and Youth Access.

Maryland received an A in the area of Tobacco Prevention and Control Spending because its level of funding is higher than the minimum amount recommended by the Centers for Disease Control. The two B's were received in the areas of Smokefree Air, for continued efforts to provide smoke-free environments in public areas, and in Cigarette Tax, since Maryland is one of the top 11 states in the country to have a $1 or more per-pack tax. In the area of Youth Access to tobacco products, Maryland received an F for its weak and often unenforced youth access laws.

The A and B grades given to Maryland reflect the beginning of a process to dramatically reduce the tragedy and economic burden caused by tobacco use in this state, according to the ALA. "These are very good first steps we have taken," said Delegate Barbara Frush. "However, as long as one child becomes addicted to cigarettes and one person dies from tobacco-related illness, we haven't accomplished enough. We must continue our efforts to move forward in eliminating the tragedy of tobacco use."

Cautioning that patience is necessary when it comes to seeing results, Anne Marie O'Keefe, Ph.D., J.D., chair of the American Lung Association of Maryland's Advocacy Committee, cites California, which began its aggressive tobacco control programs in the early 1990s, and is just now beginning to reap the rewards. For the first time, recent figures show a reduction in California's lung cancer rates by 16 percent, attributable to the aggressive tobacco prevention campaign over the last decade. Massachusetts' efforts have shown a decline in the number of women who smoke during pregnancy, resulting in a reduction of $40 million in health care costs in five years.

The American Lung Association of Maryland reports that it applauds the efforts and leadership of the Maryland legislature over the past few years, but strongly urges it to continue its support of effective tobacco prevention policies and to increase its efforts to provide smokefree environments for all Maryland workers. Protection from secondhand smoke is particularly critical in the restaurant and bar industry, where workers are exposed to secondhand smoke on a daily basis. "Despite the fact that the toxins in secondhand smoke are listed as potential cancer causing agents by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), there is no active protection for much of the hospitality industry's workers. These workers are entitled to work in a smokefree environment, as are the rest of the state's workers," said O'Keefe.

The ALA says tobacco use remains the leading cause of preventable death and disease, and secondhand smoke exposure the third leading cause of preventable death and disease. Each year, smoking costs the state of Maryland more than $3 billion in smoking-related illness and lost productivity, "a figure that is almost twice the state's current budget deficit," Frush noted.

"The funding for Maryland's tobacco prevention programs should not be threatened by the state's budget deficit," Frush said. "In fact, our commitment to reducing tobacco use is not only sound public health policy that saves lives but also sound economic policy that saves money. If we continue our efforts to reduce tobacco use in our state, we will see an improvement in both the health of our citizens and the health of our budget."

Medical Coding Offerings Slated By Garrett Coll.

Several courses in medical coding, a process developed as a universal language for the medical profession, will be offered by Garrett College through Grantsville Outreach Center this coming spring semester. Each of the courses described in this article will meet from 6 to 9:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays according to their specific course beginning and end dates.

Medical Terminology is a 30-clock hour course slated to run from January 21 through February 20. Students will learn how to communicate, write, and interpret medical terms, and organize medical terms on the basis of roots, prefixes, suffixes and derivates. The study of body systems is also included.

Medical Coding Specialist, a 45-clock hour offering, will meet from March 4 to April 22. This course provides a basic introduction to ICD and CPT-4 coding. Topics include current procedural terminology (CPT) overview, review of conventions used in ICD, and fundamental coding guidelines. By the course's end, students will be familiar with medical coding principles and practices

Medical Coding Specialist, Advanced, is a 45-clock hour class scheduled for May 1 to June 19. This course is designed to enhance Level 1 coding skills in order for students to be effective medical coders in a medical office setting. Participants will learn additional information about CPT, ICD, and HCPC codes. The course will prepare students to take the national exam for the medical coding profession.

Persons interested in additional information about these courses, or who wish to register, may contact coordinator Terry Beachy at 301-895-3368.

Flue Fire Leads To Destruction Of Finzel House

A flue fire erupted twice at a house in the Finzel area yesterday, and the second blaze caused the complete destruction of the two-story wood-frame structure.

Volunteers from the Eastern Garrett, Frostburg, Grantsville, and Shaft fire departments were first called to the house, located at 3250 Finzel Road, at 4:07 a.m. to extinguish the first eruption. The house was occupied by Callianna Duncan and two unidentified occupants.

"The fire was on the outside wall near the flue, and we extinguished it," stated Randy Baker, second assistant chief of the Eastern Garrett VFD.

Firefighters remained on the scene for over an hour, and efforts were hampered by snow, wind, and low temperatures.

Fire personnel were called back to the scene at 9:49 a.m., and this time discovered fire coming through the roof. Approximately 30 volunteers responded, and additional assistance was received from the Clarysville, Midland, and Salisbury VFDs.

The blaze destroyed the house and all contents; however, the occupants escaped uninjured. Jamie Rodeheaver, deputy state fire marshal who is investigating the incident, estimated the loss to be $60,000.

Also responding to the scene was Frostburg Area Ambulance.

FINZEL HOUSE DESTROYED — A two-story house located along Finzel Road and all its contents were destroyed by fire yesterday. Volunteers from several area fire departments had responded to the residence of Callianna Duncan about six hours earlier to extinguish a flue fire that had spread into an exterior wall. In responding to the second alarm, firefighters found flames had broken through the roof of the wood-frame house. The loss was estimated to be $60,000. See story for details. Photo by Jeremy Carr.

Blaze Destroys Mobile Home Near McHenry

A fire believed to have been caused by faulty electrical wiring destroyed a mobile home in the McHenry area last Thursday afternoon.

Volunteers from the Deep Creek, Accident, Bittinger, Friendsville, and Grantsville fire departments were summoned to 1970 Mosser Road at 1:15 p.m. after the fire was reported by a neighbor. The 12-by-70-foot structure, owned by Emma Shaffer and used primarily on weekends, was unoccupied at the time.

According to Allen Gosnell, deputy chief state fire marshal, the fire was a result of an electrical wiring failure in the bathroom. The blaze was brought under control in about 15 minutes; however, the mobile home was declared a total loss, estimated to be $60,000.

Also responding to the scene was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Seven Residents Arrested On Drug Charges Monday

Seven Garrett County residents were recently arrested on drug charges after a search and seizure warrant was issued on a residence located along Glendale Road, according to the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Phillip Reams, 22, Oakland, was arrested and charged with possession with intent to distribute mariuana, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Those arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia were Herbert Paugh, 34, Oakland; Lisa Thomas, 35, Oakland; Geoffrey Reams, 20, Oakland; Caitlin Moriarity, 19, Mtn. Lake Park; Jonathan Moriarity, 21, Mtn. Lake Park; and Michael Likar, 25, Oakland.

Task force investigators were assisted by uniform members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Maryland State Police, McHenry.

Phillip Reams posted $2,500 bond, Thomas posted $500 bond, and Jonathan Moriarity posted $1,000 bond, according to a jail spokesperson.

Paugh, Geoffrey Reams, Caitlin Moriarity, and Likar were all released on their own recognizance by a district court commissioner.

Ehrlich Inaugurates Republican Era In Maryland State House

by Tom Lobianco
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Maryland Wednesday inaugurated its first Republican governor in more than three decades and its first statewide elected black official, then buckled up for the next four years of what is likely to be a rough fiscal road.

Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. and Lt. Gov. Michael Steele took their oaths in the Senate chamber before moving outside, to repeat them publicly on the State House steps.

Ehrlich loosely followed his scripted speech, but conspicuously left out a complimentary reference to former Gov. Parris N. Glendening included in printed copies of the speech. The transcript of the speech on the governor's Web site also left out a reference to Glendening.

"The reason was because governor Glendening didn't attend the ceremony," said Shareese DeLeaver, Ehrlich's spokeswoman. "When we learned last night, we amended the speech."

Ehrlich thanked three other former governors who attended the inauguration.

Ehrlich set five priorities for the state: increase public safety, improve education, restructure state spending, better social services, and empower faith-based organizations.

The state budget crisis tops that list, with the release of his budget plan Friday. The state faces a $1.2 billion deficit in the next fiscal year, and one of Ehrlich's key fixes, revenue from legalized slot machines, faces a difficult course in the Democratic General Assembly.

"With regard to the budget, we're going to ask government to do what thousands of Maryland families do every day: live within its means," Ehrlich said. "We should not be fearful of change, of reform, of better ideas, particularly where taxpayer dollars are concerned."

In a congratulatory letter to Ehrlich, President George W. Bush mirrored some of the governor's concerns.

"My administration looks forward to working with you," read Ken Mehlman, Bush's deputy assistant, who attended on the president's behalf. Mehlman highlighted key issues, including homeland defense, education, and greater opportunity for Americans.

Ehrlich also thanked his wife Kendel, son Drew, and parents Bob Sr. and Nancy

Local Special Ed. Program Receives Praise

The special education program in the Garrett County public schools received positive comments in the recent Comprehensive Analysis of Special Education Programs in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington county public schools by MGT of America, according to Jennifer Kotulak, supervisor of special education.

The Garrett County schools were commended for appropriately staffing schools to meet the needs of the special education students; having no written complaints or due process proceedings in the past five years and for maintaining positive relations with school-based special education staff; successfully serving over 99% of the special education students within the public school system, assembling a Special Education Advisory Committee; making substantial progress on its Special Education Monitoring for Continuous

Oakland Man Gets Three Years For Possession

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced an Oakland man last week to three years in the Department of Corrections for a conviction of possession with intent to distribute. Donald Noel Smith, 23, was also fined $2,000.

Smith was charged by Garrett County narcotics Task Force officers in October 2001 when two pounds of marijuana were found in his truck after he was stopped along I-68 for a speeding violation.

Smith's 1995 Chevrolet pickup truck was seized and forfeited because it was used to transport the marijuana. State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch said the marijuana had a street value of approximately $6,000.

A co-defendant, Danny Thomas Gaither, had previously pleaded guilty and had been sentenced to serve 18 months in the Garrett County Jail, with an additional 18 months suspended.

Revisions Made To 2003 School Year Calendar

Two days have been placed back on the Garrett County school year to deal with some of the school days missed due to the ice storms and snow, according to the Garrett County Board of Education.

Jan. 31 and Feb. 17, President's Day, will become full days of instruction.

The parent/teacher conferences will be scheduled as follows: one evening session during the week of Jan. 27-31 and one evening session during the week of Feb. 3-7.

Schools will recognize the contributions of Presidents Washington and Lincoln during the day on Feb. 17 with appropriate instructional and related activities, according to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

So far, students have missed seven days with five make-up days currently built into the school calendar. With the approval of these two revisions, this will eliminate adding two days to the calendar in June, said Teets.

These revisions were unanimously approved by the board at monthly meeting this week.

MSPAP Phased Out, New Test To Be Given

The new Maryland School Assessments (MSA) will replace the MSPAP test this March in all Maryland schools, since that test does not meet the federal requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB).

The MSA will comprise multiple-choice and constructed-response test items, produce individual student results, and be aligned with the Maryland Content Standards.

The High School Assessments (HSA) have been under development for more than a decade, and are a series of end-of-course exams that are given to students as they complete high school-level courses in English I, algebra/data analysis, geometry, biology, and government. Individual test scores will be sent home to parents in the near future.

"By looking at school and system-level data in the High School Assessments, educators and parents have another tool to use while working to improve student and school academic success," said Nancy S. Grasmick, state school superintendent. "These tests have been supported by many local school system, business,

Western Marylanders To Mingle With Lawmakers At Annual PACE Reception

Western Marylanders will have the opportunity to meet with lawmakers again this year at the annual PACE (Positive Attitudes Change Everything) legislative reception and breakfast in Annapolis. The event is slated for Friday and Saturday, Jan. 23 and 24, at the Loews Annapolis Hotel.

Gov. Robert Ehrlich is scheduled to make an appearance at the reception on Thursday evening, according to reports, and a special guest of the Friday morning breakfast will be Lt. Gov. Michael Steele, who is slated to speak at the event.

The purpose of the get-together, which has been held for over 20 years, is to foster relationships between those who make the laws in Annapolis and those who live and work in the westernmost part of the state. In addition to the new administration's leaders, several other newly elected officials are to be in attendance. Not quite half of those elected this year are new to the job, and organizers hope the reception will offer opportunities for introductions and "putting faces to names."

The important legislative issues in western Maryland will be on the list of discussion topics, with all in attendance afforded the opportunity to be involved in the talks. All individuals are invited to attend the two-day event, which traditionally attracts area politicians, business leaders, and citizens in general. All three commissioners from Garrett County are scheduled to make the trip, as well as the county administrator.

The cost is $95 per person. Tickets, which will be available through Wednesday, Jan. 22, may be obtained by calling the Allegany County Office of Economic Development at 301-777-5967.

Electricians Ask Officials To Form Electrical Board

Five representatives of the Garrett County Electrical Mechanical Association asked the county commissioners this week to establish an electricians' board to oversee the trade in the county.

"Our intent is not to take away anyone's livelihood," said Rob Heilig, "but to raise the standards of our trade." The members were also concerned about the safety of residents who hire unskilled, unlicensed electricians to wire their homes.

The representatives proposed that all electricians working in the county would have to take a test for either a restricted license or full master electrician license to ensure they were competent. The electrical board would then issue those licenses, help educate electricians, and give consumers a place to voice their complaints or concerns.

Garrett is one of only two counties in the state that do not have some type of electrical board, according to Heilig.

"All we are asking is that you uphold the law," he said, which requires that electricians be licensed by the state. Heilig noted, however, that the main purpose

Planetarium Classroom Dedication Ceremony Slated For This Evening

The dedication and ribbon cutting of the planetarium classroom will be held tonight, Thursday, at 6 p.m. at the Hickory Environmental Education Center, located at 604 Pride Parkway in Accident.

Involved in the ribbon cutting will be Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent; Joseph Winters, coordinator of the center; James Hart, planetarium resource teacher; Berrica Friend, second grader at Friendsville Elementary School; Matthew Scheffel, third grader at Broad Ford Elementary School; and Charlotte Sebold, president of the Garrett County Board of Education.

The dedication will be followed by a program by Hart titled "What's Up at Hickory."

Refreshments will be served in the Nature Hall following the program.

Donations for this new classroom were given by R. Sines Lumber Company and Wood Products Inc.

BMGM Architects designed the classroom, and the general contractor was Harbel Inc.

THREE SWORN IN – Three Garrett County Board of Education members were recently sworn into a new term of office by David Martin, clerk of the circuit court, on the far right. They are, from the left, Rodney Durst, Camilla Rawe, and Madeleine Collins. They were re-elected in November and rejoin James Raley and Charlotte Sebold on the board.

A COMMON ACTIVITY among Garrett County residents these days is the clearing of snow out of driveways and off sidewalks, as pictured here along I Street in Mountain Lake Park. Despite relentless winter weather, citizens of the mountaintop manage to get on with their lives in a fashion far different from the rest of the state. Life does indeed go on in the face of extreme cold, which doesn't show signs of leaving anytime soon. The forecast on the Garrett College weather page (www2.gcnet.net/weatherview/) predicts only more of the same: snow, snow, and more snow, and, of course, "continued cold."

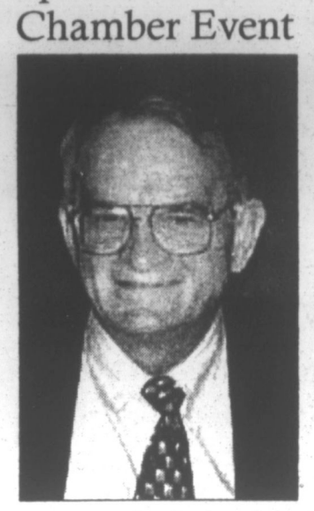
Dr. Barbe To Speak At GC Chamber Event



Dr. David Barbe, director of the Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute, will be among the guest speakers at the upcoming Garrett County Chamber of Commerce conference. The event, titled "Our Story," will be held Friday, Jan. 31, at Garrett College.

"We are truly honored that Dr. Barbe has agreed to speak at our conference," said chamber president Charlie Ross. "I am sure that all who attend will benefit from his presentation."

Among other distinctions, Barbe was awarded the rank of fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) in 1978 for pioneering research in microelectronics. He was national lecturer for the IEEE Electron Devices Society in 1987, was a member of the IEEE awards board for six years, and has served on various program committees for IEEE microelectronics conferences.

Barbe has published and presented more than 100 technical papers and edited several books on semiconductor devices and microelectronics. He received a Department of Defense Award in 1979 for outstanding service and an Integrated Circuit Pioneer Award in 1987. He has been listed in Who's Who in America since 1978.

Barbe earned his Ph.D. degree in 1969 from the Johns Hopkins University in electrical engineering after receiving B.S.E.E. and M.S.E.E. degrees in electrical engineering from West Virginia University in 1962 and 1964, respectively. He joined the University of Maryland in 1985 as professor of electrical and computer engineering.

As executive director of the Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute (MTECH) since 1987, Barbe oversees six programs that foster engineering entrepreneurship. Prior to assuming this role, he directed the Submarine and Anti-Submarine Warfare (ASW) programs and was assistant for electronics and physical sciences in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research, Engineering, and Systems.

Additionally, Barbe served as head of the Microelectronics Branch of the Naval Research Laboratory and fellow engineer at the Westinghouse Advanced Technology Laboratory in Baltimore.

For more information about the conference or to make reservations to attend, persons may call the chamber at 301-387-4386 or 301-245-4400.

Registration Still Open For Garrett Evening Courses

A number of general education evening courses at Garrett College during spring semester are still open for enrollment. Spring semester classes begin Tuesday, Jan. 21. Some of these courses have specific prerequisites, while others require acceptable levels of reading and writing skills.

Diversity, Bipartisanship Praised By Legislators After Ehrlich Speech

by Justin Palk and CNS Staff
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Legislators extolled the historic significance of Lt. Gov. Michael Steele's swearing-in and praised the bipartisan tone of Gov. Robert Ehrlich's inaugural address Wednesday afternoon.

In his speech, Ehrlich pledged to have the state government, which is facing a $1.7 billion budget shortfall, "live within its means."

The symbolism of Maryland inaugurating Steele, the first African-American elected to statewide office, on the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday was not lost on lawmakers.

"It's a great day. It almost became a bit overwhelming," said Delegate Barry Glassman, R-Harford. "Being a part of that history is a great feeling. "

Those sentiments were echoed by Delegate Talmadge Branch, D-Baltimore.

"[It's] a fabulous time to see an African-American lieutenant governor finally becoming a partner of the state," he said.

Republican and Democratic lawmakers alike said they felt a sense of enthusiasm and excitement in the crowd, and they're hoping to cooperate with the new administration.

"I think these people here today are largely people who are supportive of Ehrlich, and I think that is appropriate," said Delegate Elizabeth Bobo, D-Howard. "I'm hopeful that I will have something in common with [Ehrlich)]."

Delegate Nancy R. Stocksdale, R-Carroll, said she "just got positive vibes" listening to the inauguration speakers.

Ehrlich's decision to choose a diverse group of people to represent him — Democrats, Republicans, people of different races and religions — was noteworthy, she said.

"Bobby (Ehrlich) and I joined the Assembly at the same time 17 years ago and I enjoyed working with him and hope to begin where we left off," said Delegate John Wood, D-St. Mary's.

However, some Democrats were upset about Ehrlich's failure to mention outgoing Gov. Parris N. Glendening in his speech, an oversight his spokeswoman explained by saying the former governor was not in the audience and so was omitted.

"It was sad they didn't make an effort to recognize significant accomplishments over the past eight years," said Delegate Richard S. Madaleno Jr., D-Montgomery.

Bipartisanship will be necessary to fix the budget, said lawmakers from both parties, although delegates are waiting to see specifics, and some predict battles between the parties are likely later in the term.

"For me, it's about balancing the budget," said Branch. "Party lines don't balance a budget, public leaders do."

"No rhetoric or talk will substitute for what the budget says," said Delegate Brian Feldman, D-Montgomery. "The budget will be a formal map of the governor's priorities and where he plans to take the state."

Ehrlich listed five priorities in his speech: balancing the budget, improving public education, beefing up public safety, empowering faith-based organizations and assisting Maryland's least fortunate citizens. How he will meet those priorities will be contained in his budget, expected to be released Friday.

Budget fights are likely going to take a back seat to constructive work on policy matters, predicted Delegate Kenneth Schisler, R-Talbot.

"It's not going to be what you'd call a honeymoon, but an era of cooperation over the policy initiatives," he said.

Some delegates also welcomed Ehrlich's call to make government "live within its means."

"[That was] a clear statement that we're not going to be raising taxes," said Schisler. "We have a structural deficit. There have to be cuts in government."

New Directory Published By G.Co. Chamber

Copies of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce 2003 Community Profile & Membership Directory arrived last Friday at the Visitors Center in McHenry. "Hot off the press," the 198-page volume presents information on chamber members and a summary of Garrett County life, both past and present, according to a chamber spokesperson.

In addition to outlining local history, geography, and economic data, the publication provides current information on municipal and county government, education, recreation, and community resources, complete with photos and artwork.

"This publication condenses an encyclopedia of information, including county census numbers and projections, tax and wage rates, names and contact information for state and local elected officials, and much more," said chamber president and CEO Charlie Ross.

The directory lists chamber member businesses by professional category, as well as alphabetically. A supplementary alphabetical directory identifies the principal contact at each business.

"This is more than a phone directory. It notes mailing addresses, fax numbers, and e-mail addresses. We believe that these detailed listings serve our members well because they provide several methods of contacting a business," Ross said.

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce 2003 Community Profile & Membership Directory is available at the Visitors Center. For more information, persons may call 301-387-4386 or 301-245-4400.

LaVale Man Charged After Police Pursuit

A LaVale man faces numerous charges after Garrett County sheriff's deputies followed his vehicle in a high speed pursuit Thursday afternoon.

Deputies were working a moving radar along Maryland Highway near Mt. Zion Road when they observed a red Ford Mustang traveling at 72 mph in a 50 mph zone, police said. When the deputies activated their emergency lights, the Mustang accelerated. The pursuit continued onto Chestnut Grove Road, where the Mustang started to fishtail due to the speed and road conditions.

The pursuit continued for approximately 1/4 mile until a traffic stop was eventually made. The driver supplied the deputy with a false name. After fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Clarksburg, W.Va., it was determined that the driver was Ben Richard Metheny, 23.

Metheny was charged with fleeing and eluding a police vehicle, giving a false and fictitious name to police, driving on a suspended license, two speeding violations, reckless driving, negligent driving, failure to drive right of center, and turning the vehicle without giving adequate signal.

Metheny is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on $2,500 bond.

Pilot Program Set To Assist GC Businesses

Garrett County Department of Economic Development announced this week that a pilot program has been launched in western Maryland to help retain existing businesses. Department staff members met with the Garrett County commissioners this week to review the details of the program.

The main focus of the program will be visits to and interviews with companies by Economic Development staff members and the commissioners. The county has had an informal business visitation policy for a number of years, said Economic Development director Jim Hinebaugh, but with this new program, officials will be able to track business trends and better identify problems and issues.

Business owners will be interviewed during the visitations, and the information collected will be entered into a data base.

"It's a formal, sit-down interview," said information technology coordinator Frank Shap, which will last at least an hour and consist of 70 questions.

The questions were compiled by the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland, which co-sponsored the program with the Maryland Department of Economic Development (DBED). The council is a regional, private, non-profit, planning, and development organization. In addition to Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties are also members. Allegany and Washington will also be collecting business data. The three counties can then share their data, which could further help business retention in western Maryland.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg said the data would supply actual facts about how to help businesses, which was only supposed before.

County businesses appreciate the commissioners meeting with them, said Hinebaugh. "I was struck by how flattered businesses were that the commissioners visited them," he said. "A visitation says 'thank you' for contributing to the county and how can we help you?"

Commissioner Fred Holliday asked if only large businesses would be visited in the new program.

"Consultants say to go to the 'top businesses,' but our approach is different," said development specialist Peggy Jamison, who will be in charge of the data base.

The companies will be separated into such categories as construction, timber, coal, printers, service, information technology, real estate, and new, she said.

"There is not a limitation on the size of a company," said Hinebaugh. "We're looking for a cross section of different types."

Meetings have been set in the next few weeks with several companies, including Hobby House Press and Rain & Snow in Grantsville.

"We can't see everyone this year," said Jamison, "but we've included everything from big businesses to small."

She said statistics on business retention indicates that up to 80 percent of job growth is generated from existing businesses.

"It is easier and cheaper to retain businesses than attract new ones," she added. Each year, there are 15,000 economic development organizations in the country all trying to get fewer than 200 businesses to expand in their areas, Jamison added.

The pilot retention program in western Maryland is based on a project created DBED. In response to an economic downturn following the events of Sept. 11, 2001, and the national recession, DBED Secretary David Iannucci determined the need for face-to-face visits with companies in the state.

The secretary and his executive staff, in coordination with local economic development directors, met with more than 140 employers.

Workforce, environmental regulations, procurement, insurance costs, and taxes were some of the issues identified by the businesses during the secretary's visits, according to Tori Leonard of DBED.

"Data gathered can help local economic development officials better understand their business communities, identify companies that are doing well and those that may be at risk, and direct resource appropriately," said Iannucci in a press release about his business retention campaign. "As [the western Maryland] program develops, it will be evaluated for statewide implementation."

Md. State Police Respond To Two Car Crashes

Maryland State Police, McHenry Barrack, responded to two car crashes this week that resulted in minor injuries and charges against two drivers.

An accident occurred on Monday at about 8:30 a.m. when Hearley E. McCoy, 32, Littleton, W.Va., operating a 1994 Geo Prism northbound on Chestnut Ridge Road, attempted to turn left into Fuel City. He apparently turned in front of a 1995 Subaru Impreza, being driven by Melvin Beitzel, 51, Salisbury, Pa.

Tammy L. Blocher, 19, also of Salisbury, was leaving the parking lot at the time and was struck by McCoy's vehicle, which had been knocked into her car by Beitzel's vehicle. A passenger in McCoy's vehicle, Jason Derby, 29, Reader, W.Va., was possibly injured, the report stated, but refused medical treatment.

McCoy was charged by police for failure to yield to oncoming traffic and driving with a revoked license, according to the report.

Another wreck occurred on Tuesday at approximately 5:35 p.m. Blair A. Folk, 59, Grantsville, was operating a 1992 Chevrolet Lumina minivan westbound on Rock Lodge Road, east of Accident-Bittinger Road. Eric C. Martin, 32, was driving a 2000 Ford Ranger in the same direction directly behind Folk. Folk slowed to turn right into a driveway, and Martin's vehicle reportedly struck the rear of the minivan.

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad transported Folk to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for injuries and released. Martin was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision, according to the report.

The Bittinger fire department also responded to the scene.

HOUSE OF HOPE COLLECTION A BIG SUCCESS – The Christmastime collection for the House of Hope resulted in donations totaling over $2,000 in cash and a large pickup truck load of food items for the Oakland-based charity. The project drew the efforts of a number of volunteers, some of whom are shown here. From the left, in the first row, are Laura Collins, Georgia Cheshire, Pamela Collins, Samantha Collins, and Amanda Collins. (Yes, the Collins girls are sisters.) In the second row are Roger Uber, an unidentified volunteer, Milford Beckman, Chuck Nolan, and Jim Tichnell.

USDA Has Home Ownership, Home Repair Programs

While most people are aware of the United States Department of Agriculture's role in farm and food safety programs, many are not aware that USDA has been financing home mortgages in rural parts of the nation since 1949, according to USDA Rural Development state director Marlene Elliott.

"The mission of USDA Rural Development is to enhance the ability of rural communities and rural residents to improve their quality of life," Elliott said. "With Rural Development's housing programs, we are helping to ensure that rural Maryland residents have access to safe, well-built, affordable homes."

USDA Rural Development has programs that help people buy, build, rent, or repair homes in areas with a population of 10,000 people or less. No down payment is required.

"The home ownership direct loan program is intended for people that cannot afford regular mortgages but can afford to repay a low interest loan on a modest home," said Timothy T. Taylor, Community Development manager. "The interest rate depends on the income and size of the family. Currently, it would be no higher than 6 percent and could be as low as 1 percent, according to eligibility."

In addition to the direct loan program, the agency also administers a home ownership guaranteed loan program that is available to families or individuals who may be able to get a loan from a bank, but may need some extra support to help with down payment and closing costs.

Rural Development's home repair program is also available to very low-income homeowners in rural areas who need repairs to their home but cannot afford regular loans.

"In this area, very low income is defined as about $19,200 (family of one) annually, depending on the number of people in the household and other factors," Taylor said.

The home repair program can help with things such as fixing or replacing a roof, replacing siding, installing insulation, storm windows and doors, replacing a heating system, repairing electrical wiring or plumbing, making a home handicap accessible, and many other improvements that would eliminate health and safety hazards in the home.

Garrett and Allegany County residents interested in Rural Development's housing programs or wanting additional information may call Taylor or Sylvia Guthrie, Community Development technician, at 301-334-6970 or visit www.rurdev.usda.gov. TTY users may call 302-697-4303.

Thanks, Guys...

The sub-freezing temperatures that have gripped the Mountaintop for several weeks now cause one to appreciate warmth, especially when awakened in the middle of the night by howling winds outside, and blowing snow smacking against the bedroom window panes.

But there is often another sound amidst such fury, that generated by a passing snow plow, being operated by a person who is so frequently taken for granted. It's been a pretty tough winter so far on these guys, as there have been almost no breaks in the wintry weather since November. The hours are long, dark, and cold, yet the rest of us can sleep comfortably, knowing that when we emerge from our warm homes to go to work the next morning, in all probability the roads leading to that place of work will be clear of snow. And if they are not clear of snow, it will be a case of just too much snow falling too quickly, or too much wind, and not a case of these road workers not doing their job to the best of their ability.

It is also comforting to know that, if there is an emergency, the appropriate emergency service vehicles can get through, or the plows will be available at a moment's notice to lead the way.

These operators are also known to routinely stop and assist a stranded motorist, by pulling his or her vehicle out of the ditch.

So to the state, county, and municipal roads professionals out there working those long, lonely shifts, we extend our utmost appreciation for making the winter months in Garrett County so much safer and so much easier to endure.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Last Wednesday (January 8) as we all know, started out as a rough morning weather-wise. The snow was blowing across roadways, making visibility extremely limited. Because of these conditions, many Garrett County roads were closed. Despite all of this, the Board of Education found it necessary to send children to school. Because of this decision, the BOE put many lives in danger. There were many traffic accidents that day due to the blowing snow. Thank God none of those accidents were any of the school buses.

I hope that the next time weather conditions are that bad, the BOE will have enough God-given sense to close schools for the day. I also hope that parents stand up for their children's safety and well being by protesting these types of decisions. These are our kids. Let's not jeopardize their lives the same way that the BOE saw fit to do.

Sincerely,
Wendy Jones

To the Editor:

One of Deep Creek Lake's renowned businesses has passed to new ownership. Bill Sisler and brothers Dale and Kenny have operated Bill's Marina on Deep Creek Lake for 40 years or more. Over the years they have provided a valuable service to the community. Their business has contributed to the expansion and economic development of Deep Creek Lake.

Bill Sisler and his family epitomize the work ethic of our county. Bill is a native of the Friendsville area. He came from a family of modest means and decided to stay here in Garrett County by seeking to operate his own business. Through hard work and perseverance he was able to start a business that has incorporated family members and has grown to be one of the most respected businesses on Deep Creek Lake. His operations have expanded to provide valuable services beyond this region into other states.

Bill Sisler in particular, in addition to the valuable service provided at the marina, has contributed in many other ways to the development of the lake community. He has been instrumental in bringing significant changes and improvements to the lake. His contribution to the Deep Creek Lake Advisory Board, the Garrett County Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, the Deep Creek Lake Business Association, and numerous other civic and charitable causes portrays the depth of his commitment to service to his community.

The lake community is saddened by the departure of the Sisler family from one of our most prominent businesses. We have been blessed by their presence in our community. We wish them well in their future endeavors or in retirement. We hope that they are able to enjoy the fruits of their labor over the many years of toil at the marina.

Sincerely yours,
Wendell R. Beitzel

To the Editor:

I would like to thank all of the members of the community who attended the Jan. 7 public hearing on the Clipper Windpower Criterion project. It was wonderful to see so many people participate in the process. I learned a great deal from the presentations and the many individual conversations I had with several Garrett County residents after the formal meeting.

As your coverage of the hearing (Jan. 9, Windpower Meetings Generate Public Discussion, Pro and Con) so aptly pointed out, all of the speakers, while having a wide variety of opinions on the specific project, were united on some very basic themes. First, as you noted in your article, everyone seems agreed on the need for clean energy.

The second, and perhaps more overpowering, theme that I heard throughout the evening is the great love that all of the speakers shared for Garrett County and its way of life. Clipper hopes to be a partner in helping to achieve the community's vision for the future.

With these common views, we should be able to work together to find solutions to challenges as they arise. Clipper is committed to continuing to work with the community. We have heard your concerns and want to continue the dialogue throughout the life of the project.

Our new web site, www.marylandwind.com <http://www.marylandwind.com/>, contains more information on the project as well as a user-friendly way to view all of the application documents. It also allows the public to contact us directly with any further questions or comments.

Clipper looks forward to actively participating in the Garrett County community for years to come. We hope that last week's hearing was just a first step in what will be a very meaningful partnership.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my concerns about the legal system in Garrett County. We have dealt with this system for the past five years, and nothing is as it seems.

First of all, we were in court last May 30 over our visitation rights as grandparents. We were awarded visitation with our granddaughter five years ago, and since then the Supreme Court ruled that there are no longer grandparents' rights. We were advised by counsel that we would probably lose our rights in court, so we agreed to the demands of the mother. In doing so we gave up one day of visitation per week, plus one overnight visit once a month in exchange for one day per month, in the event our son could not exercise his visitation schedule that weekend.

There were various other things we had to agree to, and the opposing attorney was to write up this court order agreement and get our signatures. He wrote up the agreement about two weeks later, but he added things that were not agreed to. So we refused to sign it. Our attorney contacted him and told him he could not do this, so he wrote it up again in October, but again he added the same things, so we again refused to sign.

This means that our previous visitation arrangement is still in effect, according to our attorney and the attorney general, but the opposing attorney denies this and will not allow any visitation. We have had no contact with our granddaughter since Oct. 20, and our son has not been allowed to have his visitations either. We had no Thanksgiving and no Christmas with her.

We did take presents to her home, but as usual no one was there, and we don't try to call first because no one will answer the phone when our number comes up on the caller ID. We left the presents on the deck, but don't know if she received them, or was told that they were from us.

So what now? Back to court? Been there and done that, and nothing has been accomplished but the removal of more money out of our pockets. Why should I have to keep paying for court when we weren't the ones who broke the agreement? I feel that my attorney should have to represent us free of charge and have the party at fault pay him.

Also there should be some form of justice warranted against the other attorney for not preparing the court order in May properly and causing all of this distress. These are lawyer games!

I do have some good news, though. If you feel that you have been "worked over" by an attorney or a judge, there is a place to report this: the Attorney Grievance Commission of Maryland at 1-800-492-1660, and the State of Maryland Commission on Judicial Disabilities at 410-514-7044.

I beg victims to please call these numbers, because we have to stand together in order to bring justice back to our area.

To the Editor:

I read and re-read your January 2 editorial on "A Wordy Resolution" and am a little perplexed about one point, which I'll get to shortly!

I don't have a beginner's degree, much less advanced degrees, in journalism. (I have always wanted to get one or two degrees in English and/or English literature; I've also wished I could go to any of the various Iowa or Johns Hopkins University masters writing programs.) But I know enough to howl over the "it's" and "its" examples, and I agree with you wholeheartedly. Ditto for "lie" and "lying."

Regarding "try and negotiate" and "try to negotiate," you are right. But I take it one step further – negotiate means to try or make an effort to resolve, so in effect it's redundant to "try to negotiate." I always "try" to say it's a [plain] "negotiation" – leaving the "try and" or "try to" on the editor's cutting board. When some say "safe haven" they are redundant, since by definition a haven means a safe place. My feeling is it's ditto for "try to negotiate."

But you "sneaked" one by me, with the statement that "snuck" is not a word! That was a new one on me! And I checked Webster's Collegiate, and Webster's Unabridged, and in both instances it was listed as an acceptable word!

But I suspect I'm not cognizant of all the facts behind your editorial, for I've noticed the increasing use of "sneaked" over "snuck" for the past 18 months or so, almost as if there is a new AP Wire editor's style book which mandates that "sneaked" be used in place of "snuck."

So I'm just writing to say you "sneaked" one by me, and had me digging around to see if "it's" true – whether "snuck" was "sneaked" out of the English language.

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey
Hagerstown

P.S. My personal "Aarrgghh!" moment comes when it is written or said that we just witnessed "an historic" event, given that the h in historic is not a vowel and thus does not need the consonant n on the back of the a to go with it!

Dear Mr. Arey:

I checked two dictionaries we use here at the office, and to my delight, the Oxford American Dictionary (which I use all the time) does not even mention "snuck." The Random House College Dictionary, used by another of our writers, contains the word, but labels it "primarily dialect."

Webster's explanation in the unabridged version (which you supplied) is both sad and amusing. Basically, it says that, because the word is so widely used, it is no longer considered "nonstandard." Maybe we should apply the same logic to "ain't" and "have got." (Sad.)

It also says that "snuck" is used by..."many younger and middle-aged persons of all educational levels..." Maybe that's the catch: I think of myself as middle-aged (50), but maybe I'm really old! (Amusing?)

Thanks for writing.

To the Editor:

Thank you so much for the January 2 editorial. I would have enjoyed seeing a whole page full of examples!

Why did you almost apologize by calling it petty? That was my only disappointment in the article.

Thank you again,

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern/opposition to the possibility of windmills being permitted in Garrett County.

I want to keep my concerns brief so I will break them down as follows: migratory birds, property values, and scenic vistas

Migratory Birds – You probably know by now that Garrett County is full of bird watchers. I am not a bird watcher, but I do know that Garrett County is home to many species of birds. I have recently realized that bird watchers are quite passionate about all types of birds and many have a serious concern with the impact the windmills would have on migratory birds, as well as the ones that live here full time. I know I see many various types of raptors soaring across Backbone Mountain in the Eagle Rock area, and I would be pretty upset to find out that the windmills had made them relocate or perhaps killed them. My point being with respect to birds is that how can we NOT take time to review this project for at least a two-year period to see how this may affect birds. What if these windmills are built and they do kill birds? Then it would be too late to do anything to protect them.

Property Values – The majority of us who buy property would probably agree that one of our single largest investments made is in our home. I am a realtor, and sell property for a living. I have spoken to people who have already inquired about selling their home before the windmills show up for fear of the possible depreciation caused by the windmills. I have also spoken to buyers who have had interest in property where windmills would possibly be located and once that was disclosed to them they wanted nothing to do with that property. People buy property in Garrett County because they are getting something typically very special. Whether it be the lake, riverfront, small town living, or mountain views, Garrett County is special in what it offers. These windmills are 400+/-' tall and stand on the highest point in the state; furthermore, there are approximately 70+/- of them stretching some 12-14 miles. Do you think this will IMPROVE property value? Would you come to Garrett County to buy property so you can look at them or would you rather see the natural vistas of the mountains? Just imagine if you had invested in your dream mountain escape, saving every nickel and dime possible to only be neighbors and/or within sight of 400' tall windmills which may cause your property value to take a nose dive as well as possibly scar your natural scenic vista. This is serious. We invest a lifetime of work into affording the comforts of home. What is surrounding you as well as what you see from your home has a lot to do with appreciation or depreciation of property values.

Scenic Vistas – By permitting the windmills we may ruin one of our greatest natural resources as well as destroy scenic untouched vistas for miles! In "The New Development Plan for Garrett County" there are "Policies for Protecting Viewsheds." It says "To protect these corridors from development that can potentially destroy a scenic view, this plan endorses the County providing guidance on how development can occur while maintaining the integrity of a viewshed." What more needs to be said to address this? This is an incredible mountain and we are getting ready to checker it with structures that will affect the views for MILES! In addition, the New Development Plan for Garrett County further says under "Architecture" to "Minimize

WEAVINGS

The first time Pat phoned me, he caught me off guard. He had the advantage of me, after all, because he knew me through reading this column. I did not know him at all. His voice is distinctive, communicating a quality of urgency. Pat always has something important to say, and he always has another project waiting on him.

Pat and his wife Mary are strong Catholics, active in local parishes and in the larger church. They had discerned, and appreciated, the Christian and even Catholic themes in my writing. Pat had called to express that appreciation and a wish that they could get to know me.

We have gotten to know each other a bit over these past several years though without talking to each other more than once or twice a year and seeing each other only twice altogether, I think, since that first telephone call. In that way our relationship is not so different from those with a few dozen other readers who, over the course of my 19 years as a part-time journalist, have written or phoned to discuss some point or theme in my columns.

The difference in this relationship arises from the fact that Pat has a brother who is a distinguished Catholic philosopher at Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. When I was preparing to apply to graduate school, I phoned Pat, and asked if he could arrange an interview for me with his brother, which he did.

Here is the short of the story: Because of that interview I applied to Catholic University and, even more significantly, to study philosophy rather than theology.

Catholic University accepted me, and gave me a full-tuition scholarship. I have completed successfully my first semester there, as well as having passed the School of Philosophy reading exam in French on the first attempt. As a response to mid-life crisis, I heartily recommend going back to school.

I have been musing over this series of events, and how they are all woven together. My life has been changed because, among other things, I write this column, because someone who read the column took the trouble to contact me, because I responded to that contact, because the reader had a brother who is a philosopher.

There are other readers, not quite as persistent as Pat, to whom I have not responded. I am embarrassed to recall really lovely letters that readers have sent me to which I never managed to write a response. What untold wonders might have taken place in my life had I but written a letter? It is a question to which one never knows the answer.

Also unclear are the infinite other ways that the fabric of life is woven together. One event is contingent upon another, but we do not know how, and even the fact of the connectedness is, most often, hidden from our eyes.

As I have moved increasingly closer to Catholicism over the past 25 years, I have become no less Calvinistic. In fact, what becomes more obvious to me is how Catholic Calvin himself was. The framers of that quintessential 17th century expression of British Calvinism, the Westminster Confession of Faith, believed there to be no great truth which could not be summarized in a sentence. Those sentences are found in the Shorter Catechism. Here is one of my favorite sentences:

"Q. 11. What are God's works of providence?

A. God's works of providence are his most holy, wise, and powerful preserving and governing all his creatures, and all their actions."

The weavings of life, what makes the fabric of life, are not mere happenstance. They are not the result of a chaotic universe, nor of blind, impersonal fate; rather they are the expressions of the providential God who made and saves the universe. That is far easier a creed to confess after a successful first semester in graduate school than, say, after becoming a paraplegic from a car accident.

I hope to have the courage of that faith in calamity as well as in success. It is, however, from the mountaintops that we see the farthest, that we see the path of the journey thus far and the possible paths of the journey still to come. Those occasions of vision, usually brief and infrequent, must be recalled when the road becomes tortuous and sometimes torturous.

Second semester has begun, and I am back to the study of philosophy. My head swirls again in the attempt to take in and order great ideas of the ages. I am carried forward through this new time in my life by an abiding sense of God's sovereignty and providence. When I can neither see nor understand, I am confident that he knows and leads.

FRIDA

Rated R - Running Time: 1:58 - Released 11/8/02

Frida tells the fascinating story of Mexican artist Frida Kahlo, wife of the much more famous Mexican artist Diego Rivera (1886-1957), whose story has not been told much in the U.S., probably because he was an active and vocal member of the Communist Party, an advocate of Socialism in Mexico, an admirer and follower of Vladimir Lenin, and a close friend of Leon Trotsky—not exactly your standard American hero for the 20th century. Although Rivera seems universally considered to have been as much a womanizer and philanderer as a great muralist, he apparently was devoted if not strictly faithful to Frida (his third wife, who, to be fair, engaged in a few extra-marital liaisons of her own, some of them with women), and very respectful of her artwork, which, according to the screenplay, he often claimed was better than his own.

Starring Salma Hayek, who shines in the title role, and Chocolat's Alfred Molina, equally excellent as Rivera, the film recounts the high and low points of her life and their tumultuous marriage—spanning the period between 1922, when she was involved in a devastating trolley accident in which she received injuries to her lower spine and abdomen that would cause lifelong complications, and her death in 1954. During that time we witness their first meeting, when, after spending three weeks in a body cast following the accident, she asked Diego to judge her artwork; their trip to New York together, when he was commissioned by Nelson Rockefeller to paint the famously controversial Man At The Crossroads mural, which was subsequently destroyed because of its prominent portrait of Lenin; Frida's pregnancy and miscarriage of their only child together; and the period during which Trotsky (Geoffrey Rush) was exiled from the Soviet Union by Stalin and stayed (and had a brief extramarital affair) with Frida in 1937; finally culminating with the fulfillment of Frida's lifelong dream of having her works exhibited at a show in her own country of Mexico.

This film is based on the book Frida: A Biography Of Frida Kahlo by Hayden Herrerra, adapted for the screen by Clancy Sigal, Diane Lake, Gregory Nava, and Anna Thomas. Directed by Julie Taymor, who helmed the critically acclaimed Broadway production of The Lion King as well as the 1999 film version of Shakespeare's Titus Andronicus, it is a stylistic masterpiece, using an engaging sense of visual artistry to bring Frida's charismatic and multi-faceted personality to life on the screen. Using a wild combination of live action, animation, and paintings that seem to come alive, Taymor illustrates the subjective nature of Frida's world as well as her quasi-surrealistic art, showing us how things she might have seen in her mind or felt in her broken body were later translated onto her canvas. For instance, we see the experience which may have led to her painting The Broken Column, one of her many self-portraits, which depicts her bare-breasted, wearing her metal truss, with her spine visible as a crumbling marble pillar, with tears streaming down her face and tiny nails or needles piercing her body. This artwork is emotionally resonant already, but seeing Hayek struggling with the truss, the pain, and her conflicting feelings toward her husband, makes it all the more meaningful.

Hayek, who reportedly suffered racist comments from producers in her early career about the likelihood of a Mexican actress being taken seriously in the film world, apparently suffered more than a little pain herself for the production, not only transforming her famously beautiful appearance to the more plain and ethnic look Frida was famous for (including growing a slight moustache and penciling in a dark "monobrow"), but also suffering nerve and ligament damage after being attacked by the capuchin monkey playing her pet in the movie. In addition to Hayek's inspired performance, and that of Molina, there are several impressive turns by such supporting players as Edward Norton (Hayek's real-life significant other), who not only played Rockefeller but helped with the script, Geoffrey Rush as Trotsky, Valeria Golino as Diego's ex-wife Lupé, and Antonio Banderas and Ashley Judd as other friends of the couple. All in all, this film aptly honors one of the most interesting and tragic love stories in the history of art, and erases any doubts about the "seriousness" of Hayek's technique. ★★★★★

SERVING SARA ★★ (PG-13/1:38/8-29) Perry, Hurley make movie that serves no one.

SIMONE ★★½ (PG-13/1:55/8-29) Two-dimensional actress stars in Hollywood picture—wow, that's a new one.

BLUE CRUSH ★★★½ (PG-13/1:43/8-22) Gnarly pipe and babelicious chicks, dude. And I mean that.

MY BIG FAT GREEK WEDDING ★★★★½ (PG/1:36/8-22) Man converts for love of woman & souvlaki.

THE ADVENTURES OF PLUTO NASH ★★★ (PG-13/1:36/8-22) Murphy's comedy space vehicle misfires.

XXX ★★★★ (PG-13/2:04/8-15) Diesel breaks into lucrative genre—no, not porn, Bond!

BLOOD WORK ★★ (R/1:51/8-15) Clint Eastwood attempts a bloodless coup of the crime thriller industry.

SPY KIDS 2: ISLAND OF LOST DREAMS ★★★½ (PG/1:30/8-15) It's like Spy vs. Spy, but more pimply.

SIGNS ★★★★ (PG-13/1:47/8-8) Aliens make corny statement in farmer Mel's field.

THE MASTER OF DISGUISE ★★ (PG/1:16/8-8) Carvey tries to use his Powers to cloak bad script, direction.

THE COUNTRY BEARS ★★★ (G/1:28/8-1) Disney execs scratching up the wrong tree.

COLLECTING TEDDY BEARS – Southern High School students in Lisa Bender's marketing class organized a campaign to collect teddy bears for local service agencies to use in their efforts to comfort children who are victims of trauma. The students read about the use of teddy bears during a discussion of current business events, and were investigating the 100th anniversary of the teddy bear as a consumer product. The students contacted local agencies and organized and marketed the toy collection at the school before the Christmas holidays. Stopping by to pick up the teddy bear collection were Maryland State Police troopers Steve Bennett and Kurt Whitaker. Walter Lee was also on hand to pick up a supply of teddy bears for the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. The students collected more than 100 bears for groups to use locally.

Improvement and Results strategic plan to improve the service provided to students; and implementing a system-wide discipline initiative, tracking data, and using the data to make program decisions.

According to Kotulak, there were many recommendations but many of those were items that were either already remedied or were in the process of being remedied.

Kotulak added that she was pleased with the findings, and she relayed that information to the board of education members at the recent monthly meeting.

The special education students were also praised at the board meeting for doing extremely well on the 2002 High School Assessments (HSA).

According to Dr. Pat Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information, the students did much better than the state average. She added that she was very pleased with these results.

She said she was also very pleased with the scores in the IMAP (Independent Mastery Assessment Program) 2002 results. The scores were based on 83 possible points from the portfolio. Overall, the students scored 78.35. Students in 11th grade scored an average of 80.63 and third graders scored 78.83.

"These are outstanding scores," Mullinix said. "These are special education students in the Life Skills program and they take these portfolios very seriously. All of this reinforces how outstanding our special education program is."

the height of the proposed structure, especially on ridgelines and in very visible locations." "Use compatible colors that blend with the existing environment." Get the picture? This was written in Garrett County for this very reason. The views along Backbone will never be the same. Please understand that this is a county that thrives on its natural state and to allow the windmills to stand on our highest point will damage the integrity of our landscape forever.

I am not against "Green Power," but I feel that these windmills are absolutely inappropriate for Garrett County. I ask that studies be conducted to obtain more information with respect to the three concerns I have addressed. This may benefit a few; however, I think it is only fair to look out for the best interest of the majority and more research is necessary to determine this.

If you think they won't be seen just take a look to the west as you approach Oakland from 219 South. The windmills you see are 15 to 20 miles away in Davis/Parsons, W.Va., and are approximately 100' shorter than the ones proposed for Backbone Mtn.

We are dealing with a mountaintop that is truly one of our great natural resources. Backbone Mtn. deserves the respect to be carefully reviewed before it is decided to scar its beauty forever for financial gain.

For those who are interested in stating their opinion regarding the windmills go to mpsc@psg.state.md.us, reference case # 8938, The Application of the Clipper Windpower Inc.

Thank you for taking time to hear my position.

Very sincerely,
Russell Bounds

Interment was in St. Ann's Cemetery.

Contributions may be directed to the American Cancer Society.

RECOGNIZED FOR CARD DESIGN – Brandi Fazenbaker, a senior at Northern High School, was recently recognized by the Garrett County Board of Education for designing its annual Christmas card. This card was sent from the Board of Education and the superintendent to all school system employees, each Maryland school superintendent, and various state and county agencies this past December. Several designs were sent to the board from each high school for consideration. A student-designed Christmas card has been used for the last five years, but this is the first year that students from Northern participated in this endeavor. Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent, started this tradition when he came to the Garrett County school system six years ago. Brandi was presented with a framed copy of her card. She plans to attend Allegany College in the fall. Pictured above, from the left, are Charlotte Sebold, board president; Fazenbaker; Teets; and Teresa Roberts, art teacher at Northern.

Correction Noted

Two names were incorrect in last week's obituary of Mervin C. "Skip" Bernard. His father was Clyde Mervin Bernard and a half brother's correct name is Clyde Kelvin Bernard.

The cost is $7 for adults, $3 for children under 12, and children under 5 eat for no charge. Proceeds benefit the Salisbury Volunteer Fire Department and Ambulance Service.

Cove Camp Registrations Now Accepted

Registrations are now being accepted for Cove Christian Camp, a day camp sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House. The Cove Christian Camp board of directors recently set three separate weeks for the camp to be held.

Kindergarten and first grade students will be offered two different weeks: July 7-11 and July 14-18. Children in second and third grades will have July 21-25 for their week.

"Cove Christian Camp, located one mile north of Northern High School along Cove Road, will provide a safe, loving place for children to interact," said a camp spokesperson. "The purpose of this summer day camp program is fourfold: to share the gospel of Jesus with the children in our community and beyond, to teach children the importance of Christian values, to encourage children in developing Christian attitudes, and, finally, to engage children in the camps, programs, and activities that help them discover how wonderfully God has created them."

Because of the limited number of spaces available, early registration is encouraged. Persons interested may e-mail covechristiancamp@hotmail.com or call Rev. Doug and Kathy Kabell at 301-746-8731 to receive a brochure and registration form.

More information may also be found in the camp's advertisement in next week's issue of The Republican.

Inaugurates Era

for their support.

"I always heard ... 'Regardless of what path you decide, we will be there for you unconditionally,'" Ehrlich said, bringing his parents to the podium to loud applause from the crowd. "That's the definition of unconditional love."

Former Lt. Gov. Kathleen Kennedy Townsend, who lost the governor's race to Ehrlich in November, attended the ceremony.

"It showed a lot of integrity on the part of the [former] lieutenant governor to be here," said Marc Steiner, who emceed the event. Steiner, who is host of a Baltimore political talk show, said Townsend "represents the integrity of the last eight years."

New Lt. Gov. Michael Steele, was honored by the significance of his being the first African-American sworn in to statewide office on civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

"Today certainly is a very proud day for Maryland in terms of Lt. Gov. Mike Steele being sworn in," said Anne Arundel County executive Janet Owens, who also spoke at the inauguration. "I felt a little, tiny piece of that history by being the first woman from another party to be asked to speak at an inauguration."

Former governor and current Comptroller William Donald Schaefer introduced the new governor to the crowd and promised his cooperation — for six months, at least.

"I want Bob Ehrlich to succeed," Schaefer said. "I promise to make the Board of Public Works meetings uneventful."

Schaefer frequently clashed with Glendening at public works meetings. The governor, comptroller, and treasurer comprise the three-member executive board.

Words, as lawmakers pointed out, do not a governor make. It's Ehrlich's deeds they will scrutinize.

"On a ceremonial day like today, a lot of nice words are spoken," said Delegate Carol Petzold, D-Montgomery, vice chairwoman of the Montgomery County Delegation. "It's the actions later on that you're looking for."

Others were less guarded about the new governor.

"Inaugural speeches are almost done from a boilerplate," said House Majority Leader Kumar Barve, D-Montgomery. "But they were very generous to Kathleen [Kennedy Townsend]."

Members of Maryland's congressional delegation congratulated the new governor.

"I thought it was a good speech; he talked about bringing Marylanders together to work together on things that are important to people in Maryland," said U.S. Rep. Chris Van Hollen, D-Kensington, a former state senator. "There will obviously be differences of opinion on how we approach some of these issues, but I think there's a lot of good faith on all sides trying to work out problems."

U.S. Rep. C.A. "Dutch" Ruppersberger, D-Cockeysville, said working together is key for the new governor.

"The election's over," said Ruppersberger, who won Ehrlich's old congressional seat in November. "We've now got to work together for what's going to help our citizens on a local, state and federal level."

Beyond the pomp and circumstance, Ehrlich pointed to the people he will now lead.

"For us, for us, every day is a taxpayer day, every dollar is a taxpayer dollar, every minute is a taxpayer minute," he said. "There will be honest disagreements where spending priorities are concerned, but good and honest and hardworking people can overcome their differences in the best interests of the people."

Those taxpayers who'd come to see the ceremony and following parade were willing to give Ehrlich a chance to prove himself.

"I'm just glad to see Maryland have a Republican governor," said Ted Daniecki of Harford County, who came to Annapolis with his dog Kaleb. "Someone who sees my point of view."

Even Democrats were looking at Ehrlich with optimism.

"I guess the state is due for a change," said Richard Harris of Baltimore, a Democrat. "Change is good."

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

How can I create the best traction/friction to get my car out of an icy/snowy parking space?

Kitty litter. At about $0.15/pound (for generic litter, not that fancy space-age kind), it's the cheapest thing around. Plus, it's a little more like gravel than like sand. And you can keep a bag in the trunk of your car just about forever.

Also, as a strategy for driving out of a snowy parking space, put your car in lowest gear. Try not to spin your wheels. Of course, you don't find out that you need the traction until the wheels start to spin, but the idea is not to spin them excessively. (Sorry, Speed Racer: you can't melt your way out of a spot by burning rubber.) If your car is a rear-wheel drive vehicle, then putting weight in the trunk helps. What weight? Why, that bag of kitty litter, of course.

Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and teaches physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information concerning an apparent case of arson in Grantsville.

Someone apparently attempted to set fire to an apartment building located at 207 Main Street, Grantsville, on April 21, 2002, at about 8:15 a.m. Minor damage to the structure, owned by Karin Miller, was reported. The Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office ruled the fire as arson.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crime are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names or appear in court, and are eligible for rewards up to $1,000 if they give tips that lead to arrests.

BAKE-OFF WINNERS RECOGNIZED – Two first prize entries in the Bake-Off Contest at the recent Maryland Food Service Convention were awarded to cafeteria staff at two Garrett County schools. LuAnn Klink, cafeteria person in charge at Route 40 Elementary School, won first place for her apricot kuchen, which was one of her personal recipes that she converted to be used in a cafeteria. Pepperoni rolls made by the Northern High School cafeteria staff also won first place. They were unable to attend the board meeting. Staff members are Mary Frantz, cafeteria manager, and Beverly Frazee, Mary Glotfelty, and Rosemary McClintock, cafeteria assistants. The board of education recognized all the staff members for their accomplishments at the recent meeting. Pictured above, from the left, are Scott Germain, food and nutrition manager; Klink; Charlotte Sebold, board president; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

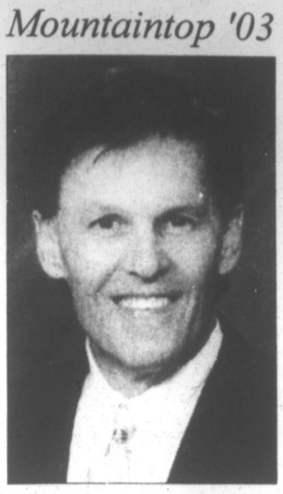
Smith To Be Featured At Mountaintop '03



Living for Christ Conferences has announced that best-selling author Scotty Smith will be the featured speaker for its 17th annual get-away conference, Mountaintop 2003. This nonprofit, nondenominational event, formerly held near Morgantown, will be held at Wilson Lodge, Oglebay, in Wheeling, March 7-9.

Smith is senior pastor of the growing Christ Community Church in Franklin, Tenn., and mentor to many of Nashville's Christian music artists. He also serves as adjunct professor at Covenant Theological Seminary in St. Louis.

Smith's conference topic is based on his highly acclaimed book Objects of His Affection, and is titled "Coming Alive to the Compelling Love of God." It will be presented in five sessions: "God's Outrageous Love: The Height, Depth, Width, and Breadth"; "Obstacles to His Affection: What Keeps Our Hearts from Coming Alive"; "From Restlessness to Rest: Quieted by the Love of God"; "Our Singing God: Cultivating a Life of Worship Service"; and "God's Love Language: How to Romance the Lover of Our Souls."

"Scotty Smith is a dynamite communicator. His teaching brings vulnerability and Biblical wisdom, which is both inspiring and very practical," said Anne Robinson, Wheeling, co-founder of Mountaintop.

Songwriter and musician Steven Curtis Chapman, a close friend of Smith, has said, "Scotty's words flow like those of a man who has had a lifelong search quenched at the ever-deepening fountain of God's love and grace. His words are an irresistible invitation to the soul to come and drink deeply along with him."

"This conference is for folks who want to discover the far-reaching passion that burns within the heart of God for each of us. It can be the beginning of an exciting journey to restore passion in the dark and weathered corners of our lives," Robinson added.

Smith has co-authored two books, one with songwriter and musician Michael Card titled Unveiled Hope, and one with Steven Curtis Chapman titled Speechless. His new book, The Reign of Grace: The Delights and Demands of God's Love, is scheduled to be released in March.

In addition to Smith's teaching, Richard Allen Farmer, celebrated pianist and vocalist from Dallas, will appear in concert at "A Festival in Celebration of Hope in the Lord!" Joining him will be the international theatrical company Peculiar People.

Several seminars will expand the weekend: "The Reasons and Seasons of Prayer" presented by Richard Allen Farmer; "The Design and Order of Almighty God" led by New Martinsville, W.Va., businessman Bill Forbes; "Jesus Revealed" by Mark Elfstrand, "Morning" Host, WMBI FM, Chicago; and "Starting a Drama Group in Your Church" with Peculiar People's Charlie and Ruth Jones.

Registration fees, including all programs, two nights' lodging, and four meals, begin at $198 per person (four to a room). Registration brochures and information are available through Living for Christ Conferences, 169 East Thistle Place, New Martinsville, WV 26155; 304--455-5322, Web site: www.living4Christ.com.

AURORA/EGLON

The Aurora-Terra Alta VFW, Post 578 has been busy during December and early January.

The annual Christmas dinner at the post home on Dec. 8 resulted in an attendance of 100, with Betty Sereno, Carol Rumer, Merle Nice, Linda Snyder, Sherrie Keller, and Violet Bishop preparing the food, shopping for gifts, and doing other jobs. Entertainment was provided by Bob Rumer, Harold Sereno, Jim Durr, Sandy DeWitt, and Randy Thomas, who played string music.

The District meeting of VFW men and women was held in Kingwood on Dec. 15. Betty Sereno and Carol Rumer, Poppy chairmen, presented gifts to all other Poppy chairmen in the district.

The Terra Alta town treat was distributed at the post home on Dec. 21. Assisting Santa in giving out treats, which included fruit, a bag of goodies, and a stuffed animal, were Linda Snyder and Merle Nice. Serving hot chocolate to everyone were Betty Sereno and Carol Rumer. Music during the time was provided by Bob Rumer, Jim Durr, Harold Sereno, Randy Thomas, and Sandy Dewitt.

Entertainment at Heartland in Kingwood was provided by Carol Rumer, Betty Sereno, Bob Rumer, Harold Sereno, Randy Thomas, and Sandy DeWitt on Dec. 15, Dec. 17, and Dec. 19. Refreshments were also served.

Lap robes were made by the ladies auxilliary for all patients at Heartland and Hopemont Hospital, and were distributed to them, along with homemade cookies, punch, and small Christmas gifts.

The Post members and ladies auxiliary also hosted a Christmas Party at Hopemont on Dec. 22, with Bob Rumer, Sandy DeWitt, Randy Thomas, and Harold Sereno playing music, and Betty Sereno, Carol Rumer, Connie DeWitt, Robert DeWitt, and Phillip DeWitt serving refreshments.

A New Year's Eve party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cramer on Brandonville Pike. Attending were Eva Jean and Chester Cramer, Jim and Frances Thomas, Bob and Carol Rumer, Harold Sereno, Donna and Steve Sypolt, and Randy Thomas.

The auxiliary asks that you remember their member, Violet Bishop, who is at Garrett County Memorial Hospital receiving knee rehabilitation treatments.

AYL BASKETBALL

Basketball season is now in progress and there will be Aurora Youth League games each Friday evening beginning at 6 p.m., and each Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Aurora Elementary School gymnasium.

MT. GROVE VFD

Mountain Grove VFD wishes to acknowledge the following who have made recent donations to its service: Eugene Bachtel, Joyce Simmons, the Davis Eagles, Robert Shaffer, the Slaubaugh family, Terry Concan, Dale Mullenax, Robert Delaney, Kenny Evans, Debbie Dumire, and Janie Knotts.

PERSONAL MENTION

Nina Layman is expected to return to her home near Aurora this week after being transferred to Monongalia General Hospital, where she underwent surgery on Jan. 5.

Floyd Knapp returned to Cortland Acres Nursing Home after being a patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Willard Roth was a patient in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, where he underwent bypass surgery Jan. 8. He expected to return early this week to his home at Horse Shoe Run.

Harold Harsh was taken Wednesday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and returned Friday to his home on Stemple Ridge.

Word was received by Ron and Avenell Parsons, Eglon, that his daughter, Jean Skipper, had recently been hospitalized in Sarasota, Fla., where they are spending the winter. Mrs. Skipper has returned home, but needs to return to the hospital for treatments.

Harold Loughrie of Grantsville has been transferred from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, to Sacred Heart Hospital, where he is in Room 211 and receiving treatment. Phone calls are not recommended, but cards may be addressed to him at the hospital, 900 Seton Drive, Cumberland, MD 21502. Persons may also contact Barbara Coberly, his sister, at 735-5119, or Doris Arnold, a sister-in-law, at 735-6323, to inquire about the family.

Reba Williams of Horse Shoe Run has recently discovered the need of treatment which she begins this week.

Weekend visitors with Neil and Bonnie Winters, Hutton, were his cousins, Cheryl Donham of Oklahoma City, Okla., her son and family, Ray and Laura Donham, their children Morgan, Ethan, and new baby, Brooke. A Saturday dinner at the Hutton home included other family members and on Sunday the Winters family all dined at the home of Jessie Winters, Eglon.

A celebration of "Nothing Special Day" dinner was held Sunday evening in the home of Bill and Sandra Hauser, with family in attendance at their Stemple Ridge residence.

Krista Hayes continues her improvement from an early fall illness which has prevented her return to Aurora School, where she is an instructor. She is now reportedly able to be "out and about."

Keith Winters injured his wrist in a Thursday fall on the ice at his home at Horse Shoe Run.

Alzheimer's Disease Caregiver Support Group To Meet

The Preston County Alzheimer's Caregiver Support Group will meet on Monday, Jan. 20, at the Heartland of Preston County, 300 Miller Road, Kingwood. The meeting will be held from 7 until 8 p.m.

The support group meetings are open to any community members dealing with loved ones afflicted with Alzheimer's disease. Free on-site supervision is available for loved ones during the meetings, a spokesperson noted.

The support group meets on the third Monday of each month. For more information, persons may call (304) 329-3195.

SHS Students May Enroll In Evening Classes

Any Southern High School student desiring to enroll in evening high school should see Mrs. Proudfoot in the Guidance Office before Feb. 5 to schedule classes.

Classes will begin on Monday, Feb. 10, and will be one or two nights per week. There is a $50 charge for classes, and a $20 book fee, which will be returned upon completion of the class.

Students may also enroll on Monday, Feb. 3, at SHS between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m. No enrollments will take place after Feb. 5.

Alzheimer's Group Sets Next Meeting At Senior Center

The Alzheimer's Support Group in Garrett County announced this week that the time and location of the January meeting has been changed.

The meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 27, at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland, from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. The topic this month is "Assisted Living and Housing Resources."

In case of inclement weather, an announcement will be made on WFRB or WKHJ radio stations.

The support group meets September through November and January through June. For more information, persons may call Donna McClintock at 301-334-7740.

For more information about other services available through the Greater Maryland Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association, persons may call 1-800-696-6830 or visit www. alzg-md.org.

STAFF MEMBERS RECOGNIZED – Appalachian Parent Association Inc., Appalachian Crossroads Community Living Support Services Program, including Residential and IFSS departments, recently recognized several staff members. Theresa Wilson, above, was the winner of the September drawing for going "above and beyond" the call of duty. She received a plaque and a $25 gift certificate. Other staff members also recognized in September were Becki Lipscomb, Melissa Batvinskas, Tim Ashby, Jerry DeWitt, Brenda Lambert, Sandy Paugh, Lisa Bittinger, John Wilson, Kelley Rinker, Mary Teets, Becki House, Barbara Niner, Joan Sines, and John Batvinskas.

Dare To Be You Program Taking Spring Applications

The Garrett County Health Department is taking applications for the spring session of Dare To Be You, a program which works directly with parents and their preschool children to increase key resiliency factors in the home and individual. Siblings and other key family members are included.

Dare To Be You focuses on basic key principles in decision-making and problem solving, self-discipline, assertiveness, positive communication and social skills, responsibility, role models, and esteem for self and others. Families meet for 11 sessions over three months. To complete the program, family members attend 20 hours of classroom activities.

The family component has three basic elements: The parent element focuses on personal and parenting efficacy, stress management, child development, and home management skills in addition to the key DTBY principles.

The youth element mirrors principles learned by the parents. Age-appropriate activities are available for 2½- and 3-year-old children, 4- and 5-year-old youth, and older children.

The family element includes weekly family meals, social time, and parent-child activities.

An incentive program to recruit and keep families participating in the complete program includes: family meals, supportive, non-judgmental environment that builds on family strengths, and workshop incentive for completion of all workshops.

The program has received state and national awards and is nationally recognized as a well-evaluated, effective program to impact youth and families.

The spring Dare To Be You sessions will be held at the Kitzmiller Elementary School from Feb. 20 through May 1. To be considered for participation, an application can be obtained by calling the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7730.

This program is the result of collaboration between the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Garrett County Health Department, Garrett County Community Action, and the Garrett County Board of Education.

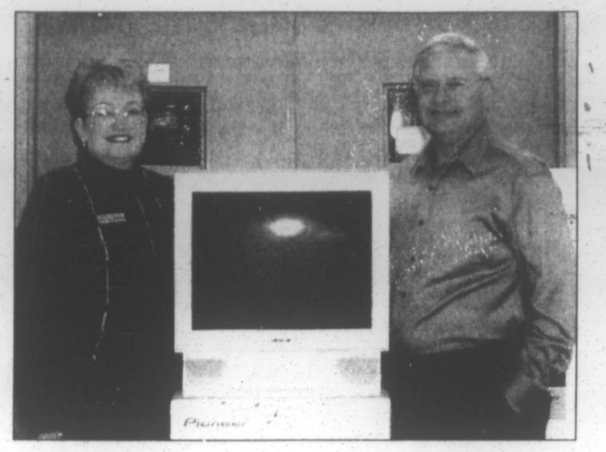
Leaders To Be Elected At Habitat Annual Meeting

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will hold its annual membership meeting on Monday, Jan. 27, at 7 p.m. at the office of Coldwell Banker Realty.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect members to the 2003 board of directors. All members and interested persons are invited to attend.

The regular January meeting will follow, during which officers for the year will be elected.

Persons with questions may call 301-533-0600.



SEARS DONATES TO BBBS – The Oakland Sears store has donated an Apex brand combination VCR/DVD/TV entertainment system to the Garrett County chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters. The unit will be raffled at the annual Bowl for Kids' Sake fundraiser, slated for Saturday, March 29 at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland. Tickets are $1 each, or six for $5. The drawing is set for 2 p.m. Saturday, April 12, at Par-Matt Lanes, and entrants do not have to be present to win. Local BBBS coordinator Joan Johnson is shown accepting the prize donation from Sears proprietor Russell Sines. Raffle tickets are available from BBBS board members and staff, or by calling the office at 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735. Persons interest in participating in the Bowl for Kids' Sake benefit may call Garrett County BBBS as well.

Ask Officials

of the state license was for reciprocity with other states, such as Delaware and Virginia.

He added that the other counties require an additional county license as well. The issuance of those local licenses allows the electrical boards then to regulate the trade in their counties.

Tim Cline, who moved from Carroll County to Garrett four years ago, said he was amazed that he was allowed to work in the county without a license.

"The law does say that we have to regulate the state law on the local level," said permits coordinator Jim Torrington of Planning and Zoning. He said that to enforce that requirement, however, electrical permits would need to be required, followed up by inspections.

Currently, all wiring and new work is required to be inspected, said Garrett Dixon. However, without a permit requirement, inspectors usually do not know if the electrician has a state license or even who has done the work.

Heilig added that it was also "impossible" for inspectors to check every junction box at an inspection site.

"I've spoken to several electricians who said they do not support your endeavors," said Commissioner Fred Holliday. He requested a list of the current association members who support the proposed board.

Heilig said the association had 40 members, the majority of whom supported the idea of a board. He added that the members meet bi-monthly and all members are fully aware of the issue. Heilig said he would get the commissioners a list of the members by the end of the week.

Some electricians are afraid that the new process will put them out of business, said Tony Doerr. "The board's purpose would be to educate and help them follow guidelines," he said. He added that establishing the board and its procedures would take a few years. Electricians currently working could be grandfathered in, suggested Doerr.

Dixon added that the formation of an electrical board would help all electricians get their licenses, as well as become insured.

Car salespersons, pharmacists, accountants, day care operators, real estate agents, beauticians, and others are required to have licenses, noted Heilig.

"If we don't form a board and require licensing, it allows anyone to come into this area, call themselves an electrician, and wire a house to any standard," he said. "It devalues the work of all electricians who have worked hard to become licensed."

The electricians stressed that with the large amount of new development in the county in the last five years, it was more important than ever that a board be established.

"The county is growing rapidly," said Heilig. "So are the responsibilities of running it."

"It's going to happen sooner or later," Doerr said about the county's apparent inevitable need for an electrical board.

He said the association was asking for "something similar" to the county plumbing law that the plumbing industry asked for in 1985. Prior to that year, permits were not required for plumbing work.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted that plumbers doing business in the county then were grandfathered in under the new requirements.

He added that, as far as safety was concerned, it was more important for a home to have the correct electrical work than plumbing.

Heilig said there was a lot of misconception that wiring was simple to do. "A person doing electrical work should and needs to understand why watts plus voltage equals amperage," he said, "not just 'pull a wire from this box to this box' because someone told him to."

Dixon noted that the electrical board should be self-sustaining. That could be accomplished through licensing and permitting fees, he said.

Another benefit of the electrical board that the electricians stress was education. Holliday asked if the state required that electricians receive ongoing training as a part of the licensing process.

Heilig said it was up to the local boards to see that their electricians got training. He stressed that electrical classes were offered and taught by licensed professionals at Garrett College.

Electricians whose licenses were inactive for two or more years could be required to take the licensing test again, Dixon added.

"I strongly believe in continuing education," said Gregg, "if we are going to require a license."

He said the commissioners would take the issue under advisement and get back with the association as quickly as possible.

Garrett College Music Program Notes Courses

The music program at Garrett College is expected to expand, now that Jerry McGee has recently been contracted by the college to make recommendations for course offerings.

McGee, who directs the Garrett Community Concert band and is pipe major of the Garrett Pipes and Drums, as well as organist at St. Matthews Episcopal Church, has had broad experience as a musician, director, and instructor. He is seeking input from community residents regarding types of musical offerings they would like the college to provide and he is especially interested in starting participatory types of programs such as a community chorus, jazz or string ensembles. He also extends an open invitation to persons with some musical experience, possibly in a high school band, to join the community concert band.

During spring semester, two one-credit instrumental music courses will be offered at scheduled times, while others will be scheduled for individual students at arranged times. Pipes and drums will be taught by McGee at St. John's Episcopal Church on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Anyone interested in learning to play the bagpipes is encouraged to enroll. On Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. the community concert band will meet in the college auditorium. New members are being sought.

Other music courses available on an arranged basis will be voice, piano, and organ taught by McGee and guitar and other instruments taught by Harry Hogue, adjunct instructor of music. Hogue will also teach a three-credit course, Music Appreciation (MUS 110), on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Persons desiring further information about the music offerings may call McGee at 301-387-3093.

Students may register for these courses at the Student Assistance Center Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and on Fridays until 4 p.m. Spring semester classes begin Jan. 21. Further information may be obtained by calling 301-387-3044.

Teen Book Club To Discuss New Literary Fantasy

The Ruth Enlow Library Teen Book Club will meet at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 8, to discuss The Eyre Affair, a recently published fantasy/mystery novel by Jasper Fforde.

According to a description of the book, The Eyre Affair is set in Great Britain circa 1985. "Britain is close to being a police state....The only recognizable thing about this England is its citizens' enduring love of literature.

"Time travel is routine, cloning is a reality (dodos are the resurrected pet of choice), and literature is taken very, very seriously. Baconians are trying to convince the world that Francis Bacon really wrote Shakespeare, there are riots between the Surrealists and Impressionists, and thousands of men are named John Milton, an homage to the real Milton and a very confusing situation for the police.

"Amidst all this, Acheron Hades, 'Third Most Wanted Man in the World,' steals the original manuscript of Martin Chuzzlewit and kills a minor character, who then disappears from every volume of the novel ever printed! But that's just a prelude....

"Hades' real target is the beloved Jane Eyre, and it's not long before he plucks her from the pages of Bronte's novel. Enter Thursday Next. She's the Special Operative's renowned literary detective, and she drives a Porsche.

"With the help of her uncle Mycroft's Prose Portal, Thursday enters the novel to rescue Jane Eyre from this heinous act of literary homicide. It's tricky business, all these interlopers running about Thornfield, and deceptions run rampant as their paths cross with Jane, Rochester, and Miss Fairfax.

"Can Thursday save Jane Eyre and Bronte's masterpiece? And what of the Crimean War? Will it ever end? And what about those annoying black holes that pop up now and again, sucking things into time-space voids....

"Suspenseful and outlandish, absorbing and fun, The Eyre Affair is a caper unlike any other and an introduction to the imagination of a most distinctive writer and his singular fictional universe."

Copies of The Eyre Affair are available for borrowing at the library.

The Ruth Enlow Library also offers a book club for adults and a book club for students ages 9 through 11. Persons may obtain further information by calling the library at 301-334-3996 or by visiting its Web site at www.relib.net. All book clubs are funded by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Digital Camera Photography Course Slated

A photography course titled "Introducing You to Your Digital Camera" has been slated for five consecutive Saturdays, Jan. 18 to Feb. 15, at the McHenry campus of Garrett College. Sessions 1, 2, 4, and 5 will meet from 1 to 3:30 p.m., and Session 3 (on Feb.1) will meet from 1 to 4 p.m.

The instructor, Jim Bowser, will present an introductory session to familiarize participants with their digital camera, followed by sessions in the field taking photos, critiquing photos, and demonstrating how to print and edit the pictures on the computer.

For additional information, persons may contact the college's Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

The wrestling team of Southern High School had little difficulty disposing of Keyser and Fort Hill Monday evening in a tri-meet hosted by the Rams. Coach Dave Taylor's squad rolled over Keyser, 55-21, and flattened Fort Hill, 57-24.

Gaining pin victories for the Rams in the match against Keyser were: Matt Ford in the 112-pound division, Jeff Gregory in the 119-pound bout, Mike Steyer in the 125-pound clash, Chris Hayhurst at 160 pounds, Geoff Tressler in the 171-pound division, and Anthony Oliverio in the heavyweight class.

Scott Wildesen and Chris Bennett recorded decisions for the Rams in the 140- and 171-pound divisions, respectively, while forfeits were awarded to Jeremy Gregory in the 135-pound class, and Jason Weeks at 152 pounds.

Earning pins for the Golden Tornadoes were Nathan Durr (103) and Zach Mellott (145).

Against Fort Hill, pins were recorded by the following Rams: Greg Graham in the 103-pound division, Steyer, Nathan Sines at 130 pounds, Jeremy Gregory, Wildesen, Weeks, Hayhurst, and Tressler.

Victorious by technical fall was Ford, and Bennett won via a decision.

Sentinels who garnered pins were Lance Dicken (119), Chris Brown (145), and Joe Stump (275).

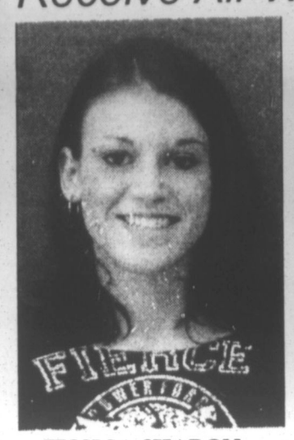
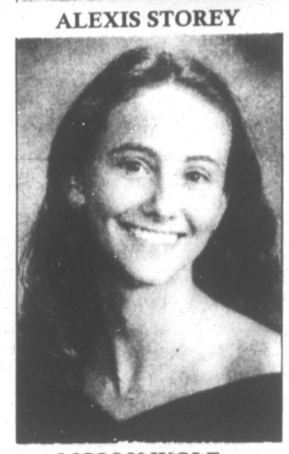
Local Volleyball Standouts Receive All-WMIL Honors



JESSICA SHARON

ALEXIS STOREY



MOLLY WOLF

The Western Maryland Interscholastic League announced its list of outstanding student-athlete volleyball players named to the 2002 All-WMIL team this week. Garrett County was well represented on the honorary roster, as local standouts Jessica Sharon and Alexis Storey, both of Southern High School, and Molly Wolf of Northern High were each recognized this week with First Team honors. The annual poll of league coaches also singled out SHS's Kristen Rollman and Mary Beth Hershberger of NHS for Second Team recognition, while Southern's Julia Bosley and Stephanie Niner, and Northern's Heather Lander were accorded Honorable Mention status.

Both middle hitters, Sharon and Storey helped pace the Rams to 13 wins, the most in school history, against only 4 losses. The pair were voted Co-Most Valuable Players by the Southern program.

Sharon, a senior, led SHS with 115 kills, and broke the Rams' record for kills with 241. She also helped bolster one of the region's strongest defensive units.

Storey was second in kills with 55. The junior is on track to break the SHS record for career service points, needing only 40 to take the top spot.

Wolf, Northern's top setter, was a double-bladed weapon for the Huskies. She tallied a setting accuracy of 85 percent and a serving efficiency of 90 percent, and was a strong defender. She helped NHS to an 8-7 mark.

Rounding out the First Team All-WMIL squad were the Fort Hill trio of Kelly May, Becky Vance, and Danielle Morozek.

To the friends of Joe Healy

We would like to take this opportunity to thank this community for your tremendous outpouring during Joe's time of need. The fund-raiser was very successful and helped make Joe's life more comfortable.

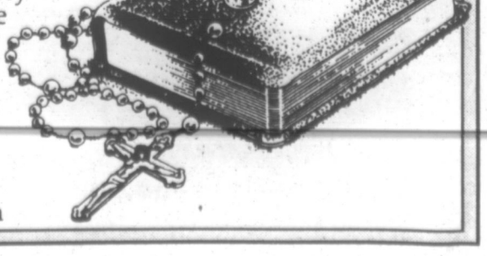
A very special thanks goes to V.F.W. Post 10077 for their gracious support. Comdr. Paul Graham and the staff of the V.F.W., especially Mary Crosten and Shirley Warnick, made the evening of November 16 possible.

To the area businesses that donated items for raffle, sold tickets to the fund-raiser, or provided a food donation, a heartfelt "Thank You."

Special thanks to Chip Rowan, who donated his musical talents for the evening.

Cathy Lohr, Lloyd Cole, Sharon Porter, D.J. Moon, Genevieve McCarty, Shellie Knotts, Laura Hartley, Johnnie Savage and Tinker Fike donated their time and talents to help bring the evening together. Thanks to Gen, Shellie, Dee, Judy and Laura for selling raffle tickets. Lest we've forgotten any person, a sincere "Thank You!" The food donations were tremendous!

To son Joe Jr., daughter Pam and their families, Patty Peterson and the rest of those close to Joe, know that Joe is finally on to better things...may God Bless You.



Sincerely,
Mike Madigan

Rams Rally To Upset No. 1 Allegany On Campers' Floor

Usually ranked at or near the top of area basketball rankings themselves, the Southern High School girls' varsity Rams don't often find themselves in position to pull off an upset, but that is just what happened last night as SHS handed top-ranked Allegany its first loss of the season, 61-57. Juniors Justine Pagenhardt and Becca Flanagan, along with classmate Robbin Gregg, helped pace Southern to a stirring comeback from a nine-point third-quarter deficit.

The win gives Southern (7-2) their 27th straight WMIL win, and a first-place ranking in the league's standings at 4-0. Allegany fell to 6-1 (3-1 WMIL).

Southern went up by a 14-12 margin after one quarter of the hard-fought battle, and was up 18-16 early in the second stanza when Alco knotted the score, then pulled ahead. The Campers were up 30-28 at the half, a slim margin fueled by some strong rebounding. The Rams were out-rebounded 11-4 over the second quarter, and 25-15 for the half as Allegany scored 14 points off rebounds in the first 16 minutes.

"We really had to address that problem," Southern coach Don Stemple said afterward. "It's one thing to know how to box off, but it's a little different out there against some quickness and aggressiveness." The Ram skipper and his squad spent a second-quarter timeout working on a strategy to overcome the Campers' dominance in the box.

The second half opened in dismal fashion for the Rams, as Alco reeled off a 12-5 run to roll up a commanding 42-33 lead. Southern showed its mettle by refusing to give up, and its skill by implementing a stifling, perfectly played full-court press that forced Allegany into committing six crucial turnovers. By the end of the stanza, the Rams cut the lead to a bucket as Pagenhardt recorded a three-point play that made the score Alco 48 – SHS 46.

"In the second half things were a little different," explained Stemple. "One of the problems in the first half was we were allowing too much penetration, and our big kids had to help out, leaving them out of position underneath the basket. We were also giving up several inches in height to their girls," the Southern skipper observed.

Allegany's coach, Scott Bauer, admitted that his squad was caught short by the pressing Ram defense. "When they started pressing, and jumped from a zone press to a full court press, I think we panicked. We didn't handle it very well, and had trouble recognizing if we were up against a zone or a man-to-man press."

Gregg gave the Rams their first lead since the second stanza when she sank a short jumper to put SHS up 49-48 early in the fourth quarter. The two squads battled back and forth for the rest of the way, until Flanagan followed a missed Southern shot with a tip-in to put the Rams up 57-54 with 1:49 remaining. Alco's Bethany Sindy knotted the score at 57-all by bagging a three-pointer at the 1:10 mark.

Southern then pulled off a picture-perfect inbounds play that ended with Pagenhardt hitting Gregg with a pass for an open shot from the corner. The SHS guard nailed the bucket with 45 seconds on the clock to go up for good.

The Ram trio of Pagenhardt, Flanagan, and Gregg netted 50 of Southern's 61 points, scoring 20, 16, and 14 points, respectively. Pagenhardt also hauled down a team-high seven rebounds and dished out three assists, Flanagan snagged five rebounds, and Gregg had six rebounds and three assists.

"In the first half Robbin carried us at times, and Justine and Becca carried us through stretches of the second half," Stemple commented. "That's sort of the personality of this team so far. If we find a night when all three are on for 32 minutes, it will really be something.

"I give Allegany a lot of credit; they played hard, and they were young, even younger than us."

Coach Bauer praised the Rams in turn, giving nod to a team his Campers will visit in Oakland early next month. "Southern's got a good team and a good program, and I really like to play them," he stated.

SHS's junior varsity took a battle of the unbeatens, downing its Alco counterpart by a convincing 46-35 margin. Kayla Nazelrod paced the Rams with 11 points, a tally matched by the Campers' Whitney Payne.

Southern visits Tucker tomorrow night, then travels to Beall on Monday. The Rams visit county rival Northern on Wednesday. Varsity game times are 7:30 p.m., and JV tip-offs are set for 6 p.m. Both the Beall and NHS varsity battles will both be broadcast on 92.3 FM The Train, with the pregame shows getting under way at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Rams Upset By Wildcats, Fall To Second In WMIL

A pair of free throws by Westmar's Bobby Alkire sealed a 44-43 Western Maryland Interscholastic League upset of the top-ranked Southern High School boys' varsity Tuesday night at Lonaconing. It was the first WMIL loss in three league games for the Rams and their second defeat in nine overall starts this season.

The Wildcats upped their record to 7-2 overall and now have sole possession of first place in the WMIL with a 3-0 league mark.

Alkire led the home team in scoring with 16 points, while teammate Jason Lee also reached double figures with 12 points. Kevin Smith grabbed eight rebounds, and Aaron Shockey recorded six points and five assists.

Leading the Rams' scoring effort was Dennis Tressler, who poured in a game-high 22 points. Corey Tressler contributed eight points, six of which were on a pair of three-point buckets.

The game was close from the opening tip-off, with the Rams holding a 12-10 advantage at the end of the first quarter and a 22-21 edge at intermission. Westmar took a 33-31 lead into the final stanza.

The Rams were nursing a 43-42 lead when Alkire connected for two foul shots with 49 seconds remaining. Southern set up to take a final shot, missed on the attempt, got the rebound, but ran out of time before a second shot could be taken.

The Southern junior varsity won the preliminary game, 41-28, behind a 16-point scoring effort by Aaron Louden. Leading the jayvee Wildcats was Billy Sloan with 11 points.

The Rams are scheduled to play again this Friday at Allegany, and travel to Tucker County on Saturday for a make-up game with the Mountain Lions. They will be on the road again next Tuesday at Keyser.

Ram Freshmen Fall To Allegany And Petersburg

The freshman boys' basketball team of Southern High School was handed a 56-40 defeat Monday by host Allegany, and was edged last night by visiting Petersburg, 50-47.

Alco's Brian Hansel and David Latimer led the winners in scoring with 19 and 17 points, respectively, while Joey Tressler paced the Rams with 13 points.

In last night's loss to Petersburg, Cody Sites led the Vikings with 12 points, while teammates Tanner Haid and Caleb Rohrbaugbh each netted 10. Ben Whetzel finished with nine points, 11 rebounds, and a blocked shot.

The contest was decided by foul shots in the final 15 seconds of play, with Whetzel going 5-for-6 from the line in the fourth quarter.

Pacing the Rams' scoring was Jason Wakefield, who hit a game-high 18 points. Brent DeWitt also reached double figures with 15 points.

It was the sixth win in seven games for the Vikings.

The Oakland Elks Lodge Hoop Shoot originally scheduled for January 11, has been rescheduled for January 18.
Registration will begin at 12:00 noon.

Laker Women Nipped By Cecil; Declaw 14th-Ranked Cougars

It wasn't for lack of trying that the Garrett College women's basketball team didn't come away with a pair of wins this week over two of the toughest teams in Division II basketball. The Lakers fell by only three points Monday, 63-60, as a strong Cecil squad mounted a second-half comeback from an eight-point deficit, and last night Garrett thrashed the Frederick Cougars, who had come into the contest ranked 14th in the nation, by a convincing 61-45 margin.

GC's loss to the Seahawks was a bitter pill for the home court McHenry fans to swallow, as the Lakers took control of the first half en route to a 32-24 halftime advantage. The second half was a different story, however, as the visitors rallied to put together a 39-28 stanza that gave them the win.

Laker freshman guard LaSha Anderson turned in an outstanding performance as she rolled up 16 points, nine rebounds, fours assists, and two steals. Classmate Tiffany McFarland scored 14 points and nabbed seven rebounds from her center position, and freshman guard LaTonya Crowder recorded 11 points. Southern high alumna Charlena Reeves, a sophomore frontcourt player, contributed nine points. Cecil (11-1) was paced by 16 points from Sharona Johnson, and Tameka Ross's 15 pointtally.

Last night's demolition of Frederick, which had brought a 9-3 record into the Lakers' gym, was sparked by a strong team defense and the fine play of Anderson and McFarland. The GC duo combined for 30 points in the runaway win, as each scored 15 points and also took down a team-high eight rebounds apiece. With McFarland controlling the paint, Garrett's defense held the Cougars well below their 62.5 point-per-game average.

The Lakers also got strong performances from sophomore guard Angel Kendall, who netted 11 points and handed out four assists, and Crowder, who scored 10 points. Jodi Carpenter took high-scorer honors with 18 points for Frederick.

Garrett took control of the game from the outset by racing out to a 32-21 lead, and the strong defensive effort prevented a repeat of the Cecil game's outcome.

The Lakers (5-3) host Prince George's (8-3) for a 5 p.m. match-up Saturday in McHenry, then travel to CCAC South on Monday for a 2 p.m. road contest.

Lakers Topped By Cecil, Then Bounce Back Against Baltimore

It was a .500 week for the Garrett Community College men's basketball team, as the Lakers dropped a 93-83 Maryland JUCO Conference decision to once-beaten Cecil Community College on Saturday in North East, and then bounced back for a JUCO victory over visiting Baltimore City last night, 95-90. The split left the Lakers with a 10-4 overall mark and a 5-4 conference record.

The Lakers had a second-half lead over 15-1 Cecil, 64-60, but a three-pointer by Chris Chadwick, followed by a two-pointer by Jareem Dowling, gave the lead back to the home team.

"We missed the front end of a one-and-one right after that, and that seemed to give them the momentum," stated GC coach Dennis Gibson. "We stayed close until the final three minutes when we had to start fouling, and they hit their free throws down the stretch."

Chadwick finished with a game-high 28 points, while Dowling recorded 20. Also reaching double figures for Cecil were Victor Akinyanju with 12 points and 12 rebounds, and Craig Winder with 10.

Kevin Essex paced the Lakers' second-half rally, as he netted 14 of his game total of 20 in that half. He also had five assists.

Other Lakers reaching double figures were Alvin Jones, James Jones, and Rashaun Copeland with 13 apiece, and Tristan Largent with 12. Lee Parris pulled down 10 rebounds.

The Lakers trailed by eight, 48-40, at intermission.

"We just didn't play well in the first half," Gibson said. "The four-hour bus ride, coupled with a 31-day layoff over the holidays, certainly didn't help. But Cecil has a good team, and it is always tough to win on their floor."

Gibson was unable to finish his coaching chores last night at home against Baltimore City, as he was ejected from the game for reacting to what he described as "dirty play" by the Red Devils.

"They held our jerseys and followed through with a lot of hard fouls," he said. "But I was very proud of our players, who acted more mature than I did."

There was a total of 38 fouls called in the contest, and it was at the foul line that the Lakers won the game. Baltimore finished with a 35-31 lead in field goals, but the Lakers made good on 22 of 31 free-throw attempts, while the Devils connected on 14 of 20.

The Lakers held a reasonably comfortable 48-33 lead at halftime, but let the Devils cut that advantage to just three points with four seconds to play. A steal and a pair of foul shots iced the win for GC.

The Lakers pulled out the win despite being outrebounded by a 40-23 margin.

Rashaun Copeland led Garrett in scoring with 22 points, Essex finished with 19, Antuon Townsend scored 16, James Jones added 14 points and pulled down seven rounds, and Alvin Jones finished with 13 points. Townsend and Copeland also had five assists each.

Halftime score: Garrett 48-33.

Three-point goals - Baltimore 6 (Williams 2, Ougz 2, Thomas 1, Johnson 1), Garrett 11 (Copeland 6, Townsend 2, Jones 1, Essex 1, J. Jones 1). Totals fouls - Baltimore 23, Garrett 15. Fouled out - Ellis (Baltimore), Parris (Garrett).

LAKERS STOP RED DEVILS — The Garrett Community College Lakers engaged in a slugfest last night against the College of Baltimore City Red Devils and emerged with a 95-90 Maryland JUCO Conference victory. The contest "featured" a total of 38 foul calls. It was the 10th win in 14 starts for Coach Dennis Gibson's squad. Going high for two in the photo at left is Garrett's Rashard Ellis. Driving the lane above is Laker Antuon Townsend, who finished with 16 points. The Lakers will play again this Saturday at home against Frederick. Photos by John McEwen.

The top point producer of the night was Baltimore's Marcus Harrison, the fifth-leading scorer in the conference, who ripped the nets for 37 points. Dwayne Williams recorded 18 points and nine rebounds, while Erkan Ougz contributed 15 points.

The loss dropped the Red Devils to 7-8.

After Gibson was excused from the sidelines, assistants Dave Martin and Brett Coleman took over the coaching chores.

The Lakers will be back in action at home this Saturday against Frederick CC, with the tip-off set for 7 p.m. They will travel to Potomac State College in Keyser next Monday for another 7 p.m. match-up.

Huskies Bruised By Wildcats, Battered By Strong Sentinels

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team, hampered by a woefully thin roster, dropped a pair of WMIL outings this week.

Only five Huskies made it into the scoring column during a 45-37 upset loss at the hands of Westmar's Wildcats Saturday, then a powerhouse Fort Hill squad held all but four Northern players scoreless during a 56-41 NHS loss Monday night. One of those Huskies led all scorers, however, as senior forward Amanda Frantz stepped up to hit for a game-high 21 points in accounting for over half of Northern's offensive production. Results of last night's scheduled road trip to Berlin were not made available this morning.

NHS held sway for the first half of the Westmar contest, as the Huskies took a 14-10 lead after one quarter of play and widened the gap to 26-20 by the intermission. The deep Wildcat line-ups wore down the tiring Huskies in the third quarter, which ended with the hosts claiming a 34-28 lead.

Frantz led the NHS effort with 12 points, half of which came on a pair of three-pointers, and added seven rebounds and three steals. Junior guard Lyndsi Butler contributed 10 points, and senior guard Heather Lander recorded nine points. Brooke Raines paced the 'Cats (3-6) with a double-double of 13 points and 13 rebounds, while teammate Marcie Sloan led all scorers with 16 points.

On the way to committing 15 fouls to Westmar's nine infractions, Northern lost guard Molly Wolf as the senior fouled out.

Freshman frontcourt player Sarah Stewart sparked the junior varsity Huskies to a 37-23 victory over their Westmar JV counterparts.

The Huskies showed a good deal of gumption against the fifth-ranked Sentinels Monday on Fort Hill's floor. Despite falling behind 16-3 after one quarter and being down 34-20 at the half, the Huskies refused to throw in the towel. NHS outscored the hosts 11-7 in the third quarter to cut the lead to 10, 41-31, but were again worn down by the deeper opposing bench over the final stanza.

Frantz turned in a superb Northern effort, netting 21 points to lead all scorers, while sophomore teammate Jeseca Gibson hit for 10 points, nine of which came from three-point range. FH's Tamisa Page led the Sentinels with 19 points, while Becky Vance and Kelly May each scored 14 points.

Northern dropped the jayvee contest, 36-10.

The Huskies travel to Frankfort Monday night, then return to the mountaintop Wednesday to host the tough Southern Rams in a 7:30 p.m. varsity match-up (6 p.m. JV start). The latter contest will be broadcast on 92.3 FM The Train, with pre-game commentary beginning at approximately 7:15 p.m.

BOWL FOR KIDS' SAKE IN THE WORKS – The date is set–Saturday, March 29–and the time has come to begin planning for the annual Big Brothers Big Sisters Garrett County Bowl for Kids' Sake benefit. The fund-raiser draws a large cross-section of civic organizations, businesses, and individuals who team up to help plan, organize, and participate in the popular event at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland. As in the past, there will be "winner's choice" prizes for those who obtain the most in pledges. "Where else can you have so much fun and at the same time help to serve the at-risk children of Garrett County with caring adult mentors?" asked local BBS coordinator Joan Johnson. Persons may call 301-334-3591 or 1-800-400-0735 to request a team sheet and/or pledge sheet. Johnson is shown above, at left, with Par-Matt Lanes manager and Bowl for Kids' Sake supporter Barbara Dunbar.

Oakland Pen-Mar Team Will Begin 30th Year

The Oakland Pen-Mar Baseball Team will begin its 30th consecutive year in the Pen-Mar League this year, and interested players should contact last year's coach, Craig Bosley, at 301-334-8830.

Home games are played at Garrett College and the season begins the first weekend of June. Games are played on Saturdays and Sundays, with occasional night games during the week. The league features a 28-game regular season, an all-star game against the Fayette County League, and playoffs in August. The Pen-Mar League is an all wood bat league and has no age limit, with approximately 65% college players.

The team is also looking for people who would be interested in helping manage the team, and sponsors who would be interested in helping to sponsor the Oakland team. The cost of having a team in the league is $2,000 a season, which covers umpires, baseballs, uniforms, and equipment. For the past 10 years, the Oakland team has primarily been composed of area high school and college players who are also able to play American Legion Baseball.

and higher education leaders who want to see strong teaching at the high school level for all students."

When parents and students receive the results of the 2002 HSA, the scores will be shown as percentile rank. This compares a student's performance with all other test-takers within the state. For example, a student earning a percentile rank of 60 on the biology assessment has performed as well as or better than 60 percent of all biology test-takers.

Students in Maryland are required to take the HSA for graduation, but are not yet required to score at a certain level. The state Board of Education still must establish passing scores and vote to make passing the tests a graduation requirement.

Dr. Pat Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information, presented the HSA 2002 disaggregated results to members of the board of education at the recent meeting.

At the state level, the median percentile rank was 50 across the board, Mullinix said.

In Garrett County, the median percentile rank is as follows: English, 49; biology, 52; geometry, 45; government, 48; and algebra, 59.

Mullinix added that she was pleased with these test scores. She said she was extremely pleased with the scores by the special education students. Their scores were much higher than the state average.

All of these scores are divided into four categories: male, female, special education, and free and reduced meals (FARMs).

For more information on the MSA, persons may visit the Maryland State Department of Education's web site at www.marylandpublicschools.org.

GC's Center For Lifelong Learning Sets Course Slate

Among the learning opportunities for adults being scheduled by the Center for Lifelong Learning at Garrett College during the early months of 2003 are a five session course in digital photography, a three session evening seminar for retirees and persons approaching retirement age, and a two session course in cross country skiing.

"Introducing You to Your Digital Camera" will be taught by professional photographer James Bowser on five consecutive Saturdays from 1 to 3 p.m. beginning Jan. 18. In this course students will become familiar with their digital camera, its parts and functions, learn how to use it to take effective photos and how to set up their computer to get the images and print them. During the third session, the class will be out in the field taking photos. Students will need to have their own camera. Fee for this course is $35.

A three-part series for persons approaching retirement and other interested adults will be offered one evening in each of the first three months from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The first of these seminars, "Retirement Planning and Beyond," is set for Wednesday Jan. 29. On Tuesday, Feb. 25, "Legal and Financial Implications of Long Term Care" will be presented by Jack Turney, former judge of Garrett County District Court. Last seminar in the series, "How to Protect Yourself from Scam Artists," will be presented by Larry Gnegy, Garrett County sheriff's deputy, on Wednesday, March 19. Fee for this series is $10 for all three sessions, or $5 for each individual session.

A course for persons who enjoy outdoor activity, Introduction to Cross-Country Skiing, will be given on two Saturdays, Jan. 25 and Feb. 1, at times to be announced. Instructor will be Terry Peterson, instructor of adventure sports at Garrett College. Fee for this two-session course will be $20 plus equipment rental.

Persons who desire further information about these courses, and those who wish to register, may call 301-387-3069.

BEDTIME STORIES TO BE TOLD – Local parents and their children ages 2 to 5 are invited to a evening of bedtime stories at their local Ruth Enlow Library branches during the last week of January. Readings sponsored by the Kids First Committee will take place on Monday, Jan. 27, at the Kitzmiller branch from 6 until 6:45 p.m. and at the Grantsville and Oakland branches from 7 until 7:45 p.m. On Wednesday, Jan. 29, story time will be held from 6 until 6:45 p.m. and at the Friendsville branch from 7 until 7:45 p.m. Children are encouraged to attend in their pajamas, and the first 30 participants will receive a take-home packet that includes fun family activities. Five copies of Jan Brett's The Gingerbread Boy will also be given away. Pictured above enjoying this book, left to right, are Cory Sturm, Gavin McConnell, Lou Ellen Sturm, and Katelyn Keefer. For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc. at 301-334-1189.

Home Energy Program Taking Applications

Applications from the Garrett County Community Action Committee Office of Home Energy Program (formerly known as the Maryland Energy Assistance Program) will be accepted at the Grantsville Senior Center on Friday, Jan. 24, from 8:30 to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Persons who haven't applied for the program since July 1, 2002, need to submit an application at this time.

The Grantsville Senior Center is located at 125 Durst Road. For further information, persons may call the Home Energy Program office at 301-334-9431, ext. 121, or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 121.

Bilberry Leaf May Help Diabetes

The bilberry (also call bogberry) is a black, wrinkled fruit that comes from a plant in the same family as the plant that produces blueberries. According to The Review of Natural Drug Products, it was a common practice for World War II British pilots to eat bilberry preserves to improve their night vision. After the war, studies were conducted that confirmed the effectiveness of bilberries to improve visual acuity and facilitate faster visual adjustments between light and darkness.

There is an increasing use of the bilberry leaf in persons with diabetes mellitus. The leaf contains high levels of chromium, a mineral that helps maintain appropriate blood glucose (sugar levels). In addition, the leaf appears to improve the ulcerative dermatitis – a skin condition that may occur in persons with diabetes due to lack of movement in the lower limbs. A significant improvement has been observed in individuals who took products containing bilberry leaf. Studies have demonstrated that capillary fragility (leakage from small blood vessel) due to diabetes or other conditions is benefited from the use of bilberry.

The Prayer That Lasts A Lifetime

No, this does not mean that you will never have to remember to say your prayers again. Prayer should be something we desire to do often...just as we pick up the phone to call a friend. In fact, God is our best friend. The prayer we refer to herein is the "show me how to" prayer, as opposed to the "I want it and I need it now" prayer.

Harold Kushner observed... "People who pray for miracles usually don't get miracles...but people who pray for courage, for strength to bear the unbearable, for the grace to remember what they have left instead of what they have lost, very often find their prayers answered. Their prayers helped them tap hidden reserves of faith and courage that were not available to them."

Of course, miracles do happen. Yet, amidst unspeakable affliction, Job patiently prayed, not for a miracle but, "Teach me and I will be silent; make me understand..."[Job 6:24]. God is ready to teach us if we will but listen for His answer. With weekly worship and daily prayer we will gain the courage and wisdom we need for a lifetime.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

QUID EST VERITAS?

January 19, 2003

Background Scripture:
John 18:31-38; 19:12-16a.
Devotional Reading:
I Timothy 2:1-6..

In his native language, Latin, Pontius Pilate asked Jesus that immortal question, "Quid est veritas?"— "What is truth?" It would appear from John 18:37,38 that Pilate received no answer from Jesus, for, as soon as he asks, John goes on to say, "After he said this, he went out to the Jews again..."

I believe, however, that Jesus answered this question before Pilate even asked it. When Pilate asked, "Are you the King of the Jews?" Jesus tried to avoid the semantics trap, explaining that his "kingship is not of this world" (18:36). But Pilate persists and Jesus says, "For this I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth."

Jesus has already indicated that truth is not something you have, but what you are and do. He does not have in his human brain all the knowledge and truth of the universe, but he is the truth in that he leads us to God, the source of all truth. In Christianity's earliest days his followers were concerned, not with systematizing the ideas of Jesus, but following the example of their Lord. The truth was demonstrated in their lives individually and corporately. Jesus had said, not understand me, but Follow me!

Little Box Of Brains

For one thing, completely comprehending the truth may be impossible because, we can apprehend, but not comprehend it with our finite minds. In one of H.G. Wells' works, a Bishop converses with an angel and says, "You can tell me the truth." The angel gently grasps the Bishop's head in his hands and the Bishop asks, "But can this hold it?" "Not with this little box of brains," says the angel. "You could as soon make a meal of the stars and pack them into your belly. You haven't the things to do it with inside this."

The Bishop is not unique, for none of us have the mental equipment to entertain in ourselves the full truth. "Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth?" God challenged Job, "Tell me, if you have understanding" (Job 38:4). Job then understands his human limitation and answers: "...I have uttered what I did not understand, things too wonderful for me, which I did not know" (42:3b). Instead of finding answers to his questions, he finds God: "I had heard of thee by the hearing of the ear, but now my eye sees thee" (42:5).

Jesus told Pilate that his purpose in coming to the world was to "bear witness to the truth." The way in which Jesus conducted himself before Pilate was a witness to the truth of God. The whole drama from the Praetorium to the hill of Calvary was a pageant of the truth of God through the witness of Jesus Christ.

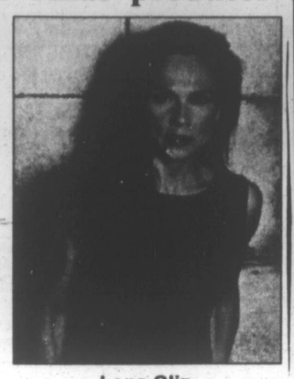
Truth's 'Companion'

We are never further from the truth than when we think of it as something to be possessed: I have it and I will let you have it! But, like Jesus, we need instead to point people to God so that they may experience the truth, not in lofty human ideas but in the experience of God's eternal source of truth. Charles Caleb Colton once said that "The greatest

TV PIPELINE

Olin not related to 'Alias' producer

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it



Lena Olin

Q: Is Lena Olin, the actress who plays Sydney's mother on "Alias," related to Ken Olin, one of the show's producers? –R. Rosenlof, Long Beach, Calif.

A: ABC publicist Jeff Fordis says the Swedish-born actress, who is the daughter of Ingmar Bergman acting colleague Stig Olin, is not related to American actor-producer Ken Olin. She is married to international director Lasse Hallstrom ("The Cider House Rules"), who directed her in the hit comedy "Chocolat."

Judging from my mailbag, most "Alias" fans agree with me that adding the beautiful and enigmatic Olin to the show as Sydney's mother is easily the most inspired casting coup of the current TV season. For all its "spy vs. spy" trappings, "Alias" is also one of the most profoundly moving family dramas on any network.

P.S.: For the record, Ken Olin is married to his former "thirtysomething" co-star Patricia Wettig, who has a recurring role on "Alias" as Sydney's CIA therapist, Dr. Judy Barnett.

Q: Who is the actor who plays car designer Harley Earl in the Buick commercials? And what relationship is "NYPD Blue" (director) Jesse Bochco to the show's creator, Steven Bochco? –Rosalie Carr, Sheffield Lake, Ohio.

A: Veteran character actor John Diehl, whom many remember as police Detective Larry Zito on "Miami Vice," appears in those Buick commercials. He also plays Michael Chiklis' unbalanced and corrupt boss on the FX series "The Shield" and has a recurring role on "The West Wing." Jesse Bochco is the son of Steven Bochco.

Q: What else has the young actor who plays Warren Cheswick on "Ed" done? Is this his first acting role? –Lucille Graham in Florida.

A: While attending Vassar College, Fairfield, Conn., native Justin Long, 24, was a member of the acclaimed sketch comedy group LaughingStock, and appeared in two low-budget films, "Boygazm" and "Time Writer," before making his commercial film debut as the sci-fi geek who assists Tim Allen and his crew in the 1999 movie comedy hit "Galaxy Quest."

Long's "Ed" role came along soon after that, as did the horror movie hit "Jeepers Creepers" and "Crossroads," in which he gave Britney Spears her first movie kiss. In 2003, he stars in the films "Like Hell: Jeepers Creepers 2" and "Bathroom Boy." Long is single and makes his home in New York when not filming "Ed" on location in New Jersey.

STUDENTS OF THE MONTH NAMED AT SHS – The Students of the Month for December were recently selected by the faculty of Southern High School. In the front, from the left, are Andrea Ryan, math; James Michaels, child care; and JoAnn Lewis, science. In the back are Tom Woods, principal; Gene Flinn, SHS alumnus and business partner for the month; Rob Sharps, SHS alumnus and business partner; Donald "Bret" DeWitt, English; Billy Reams, electronics; and Dan Frederick, social studies. The business partner for December was First United Bank and Trust. See story for more details.

Southern High Selects Students Of The Month For December

The Student of the Month winners for December at Southern High School were recently selected. They are James Michaels, child care; Donald "Bret" DeWitt, English; Billy Reams, electronics; Dan Frederick, social studies; Jo Ann Lewis, science; and Andrea Ryan, math.

Michaels, a senior, is the son of John and Geraldine Michaels. He has received the distinguished honor roll and honor roll many times as an underclassman. He was the president of the National Art Honor Society and the Art Student of the Year in ninth grade. He was also nominated for Who's Who in ninth through eleventh grades. He is the senior member of Pandora's Box Teen Theater and is involved in the youth group at Glade Mennonite Church. He plans to attend a university or art school and major in early childhood and education.

DeWitt, a freshman, is the son of Don and Leona DeWitt. He plays football as a tailback for the J.V. team and is a post player for the freshman basketball team. He also plays baseball and received the National Science Award. He is a member of a local 4-H club and plans to attend Penn State University and become a doctor.

Reams, a junior, is the son of Bradley and Lenora Reams. He has received Minds in Motion award, has been on the distinguished honor roll and honor roll, and has been named Student of the Month. He plans to attend a college after high school.

Frederick, a sophomore, is the son of Duane and Bonnie Frederick. He is the trumpet section leader for the marching, stage, and concert bands. He has received a Minds in Motion award and has been named on the honor roll. He was Student of the Month in ninth grade for science. He helps with Bible school and runs the P.A system at his church. He also volunteers to work at the band booth at the Garrett County Fair. He plans to attend a four-year college after high school.

Lewis, a senior, is the daughter of Rick and Nancy Lewis. She has earned the distinguished honor roll, honor roll, and perfect attendance status, and was named to Who's Who. She is involved in chorus and the Spanish club, and is a member of the National Society of High School Scholars. She is a member of her church and hopes to attend college and major in veterinarian science.

Ryan, a junior, is the daughter of Jeff and Alma Ryan. She has received Student of the Month honor for math in tenth grade, has earned the distinguished honor roll and honor roll status, and received the Minds in Motion award. She is a probationary member of the National Honor Society and is a student council representative for the eleventh grade class. She attends Grace Bible Church in Accident. She plans to attend West Virginia University to major in mathematics or science and become a teacher.

Local Students Begin Aeronautical Tech. Program

The Pittsburgh Institute of Aeronautics announced that two local students began its 21-month aeronautical maintenance technician program this week.

Anthony Ackerman, Oakland, and Daniel W. O'Brien, Swanton, will receive an associate in specialized technology degree, as well as test for the Federal Aviation Administration's Airframe and Powerplant Certification, upon completion of the program. Both students are 2002 graduates of Southern High School.

Garrett Masonry Program Lays Out Course Schedule

A 56 hour course in masonry has been scheduled at Garrett College during spring semester as the first offering of the newly established Adult Career and Technology Academy, a cooperative effort between the Garrett County Board of Education and the college. The masonry academy course will begin on March 19 and will meet on Wednesdays from 5 to 9 p.m. for 18 weeks.

Ed Bach, instructor of brick, block and stone at Northern and Southern high schools, will be the instructor for the new course that will meet at one of the schools, depending on where the majority of students live. In addition to teaching for four years, Bach has had extensive experience working with masonry in the construction industry. The course will provide students opportunities for "hands on" learning experiences as they work in the field.

According to Julie Yoder, who will direct the new Adult Career and Technology Academy, the purpose of the course offerings will be to help adult students develop the occupational and technological skills needed for today's job market. Future development of the academy will depend upon enrollment in the courses offered.

Anyone desiring further information about the masonry course or planning to register for it should contact Yoder at 301-387-3101.

GC Sets Evening Class Slate For CAOS Facility

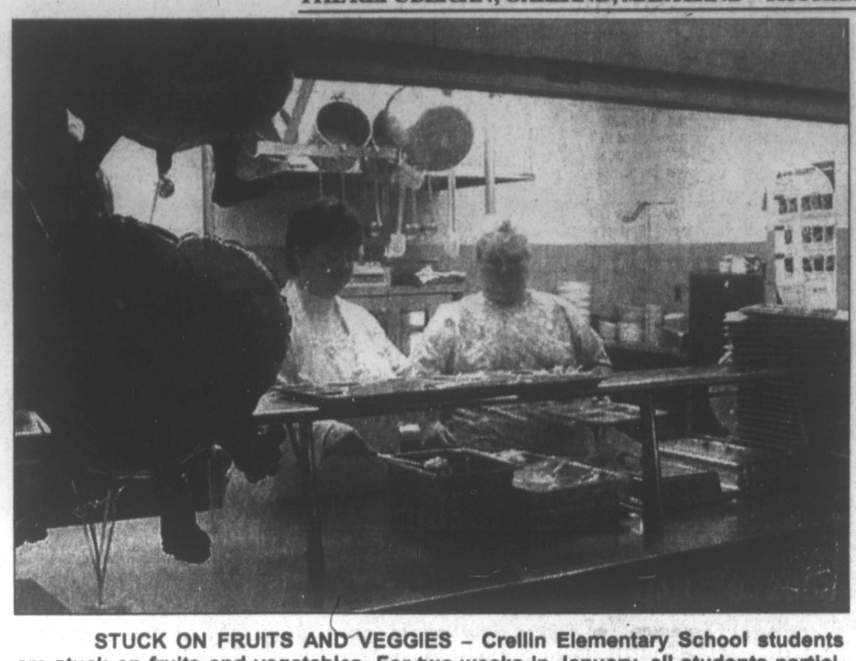
Six evening courses are being offered by Garrett College during spring semester in the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies. Some of these courses have specific prerequisites, while others are open to all interested students.

Animal Health (ANSC 103) is scheduled on Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. This course covers health problems of farm animals plus treatment procedures for common ailments, and stresses health programs as preventive measures. Greenhouse Management and Production (HORT 132) will be given on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m. The course focuses on structures, equipment, maintenance, and general procedures associated with commercial greenhouse production.

Water Quality Assessment (ENT 225) will be given on Thursdays from 5 to 8 p.m. The course covers chemical and biological assessment of water quality, including physical and chemical characteristics of water, basic stream and lake biology, use of water quality testing kits, and rapid biological assessment techniques, with emphasis on field experience. Environmental Science and Contemporary Natural Resource Issues (NRW 105 and 106) is scheduled for Tuesdays from 5 to 9 p.m. This two-semester course presents an overview of the natural environment, including all external conditions and influences that affect the life, development and, ultimately, the survival of humankind.

Three levels of welding technology courses are again being offered in spring semester. Fundamentals of Welding (WT 135) is scheduled for Monday from 6 to 10 p.m. Intermediate Welding I (WT 136) is scheduled on Tuesdays from 6 to 10 p.m., and Intermediate Welding II (WT 137) on Thursdays from 6 to 10 p.m. A student who successfully passes all three levels is qualified to take the test for welding certification.

Students may register for these courses at the Student Assistance Center Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a.m to 6:30 p.m. and Fridays until 6:30 p.m. Classes begin Tuesday, Jan. 21. Anyone desiring further information may call 301-387-3044.



STUCK ON FRUITS AND VEGGIES – Crellin Elementary School students are stuck on fruits and vegetables. For two weeks in January, all students participating in the school lunch program are being encouraged to taste the featured fruit or vegetable for the day. All students who accept the challenge receive the daily fruit or vegetable sticker to display on their hands or shirts. They are into the second week of the taste tests, and so far 99% of the students have met the challenge successfully. The activity is being sponsored by the Garrett County School Food and Nutrition Services and the Garrett County Food Stamp Nutrition Education Program (FSNEP). FSNEP is funded by USDA in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Human Resources and the University of Maryland. Pictured above, Karen Friend and Regina Burns, Food & Nutrition Services employees, are preparing for student taste testing.

Kitzmiller VFD Sets "Cash Bash" Benefit At Elks

Tickets are currently on sale for a "cash bash" fundraiser, sponsored by the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department, slated for Saturday, March 8, at the Oakland Elks Lodge. The doors open at 3 p.m., and the event will run from 4 to 10 p.m.

Tickets for the cash bash are $25 each, which makes the ticket holder eligible for drawings of $500 each that will take place every 15 minutes, and the grand prize award of $4,500 cash. Winners do not have to be present at the time of the drawings, and multiple winnings by the same ticket holder are possible. There will also be two merchandise raffle tables at the lodge hall: a $2 ticket purchase will entitle the holder to drawings for merchandise valued between $200 and $300; a $3 ticket purchase gains entry into a drawing for merchandise valued between $300 and up.

Raffle tickets can be obtained from any member of the Kitzmiller VFD, or by contacting fire chief Shawn Nazelrod at 301-453-3178.

Law Enforcement Courses Slated At Garrett College

Two law enforcement courses are being offered by Garrett College during evening hours of spring semester. Both courses are open to all interested students who have acceptable reading and writing skills.

Introduction to Criminal Justice (LE 110), a three credit course, will be taught by Elizabeth Biser, director of the Juvenile Justice program, on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m. This course focuses on the purposes and functions of the criminal justice system and how it serves society, including the philosophy and development of law enforcement, corrections and the courts at the levels of federal, state and local agencies.

Criminal Law (LE 210) will be taught by Jack Turney, former judge of Garrett County District Court, on Thursdays from 6:35 to 9:35. This three credit course presents basic principles of criminal law with emphasis on statutes pertaining to search, seizure, arrest and rules of evidence. It includes major classifications of crimes and recent Supreme Court decisions relating to law enforcement and the criminal code of Maryland.

Students may register for these courses at the Student Assistance Center Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., and on Fridays until 4 p.m. Spring semester classes begin Jan. 21. Persons interested in further information may call 301-387-3044.

Local Students Graduate From Allegany College

Allegany College of Maryland graduated 140 students at fall commencement exercises held recently on the Cumberland campus.

Six local students received the following degrees or certificates: Aletha Dunithan, Elk Garden, W.Va., nursing; Katrina Beth Glotfelty, Friendsville, nursing; Deborah Fay James, Kitzmiller, nursing; Ann Marie Dunaway, Oakland, legal nurse certificate; Jenny M. Fike-Hocahard, Salisbury Pa., phlebotomy/EKG technician certificate; and Katie Swindell, Salisbury, elementary education.

STUDENTS BRIGHTEN HOSPITALIZED KIDS' HOLIDAY – Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently received gifts for children who were hospitalized during the Christmas holiday. Students from the Partners After School Program, through the Garrett County Community Action Committee, sold candles to purchase the gifts for the hospitalized children. The students also shopped for, purchased, and wrapped the gifts themselves. The students are pictured above proudly displaying their gifts prior to distributing them at the hospital. In the front row, left to right, are Chantelle Friend, Jordan Jamison, Matthew Friend, and Nic Sines. In the second row are Courtney Tasker, Brooke Winning, Bethany Soult, Max Liller, Dillan Nazelrod, and Jonathon Cummings. In the third row are Michelle Knotts, Ben Vanderbilt, program coordinator Mendy Paugh, Tiffany Thrift, Tony Soult, and program aide Kathy Welch. Unavailable for the photo were program aide Patricia Falkner and AmeriCrops member Ben Bernard.

DCL State Park Schedules Nature For Tots Program

"Nature for Tots," an educational program for stay-at-home mothers and fathers and their children ages 3 through 5, will be offered at the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discover Center beginning next month. There will be six weekly sessions that will meet each Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to noon beginning on Feb. 5.

The program is designed to introduce children to the natural world around them through activities including interactive nature programs, hikes, stories, and crafts. Parents must remain with their child and are encouraged to participate in the activities.

As space is limited, early registration is required. For the cost and additional information, persons may call DNR naturalist Todd Metz at the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

Nominees Sought For Elks' Teachers, Citizen Of The Year

The Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 is looking for nominees for Elks Elementary/Middle School Teacher of the Year, Elks Secondary School Teacher of the Year, and Elks Citizen of the Year.

Anyone who wishes to nominate a candidate may do so; neither the nominator nor the nominee need to be Elk members.

Persons wishing to nominate someone for any of these awards may write a letter stating which award and why he or she should receive that award. The letters are to be mailed to Pam Eyler (teacher awards), Mike Saunders (citizen award), or Exhalted Ruler Sandra Brantner, either award, at Oakland Elks Lodge, 100 Elk Street, Oakland, MD 21550. Letters must be received by Jan. 31.

All awards will be presented at the lodge's annual volunteer dinner on Friday, Feb. 28.

GC Slates Course For Aspiring Business Owners

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett College will offer a course titled "Realizing the Dream of Self Employment" beginning Jan. 28. Classes will be held on Tuesday evenings from 6 until 8:30 p.m.

The course is for those considering starting or have just started a small business. This 12–session course covers every aspect of starting and operating a small business, including the world of business, defining the dream, financing the dream, the goal train, pricing products and services, finding a market, managing cash flow, the business of business, managing records, and understanding financial statements.

Class instructor will be Alice Bosley. For more information or to register, persons may call Sue Smith at 301-387-3080.

Bartlett Sworn In To Sixth Term As Representative

Sixth District Congressman Roscoe Bartlett (R) was sworn in last week to his sixth term in Congress. Bartlett now ranks 131st in seniority among the 435 members of the House of Representatives.

"It's easy to forget that the most significant news of today's swearing in of the 108th Congress is that once again Americans have established a new world record of governance as a constitutional democratic republic," said Bartlett after he was sworn in.

The Congressman said among his top agenda items of the 108th Congress are winning the war on terrorism while preserving Americans' civil liberties, strengthening the economy, improving education, and providing prescription drug coverage for poor seniors.

Bartlett will be the chairman of the Subcommittee on Force Projection of the House Armed Services Committee during the 108th Congress.

"I believe strongly that the most certain path to peace is to prepare for war," said Bartlett. He added that he looks forward to working with chairman Duncan Hunter and ranking member Congressman Gene Taylor (D-Miss.)

Bartlett has served 10 years on the Armed Services Committee and was chairman of the Panel on Morale, Welfare, and Recreation in the 107th Congress.

"I am humbled by the privilege and the responsibility to uphold the legacy of our nation's founders and the generations before me who worked to preserve, protect and fulfill the promises of our Constitution for all Americans," said Bartlett. "I never forget the extraordinary trust the voters of Maryland's Sixth District have placed in me to represent their interests in the Congress to solve the extraordinary challenges facing our country."

Beer Coasters

Q. I have more than 800 coasters, mostly from the 1980s. I collected them while traveling in Europe and the United Kingdom. How can I get in touch with other collectors? — Audrey, Vernon, B.C., Canada

A. Most people who collect coasters are only interested in ones promoting regional beers. With that said, I highly recommend the British Beermat Collectors Society. Tony Mathews is president of the group, which has members throughout the world. The address is 69 Dunnington Ave., Kidderminster, Worcestershire DY 10 2YT, United Kingdom. Two serious collectors are George Barone, 94 Ridgeview Place, Cheshire, CT 06410; and Steve Barile, 1905 Hunter Lane, Brandon, FL 33510.

Q. I have a gas iron in its original box. How can I find out how much it is worth? — Winnie, Stratton, Colo.

A. Leo and Nina Smith have been collecting unusual irons for almost four decades. Their address is 53 Dawn Drive, Pleasant Hill, CA 94523. Although the focus is on sad irons (a heavy, solid flatiron), not gas ones, there is an excellent newsletter that might also be helpful. Pressing News is issued quarterly by the Mid-West Sad Iron Collectors Club, 6903 Singingwood Lane, St. Louis, MO 63129.

(Note: Sad irons were popular in the 19th century and were heated on cast-iron stoves. "Sad" is an archaic word meaning "heavy.")

Behavior Consulting for the Birds

Q. Is it true that pet owners can hire "behavior consultants" for their birds? Isn't this just some kind of cheap "pop" psychology? — Heather in New Hampshire

A. Yes, there is such a thing as a behavior consultant specifically for pet birds, but their expertise isn't a sort of pop psychology. These consultants can literally save a bird's life.

A consultant is often called in by an owner whose bird is showing signs of emotional stress and has not responded to the owner's treatment. Birds that shriek constantly, or damage their own feathers, or bite and show aggressiveness, or just do things that confuse, annoy or worry their owners can all benefit from a visit by a trained consultant.

Behavior consultants offer a range of options to the owner, such as in-home or group counseling sessions. They typically ask several questions before making an appointment, such as the type and age of the bird, where it was purchased, its normal attitude and how long the problem has been going on.

The consultant will try to draw a connection between the bird's behavior and its environment, including its diet, living conditions and interactions with humans. Some will add grooming or towel play to their evaluation — if the bird responds poorly to the towel, a serious health problem may be occurring. Finally, the consultant will recommend (or handle) the best therapy to correct the issue.

These counselors aren't cheap, so owners who want to try this route should do their homework and find a qualified consultant with good references. A veterinarian, breeder or bird store can often recommend good consultants. The Internet is another option, but again, do your homework.

Md. Support Of Local Education Comes Up Short, Report Indicates

By Meghan Mullan
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Maryland ranks 47th in the nation in the percentage of state aid it provides to public school students, a practice that creates inequity in school funding across the state, according to a recent national report.

"Maryland appears to be targeting its state resources to needy areas, but because the state's share of funding is low that money can only go so far," said Kathryn Doherty, the research director for the "Quality Counts" report released Tuesday by Education Week.

Because most of Maryland's school funding comes from local tax revenue, poorer districts are left with fewer funds, Doherty said.

State educators acknowledge the problem, but see a solution in last year's "groundbreaking" Bridge to Excellence in Public Schools Act, the so-called Thornton law. The act, if fully funded over a five-year period, will redistribute tax dollars to target the greatest aid to the poorest school districts.

But with a new legislature and a new governor, and a state budget shortfall that could be as high as $1.8 billion over the next two years, officials admit that funding for equity in schools could be vulnerable.

The Education Week report said state aid to students in Maryland accounts for only 40.2 percent of total per pupil costs. Virginia and Delaware cover 45.6 and 70.2 percent of per pupil costs, respectively.

The report gave Maryland a grade of D– for equity, to Virginia's C– and Delaware's grade of B. It adjusted for regional cost differences when calculating equity in funding. The Thornton law, if fully funded, would bring Maryland's share of local per pupil education costs up to 49 percent, said Alvin Thornton, chairman of the commission that recommended the new formula.

The current disproportionate funding in the state is a result of a history of strong county governments in the state, said Carl W. Smith, executive director the Maryland Association of Boards of Education.

Some jurisdictions, like Montgomery County, fund millions of dollars over what they are mandated by law, Smith said, while other counties fund as little as $20 over what is mandatory.

"Some children live around property that is very valuable in this state and some live in jurisdictions that are just too poor to fund their children adequately," said Thornton, an associate provost at Howard University.

In Somerset County, for example, Thornton said "children are picking chickens and in Montgomery County their parent's are NIH (National Institutes of Health) scientists, yet they are held to the same standards."

Standards and accountability were a bright spot for Maryland, which got an A in the Education Week report. Doherty said the grade reflects Maryland's comprehensive assessment program.

Thornton agreed that the state has a demanding testing program, but argued that the state needs to back up high standards with adequate funding for all students.

"Parents have been bludgeoned with poor results on assessments when the system was grossly under-funded," he said.

Maryland Department of Education spokesman Bill Reinhard said the state hopes to "come up better next year" in the Quality Counts report card.

Thornton expects it will do better — if the Thornton law is fully funded. If it is not, he said, he believes there will be "a legal problem."

But Thornton concedes that even if his commission's recommendations are fully funded it is not likely to entirely solve the problem, adding that there is only "complete equity in church and in heaven."

FSU Summer Math/Science Center Slated

Frostburg State University will offer its Upward Bound Regional Math/Science Center, a free summer residential program for students currently in the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades, from June 29 to Aug. 8.

The goal of the Regional Math/Science Center (RMSC) is to help interested and qualified high school students develop the skills necessary for successful admission into and completion of college programs that will lead to careers in mathematics and science. "The Regional Math/Science Center provides an excellent opportunity for students to meet others who share their academic interests, to get a head start on college preparation, and to challenge themselves to excel," a spokesperson said.

Participants work to improve their math and science skills while conducting an environmental science research project. The students are exposed to hands-on laboratory and field based experiences to facilitate learning and inspire career goals.

In addition to the academics, students participate in recreational activities and culturally stimulating field trips that are designed to promote enthusiasm and individual growth. During the school year, the RMSC staff keeps in touch with the students to provide academic support and motivation. Those accepted are expected and encouraged to continue in the program until they graduate from high school.

Currently the program has openings for students residing in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties; Baltimore City or Maryland's Eastern Shore counties; the Appalachian region of Pennsylvania; and the entire state of West Virginia. Eligible applicants must meet U.S. Department of Education income criteria or be a potential first-generation college graduate. Students currently enrolled in Upward Bound or Talent Search programs automatically meet those criteria.

A detailed list of the eligibility requirements, plus additional information and applications, can be obtained by calling the Regional Math/Science Center office at 1-800-646-6004 or 301-687-4295, or by consulting the center's Web site at www.frostburg.edu/clife/mscenter/.

Garrett County Helped Lay Path For Lewis And Clark

By Paul Shogren

The famed Lewis and Clark Expedition, entering its bicentennial year, passed through Garrett County in its formative stages, as the following account explains. The Garrett County Historical Society is seeking volunteers to help preserve and commemorate the history of the expedition, and the French and Indian War, which will mark its 250th anniversary beginning next year. Details on volunteering appear at the end of this article.

Most people consider that the Lewis and Clark Expedition began and ended at St. Louis, Mo., from 1804 to 1806; however, the year 1803 was the year of preparation, education, and recruitment for the men of the "Corps of Discovery" — so named by President Thomas Jefferson.

So what happened in 1803?

•The Louisiana Territory, which the Corps was to explore, was purchased from the French for $15 million (3 cents per acre), doubling the size of the nation with one purchase.

•Lewis was sent to Philadelphia by Jefferson to learn natural science, medicine, and navigation from the leading experts of that time. He began purchasing supplies, which included a "portable" soup (dehydrated meat stew), scientific instruments, and trade goods.

•Upon leaving Philadelphia, he rode horseback to Harpers Ferry to purchase weapons, more trade goods, and blacksmithing equipment.

•From Harpers Ferry, Lewis continued through Cumberland via the Braddock Road to Pittsburgh where he had a keelboat and two pirogues (dugout canoes) built for use on the expedition.

•While descending the Ohio River, Lewis met his co-leader Clark at Clarksville, Ind., thereby beginning one of the most famous and successful partnerships in American history. Along the way soldiers with frontier skills were recruited to form an army platoon of 34 men which became the permanent party traveling to the Pacific Ocean (a trip of about 4,000 miles one way) and back through territory known only by over 30 Indian tribes whose land the Corps had to pass through to reach the ocean.

•The platoon arrived at Wood River, Ill. (opposite St. Louis), where it established its first winter camp, Fort Dubois. More supplies were purchased, and the soldiers were trained into a military unit by the captains.

GC Historical Observances

The Garrett County Historical Society has established a committee to promote the Lewis and Clark Expedition Bicentennial and to preserve the remnants of the Braddock Road.

The committee has also taken on the responsibility of promoting the 250th anniversary of the French and Indian War from 2004 to 2010, which will include a re-enactment of the Braddock March that will take place in June and July 2005. The march will originate in Hampton Roads, Va., and end in Braddock, Pa., where General Braddock met his demise.

With all these commemorations, Garrett Countians have much national history to take part in or relearn about. Volunteers are needed not only to preserve the remnants of the Braddock Road, but also to assist in the commemorations and the Braddock March.

Persons who are interested in volunteering to assist with these efforts are asked to call GCHS vice president and Lewis and Clark Expedition Bicentennial Committee chairman Paul Shogren at the Historical Society museum at 301-334-3226, or at home at 301-334-1386.

PROVIDING A WINDOW INTO HISTORY, the Garrett County Historical Society and the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland have sponsored this window display to promote the bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, which was in its planning stages in 1803 when Meriwether Lewis traveled through northern Garrett County on the Braddock Road (today's National Highway) en route to his meeting with William Clark in Indiana. The clothing and equipment are on loan from the collection of local residents Jane and Chuck Nolan. The full display shown above includes a mannequin dressed in buckskins and accouterments similar to what expedition members wore after their uniforms were stowed in the boats. Also on the right side of the same window are maps and photos of the entire Braddock Road from Cumberland to the state line. These were provided by Cumberland resident Robert Bantz, who mapped the exact route using the Global Positioning System (GPS). Details of the left side of the window display are pictured below, including a flintlock muzzleloader of the type carried by the soldiers plus a buffalo hide, cooking and eating utensils, and other "necessaries" needed for the 2-year sojourn in the wilderness. The Historical Society is seeking volunteers to assist in various upcoming historical commemorations, including a re-enactment of the Braddock March, part of the observances noting next year's 250th anniversary of the beginning of the French and Indian War. See story for details.

Carol Hirschburg Will Speak At Chamber Event

A public relations professional in the Baltimore-Washington area, Carol L. Hirschburg, will be among the speakers on January 31 at Garrett College when the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce presents the economic conference "Our Story." Hirschburg has also handled public affairs for business, not-for-profit, and political clients for more than 20 years and has worked with the media in the metropolitan area as well as in the mid-Atlantic region and nationally.

"In addition to her superb skills in strategizing and implementing media relations programs, Ms. Hirschburg has extensive contacts in the business and political communities throughout Maryland. Her areas of expertise also include event planning and management, message development and media training, and speechwriting," said chamber president Charlie Ross.

A graduate of Ohio University, Hirschburg began her career with a Baltimore public relations firm, where in five years she advanced from trainee to vice president and director of creative services. She left that firm to form her own consultancy, which specialized in public relations, government relations, and grassroots programs. From 1990 to 1993, she served as communications director for Baltimore County. After returning to her consultancy, her clients included Ellen Sauerbrey's 1994 and 1998 campaigns for governor of Maryland.

In 1995, Ms. Hirschburg was selected by the International Republic Institute to participate in a media training program for emerging political leaders in Russia. She was a contributing writer for the Guidebook to Maryland Legislators 1995-1998 and both edited and wrote for the Guidebook to Maryland Legislators 1999-2002.

For more information on the conference, persons may contact the chamber at 301-387-4386.

Local Man Is Top Academy Grad

Shane Eugene Kyle, Grantsville, has earned highest honors as class valedictorian of the recent graduating class of the Maryland Department of Corrections Hagerstown Regional Training Academy.

Kyle is the husband of Naomi Kyle and father of Dustin Kyle. He is the son of Larry and Joan Kyle.

Local Cancer Patients Benefit From Community Fund-Raisers

Relay for Life, Daffodil Days Help Fund Services

Every person who takes part in one of the annual fund-raising efforts of the American Cancer Society (ACS) is helping provide services that benefit their neighbors here on the mountaintop who are battling cancer. Proceeds raised by the Relay for Life, and the Daffodil Days flower sale fund a number of patient services that are available to all Garrett County residents.

The 2003 Relay For Life is slated for Friday evening through Saturday morning, June 13-14, at the Southern High School track. A kick-off celebration is set for Tuesday, Jan. 21, at Garrett College, and more information on the kick-off is available from Linda Fike at 301-387-3749. Co-chairs of this year's Relay event are Fike and Deana Clester.

Daffodil Days offers daffodils — "the flowers of hope" — for sale during March. For more information about the sales in Garrett County, persons may call ACS income development specialist Doug Riley at 1-800-287-2317. Sue Evans is serving as chairman of this year's Daffodil Days fund-raiser.

Those local benefit projects fund the following ACS patient services in Garrett County, each of which is also chaired by a local resident.

•"Road to Recovery," coordinated by Mildred O'Haver, is a program that provides transportation for cancer patients to doctors' appointments and cancer treatment. There are five trained drivers ready to transport patients. Persons with such transportation needs may call 1-800-ACS-2345.

•"Reach to Recovery," coordinated by Mary Lou Buckley, provides one-on-one information for breast cancer patients from women who are themselves breast cancer survivors. Any breast cancer patients who would like a visit from a Reach to Recovery volunteer may call 1-800-ACS-2345. Three visits were made during 2002 in Garrett County.

•"I Can Cope," coordinated by Donna McClintock and Nancy-Elizabeth Nimmich, offers training for those with cancer and/or their family members on how to cope with this disease. Eight social workers have been trained through the program, and one session was offered during 2002 that was attended by eight participants. Sessions will be offered quarterly this year

•"Look Good, Feel Better," coordinated by Deana Clester, provides an opportunity for persons who are going through cancer treatment to receive a make over from trained cosmetologists. Seven Garrett County cosmetologists have been trained, and they have provided make-over sessions for 10 women. Sessions will be offered quarterly in Garrett County.

•"Man to Man," coordinated by Rev. Chip Lee, offers one-on-one information for prostate cancer patients from a man who is a survivor of prostate cancer.

•"Tell A Friend," coordinated by Linda Ashby, is a program that encourages women to have a mammogram. Employees from the Department of Social Services contacted 80 women and encouraged them to get a mammogram. DSS is the current trophy holder for "contacts made," and is looking for a business or organization to take that trophy away by making more than 80 contacts.

For further information on the "I Can Cope," "Look Good, Feel Better," "Man to Man," or "Tell A Friend" programs, persons may call ACS cancer control specialist Tenna Taylor at 1-888-227-9979.

•"Generation Fit" and "Slip, Slop, Slap, Wrap" are two programs available to school students. "Active for Life," coordinated by Shelly Argabrite, is available to encourage employees in a workplace setting to become and stay active. Persons may call Taylor for more information about "Active for Life."

The Garrett County Unit of the American Cancer Society was established in February of last year. The current board officers are Terry Riley, president; Linda Ashby, cancer control vice president; Sandi Winters, income development vice president; and Phyllis Vitez, secretary.

The next meeting of the ACS Garrett County Unit board will take place Tuesday, Feb. 4, at Garrett College. For further information, persons may call Terry Riley at 301-334-7705.

Garrett Memorial Holds Legislative Breakfast Mtg.

Personnel of Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently held a legislative breakfast to discuss the statewide healthcare legislative issues affecting all local health care systems.

Among the issues presented by Donald P. Battista, president and CEO of GCMH, were medical malpractice and litigation crises, workforce shortages, the enhancement of medical coverage for Maryland's uninsured, and the hospital's new emergency wing building expansion.

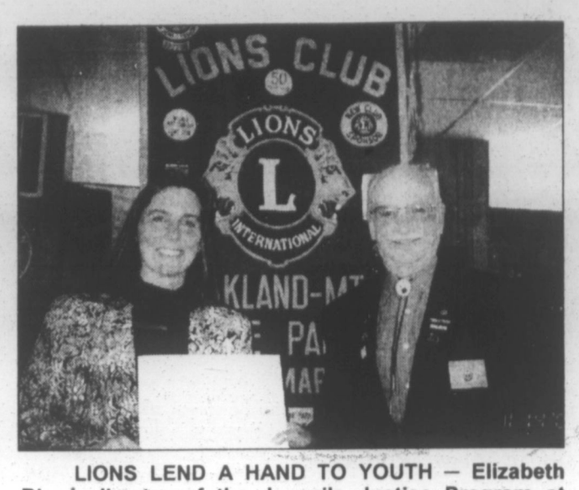
In addition to Battista, those attending the breakfast were Senator John Hafer, Delegate George Edwards, Garrett County commissioners Fred Holliday, Ernest Gregg, and David Beard, and Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator. Also in attendance were members of the GCMH board of governors, the medical executive committee, and senior hospital administrative staff.

Free Tax Prep Service Slated At Senior Ctr.

Free preparation of individual federal and state income tax returns will be offered at the Mary Browning Center in Oakland on Tuesdays and Thursdays from noon to 4 p.m., and Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m., beginning Thursday, Jan. 30, and continuing through April 15. The service will include free electronic filing of returns.

No appointment is required, and taxpayers may have their returns completed while they wait or return later for pickup, typically during the next tax preparation day. Taxpayers are asked to bring their last year's returns to the sessions.

The program is organized by the American Association of Retired Persons, under contract with the Internal Revenue Service, and is sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Committee. The Mary Browning Center is located at 104 East Center Street.



LIONS LEND A HAND TO YOUTH – Elizabeth Biser, director of the Juvenile Justice Program at Garrett College, spoke at a recent meeting of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club about efforts to stem youth violence. Biser is seeking community support to bring nationally renowned anti-violence educator Jackson Katz to the county in an effort to develop "Mentors in Violence Prevention" (MVP) programs through the college and the local public school system. The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club has pledged $500 to this effort. Biser is interested in talking to other civic and service groups about the MVP program, and other interested parties may contact her at Garrett College at 301-387-3142. Biser is shown accepting a certificate of appreciation from Lions Club president Robert Stockslager.

In Memory of Bill O'Brien

Don't grieve for me, for now I'm free,
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took His hand when I heard Him call,
I turned my back and left it all.

I could not stay another day
To laugh, to love, to work or play,
I've found that peace at the close of day.

If my parting has left a void,
Then fill it with remembered joy.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss.
Ah, yes, these things I too will miss.

Be not burdened with times of sorrow.
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full, I savored much,
Good friends, good times,
A loved one's touch.

Perhaps my time seemed all too brief.
Don't lengthen it now with undue grief.

Always in our hearts,
Your girls

Attending Youth Defense Forum In Washington

Mtn. Lake Park resident Natalie Domenick has been selected to participate in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence, and Diplomacy (NYLF/DID), which will take place in Washington, D.C., next month. The one-week program draws approximately 400 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from across America who have demonstrated academic achievement and an interest in a career related to national security.

Domenick is a junior Southern High School, where she has earned All-State honors in varsity cross country and track. She is also a member of the school newspaper staff, a peer counselor, and a probationary member of the National Honor Society. She attends the Loch Lynn Church of God and is a member of the Rock Youth Group. Domenick is the daughter of Theresa and Dr. Mark Domenick.

The NYLF is a non-partisan, non-profit educational organization. The forum's curriculum is based on actual world events, which allows participants to learn from examples set by previous generations of leaders, "while encouraging them to develop a perspective and tenacity unique to upcoming generations of leaders." Throughout the forum, students will examine how the U.S. plans for peace and prepares for crisis. Students will meet with leaders from key agencies and institutions.

In the past, NYLF/DID participants have visited several government institutions and military installations, including the U.S. Department of State, the U.S. Marine Corps Combat Development Command at Quantico, the Defense Intelligence Agency, the U.S. Naval Academy, and various embassies.

"By participating in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Defense, Intelligence and Diplomacy, students will develop a keenly educated perspective on the United States' role in global conflict resolution," said NYLF executive director Donna Snyder.

The annual scholarship book of the Garrett College Foundation is now available. The publication provides information about scholarships administered by the GCF which are offered for the 2003-2004 academic year at Garrett College.

The scholarship application is included in the scholarship book. There is no fee to apply for GCF scholarships. The deadline to apply is Feb. 28 for the fall 2003, spring 2004 academic year.

One of every 11 students enrolled at Garrett College for the current academic year was awarded a GCF scholarship, according to a foundation spokesperson. The foundation has competitive merit and need scholarships available for prospective students as well as current ones. Scholarships are offered for both part-time and full-time students, and for residents of the county as well as other locations.

Current high school juniors in Garrett County who are considering enrolling at Garrett in the Early College Admissions Program (ECAP) for the '03-'04 academic year are also encouraged to apply for scholarships.

Persons are not required to have applied for admission to GC at the time they apply for GCF scholarships.

The scholarship book is available at the Garrett College Financial Aid Office at the campus in McHenry, as well as at the college's Oakland Center and Grantsville Center. Northern and Southern high school students may contact their guidance offices for the book. Reference copies are available at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library and in the college library. Its contents may also be viewed at the GC web site: www.garrettcollege.edu/foundation.

The financial aid office at Garrett College may be reached at 301-387-3083.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
by Will Gallagher

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Dec. 12, 2002. President Jennifer Lowdermilk called the meeting to order. Before the meeting, the club had its annual Christmas dinner. Food was brought by all the members' parents, and the location was the Sand Spring Church.

In new business, the club elected new officers. They are as follows: Darrick Lowdermilk, president; David Smearman, vice president; Hannah Sines, secretary; Molly Wolf, treasurer; and Lindsay Wolf, reporter.

Leaving seniors were announced. They are Will Gallagher, Mitchell and Michael Guard, Jennifer Lowdermilk, Shelby Glover, and Mark Wolf.

The executive committee/parent meeting was held on Jan. 12, and the educational programs and activities were planned for 2003. Record books are due to the leader by Jan. 18.

The meeting was adjourned. The next meeting will be held on Feb. 13 at the Guard farm.

GRANTSVILLE
by Brittany Wilhelm

The January meeting was called to order by President Autumn Rizer. Megan Wilhelm and Janine Beachy lead the pledges.

This was our annual Club Achievement Night. We had a covered dish dinner for families and guests. There were 54 people in attendance, including a few special guests. Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, represented by Danny Durst, donated a food booth to the club, which was greatly appreciated. Ann Sherrard from the Extension Office was present for the installation of officers ceremony and to hand out club awards.

Some of the top awards were as follows: Aaron Wilhelm, graduating member; Jared Beachy, outstanding male member; Bridgette Welch, outstanding female member; and Kris Knox, most exhibit entries for 2002.

Donors to the club, Grantsville Foodland and Alice Smith, were also recognized.

All members received pins, pencils, and balloons. Nine members received 100% attendance pins, and four new members joined.

The officers for 2003 are Bridgette Welch, president; Amanda Beitzel, vice president; Ashley Beitzel, secretary; Kelli Wilhelm, treasurer; and Brittany Wilhelm, reporter.

The business meeting was held. Adam Rounds gave a demonstration. The meet-ing was adjourned by the new president, Bridgette Welch.

The next meeting will be held on Feb. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club building. Anyone interested in becoming a new member is welcome to attend.

Farming On The Mountaintop

State's Corn, Soybean Harvests Slashed By Summer Drought

by Elizabeth A. Shack
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — The drought slashed Maryland's corn and soybean harvests nearly in half last year, to their lowest levels in more than a decade, according to a report released Friday.

Maryland's corn yield, 76 bushels per acre, was the lowest since 1988, and the soybean yield, 23 bushels per acre, was the lowest since 1987, according to the final 2002 numbers released by the National Agricultural Statistics Service.

"It was probably the worst year I have seen personally as far as drought is concerned," said Bob Tibbs, who has been farming in Harford County since 1962.

Tibbs said his corn and soybean crops were "all over the board." Corn planted early did well, since there was enough moisture in the ground to get it started, and the shade those stalks produced kept the ground from drying out. By mid-May the ground was very dry, however, and the corn he planted in midsummer fared poorly.

"What you'll see is a very dismal picture," said David Knopf, NASS statistician. "It was an ugly year, one of the worst in several years."

Overall corn production fell from 55.8 million bushels in 2001 to 32.3 million bushels in 2002, and the yield of corn for grain dropped 44.1 percent, from 136 bushels per acre in 2001. Soybean production fell from 20.1 million bushels to 10.8 million bushels, while the yield dropped 41.0 percent, from 39 bushels per acre.

Nationwide, the corn and soybean yields dropped 5.9 percent and 4.5 percent, respectively, according to the report.

New Jersey, South Carolina, and Virginia had larger drops in corn production than Maryland, but the state's soybean drop was the largest in the country. Virginia had a drop of 35.2 percent and Delaware a 35.9 percent drop.

Yields also fell from 2000 to 2001, but by a much smaller amount. The poor 2002 harvest followed a year of little rain in the region.

"The drought really started last fall," said John Hall, Kent County Extension agent. "We didn't really get any significant moisture."

Tom Martin, who grows corn and beans in Harford County, said that 2002 was the worst part of a drought that had been building for the past two years. The dry summer followed by fall's rains reduced his corn crop by 30 to 40 percent, he said.

The drought hurt corn and soybeans more than other crops.

The tobacco yield, 1,400 pounds per acre, was down slightly from 1,500 pounds per acre in 2001. However, the total production dropped from 3.3 million to 2.38 million pounds because fewer acres were planted.

Hay yields remained about the same as in 2001, in part because the hay-growing areas of western Maryland got a little more moisture than the corn and soybean regions on the Eastern Shore, Knopf said.

The mild spring also allowed many farmers to get in a normal first cutting of hay. Since many farmers only cut hay once, the later drought had little effect on total hay production, Knopf said.

Tibbs said his first hay cutting was "very good because we had enough moisture in the ground." But the next two cuttings were down because the ground had dried out. Once the fall rains began, the hay harvest improved, he said.

Although Hall called 2002 a "dismal" year, with huge losses and low prices, he expressed hope for the future.

"We're eternally optimistic in the farming community. Next year it's got to be better," he said.

Farmers Urged To Sign Up For DCP Program

The Garrett and Allegany Farm Service Agency (FSA) is encouraging all agricultural producers to contact their local FSA office or USDA Service Center as soon as possible to schedule an appointment to sign up for the new Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP) before the April 1 deadline.

The Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP) is designed to be an equitable means of government assistance for growers of agricultural feeds and grains. The numerous options available to owners and operators wishing to enroll in this new program necessitate that producers review their farming operations and determine which plan is the best for them. Producers can use computer-based analytical tools that were developed to assist them in choosing the best program applications for their operation. The complexity of the new program requires more time for producers to gain understanding, assemble the necessary information, and make their decision, often involving several different commodities and unknown future market conditions.

For the sign-up process to proceed smoothly, the Farm Service Agency (FSA) urges producers to contact their local USDA Service Center early for an appointment. By maintaining a constant flow of farmers through county offices, it is hoped that DCP enrollment can be accelerated to meet everyone's needs before the April 1 deadline.

Ensuring timely delivery of program benefits is a top priority for USDA, according to an agency spokesperson. Under the new farm bill, farmers have more options to choose from, and subsequently more decisions to make, and FSA staff is committed to delivering its programs efficiently and equitably. FSA has conducted extensive outreach, education, and training efforts on the 2002 Farm Bill to assist producers in making their program decisions before the April 1 deadline. The success of new farm programs will depend largely on the conscientious effort of participating farmers. FSA plans to utilize every resource available to enroll farmers in a program that best serves their individual agricultural operation.

Are You Wasting Money on Minerals?

What does it cost you for your minerals? Low milk prices are making many dairy managers take a close look at cost saving practices. One area that may be overlooked is supplying more minerals than animals really need.

The cost of supplementing minerals and vitamins can vary from farm to farm. In addition we many times have the cost of buffers and other additives added on top of the standard sources of macro-minerals, micro-minerals - and vitamins. Depending on the basic feeds in the ration we usually need to supplement the macro-minerals; calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, sodium, and sulfur - when feeding lactating cows. Also the micro-minerals - iron, cobalt, zinc, copper, manganese, and selenium - are many times added to rations via premixes and special formulations. Vitamins A, D, and E are usually supplemented, but modifications can be made when supplementing pasture and when cows are outside during warmer times of the year. Less vitamin D and E would be needed in the supplement during these periods. The basic sources of the macro-minerals (without sodium or salt) would normally cost $.20 to .30/cow/day and be the largest cost of mineral supplementation. Adding salt adds $.02 to .04/cow/day. Micro-minerals add $.03 to .07/cow/day and vitamins add another $.02 to .04. Therefore, mineral supplementation cost should range from $.27 to $.43/cow/day.

Adding a buffer such as sodium bicarbonate should add another $.06 to .08. Buffers are not added as mineral sources and are added to improve digestion and stabilize the rumen. Generally, mineral and vitamin supplementation should not be more than 10% of the total ration cost. If paying more than this, evaluate rates of supplementation and cost per unit of your mineral and vitamin sources. Are they commonly accepted sources and are they priced in a reasonable manner? Some attention to detail might reduce your feed bill.

Local Rural/Agriculture Conference Set

The second annual conference for alternative agriculture and rural enterprises will be held Saturday, March 22, at Garrett College.

Preliminary plans are being made by the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition for an exciting conference full of new ideas for local residents. Speakers are currently being sought. Potential topics include: vegetable production, wool weaving, the new produce auction, growing native plants for profit, uses for woodlots, starting home businesses, farm money management, and more. Attendees will be able to attend a variety of sessions and visit the vendor show. A pre-conference farm/enterprise tour is scheduled for Friday evening.

Additional information about the conference will be published later, and conference applications will be available in early February. In the meantime, visit the conference web site at www.MoreFarmMoney.org or call the Extension Office at 301-334-6960 for updated conference information.

Crop Insurance Workshop

Most farmers in Garrett County should have received notification from MDA of the upcoming Crop Insurance workshop at Garrett College, Continuing Education building, Thursday, Feb. 13, starting at 10 a.m. and concluding with lunch.

As farmers, we all know that our crops are always at risk. It is very seldom that we experience perfect growing conditions. Crops are always at risk of damage from drought, hail, frost, wildlife predators, etc. Over the years only a handful of Garrett County farmers have participated in crop insurance programs; however, most of those that have used crop insurance will tell you that they financially benefited from the insurance.

The insurance is now affordable with the cost sharing policies of the federal government. With the narrow profit margin of farm products, now is the time to minimize financial risk.

I encourage you to attend the workshop and make you, reservations by calling my office at 301-334-6960. Lunch will be provided at no cost to participants.

SIGN-UP CONTINUES FOR DCP PROGRAM

Sign-up continues for the Direct and Counter Cyclical Program (DCP). Farm operators will be required to sign up at the County FSA Office where their farm records are kept. The 2002 Farm Bill provides for payments to be made to eligible producers of covered commodities for 2002 and 2003 crops. The FSA office will begin making payments as soon as possible after the farm is enrolled and eligible payees meet eligible requirements. Sign-up for the 2002 and 2003 crop years ends June 2, 2003.

Direct payments are made to producers of covered commodities (i.e., corn, oats, wheat, and barley) with established crop acreage bases and yields. Producers may also receive counter-cyclical payments when effective prices are less than the target prices set in the 2002 Farm Bill. The effective price is equal to the higher of the average loan rate or national average market price plus the direct payment rate.

However, landowners will be required to select a base and yield option before the farm operator can enroll the farm into the program. Landowners have been notified and have been asked to verify and update records on planted and prevented planted acres with the County FSA Office. Acreage History Reports on file with FSA have also been mailed to producers.

Landowners also have the option to update yield data. FSA has mailed Updated Yields Reports, which provide the farm's minimum crop yields based on 75 percent of the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) county average yield. In most cases this will be the lowest possible crop payment yield attributed to the farm. Farm landowners and operators have also received a mailing containing a Base Options Report that computes the farm base options established by the acreage reported to the County FSA Office. The 2002 through 2007 base options include (1) using the farm's 2002 Production Flexibility Contract (PFC) acres; (2) adding oilseed acres to the 2002 PFC acres; and (3) using the farm's 1998 through 2001 planted acres average.

A Web-based tool is available to farmers to help them decide on base options. The free calculator can be found at www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/farmbill/tools.asp.

To file an application for the Direct and Counter Cyclical Program or to obtain further information, persons may visit the Preston County Farm Service Agency Office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923. Program information is also available on the FSA Web site at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Nature Connection

By Liz McDowell and Ron Boyer

When one thinks of flowering trees and shrubs, the seasons that typically come to mind are spring and summer. But there's one woody plant in Garrett County that waits until autumn to bloom. After its leaves have turned yellow and fallen to the ground, its bright yellow flowers finally make their debut. Last year they were late enough to become imprisoned for a time by the ice of the October 29 storm. These "late bloomers" belong to the small tree or shrub with the scientific name Hamamelis virginiana. Though commonly called witch hazel in our region, it is also known as "bead-tree," "winter-bloom" and "snapping-alder" in other parts of the eastern United States.

Witch hazel is commonly found in moist forests and along streamsides in Garrett County. It's easiest to identify by examining its distinctive leaves. They're roughly 4 inches long with wavy-toothed edges and uneven bases. In late fall and winter, the twisted, narrow petals of its yellow flowers will help reveal its identity. Though somewhat deteriorated, these are still present into mid-January. In September another characteristic feature to look for is its light-brown, nut-like fruit. Though the fruit capsule is quite small (less than ½ inch), when it contracts it shoots its seeds up to 50 feet away!

Even if you've never walked in the woods, you'll likely recognize this plant's name. Witch hazel is a common ingredient in many modern pharmaceutical products, including hygienic cleansing pads, facial astringents, hemorrhoid creams and rubbing alcohol. Its medicinal properties have been appreciated for quite some time. Native Americans drank a tea from its leaves to treat colds and rubbed a tea from its twigs on sore muscles.

Medicine aside, witch hazel has many other values. Ruffed grouse, wild turkey, cottontail rabbits, fox squirrels, white-tailed deer and beaver eat various parts of the this plant including its bark, twigs, seeds and leaves. Its dense wood has been crafted into brooms. Its long lasting leaves make it a preferred camouflage for military maneuvers. And when you need a new well, old-timers insist they can locate precious underground water using a divining rod made from a forked branch of witch hazel.

Reports from the Field:

Barb and George Gaffney of New Germany observed a sharp-shinned hawk take a dark-eyed junco that was visiting their bird feeder on January 6 in mid-afternoon..

If you'd like to share your Garrett County nature sightings or if you have questions about the plants and animals that you've observed, e-mail Liz and Ron at info@elkridgenatureworks.com.

With CareFirst Decision Looming, Lawmakers Take A Closer Look

by Maria Tsigas
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Maryland legislators took a break from the anxiety of the budget on Tuesday and focused on what's likely to be the next most dominant legislative issue – the CareFirst conversion. State Insurance Commissioner Steven B. Larsen updated legislators in the House and Senate on CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield's bid to convert to a for-profit company, a move he will vote up or down next month.

"Next to the budget, the biggest issue of concern is the conversion," said Senate Finance Committee Chairman Thomas "Mac" Middleton, D-Charles, during the joint hearing.

Larsen gave lawmakers a 27-page report compiled by the Maryland Insurance Administration, presenting its process and analysis and the status of the conversion.

Well Point Health Networks, a for-profit insurer based in California, offered $1.3 billion to purchase CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield, Maryland's largest nonprofit health insurance provider, in Nov. 2001. CareFirst has said it can no longer compete as a nonprofit insurer with others in the market.

What has transpired since is an intense, thorough analysis of what the conversion and sale would mean for Marylanders. This analysis has included a year of public hearings, expert reports, and depositions by CareFirst and Well Point executives.

"Our analysis has been very extensive, 174 speakers, 55 phone calls, and 785,000 pages of documents," Larsen said.

Dominating the briefing, however, was a discussion of an estimated $33 million in bonuses CareFirst executives are scheduled to receive upon completion of the transaction. Larsen said his office will review Maryland's two anti-bonus statutes and determine their appropriateness.

"We could approve the conversion but conclude that the bonuses violate one or both of the statues," Larsen said.

The commissioner also addressed the possible $800 million to $1 billion in proceeds the state could receive from the conversion. With the state facing an estimated $1.7 billion deficit, the proceeds could be a key to a balanced budget. Or they could be used to create a foundation to reinsure clients unable to afford any possible premium increase, should that result from the move, Larsen said.

It is the responsibility of Well Point and CareFirst to prove that the acquisition is in the public interest, Larsen said.

"Our analysis will show whether this acquisition will affect the accessibility and availability of health insurance in Maryland," Larsen said.

Glenn Schneider, deputy director of Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative, said he believes the commissioner already has all the evidence he needs. "This sale is not in the pubic interest of the state of Maryland. CareFirst should be a nonprofit and should be reformed to better serve the public," Schneider said.

The briefing came before the Senate Budget and Taxation, Senate Finance, House Appropriations and House Health and Government Operations committees.

The last expert reports were to be released Tuesday, and the final round of hearings will be held at the end of this month. The record will be closed Feb. 5, and the commissioner will make his final decision, "hopefully" on Feb. 20.

The General Assembly then may review the decision, and has the power to overturn or change it.

Chamber Invites Activities Info For Calendar

The spring and summer Calendar of Events for 2003, currently being compiled by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, will be published in February. Organizations are invited to submit a listing of their events and activities scheduled from March 1 through September 30, 2003, for inclusion in this brochure.

The chamber will accept information on upcoming events from county businesses, agencies, organizations, and clubs. Those submitting schedules need not be chamber members to be included. Fifty thousand copies of the Calendar of Events will be produced and distributed locally at the Visitors Center in McHenry and at all accommodations, and across the state at Maryland welcome centers.

There is no fee for listings in the calendar, but applications must be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce by February 5. To receive an application, persons may telephone the chamber at 301-387-4386 or 301-245-4400.

GC To Offer Course For Entrepreneurs

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett College has scheduled a course for anyone considering opening a small business. "Realizing the Dream of Self-Employment" covers every aspect of starting and operating a small business. The sessions will meet at the McHenry campus over 12 consecutive Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8:30 p.m., beginning Jan. 28 and concluding April 15.

This instructor will be entrepreneur Alice Bosley, director of the Garrett Information Enterprise Center. The class offers an opportunity to learn the basics of owning and operating a small business in a supportive atmosphere. Topics to be covered include getting started, determining the type of business, legal issues and licenses required, business plan writing, financing the business, pricing products, marketing, record keeping, and taxes.

The curriculum agenda also includes the following partial slate of guest speakers: Shane Grady of Rodeheaver and Associates; T. R. Janes of Eiswert, Janes, and Sweitzer, P.A.; Frank Shap of the Garrett County Department of Economic Development; tenants of the Garrett Information Enterprise Center; and representatives from the college's Small Business Development Center, who will discuss additional training opportunities.

For more information, or to register, persons may call the Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3101.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

We are in the middle of real winter here in Bittinger, just like the ones I remember during the 1950s, 1960s, and even 1970s before El Nino or global warming came into existence and seemed to change our climate. How I remember the big drift between our house and the shop, routinely over five feet high and high enough to dig a really good snow tunnel or snow cave. Now that drift seems to be creeping back every few days. It has not reached top form yet, thank goodness, but still is at least three feet high most of the time. It is high enough to stop any regular-sized vehicle. Only a high powered 4-wheel drive pickup with a plow on it, a bulldozer, or tractor with a snowblower can defeat it.

Last week our snow looked a little dingy and shabby, but that did not last very long and once again the ground is white, white, white. Our icy western wind is still blowing, so just when you seem to not be totally snowed in, more drifts appear between our house and the road. When you finally get out you had better go and do everything you need to get done anytime soon.

Last week's column almost did not happen. While Ruth DiPaolo typed and was getting ready to e-mail it to The Republican, guess what happened? It was purely routine, as her power was going off and on. It came back on only long enough to send it in before the power went out again for several days.

Sheila Southerly and I are still puzzled about the rhythm and reason about who will lose their power and who will not. Although the Southerly household's power stayed on as my house did, my mother and sister lost their power for days.

I hope this power problem will improve soon. Thanks to Bill Buckel who works for the power company as one of their electrical engineers, as he talked them into stopping in with their helicopter while enroute to Frederick to go over the lines to examine the troublesome lines. I, along with Sheila, think it is time to replace them and not just patch them up each time.

I did not hear what they saw, but let's hope Bill will have enough pull to push them into action. It seems like nowadays it is more important who you know than anything else when it comes to getting action in public services. Rock Lodge Road was never more clear as when we had a county commissioner living on it.

Actually, Rock Lodge Road is surprisingly clear this winter even the terrible stretch at Jimmy Glotfelty's. That part of road in this part of the country deserves to have a name for itself. Since the original settler was of Swiss origin and the top of the road on the Alps is something called "Pass," and since it is the middle of the many farms that were part of the Glotfeltys' or still in the hands of some member of the Glotfelty family, let's go back to the Swiss tradition and use the original Swiss version of the name on this part of Rock Lodge Road and call it "Glatfelder Pass." If you can pass through there you can go anywhere.

Today I bravely ventured out to run an errand in McHenry since I got stuck in my lane last weekend. But after a few minutes of sheer determination I finally rocked my car out. But "Glatfelder Pass" was perfectly clear, with just an occasional blast of snow in the wind, but not even close to a white-out. Of course, it had lots of heavy-duty attention, as shown by the heavy-duty equipment parked beside it. It takes more than regular big truck snowplows to push it well out of the way. It takes the big one. How big? About the size of a large dinosaur.

I do think we have excellent road crews in the county, and we should all be thankful and proud of the job they do on our highways. Even with the bad winter, we are not completely snowed in like we were years ago.

One bright spot of the real winter is that we are getting the positive effect it will have on the ground water. Already I am delighted to report that Rock Lodge spring is in full flow every time I have passed it in recent weeks, as I did last Wednesday when our weather was almost spring-like. It was so nice that I ventured up to Oakland to the hospital to get a test that I was forced to cancel on Tuesday for many reasons, 1) My car wouldn't start in the sub-zero temperature, 2) My lane was shut, 3) My daughter said the road was too bad for me to drive by myself. So when the weather changed for the better, I took a chance that Rock Lodge Road was clear enough and took it instead of the heavier traveled Mosser Road. I used almost a whole roll of film to try to capture the winter wonderland along the road. I will use the pictures when the summer heat inspires me to paint winter scenes to cool myself down.

Besides several nice winter scenes, I recently painted one of late summer of a ripe oat field and with a deep blue sky. When I painted it and looked at it I felt the warm summer air around me, and the only thing that remained of that summer day was some field of unharvested corn stalks, heavy with loads of snow, and the big field of corn stalk stubble beside my house. Of course, now it is only a few inches of the stubble peeking out of the blanket of snow. Instead of deep green they are now pale yellow ochre, or you might call it blonde gold. I was tempted to paint the winter corn, but I have already started a nice small winter landscape. It so happens that it is my view from my living room window, with a series of snow-covered, soft rolling hills ending at a woods. This year it is a little bit different than any other that I have seen before. I saw the oak, maple, and hickory still having many branches of colored leaves preserved by that ice storm a few months ago, and in the foreground one of my pine trees that provids a much needed wind break. I tried to capture the reality of the branches dressed in soft puff and the way snow traced the form of small twigs and needles iced with white.

Of course, everything is white, but how many shades of white? There is greyish, bluish, pinkish, purplish, and some pure white, too, and the sky is a medley of blue, pink, grey and white as it is most of the time around here. We do sometimes get pure blue sky with pure white clouds, but most of the time in winter the sky is maybe grey. But to me it is every color of the rainbow mixed up, especially in the early morning or late afternoon when the sunrise or sunset paints the clouds with red.

This picture is not this day or this place. It is a combination of every winter landscape I experienced in the woods within a couple of miles of my home, whether it was the slope of meadow country or on horseback with my father, hunting for some escaped heifers. The snow was so heavy that one load from the pine branches fell on me and my horse, "Little Joe." It felt like we would be buried in it. Unfortunately, my father rode a young half-broken horse and the excitement of the crisp winter air caused her to kick up her heels and buck like a rodeo bronco. She succeeded in dumping Daddy, who broke his arm. But it was still awesome and beautiful in those woods that day. Any day when the snow was not too deep for my horse we went into the woods to visit the beaver dams, and even into the far reach of the wooded flank of the mountain stretched along the tableland which I called home.

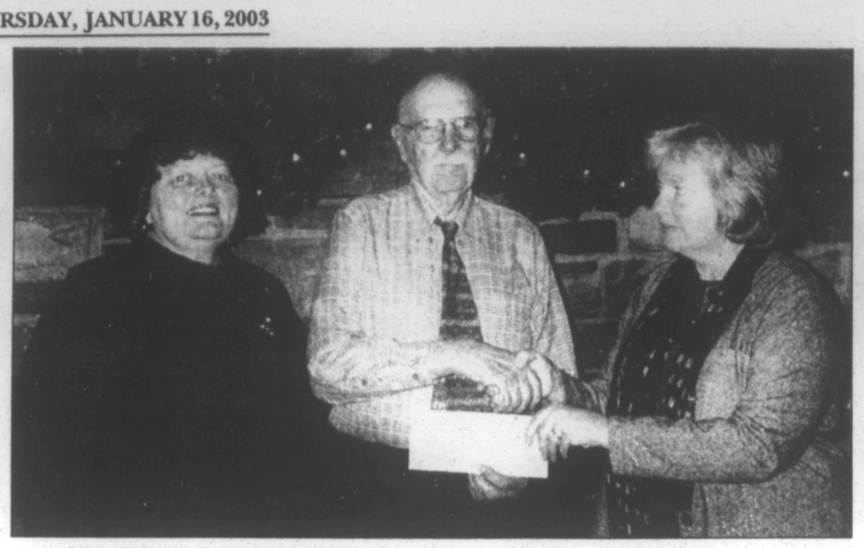
Then later I started cross country skiing and visited most of the same places I used to visit on horesback before my horse got too old to take the strain. Even though the landscape seldom changed, it was always new, with different light and shadows or varied by different kind of snows. Those hundred views seen by me combined in my mind in one vision of winter.

Come soon to the Gallery on Alder Street in Oakland. I titled it "Winter Returned." It is 12"x14" and framed in a dark green with dark blue accent frame. It would go with any color room. I will also have a couple summer scenes. The one major piece is a wild country scene with a glimpse of a family of bears and some scattered deer, a family of wood ducks, and if you look close enough, you might even catch a glimpse of a beaver.

My Meredith will turn 12 years old this coming Sunday. She will celebrate at a special service at Emmanuel Lutheran, celebrating Global Missions. Our rural minister student. Heechol Park, will conduct our service. Surprisingly, he said his home in South Korea has very similar country as that around Bittinger, even with the snow. Pastor Pat certainly enjoyed learning about Korean culture and his life experiences as he enjoys getting to know our community. He visited and dined with members of our parish. It should be a very special service. We will even get a chance to try to speak Korean in responses during prayers.

There were a lot of disappointed fans around Bittinger (Steeler South Country). Last Saturday's playoff ended in a loss to the Tennessee Titans. This is not the old Steelers we used to know. This team has no steel curtain and their defense did not do the job at all. But I am sure many houses along Rock Lodge Road rode the roller coaster game until the bitter end. Every time a little miracle happened to make possible a big comeback, that is, until sudden death overtime. Sudden death is so final. I doubt we have many Super Bowl parties around here this year. Who cares now? Maybe the Whittemore family are fans of the San Francisco 49'ers. I only have a hazy idea who is still in the playoffs now. In fact, I even wrote Giants instead of the 49'ers. Their coach says they will have Barry Bond's attitude — "Step up to the plate, do the job."

Tuesday evening the senior members of the Northern High School basketball team and the JV basketball team, including Landon Southerly, Matthew and Scott Bass, along with Torrey Poholsky, attended the Pittsburgh-WVU basketball game at Morgantown. They braved the bad weather, only to see #3 Pittsburgh win the game.



GRANTSVILLE BUSINESSES SUPPORT BITTINGER FOOD PANTRY — Several Grantsville businesses pooled efforts during the Old-Fashioned Grantsville Christmas celebration to raise $222 for the Bittinger Food Pantry. Among the participating businesses were the Flowerloft, Beachy's Pharmacy, Four Seasons Stitchery, Spinning Wheel/Dream Weavers antiques, the Print Shoppe, and Pine Accents, plus various GGBA members. Shown from the left are GGBA president Sue Beachy, Bittinger Food Pantry manager Donald Sealing, and GGBA treasurer Sharon Kagary.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Maryland Minerals Inc. of 19746 Garrett Highway, Arrowhead #82, Oakland, MD 21550, will be conducting blasting operations under Mining Permit No. 80-SP-0839-B at the Savage Quarry located 1.25 miles southwest of Hoyes on Hoyes-Sang Run Road in Garrett County in accordance with all applicable state and federal laws.

Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times, as approved by the Md. Dept. of the Environment:

Dates: February 1, 2003, to February 1, 2004, 7:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. No blasting will be conducted on Sundays.

At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, all accesses to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audibly indicated by three 5-second blasts with an air horn at 2-second intervals. After the blast, the all-clear signal shall be indicated by one 20-second blast with an air horn. These signals are in accordance with applicable state and federal laws.

Also, unless approved by the regulatory authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without prior notification, or, in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, or other atmospheric conditions, operator or public safety considerations dictate an unscheduled detonation.

Any questions concerning the mining operations should be directed to the Md. Dept. of the Environment - Minerals, Oil, & Gas Division at 410-631-8055.

By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from CAROLYN LOUISE WILEY, dated March 11, 1999, and recorded in Liber 768 at Page 0470 among the land records of the COUNTY OF GARRETT, in the original principal amount of $49,600.00 with an interest rate of 7.250% . Upon default and request for sale, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the front of the Courthouse for the COUNTY OF GARRETT, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on January 24, 2003, at 3:42 p.m., all that property described in said Deed of Trust as follows:

ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND LYING AND BEING ON THE NORTHERLY SIDE OF RT 495 LEADING FROM GRANTSVILLE TO JENNINGS IN GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, DESCRIBED BY METES AND BOUNDS BY DEED RECORDED IN LIBER 480, FOLIO 727, CONTAINING 1.13 ACRES, MORE OR LESS, EXCEPTING AN OUT CONVEYANCE OF 0.45 OF AN ACRE BY DEED RECORDED IN LIBER 661, FOLIO 140. PARCEL TAX ID #03-019896.

Said property is in fee simple and is improved by a dwelling and is sold in "as is" condition and subject to all superior covenants, conditions, liens, restrictions, easement, rights-of-way, as may affect same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $4,900.00 cash or certified fund shall be required at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price with interest at 7.250% per annum from the date of sale to the date of payment will be paid within TEN DAYS after the final ratification of the sale. Adjustments on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by purchaser. If applicable, condominium and/or homeowner association dues and assessments that may become due after the time of sale will be the responsibility of the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, transfer taxes, title insurance, and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. Time is of the essence for the purchaser, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at risk and costs of the defaulting purchaser. If the sale is not ratified or if the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title, the purchaser's only remedy is return of the deposit. Trustee's File No. 02-76193P. LOAN TYPE = CONV.

A Resolution of the Mayor and Town Council of Accident, pursuant to the authority in Article XIE of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and Section 13 of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, 1957 edition as amended, to repeal the present Charter of the Town of Accident and to replace it with the revised Chapter to be known hereforth as the Charter of the Town of Accident, Garrett County, Maryland, December 2002 Edition.

Be it resolved by the Mayor and Town Council of Accident, that the present Charter of the Town of Accident be repealed and replaced entirely with this January 2003 Edition, a true copy of which will be posted at the Accident Town Hall for a period of forty (40) days following this enactment.

A fair summary of the major changes proposed, in addition to removing gender specific language and revising semantics, syntax, and grammar follows:

1) Corporate Boundaries. Legal description of the corporate boundaries is eliminated and notation is made that the exact corporate boundaries are on file at all times with the Clerk of Circuit Court for Garrett County and the town office.

2) Section 1-4: amended to state the newly elected officers will be sworn into office at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Council following the election.

3) Section 1-7: amended to state the Town Meetings will be held at a time and date as determined by the Council and that the Council has the right to close meetings to the public in accordance with the state law.

4) Section 1-13: added to state how a Mayor or any Council member may be removed from office.

5) Section 1-15: states the town ordinances will be available for public inspection during normal business hours.

6) Section 1-17: revised to state the general powers of the Council.

7) Section 1-19: revised to state the Council has the power to decide if a violation of an Ordinance or the Charter shall be a misdemeanor or a municipal infraction and may afix penalties.

8) Section 1-21: revised to state the power of the Clerk-Treasurer and the Council concerning the town elections.

9) Section 1-23: states any voter, who is a registered voter in Garrett County, is qualified to vote in the town's elections; the town shall maintain a supplemental registration list of voters who wish not to vote in the County's election; and a person must be registered to vote at least thirty days before an election.

10) Section 1-26: states the Mayor and two Councilmembers are elected odd numbered years and two Councilmembers are elected on even numbered years.

11) Section 1-33: states tile Clerk-Treasurer is to be hired through an application process with the final approval by the Mayor and Town Council.

12) Section 1-38: states the budget will be adopted by resolution.

13) Section 1-40: states the Council may make supplemental appropriations if revenue is in excess of the budget; the Council may make emergency appropriations if there is an emergency affecting life, health, property or public peace; any transfer of funds must be approved by the Council; and any of the above appropriations must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the entire Council.

14) Section 1-43: states in the absence of either the Clerk-Treasurer or the Mayor, a member of the Council, with prior approval of a majority of the Council, may countersign checks.

15) Section 1-47: states that property taxes are due and payable as stated in the tax-property article of the Annotated Code of Maryland; all taxes not paid and in arrears one year after their due date and payable shall be collected as stated in Section 1-48.

16) Section 1-52: states the town has the power to obtain obligation bonds and revenue bonds.

17) Section 1-54: changed the dollar amount for which a project requires a wrttten contract.

18) Section 1-62: changed the name of Maryland State Roads Commission to Maryland State Highway Administration.

19) Section 1-67: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

20) Section 1-69: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

21) Section 1-72: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

22) Section 1-75: eliminated the phrase "Any violation of an ordinance passed under the provisions of this section may be made a misdemeanor."

23) Section 1-79: eliminated the complete section on the procedure for special assessments.

24) Section 1-81: eliminated the phrase "Article 33A of the Annotated Code of the Public General Laws of Maryland (1957 Edition, as amended) title "Eminent Domain"" and replaced it with the words "State Law."

25) Section 1-87: rewrote how violations of ordinances should be handled.

26) Section 1-88: discusses Municipal Infractions.

27) Section 1-92: eliminated this section altogether.

The Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Accident hereby gives public notice of the adoption of this Charter Revision and to publish a fair summary of the changes proposed by this Revision to be published in a local newspaper of general circulation in the Town not less than four (4) times, at weekly intervals, within a period of at least forty (40) days following the enactment of this Resolution.

If a proper petition for a referendum has not been received within forty (40) day timeframe, this charter Revision shall become and be considered the Charter of the Town of Accident in all respects to be effective and observed as such upon the 1st day of March 2003.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
32 LITTLE POND LA.
FROSTBURG, MD 21532

Under a power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust from Roger D. McKenzie and Donna M. McKenzie, dated April 7, 1998, and recorded in Liber 735, folio 515 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred thereunder, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

JANUARY 24, 2003, AT 1:04 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $3,500 by cash or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Time is of the essence as to the purchaser. If the purchaser defaults, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property shall be resold at the purchaser's risk and expense. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Sub. Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Purchaser shall pay for documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and/or homeowner association dues, all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. (Matter #86136)

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption from tax sale on the following properties in Garrett County, Maryland, sold by Patty L. Glover, Collector of taxes for the State of Maryland and the County of Garrett to Plaintiffs Patrick Kelly and Melissa Kelly. The parcels of land are described as follows:

All that parcel of land assessed to JoAnne E. Lell, situate in Election District 18, containing 0.46 acre, more or less, and described in deed from JoAnne E. Lell, Attorney-in-Fact dated October 21, 1983, and recorded on October 31, 1987, in Liber 441, folio 208, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint stated among other things that the amount necessary for redemption has not been paid. The sale was on May 10, 2002, and more than six (6) months have passed since the date.

It is thereupon this 3rd day of January 2003, that the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland:

ORDERED, that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in one newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, on or about the 24th day of January 2003, warning all persons interested in the property to appear in this Court by the 4th day of March 2003, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint or thereafter the final judgment will be entered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff to said property in fee simple, title free of all liens and encumbrances.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Kitzmiller Mayor and Council on the 16th day of December 2002 introduced an ordinance 03-01, regulating the management of uninhabitable buildings within the Town of Kitzmiller.

A fair summary on the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller finding that any building that is found by the Mayor and Town Council or designated Code Enforcement Officer to have defects so as to make it uninhabitable for human use or habitation shall be so designated and providing for a course of action, violations and penalties of same.

The Ordinance will be voted on by the Mayor and Town Council on the date of the hearing and if adopted shall take effect 20 days there after.

This notice is in accordance with the policy adopted by the Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller for the adoption of ordinances and gives notice of the date and time of the scheduled Public Hearing of said ordinance.

The full text of Ordinance 03-01 is available at the Kitzmiller Town Hall, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, during normal business hours.

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a Public Hearing on Ordinance 03-01 on the 27th day of January 2003, at 6:30 p.m. at the Town Hall, 104 W. Centre St., Kitzmiller, Md.

Authority of Mayor & Town Council

Count 1

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in all that parcel of land known and designated as Lots Nos. 36 and 37 of McIntire's and Mason's Plat of Lake View, containing 0.19 acre, more or less, and described in deed from Samuel W. Provost and Laverne E. Provost, husband and wife, to Bernard R. Corbett and Marcella M. Corbett, husband and wife, dated January 15, 1988, and recorded January 18, 1988, in Liber No. 507, folio 524, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Count 2

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in all that parcel of land known and designated as Lot 15 of the McRobie Tract, containing 7,840 square feet, more or less, and described in deed from George Elmer May and Helen Portia May, husband and wife, to Thomas A. Zarichansky and Emma L. Zarichansky, husband and wife, dated April 12, 1976, and recorded June 25, 1976, in Liber No. 368, folio 246, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six (6) months and one (1) day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 13th day of January 2003, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three successive weeks before the 31st day of January 2003, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 14th day of March 2003, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiffs a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

SMS AFTER-SCHOOLERS GIVE TO DOVE CENTER – Partners After School at Southern Middle School continued a tradition of giving recently by presenting a gift basket of items to the Dove Center. The gifts were donated by the youths and the after-school program staff. This is the third year the group participated in a service project, having helped the Seams Sew Right Quilt Group and Heritage Quilters make 13 children's quilts last year, and two years ago, making teddy bear pillows for children using the Dove Center services during the holidays. In the front row, from left, are Jackie Skeweris, Kristen Gatto, Clare Buckle, and Norman Sweitzer. Second row, same order: Dove Center's school outreach counselor Debbie Holler, Christia Nutter, Lyz Biser, Tim Hall, Jacob Friend, and Aaron King. Back row: Mike Chapman, Thomas Friend, and Glenn Cooper. Partners After School is in operation Monday through Friday and is open to all SMS students.

Single-Vehicle Accidents Result In Minor Injuries

Three persons were slightly injured in three separate single-vehicle accidents recently. No charges were filed in any of the mishaps, each of which was investigated by Maryland State Police troopers.

The first accident occurred at 5:42 a.m. Friday morning when a vehicle operated by Jami Bonitz, 19, Accident, slid off Garrett Highway just north of Accident. The 2002 Dodge Neon struck an embankment before coming to a stop.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported Bonitz to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Accident Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Later that same day, at 5:11 p.m., a 1997 Ford Contour operated by Sunitha Venugopal, 28, Baltimore, slid off a snow-covered surface of westbound Interstate 68 between Old Morgantown Road and Friendsville. The car skidded onto the shoulder, then overturned several times.

Venugopal was transported by the Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial, where he was treated and released. The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene of the crash.

An Oakland woman escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when the truck she was riding in overturned along Garrett Highway north of Oakland.

Rebecca Bittinger, 30, was a passenger in a 1996 GMC Sonoma operated by Michael Bittinger, 31, Oakland, that hit a slick spot just south of Foster Road

NATURE'S GIFTS – In the midst of treacherously cold temperatures, nature-lovers can continue to enjoy the fine gifts of nature, like the sighting of this pretty downy woodpecker as he helps himself at a bird-watcher's suet feeder. With the temperature below zero this morning and not expected to rise much higher, bird feeders are a welcome refuge for those with only feathers to keep warm. Nature does protect the birds, though, unlike domesticated animals, which rely on their human companions to let them stay inside on such cold days, or at least provide them with some other type of warm shelter, additional food for energy, and fresh water (make sure it's not frozen!). Only more cold is predicted for several days. In the long-term forecast, the temperature is to reach 30 no sooner than next Wednesday. So bundling up is in order, as is remembering to protect all pets from this dangerous siege of frigid weather.

GC's Outdoor Attractions Part Of TV Program

Western Maryland's outdoor attractions will be the subject of a nationally broadcast television program slated to air this week. The episode was taped in Garrett and Allegany counties in April.

The ESPN 2 program Destination Outdoors of Wednesday, Jan. 29, set for a 10:30 a.m. broadcast, will cover outdoor adventure activities that include a fly-fishing outing on the Potomac River with Spring Creek Outfitters and A.J.'s Streamside Services, sporting clay shooting at Wings of Challenge, and mountain biking with Grouseland Tours.

The program will be rebroadcast at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 30, and 9 a.m. on Sunday, Feb. 2.

Board To Oversee Allocation Of GC Emergency Funds

Garrett County Community Action recently announced that a local board will assist the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in determining how the Emergency Food and Shelter funding awarded to Garrett County will be allocated.

The board is made up of local representatives from the Garrett County commissioners, Mt. Top Ministerial Association, Catholic Charities, Department of Social Services, and the American Red Cross, as well as a former homeless person.

The selection was made by a national board chaired by FEMA and consists of representatives from the Salvation Army, American Red Cross, Council of Jewish Federations, Catholic Charities USA, National Council of Churches of Christ, and the United Way of America, which will provide the administrative staff and function as the fiscal agent.

The board was charged to distribute the funds by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

Under the terms of the grant from the national board, local government or private voluntary organizations chosen to receive funds must be non-profit, have an accounting system and conduct an annual audit, practice nondiscrimination, have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and shelter programs, and, if they are private voluntary organizations, must have a voluntary board.

THREE-TIME NATIONAL CHAMP — Winning an unprecedented third consecutive national wrestling championship this past weekend in Tulsa, Okla., was Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, son of George and Anita Scheffel, Oakland. Scheffel was one of four Southern Mat Club members who participated in the 48th annual Tulsa Nationals, rated the top youth wrestling tournament in the nation. Three of the four came home ranked among the top six in their respective weight divisions. Scheffel faced Jordan Rodgers from Spokane, Wash., in the title bout. Rodgers came into the match having pinned all of his opponents in less than 30 seconds; however, Scheffel not only won all of his matches, but did not have a single point scored against him. He decisioned Rodgers, 3-0. See more photos on the sports pages in this section.

GCMH Campaign Surpasses $2 Million; Final Phase Begins

The Capital Campaign for Garrett County Memorial Hospital's new emergency wing building expansion project has raised over $2 million toward the $2.4 million campaign goal.

"We are at the final phase of the campaign and look forward to the support of the community as a whole to help us reach and exceed the goal," said Elaine McDonald, campaign chairman.

The community phase of the campaign began in early December when general appeal letters were sent to many of the local residents and visitors. "Garrett County Memorial Hospital is a wonderful facility. We are very fortunate to have such an exceptional facility in our community. The foundation and campaign volunteers, as well as the many donors who have already contributed, are proud to be a part of this project and hope that the entire community will step up to the plate and donate to the project. Every gift helps, regardless of size," explained McDonald.

The new emergency wing building expansion project will provide for a new emergency services department, a new same-day surgery unit, and enhancements to the laboratory and radiology departments, as well as improvements to admissions and lobby areas. Hospital officials are in the process of finalizing project details and expect to break ground before spring.

Information on donating to the project can be obtained by calling the foundation office at 301-533-4178.

Historical Society Publishes Book Of Garrett Co. Marriage Records

Thirty Years of Garrett County Marriage Records is the title of a new book published by the Garrett County Historical Society. The book covers the Garrett County Marriage Books (No. 1, 2 and part of No. 3) from the years 1872 to 1902, and is useful information for those who research family histories.

The material in the book was drawn from records kept in the Office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. Garrett County was formed in 1872 from the western part of Allegany County, and the first marriage license issued in the new county was on February 2, 1873.

Research for the book was completed by Charlotte "Beth" Friend, curator of the museum. The marriage records for the county are listed alphabetically by the man's name. Friend devised an index of the women's names to make research easier, and these are included for each record book at the end of the section pertaining to those years.

Beginning in June 1991, the listings from Book No. 1 were published in successive issues of The Glades Star, quarterly publication of the Historical Society. This proved to be a popular series of articles in the magazine, a spokesperson said, and was followed by listings from Book No. 2. The Historical Society combined each series into separate books, Marriage Record Issue No. 1, and Marriage Record Issue No. 2. Listings from Marriage Record Book No. 3 began as another series in The Glades Star in the June 1996 issue; however, rather than publish a third record book when the articles ended, the Historical Society decided to combine the total listings from books No. 1, 2, and part of No. 3 into a record of all the marriages printed in The Glades Star series into one book for easier reference work. The result was the new Thirty Years of Garrett County Mar-

Longtime Agent For Ext. Service Dies At Age 76

James A. McHenry, 76, who served as Garrett County agent for the Cooperative Extension Service for 23 years and leader of numerous agricultural endeavors in the county, died Tuesday, Jan. 21, 2003, at Lorien Columbia Nursing and Rehabilitation Center from complications of kidney disease and stroke.

Born Sept. 4, 1926, in York, Pa., he was the son of the late Ralph F. and Daisy Ray McHenry. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Helen Spurrier, whom he married on June 28, 1952. She passed away on July 11, 2002.

He was raised in Cresaptown, Allegany County, and graduated from Allegany High School in 1945.

He also served in the U.S. Army as gunnery sergeant in the Pacific Theatre during World War II. McHenry graduated from the University of Maryland in 1951, earning a bachelor of science degree in agricultural science. While there, he was president of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

In 1951, he was named assistant county agent for Garrett County, promoted to agent and county chairman in 1958, and retired in October 1981.

McHenry made numerous contributions to Garrett County. He organized the first Rural Development

Three Treated For Injuries After Collision

Three persons were treated for injuries following a head-on collision in front of Gibson's Store, Hutton, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Betty Mae Murphy, 63, Crellin, was pulling out of the store parking lot heading west and did not see the Ford Escort, operated by Kristy Marie Powell, 19, Terra Alta, W.Va., traveling east toward Oakland.

While crossing the eastbound lane, the Murphy vehicle collided with the Escort, which then hit a guardrail.

Murphy was cited for failure to yield the right of way, police said. Both operators and passengers were wearing seat belts, police added.

Powell, her passenger, Tracy Kay Fadely, 30, and Mary Jane Murphy, 38, the passenger in the minivan, were all treated and released

Man Arrested After Report Of Alleged Assault

An Oakland man was arrested Saturday night on various charges after police responded to a residence along Sand Flat Road in reference to a reported assault, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Richard Lyle Madigan, 32, Oakland, was charged with first-degree burglary, second-degree assault, driving under the influence (DUI), DUI per se, and driving while impaired, police said.

According to the report, Madigan entered the residence uninvited just prior to the deputies' arrival and proceeded to the back bedroom, where he allegedly assaulted a male.

Madigan was released on his own recognizance, according to a jail spokesperson.

Leads Sought In Theft From Car

Maryland State Police troopers stationed at the McHenry barrack are seeking the public's assistance as they investigate a Monday theft that occurred in Grantsville.

Sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. an unknown suspect(s) entered an unlocked 1989 Ford Taurus and removed 125 compact discs contained in a white cardboard box, and one Uniden "Bear Cat" model 100 channel scanner. The incident occurred off Smooth Valley Drive, which is located beside Diehl's Ford.

Persons with information are asked to call Tfc. DeLauter at 301-387-1101.

OPEN FOR LEARNING – The new planetarium classroom was recently dedicated at Hickory Environmental Education Center, located at 604 Pride Parkway in Accident. This new planetarium classroom is much more advanced than before with twice as many stars available, according to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent. The planetarium should get more use since Hickory is active year-round, said Teets. A portable planetarium had been purchased so classes could continue while the new building was being constructed. Involved in the ribbon cutting, from the left, were Teets; Berrica Friend, second grader at Friendsville Elementary School; James Hart, planetarium resource teacher; Matthew Scheffel, third grader at Broad Ford Elementary School; Joseph Winters, coordinator of the center; and Charlotte Sebold, president of the Garrett County Board of Education. A picture of the equipment can be seen in this section of the paper.

Oakland Man Sentenced For August Assault

An Oakland man was handed a one-year jail sentence, half of which was suspended, after he pleaded guilty to a second degree assault charge during a recent Garrett County District Court trial.

Milton Charles DeWitt, 50, was also placed on two years of supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett, who presided at the hearing. DeWitt's August arrest by sheriff's deputies stemmed from a domestic incident during which he threatened his wife with a steak knife by placing it against her wrist. The incident took place at the home of some acquaintances of the couple. DeWitt faced an additional charge of intoxication to the point of posing a danger to himself and/or others that was not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other recent District Court news, Delmos Russell Warnick, 21, Oakland, who had pleaded "not guilty" to charges of fourth degree burglary and misdemeanor theft, was nonetheless convicted on both counts. Judge Burnett handed Warnick a one-year suspended sentence and one year of supervised probation, along with an order to make a $65 restitution payment to his victim. His January 2001 arrest by sheriff's deputies came after a burglary of an Oakland Sang Run Road residence. He was accused of taking two CB radios and a change jar containing $65 in coins from the home. Warnick was exonerated of two additional charges of trespassing, while a first degree burglary charge was not prosecuted.

Casey P. Steele, Huntingdon, Pa., pleaded guilty to possession of hydocodone and marijuana and was handed a 13-month sentence, 10 months of which were suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation. Additional charges of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia possession were not prosecuted. Steele had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in May during a traffic stop on Route 39. A search, prompted by the odor of burnt marijuana emanating from Steele's car, uncovered the drugs.

Paul Douglas Knox, 50, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor theft and was handed a 60-day sentence, half of which was suspended. The charge stemmed from a shoplifting incident at the Oakland Wal-Mart that was investigated by the Oakland Police Department.

Todd William Riley, 27, Oakland, pleaded guilty to uttering a bad check, while charges of misdemeanor theft and forgery were not prosecuted. The judge sentenced Riley to 30 days in jail and required he make a restitution payment of $125. Sheriff's deputies had jailed Riley in July for allegedly stealing checks from another citizen and forging one at the Arrowhead market.

Shawn David Smith, 20, Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but seven days of which was suspended, and was fined $100, while additional charges of driving while under the influence (DUI) and various traffic offenses were placed onto the stet docket. Smith's October arrest by sheriff's deputies came after a DUI traffic stop on Gorman Road. The drug charge resulted from a search that uncovered a smoking pipe he was carrying in his pocket. A charge of drug paraphernalia possession was not prosecuted.

Playford Nedrow Savage, 25, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., who was also arrested in October by Oakland police officers following a shoplifting incident at the town's Wal-Mart. Savage was handed a 30-day sentence, all but one day of which was suspended, and was fined $100, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

A 60-day suspended sentence was handed down in the case of Daniel Wade White, 25, Davis, W.Va., who was charged with misdemeanor theft following his October arrest for shoplifting at the local Wal-Mart. White was also placed on two years of supervised probation, and ordered to make restitution payments of $350 to the store and $800 to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Oakland police officers had made the arrest.

James Matthew Deem, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 80 hours of community service. He was arrested in October by Oakland police officers after he had used a rock to break into a town parking meter to take its timing device. A charge of misdemeanor theft was not prosecuted.

SET TO SEE STARS – Jim Hart, planetarium resource teacher, and Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent, are pictured above standing in front of the planetarium equipment in the new classroom at Hickory Environmental Education Center. Donations for this new classroom were given by R. Sines Lumber Company and Wood Products Inc. BMGM Architects designed the classroom, and the general contractor was Harbel Inc. The classroom seats 70 people, and will be made available to other groups. The ribbon cutting can be seen on the front page.

A guilty verdict, with no associated penalty, was imposed in the case of Harold Ernest Dillsworth Jr., 38, Oakland, who had entered a guilty plea to a charge of violating an ex parte order. Sheriff's deputies had arrested Dillsworth after they discovered him hiding in the bedroom of his estranged wife's residence. Even though the court order was on file, Sheila Dillsworth had told the investigating deputies that her husband was not on the premises just before he was located.

A pair of probation before judgment (PBJ) rulings was handed down to Gary Russell Inskeep, 21, Baltimore, who had pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and DUI. The defendant was also given a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $600, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. His July arrest came after a state trooper who had observed a marijuana cigarette in plain view in his car undertook a search that found a second joint that Inskeep was carrying on his person.

Gilbert Leroy Nicol, 50, Lonaconing, was handed a PBJ, along with a $50 fine, one day of unsupervised probation, and 20 hours of community service, after he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. That accusation, along with associated charges of third degree burglary and malicious destruction of property that were not prosecuted, stemmed from a pair of incidents that led to his September arrest by sheriff's deputies. Nicol had allegedly burglarized a National Pike residence and kicked out the window of a Finzel Road tavern.

Kristy Lynn Murphy, 20, and Megan Leigh Mundy, 19, both of Coatesville, Pa., were each handed a PBJ and a 30-day suspended sentence, a $200 fine, six months of unsupervised probation, and an order to complete 30 hours of community service, all of which stemmed from their guilty pleas to respective marijuana possession charges. The pair's August arrests came after sheriff's deputies discovered a small quantity of the drugs in their car during a traffic stop along Interstate 68.

Matthew Christopher Gainey, 20, Martinsburg, W.Va., pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a PBJ, along with a 30-day suspended sentence, a $200 fine, six months of unsupervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. State troopers jailed Gainey in December after a traffic stop on Gorman Road, during which the odor of burnt marijuana led to a search of the car.

Greg Allen Herman, 19, Swanton, was handed a PBJ on a misdemeanor theft charge that stemmed from a shoplifting incident at Wal-Mart. The ruling also included a 30-day suspended sentence, six months of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Oakland police officers arrested Herman in November.

Stet rulings were handed down in several court hearings recently, some of which carried associated penalties.

Derek Ryan Steffan, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, received a stet ruling in connection with a marijuana possession charge. He was also handed a 30-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, one year of supervised probation, and an order to complete 20 hours of community service. Steffan's October arrest by sheriff's deputies stemmed from a search of his car that had uncovered marijuana seeds in the back seat. The search, which took place in the Arby's parking lot near Oakland, was initiated after a K-9 drug detection dog alerted to the possible presence of drugs in the vehicle the suspect was seated in.

Mark Lewis Riley, 35, Oakland, was handed stet rulings on two counts each of forgery and uttering, and one count each of felony theft and felony theft by bad checks. The charges stemmed from two Maryland State Police investigations, both of which centered on June incidents. One of them involved a $1,025 check written at the Oakland Food Lion, and the other involved a $500 and a $300 check, both of which were drawn from the Terra Alta Bank.

Percy Adolphus Redman, 40, Oakland, was handed stet rulings of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, and failure to obey a police order. Redman's December 2001 came after a sheriff's deputy who knew that Redman was wanted on an outstanding warrant observed him in Oakland. After a chase and an ensuing search, Redman was eventually apprehended hiding in the basement of a Loch Lynn church; in the meantime, a K-9 scan had led to a search of his car that uncovered suspected drugs.

Michael Alan Hamrick, 40, Fairmont, W.Va., was handed a stet ruling on a charge of violating an ex parte order that stemmed from an October arrest by sheriff's deputies. He had allegedly been calling his estranged wife at her residence in violation of an existing court order.

Donald Ray Ashby Jr., 40, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on charges of second degree assault, reckless endangerment, and harassment, each stemming from his July arrest by sheriff's deputies. Ashby had allegedly pointed a BB gun at a juvenile child who was in his care at the time of the incident.

Jeremy Jay Rockwell, 20, and Edward James Rockwell Jr., 43, both of McHenry, each faced charges of second degree assault on the other that were not prosecuted. The two men had allegedly punched each other during an argument.

Sherry Rose Gardener, 25, and Corrine Ann Green, 24, both of Altoona, Pa., each faced charges of two counts of marijuana possession, and one count each of possession of methamphetamines, hydocodone, and drug paraphernalia, that were not prosecuted. The women were passengers in the car operated by Casey Steele, who was convicted on drug charges and sentenced to jail, as mentioned earlier in this report.

No Magic In Ehrlich Budget; Just Cuts, Slots, And One-Time Fixes

by Dan Genz
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Predictions about Gov. Robert Ehrlich's budget released Friday for the most part proved true. Ehrlich tapped the Transportation Trust Fund, trimmed higher education, and relied on licensing fees for slot machines, which have yet to get state approval, to balance his $22.8 billion budget.

The state faced a $1.8 billion budget gap through fiscal 2004, however Ehrlich's budget would end up producing a small surplus and come in $35 million under the Spending Affordability Committee's guidelines by increasing spending only 1.8 percent.

"This is the hand we were dealt," Ehrlich said. "This budget is a sustainable honest budget . . . It is a budget that meets the needs of providing for the citizens of the state."

Getting his fiscal program through a General Assembly with significant opposition to his slot machine idea will be a difficult road, some lawmakers said. But Ehrlich vowed to veto any income or sales taxes the Legislature might pass to replace slots.

The budget relies on almost $400 million from the approval of slot machines and $700 million from both fund transfers and budget reductions to balance the state's deficit. At the same time, it fully funds public school recommendations from a public school reform panel.

Ehrlich's plan also spares the state's $505 million rainy day fund.

The budget slashes 1,387 vacant positions throughout the government and transfers $300 million from the Transportation Trust Fund to the general fund.

Higher education was cut almost 7 percent and the state took $29 million from the University System of Maryland's reserve funds. The university system warned students Jan. 9 that rare mid-year tuition hikes may be necessitated by Ehrlich's budget cuts.

On Friday, University System Chancellor William E. Kirwan said, "The immediate reductions . . . will require difficult decisions."

Ehrlich's solution to this year's $547 million deficit and next year's $1.3 billion deficit complied with three parameters he laid out in his campaign. He fully funded the so-called Thornton commission recommendations this year, imposed no "warm body layoffs," and included no new taxes.

Calling the budget a "return to common-sense funding," Ehrlich noted that his first budget was also the first time in six years that the governor's proposal came in lower than the Spending Affordability Committee's suggestion.

Lawmakers were not happy with Ehrlich's reliance on one-time fixes and revenue from unapproved and controversial slot machines. More than a third of the budget solution came from funds and transfers that cannot be used in the future.

"I don't think you can continue to borrow from the special funds," said House Speaker Michael Busch, D-Anne Arundel. "We should take the long-term look to find out what (is the) best structural function for the state revenues over the next four or five, 10 years," Busch said.

The balanced budget can't be sustained with single-year action. There will be a deficit in 2005 unless continuing revenue sources or budget cuts are found, lawmakers said.

"There's nothing magic about this budget," Ehrlich said. "Spending money you don't have" is what led to the continuing deficit.

Slot machine revenues are the answer to some of the state's fiscal problems, and he will accept no substitute, he said.

"You can go, `Let's take more income tax, more sales tax.' That's the way it's always been done," he said. "That's not why this administration was elected."

He said he believes he has the votes to legalize slot machines. Some lawmakers disagree.

"It's going to be difficult at best to get a slots bill passed, and unless the money is earmarked for education, it's going to be more difficult," said Sen. Chairman Ulysses Currie, D-Prince George's, chairman of the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee.

More than 50 percent of the money from slots will go to education, Ehrlich said, but it will be dumped in the general fund rather than earmarked. That could spark a debate about the future of slots from a number of high-ranking supporters, afraid the slots money will not be set aside for education.

Bills legalizing slot machines were expected to start appearing before both the House and Senate sometime this week.

Although the details of Ehrlich's slot-machine bill will not be released until it's introduced, his budget anticipates licensing fees from four horse racing tracks to garner $350 million and revenues to produce another $45 million by June of 2004.

He also said there will be a lot fewer slot machines than the 18,000 the horse racing industry asked for in its proposal earlier this month. That recommendation promised $50 million less in licensing fees and requested an additional slot machine location.

Slotting money for education would make the machines more popular in the House, said Appropriations Chairman Pete Rawlings, D-Montgomery.

"He made it clear today that his entire focus was to regenerate the troubled racing and horse industry in our state," Rawlings said. "I think he's finding that that's not widely supported by my colleagues in the House who feel that revenues from the slots should go to address public education."

Rawlings produced a rival plan asking for $500 million in licensing fees and allowing 10,000 slot machines. His bill also calls for half the proceeds to go into the Education Trust Fund.

While slots will provide consistent revenue, the transportation department provided $300 million from funds planned for later projects. The effect of the funding will not be felt until 2006, when the transportation projects were scheduled.

Funding for projects scheduled for 2006 through 2008 will either be cut or kept level.

"Hard choices have to be made and the DOT stepped up to the plate and made them," said transportation spokesman Jack Cahalan.

Ehrlich considered a 5-cent gas tax worth $125 million a year instead of the transportation fund transfer, but rejected the idea. He said the tax was insufficient and inappropriate.

Maryland's gas tax already ranks among the top 20 in the nation, Ehrlich said, and roads need much more steady income than it would produce.

Busch had ideas the governor might not want to hear, including increasing a sales tax on businesses to raise $600 million a year.

The budget will begin in the House of Delegates this year, before being passed to the Senate.

Maryland law requires the Legislature to pass a balanced budget before adjournment. The governor must ask for an additional 30 days if the General Assembly has not passed a balanced budget by the 83rd day.

Slot Machine Bill Introduced; New Cumberland Track Included

by Dan Genz
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — A leading House Democrat introduced slot machine legislation Wednesday that closely mirrored Republican Gov. Robert Ehrlich's original call for the gaming devices.

At the same time, Ehrlich's spokesmen were backtracking on an administration proposal that sharply increased the number of slot machines in play.

House Appropriations Chairman Pete Rawlings, D-Baltimore, said putting 10,000 slot machines at four racetracks could help fund education. Rawlings introduced legislation to put the machines at the Pimlico, Rosecroft, and Laurel racetracks, and at a track under construction in Cumberland.

Meanwhile, Ehrlich's staff worked to rescind his written support for 13,500 slots at three tracks and more for the Cumberland track.

The Office of Legislative Services asked Ehrlich for a plan to support his budget numbers. In his budget released Friday, Ehrlich anticipated $1 billion in revenue from slots over the next two years to help cover the state's $1.2 billion deficit for 2004.

Rawlings leaked Ehrlich's written response to the inquiry at a briefing Tuesday, the day before Rawlings' bill was submitted to the House. On Wednesday, Ehrlich's spokeswoman Shareese DeLeaver dismissed the memo as "numbers on a napkin," and added that negotiations are still under way and a bill has not been drafted.

Any slot plan will face a tough path in the General Assembly this year, with several legislative leaders strongly opposing legalization of slot machines.

Ehrlich has said he expected "the best parts of the best bills," to be combined during the session to form an omnibus gaming bill.

In order to support his budget numbers, Ehrlich's slot machines bill will likely have to include more machines than Rawlings' 10,000, said a legislative budget analyst.

Director of Financial Policy Analysis Warren G. Deschenaux told a joint hearing of the House Appropriations and Senate Budget and Taxation committees Tuesday that Ehrlich plans on more than 10,000 machines to produce the $395 million in revenue estimated for 2004, and $600 million the following year. Track owners would pay $350 million for licenses, and operating revenues from late in the year will fund an additional $45 million, the budget said.

The administration's memo to Deschenaux's department called for the Pimlico, Rosecroft, and Laurel racetracks to pay $100 million each for licenses to operate 4,500 slot machines at each location. The Allegany racetrack in Cumberland would pay $50 million to operate an unspecified number of machines.

Rawlings called the number of machines "exorbitant."

When Ehrlich's official plan is ready, DeLeaver said he will present it to the public. He has not yet commented on Rawlings' bill, or Deschenaux's observation about the need for more than 10,000 slots.

"The revenue is practically limitless," DeLeaver said. "Slots are not the panacea of revenue, but it's a good start."

Rawlings said he thinks slots can be the start to a more ambitious budget-balancing act. He said his committee would do more than Ehrlich's budget, by using income taxes and spending cuts to eliminate the $700 million deficit waiting for 2005, while fully funding a mandated increase in education expenditures.

"It can be done ... and we're gonna do it," he said.

Ehrlich has promised to veto any taxes, but slots are a dicey alternative.

"I don't even know why we're doing slots at the tracks," said House Speaker Michael Busch, D-Anne Arundel, a slots opponent. "I mean if we're trying to raise revenues from slots, let's put them in the appropriate geographic locations to raise the revenue the state needs for its budget shortfall."

Slots have a "50-50 shot at best," said Senate Budget and Taxation Committee chairman Ulysses Currie, D-Prince George's. Currie warned if slots fail, his committee would have to use more spending cuts.

Ehrlich Boosts Mental Health, Cuts Tobacco, Cancer Programs

by Maria Tsigas
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Gov. Robert L. Ehrlich Jr. kept his campaign promises and made health care a priority when he released his proposed budget Friday, but he also cut funding in half for both tobacco prevention and cancer control programs.

More than 100 cancer funding advocates and survivors are expected to rally at Ehrlich's office this morning asking for restoration of $23 million for cancer control and anti-tobacco programs in the 2004 budget.

Taken as a whole, however, Ehrlich's health budget for 2004 rose by $379 million, a 7 percent increase from fiscal year 2003. The governor's budget fully funds Medicaid, with a $128 million increase in fiscal year 2004. Mental health services, an area that has suffered under a deficit and repeated cuts, will receive a $36 million boost in 2004, and gain $30 million this fiscal year. Developmental disabilities services gained $38 million.

Ehrlich made health funding a priority because "serving the people who need it the most and helping the vulnerable and underserved of Maryland," is one of the governor's goals, said James C. "Chip" DiPaula Jr., Ehrlich's budget secretary nominee.

Some health care services that have been ignored in the past are getting their due.

"Mental health services is an area that has been crying out for aid. The dismantling of our public mental health system has made services less accessible in this state," said Sen. Paula C. Hollinger, D-Baltimore County, chairwoman of the Education, Health, and Environmental Committee.

"Overall, we're extremely pleased with Governor Ehrlich's budget and the funding he's providing for mental health services. Governor [Parris] Glendening was not supportive of mental health services. He chose to put money into Smart Growth and higher education and was not very responsive to the needs of mental hygiene," said Barbara Bellack, executive director of National Alliance for the Mentally Ill in Maryland.

Maryland's public mental health care is in crisis, said Linda J. Raines, executive director of the Mental Health Association of Maryland. There is no room for cuts in Medicaid or mental health, she said.

Raines also praised Ehrlich for making mental health services a priority "right out of the gate," and keeping his campaign promise to issue an executive order stopping the practice of forcing parents to relinquish custody of their special needs children in order to receive services. Ehrlich's executive order, signed on his second full day in office, establishes a council to find ways to keep families together in such circumstances.

Cancer funding advocates were not as effusive, but said they would work with the budget given them.

Cancer control programs — colon, prostate, breast, and cervical cancer screenings, for example — were cut from $17 million for 2003 to $8.6 million for 2004. Tobacco-use reduction programs, including anti-smoking advertisements, dropped from $30 million for 2003 to $15.2 million for 2004.

"For a short-term savings, this budget will create a long-term nightmare and burdens the state's Medicaid system," said Charles D. Leiss, American Cancer Society's chief executive officer, in a statement.

"We anticipated severe cuts because of the condition of the state's deficit," said Arlene H. Stephenson, acting secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Ehrlich was forced to close an estimated $1.7 billion budget gap when he took office last week.

The Department of Budget and Management worked closely with Ehrlich's transition team. "They listened very closely," Stephenson said.

Ehrlich Cuts Environmental Agencies' Funds; Lawmakers Reserve Judgment

by Justin Palk
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – The Department of the Environment's budget took a 22 percent bite under the budget released Friday by Gov. Robert Ehrlich – a far cry from the environmental commitment of his predecessor, former Gov. Paris N. Glendening.

In addition, the Department of Natural Resources' operating budget was trimmed 4.4 percent. And, in contrast to the environmental rhetoric of Glendening, Ehrlich failed to mention the environment during his hour-long presentation of the budget at the State House Friday morning.

The proposed budget also eliminated 143 jobs between the two departments – 82 from DNR and 61 from MDE. All the positions cut were vacant, a fact that pleased Sen. Richard Colburn, R-Dorchester.

"One of the main goals was not to lay off anybody in any department, and that objective has been met," he said.

Members of the House and Senate environmental committees declined to discuss the budget specifics until they had had a chance to examine the governor's proposal.

"I'm going to do whatever it takes to protect the environment," said Delegate Barbara Frush, D-Prince George's. "(But) it's going to be a while before I'm going to be able to tell you anything."

At first glance, said House Majority Leader Kumar P. Barve, D-Montgomery, the budget met his expectations.

"Obviously, the environment isn't a top priority for the governor, and he's going to make cuts which are reflective of his political philosophy," Barve said.

The Department of the Environment's budget was set at $169.4 million for fiscal year 2004, a 4.9 percent increase over 2003. However, state funding for the Department was cut 22 percent, from $136 million to $107.4 million.

The increase relies on more than $30 million in federal loans for the Maryland Water Quality and Drinking Water revolving loan fund programs. These two programs provide funds to local governments for water quality and drinking water improvement projects.

The Waste Management Administration, which deals with lead paint, recycling, and the restoration of contaminated areas, took the biggest single dollar loss in the department, at $2.8 million.

The Fisheries Services budget within DNR was reduced by 12.5 percent, down $2.4 million from 2003.

Also, the department's Chesapeake and Coastal Watershed Service, which manages the bay and Maryland's part of the surrounding watershed, lost $2.5 million.

Public interest groups expected some budget struggles, given how tight things are right now, said Gigi Kellett, a public interest advocate with the Maryland Public Interest Research Group.

"Obviously we are very concerned about the availability of funding for environmental enforcement," Kellett said. "We will be watching to make sure we can get full funding for these programs."

Ehrlich had talked of combining the two environmental departments, but passed on the idea this year.

Looking at this budget suggests that thought might still be on Ehrlich's mind, said Sen. Janet Greenip, R-Anne Arundel. If the two departments were combined, Greenip said, the level of funding would be "pretty darn good."

The amount of funding for some programs, such as the federal environmental Superfund, which pays to restore extremely contaminated areas, hasn't been announced yet, said Neil Bergsman, budget director with the Office of Budget Analysis. The governor, he said, folded funding for several programs into the capital budget, which were to be released this week.

Ehrlich Proposes Boost In Public School Spending, Cuts For Higher Education

by Kristin Sette
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS - Public schools would get a $242 million increase in state aid in Gov. Robert Ehrlich's fiscal 2004 budget, while higher education would suffer funding cuts that officials said will "require difficult decisions."

The bulk of the schools increase in the $22.8 billion budget unveiled Friday would go toward fully funding the second-year increase in local aid under the Bridge to Excellence in Public Schools Act of 2002.

Many hailed the move, even as they said they had expected the governor to provide money for the program, which aims to redistribute tax dollars over several years to the state's poorest school districts.

"It (the school-aid increase) was something that was fundable. It makes sense. It was logical," said Alvin Thornton, the chairman of the commission that recommended the new formula last year.

"We would be (legally) vulnerable if it were not funded," Thornton said. "Obviously, I am very pleased."

Delegate Melony Griffith, D-Prince George's, said she was "thrilled that the governor shares our commitment to education." Her county stands to get an additional $350 million in state aid by 2008 under the multiyear Bridge to Excellence plan.

After a briefing on the budget Friday, members of the Senate Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs Committee also said they were satisfied with the governor's proposed school funding increases.

"I've looked at it, and it looks great," said Sen. Janet Greenip, R-Anne Arundel.

That's a far cry from the reaction of state higher education officials, who learned Friday that the governor's fiscal 2004 budget slashes their funds by $67 million. Ehrlich's plan proposes a 7 percent reduction in funds to the state's colleges and universities and a 5 percent cut to the Maryland Higher Education Commission, said Janice Doyle, MHEC's assistant secretary for finance policy.

The cuts did not come as a surprise.

"I think it has been made clear that this is what the priorities are for Governor Ehrlich," Doyle said. "I think he said he'd support (kindergarten) through (grade) 12."

Slots or Not?...

Legislation was introduced yesterday by new governor Robert Ehrlich calling for the legalization of slot machines at race tracks in Maryland. This sets the stage for a major debate, with the likelihood of passage by the legislature said to be about 50-50.

The primary reason for the proposal is, obviously, to generate millions of dollars in greatly needed, extra revenue for the state since the outgoing administration, as well as other factors, left the state facing a projected $1.7 billion deficit.

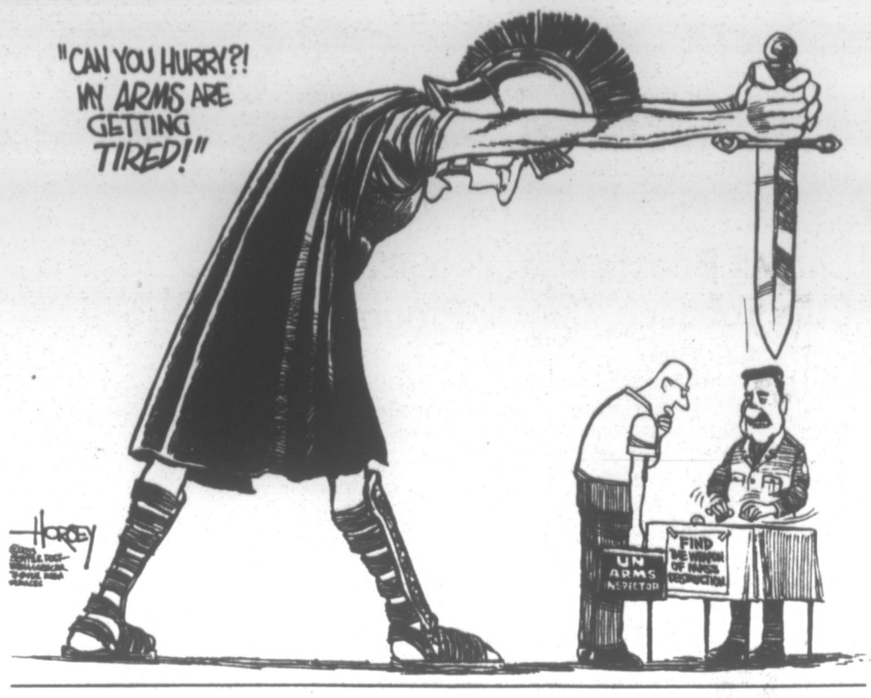
There are strong arguments on both sides of the slot machine issue. Opponents note the devastating effects of being addicted to gambling, along with the generally unwholesome environment that surrounds gambling facilities. There is no question, for example, that with all of its flash and excitement, Las Vegas also has an incredibly seedy side that features prostitution, drug abuse, and various other destructive behaviors.

Proponents say that this is one of the quickest, easiest ways to generate those millions of dollars that are needed to fund so many worthy programs, and that it is a voluntary "tax," in a manner of speaking. Those who choose not to gamble don't have to gamble.

While we understand and respect the anti-view, we are leaning toward support of this legislation. While the general morality of gambling is highly questionable, the state already crossed that bridge when it started the lottery. For many people gambling is simply a form of entertainment, not radically different from going to a movie or a concert, dining out, or going bowling.

Granted, for some, gambling is addictive and can become personally destructive. But the same can be said for alcoholic beverages. Should sensible consumers be legally denied the opportunity to enjoy a glass of wine or a beer because a relatively small percentage of people drink to excess? Should we do away with ice cream because it is making too many people fat? Should the driving of automobiles be banned because a relatively small percentage of people drive too fast and occasionally end up injuring or killing people?

The latter two examples may be a bit far-fetched, but this all has to do with personal choice and taking responsibility for one's own actions, something that seems to be a bitter pill for Americans to swallow these days.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

After reading about the safety of our birds, we are wondering if one wind tower would destroy more birds than one bird hawk? Lately I heard a flapping in our evergreen tree, then out came a hawk chasing a cardinal full speed through other trees and down by the creek through the brush. It happened to get away that time.

I'm afraid they get a lot of nice birds by visiting the bird feeders through the community. Some birds are more destructive than others. If they would catch a robin in the strawberry patch or a cat bird in the raspberries or a few of the big flocks of black birds that land in the grain fields or pick the corn ears, we wouldn't care so much. We always welcome the blue birds, barn swallows, and purple martins and try to protect them if possible. As for the wind tower and hawk, we wonder which is the lesser of the two evils.

Harvey C. Yoder

To the Editor:

I just want to chime in with the resounding chorus of Garrett County folks who have suddenly decided to oppose wind power. Like everyone else, golly jeepers, I sure am in favor of non-polluting "green" power, but not in my back yard. I have suddenly developed a fond yearning to protect all those geese who poop all over the docks on Deep Creek Lake; and I'm positively in love with the view southward from Route 135, which I've never seen. Having those terrible, nasty windmills there will totally spoil civilization as we know it.

Of course, civilization as we know it includes electricity, which, as "everybody knows," just comes out of the wall. It isn't made someplace, it doesn't consume resources, it's just been in the wall ever since the house was built. Big fancy words like "generation," "transmission," and "distribution" are much too long for me to learn to spell. And we all know that blackouts are caused by greedy robber barons like Enron, never by people in houses overloading the system.

Now, let's get serious for a minute. In about 10 years, when the national shortage of electricity is obvious and hurting everyone, national planners are going to say: "Y'know, there's an awful lot of cooling water there called Deep Creek Lake. We could put a small nuclear reactor right at the dam site, use the lake water for cooling, and generate 50 times as much power as that dam produces. We need the power. Let's do it!" When that day comes, I think it would be really beneficial for Garrett County to be able to stand up and say, "We're already doing our fair share – look at the wind power generated here."

Think about it, folks. Anywhere you live, there are always trade-offs. America needs a lot more electricity far into the future, and wind power is a lot nicer way to make it than most other choices.

This is to thank everyone who helped make the Elks "Hoop Shoot" a huge success. We had 62 students register and participate in this year's contest, making it our largest ever. Much appreciation goes out to the students, parents, coaches, our local radio stations and newspapers, and, most of all, to the volunteers who gave so generously of their time so that this contest could be the positive experience that it was.

Good luck to our athletes who will be traveling to Hagerstown to participate in the West District competition.

The quarter page ad in The Republican January 16 was confusing to me and without substance. The ad was headlined, "STOP THE WAR AGAINST IRAQ."

I wasn't aware that we, the USA, were at war against Iraq. There is evidence that the terrorists from over there somewhere are at war with the USA, by the attacks on the World Trade Center in 1993 and again on 9-11-2001.

Those saying "Stop the war against Iraq" could at least offer a plan to protect the USA from the terrorists.

As a veteran of World War II, I would like to know what www. veteransforcommonsense.org is that the ad asks readers to be informed. Could they name the founder and members of www.veteransforcommonsense.org for veterans' information?

Because we love this county and humanity, we can no longer remain silent as the government of the United States continues to prepare for war in our names and with our tax dollars. We publicly state our opposition to President Bush's rush to war with Iraq. We encourage others to join us and millions of other people around the world in advocating a peaceful solution to this deadly conflict of interests.

To the Editor:

Readers of The Republican need to sit up and take notice, because we're sleeping on a hot local tax story.

According to the January 4 Baltimore Sun (page 3B), one of Glendening's last acts was a sneaky little move to "change the minimum sentence requirement for state correctional facilities, effectively shifting thousands of prisoners from state prisons to county jails."

At current incarceration costs, every 40 prisoners added to the local detention center will add another million dollars to county citizens' tax burden every year for perpetuity, not including the cost of building an addition to the jail.

Those serving prison terms of more than 18 months are currently put in state prisons. "If the state follows through on the idea of housing all inmates with sentences of less than 24 months in local detention facilities...," it will cause overcrowding and the expensive expansion of local jails in virtually every county in Maryland, beginning with Baltimore County (which is already in the midst of a $70 million jail expansion, and it will be overcrowded the day it opens!).

Readers who don't want an added local tax burden of multiple millions of dollars spent housing more prisoners are encouraged to contact their state senators and delegates to put a stop to this plan. It is just one of many hidden costs still awaiting discovery in the new budget, and as Baltimore County Executive Smith noted, local "funds are [meant] to be used for local police, fire and education services."

Does anyone doubt the addition of these jail costs will come at the expense of education, fire and local police services, or your personal pocket?

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to those who have voiced their opposition to the proposed windmills on Backbone Mountain. I urge them to look at the larger picture.

We in Garrett County are not about to trade in our SUVs, pickups, and other all-wheel-drive vehicles because we need them, given our climate and terrain. We can just as easily justify our other energy consumptive habits, right down to our electric can opener. So, if conservation isn't possible (albeit the best solution), we have to choose a source for our ever-growing energy appetite. Let's look at our options.

#1 Nuclear power. I don't know anyone who would want one of those in their backyard. Besides the horrible scenario of accidents, nobody knows what to do with the inevitable waste it produces. Should we bury it deep inside Backbone Mountain, or ship it out to Nevada and let it become their problem?

#2 Coal-fired power plants. If Dick Cheney is right in his projections of needing some ridiculous number of power plants to come on line annually to fuel our country, then the "not in my backyard" argument doesn't exist. Everyone will have one in their backyard. I doubt that the belching smokestacks will be very pretty to look at, and its contents most definitely are not good for the bird population, not to mention the human one. Let's move along.

#3 Oil. Well, we don't have any, and thankfully our waterways don't have to transport it because, as we have seen all too often, it's pretty hard on birds and pristine habitat when it spills.

#4 Renewable energy. The sun – we just don't have enough sunny days to make that a viable commercial alternative. Water – yes! We have that, and yes, it produces energy. There must have been some opposition to the proposal to flood the area that is currently Deep Creek Lake, and look what a gold mine that turned into. Some of the people who have voiced their opposition to the windmills make a comfortable living because of Deep Creek Lake, as has our family. In fact, this county has benefited greatly because of the lake and our society's expanding consumption.

#5 Lastly, there is wind. We have wind!

Clipper Windpower wants to place windmills on 12 to 14 miles of mountaintop. Personally, I would rather look at these windmills than clear-cut mountain sides, high-tension lines, and microwave towers with blinking red lights. We don't seem to mind them. Unfortunately, we don't have the luxury of time. The government, with the powerful oil industry in its hip pocket, has given them a very small window of opportunity to receive needed tax incentives.

We should embrace clean, renewable energy. Instead of thinking of these windmills as ruining our scenic vistas, let them be a symbol of our dedication to use our natural resources without depleting them. It's the only option that makes sense for our backyard and our children's future backyard.

To the Editor:

I've long been aware that regulations are constantly growing and changing; Rob Heilig's statement that "watts plus voltage equals amperage" ("Electricians Ask Officials to Form Electrical Board") makes me wonder if even Watt's Law has been amended. Any structure wired to conform to this formula, rather than the original "watts divided by voltage equals amperage," would indeed be safe, but prohibitively expensive. Rob was obviously misquoted; as a friend, I know that he is knowledgeable and competent. The error, however, perfectly parallels my objections to his request.

While our growing level of regulatory control certainly elevates building quality and builder competence, this comes at a price not all can afford. Both large contractors and buyers of the new homes sprouting in our once-rural county are well served by licensing and regulation; others, however, are not. With each new licensing regulation—overhead in the form of financial and time investment—smaller contractors must expand their markets to remain profitable. Until the mid-'90s, I served this area as one of the few builders willing to stoop to small jobs for the local, less-than-wealthy homeowner. Not wishing to enter the big-money, lake-area fray, yet forced to bear costs equal to those who did, I closed my business. Many other small contractors have also chosen either to get big or get out—not because of competition, but because of growing regulatory burden. Homeowners in need of small repairs or remodeling now must choose between the exorbitant fees of institutionalized service departments or an under-the-table, off-the books gamble on the totally unregulated.

Let's be realistic about the unstated purposes of this proposed (or nearly any) licensing board: to serve established firms by adding roadblocks to incoming, emerging, and low overhead competition; and to give birth to and perpetuate bureaucratic employment. Our existing electrical inspection assures that all work conforms to code; another layer of bureaucracy will only muddle the responsibility. Garrett Dixon's statement that the board should be "self-

AARP TAX-AIDE PROGRAM

Dear Savvy Senior,

With the tax season looming, a friend of mine was recently telling me about a free tax prep program that's available to senior citizens through AARP. Can you please give me some specific information about this program and tell me who all is eligible?

Regards,
Savvy Saver

Dear Saver,

The super-savvy-saving program you're asking about is called the AARP Tax-Aide program. Through the AARP Foundation program, and part of the National Community Service Program, AARP Tax-Aide is a free, confidential tax preparation service that's been around since 1968. With over 10,000 sites nationwide, it is available to all taxpayers, middle and low income, with special attention to those 60 years and older.

Savvy note: Since its birth, AARP Tax-Aide has helped over 27 million individuals file their taxes.

AARP Tax-Aide volunteers are available to assist you from Feb. 1 through April 15 at conveniently located sites such as libraries, malls, banks, and senior centers. They will also visit taxpayers in their homes, if they are physically unable to visit a site.

Savvy note: Taxpayers with complex tax returns will be advised to seek professional tax assistance.

When you visit an AARP Tax-Aide site you need to bring the following: current year's tax forms and booklet; copy of last year's income tax returns; W-2 and W-2p forms from each employer, if you earned a salary; unemployment compensation statements; SSA-1099 form if you were paid Social Security benefits; all 1099 forms (1099-INT, 1099-DIV, 1099-misc, etc.) showing interest and/or dividends as well as documentation showing the original purchase price of your sold assets; 1099R forms from the payer of your pension or annuity; all forms indicating federal income tax paid; child care provider information (name, employer ID, SSN); all receipts or canceled checks if itemizing deductions; and Social Security numbers for all dependents.

Tax-Aide Volunteerism: Over 30,000 volunteers is what makes the AARP Tax-Aide program so successful. Volunteers constantly are being recruited to serve in a variety of rewarding opportunities. The only requirement for becoming an volunteer is to possess a desire to give of your time to help others.

AARP Tax-Aide volunteers receive comprehensive training in cooperation with the IRS. They also are reimbursed for their program-related, out-of-pocket expenses, including such costs as mileage, postage, and basic supplies.

For more information about the AARP Tax-Aide service or to locate a site near you, call toll free 1-888-AARPNOW (1-888-227-7669). Computer savvy seniors can log onto their Web site at www.aarp.org/taxaide.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070 or see our Web site at www.savvysenior.org.

sustaining" is easily translated to read "at additional expense." And if we are to lend credence to the argument that so many other trades require licensing, this one will only add momentum to that trend.

We should and must address the building explosion on Deep Creek Lake, but not continue our propensity to forget the remainder of Garrett County. While home-building costs vary wildly around the country, material costs are relatively constant; the primary difference is in the varying regulatory burden. Our current trend has us moving rapidly across the continuum from laissez faire toward over-regulation. Where will we stop?

While we're contemplating the direction our county will take, please don't complain to me that nobody does small jobs anymore, or that laborers are at a premium. Ballooning overhead is pushing the small builder to extinction; exploding housing costs are driving away workers. But if you have any jokes about electricians, plumbers, and builders who used to be doctors, I'd like to hear them. They're funny, if you aren't planning to build.

To the Editor:

If only the Humane Society and Animal Shelter people could get through the thick skulls of some people, many, many animals in this county would not be abused. We find animals tied by the neck to old boxes not fit for fire wood, many with collars grown into their necks, full of parasites (some with 2 or 3 different kinds), fur so matted they are full of maggots, so emaciated their ribs are protruding, sleeping in their own feces, no bedding — any kind of abuse you can think of, we find.

Some do make amends, but many believe the dogs are "property" and it is their business how they care for them. Many do not have the intelligence to know how to care for animals, but since there is no law preventing this kind of people from having pets, they continue getting more.

If I had my way, anyone getting a dog should have to sign a commitment — notarized — that reads, "In good times and bad, in sickness and health, 'til death do us part, this animal shall be cared for. I shall provide plenty of food and fresh water every day; warm shelter with clean, fresh bedding; medical check-ups and shots to prevent disease; brush, groom when necessary; never tie continuously by the neck; let run on own property and walked on public property with leash."

Also, just because they have bad habits, such as "going in the house," chewing, etc., they should not be "gotten rid of." They should promise to work with them just as they would a child's bad habits.

An animal that has been with a family for a matter of weeks grieves when it is uprooted and tossed away.

I know from experience with animals that have been "dumped" on me. For a very long time until they knew we love them and this is home, they tremble when approached, cower, hide, and often growl or hiss.

The Humane Society's newest project is having dog houses built. Hopefully, we can provide decent shelter for many dogs whose owners cannot provide sufficient shelter, according to the guidelines. These houses will be built by the young people in the camps of the Department of Juvenile Justice, under the supervision of Superintendent Dale Schroyer.

Anyone wishing to donate to this cause can send their donation to Lisa Baker, Chairperson, 148 Brant Road, Swanton, MD 21561.

Another wonderful idea is that of Judy and Ken Carbones. They had a birthday party for themselves and gifts were to be pet products for the Animal Shelter and monetary donations for the Humane Society. It was very successful. We are all very grateful.

The Humane Society is also grateful to the Carbones for their very, very generous donation to the special fund for the very sick dogs confiscated on our county sweep.

You will also soon be hearing about our Month of March Spay/Neuter Program sponsored by the Animal Shelter and the Humane Society.

The key element for this is, if you prevent animals from being born, you don't have to kill them.

Our Humane Society quarterly newsletter will soon be out. Check local business places and the library to keep up with what we are doing for the animals.

To the Editor:

Rejoice, citizens of the tri-state area! We now have two subjects to discuss, in addition to the time-worn, oft discussed subjects of gun control, abortion and fluoridation. Different subjects to take our mind off Iraq and North Korea for awhile. It's Windmills and Ethical Scientism, Bless my soul, these subjects come just in time to offset the winter doldrums and satisfy our need to "plow new ground."

At the outset I am in favor of windmills in Garrett County, even though others favor more studies. Which raises the question of who pays for these additional studies? Clipper, which has already paid for studies to satisfy the state agencies should not. I suggest the environmentalists who are adamant that more studies are needed, e.g., Audubon Society, Sierra Club, should pay.

In addition to more studies, the environmentalists have broached another subject to discuss — ethical scientism as discussed in the Time-News Reader Commentary of 9 December. Therein is stated, "A bedrock principle of ethical science is that those who make claims about natural phenomena must demonstrate the truth of these claims before imposing any consequences into the public domain." Wow! This statement was about state agencies not being ethical. On the other hand is it only fair to impose these same bedrock principles onto the backs of the environmentalists, who use such pejorative terms as cursory study, pejorative bias, boosterism, insufficient knowledge, antithetical smokescreen, macabre implications, unsubstantiated claims, and last but not least, regulatory collusion?

In my opinion, there are just as many professional "ethical scientists" within the DNR and Power Plant Research Program as there are in the private sector doing all the objecting. To the objecting environmentalists I offer these challenges:

1. Pay for and present their data using ethical scientific bedrock principles soon because the wind farm companies are under a duly promulgated time constraint to come on line in order to meet a federal government tax credit program which expires on 31 December 03.

2. Become part of the solution, not the obstruction. Ever heard of compromise?

3. Get off the backs of the professionally staffed state agencies which are not allowed to rebut counterattacks of environmentalists who just might use biased data themselves! Am I biased? Yes I am.

To conclude, I quote what Gus Douglass, commissioner of the West Virginia Department of Agriculture wrote in its The Market Bulletin, November 2002, regarding his and my problem with environmentalists. His article is titled "Offer Solutions Not Criticism" and the article continues, "I have stayed on the sidelines as long as I can while environmental activists continue to unfairly challenge state government for doing nothing about identifying contaminants to our state streams (read, identifying and studying the problems connected with Maryland wind farms).

They call themselves watch dogs. I think this an apt term because they sit on the sidelines and bark, but offer very little help in resolving these situations." He concludes, "but don't further burden industry and government as we make an honest effort to address environmental issues." 'Nuf said. Let the blades turn.

To the Editor:

Responding to boating safety and environmental concerns on Deep Creek Lake, the DNR has approved a new carrying capacity study for the lake. The study will analyze the environmental impact of various types of watercraft. Basically, a company will be hired to count boats, ranging in size to 25 feet. Based on a similar study done in the 1980s, the DNR estimates the new study will take two years.

If two years are required to count large boats confined to a rather narrow lake, it is reasonable to suppose that understanding the various migratory paths of small birds across 14 miles of mountain tops will take at least as long.

This understanding is vital to the healthy growth of the wind farm industry; the growth of green power is important to our society. We want to lessen our dependence on Arab oil. We are concerned about the long-range effects on our environment of coal and nuclear power plants. Various state and federal agencies suggest that up to 10 percent of electrical energy, nationwide, should be supplied by green power. Up to 2000 wind farm turbines would be required to supply 10 percent of Maryland's electrical power. It is, therefore, surprising to read a statement in the Times-News, attributed to Clipper's Mr. Rackstraw, that the success of the Allegheny Heights project hinges on obtaining the federal Production Tax Credit.

No business will survive without making a profit. The well-known adage, "time is money" cannot be underestimated. To maximize profits, the entrepreneur must overcome all obstacles to his timetable. It is understandable that Clipper would petition the PSC to waive the normal two-year application period.

It is the task of public administrators and regulators to assure that the public interest prevails, and to speak for those who cannot speak for themselves — in this case, wildlife. If green power is viable and profitable, the wind power industry should develop without the crutch of federal tax credits. If it is profitable to build wind turbines at the former PPG plant in Cumberland, it should not depend on the expedited approval of the Allegheny Heights project.

Society does not want to trade one environmental problem for another. One in four species of birds is declining in population. If improper placement of wind turbines would seriously impact migratory birds, it would be logical to remove the turbines. This is a critical point, since the expert testimony provided by Clipper and PSC interveners regarding the possible effect of the proposed wind farm on migrating birds is poles apart. Clipper's expert, Paul Kerlinger, may have contradicted himself in an article published in the February 2003 issue of Birder's World. He states that songbirds fly as low as 300 feet above ground level, well within the sweep of the 400-foot high wind turbines to be placed atop Backbone Mountain.

Many wind farms in western states have been abandoned. Clipper does not provide adequately for this possibility. Their proposal includes a bond of just $2,000 per turbine for removal in the first 10 years. The same proposal estimates the labor cost alone to construct each turbine is $39,660. Clipper also states that the salvage value of the turbines is very high and the sale of the equipment would help offset the removal cost. This supposition is optimistic at best.

The federal depreciation schedule for this equipment is five years. (Note: The accelerated depreciation schedule is offered in addition to the Production Tax Credit.) The manufacturer warrants wind turbines for a similar period. Thus, a company wanting to build a wind farm could buy new, fully warranted equipment and depreciate the full value against their federal income tax over the ensuing five years. Alternatively, they could buy Clipper's used, possibly unwarranted equipment, disassemble it, transport it to a new site, rebuild it, and have no depreciation schedule. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to divine the better choice.

Clipper has formed a separate, project specific, corporation to create the financing for this wind farm. In the event of any serious setback, the new corporation, Criterion, could simply abandon the turbines. Who would dismantle the turbines then? Property owners? Garrett County?

Clipper's proposal suggests that Garrett County will receive considerable economic benefit from the wind farm, most of it from the Personal Property Tax. The federal depreciation schedule is central to this assumption. Revenue declines from 100% to 25% of assessed value over the depreciated life of the equipment and remains at 25%. The expected Personal Property Tax revenue would decline in five years to $350,000, far less than the $500,000 to $1.4 million suggested by Clipper. Unless wind turbines are exempted from the proposed phase-out of the Personal Property Tax, revenue will be zero.

Clipper's proposal suggests that 80% of the labor required to build the wind farm will come from Garrett County. Last summer unemployment was as low as 4.8% in the county. In view of that and the continuing building boom here, it is hard to imagine that up to 140 skilled workers could be found without pirating them from other construction projects.

In summary:

1. There is no urgency to begin this project by year-end; both Democratic and Republican budget proposals include extension of Production Tax Credit.

2. There is little economic benefit to Garrett County.

3. Wind farms placed close to populated areas have had a negative impact on real estate values. It wouldn't take much of a downturn in values here to offset the hoped for Personal Property Tax revenue.

4. The proposal violates the Site Planning portion of Garrett County's Development Plan.

5. Sixty-seven 400 foot high wind turbines in the path of migrating birds, each with a blade sweep nearly the size of a football field, turning at speeds that make them "invisible" to birds, could repeat the bird kill in Altamont, Calif.

There is another old adage: "Haste makes waste." Clipper's proposal appears to have been prepared in haste so the wind farm could be built in haste. It is not in the public interest to approve Clipper's proposal in haste. The normal application period should not be waived.

Washington Woman Faces Drug Charges

A Washington, D.C., woman was charged with marijuana possession after a traffic stop on Interstate 68 Saturday afternoon, according to the Maryland State Police.

Elizabeth Carol Donahoe, 57, was traveling westbound on the interstate when she was stopped for speeding near the Friendsville exit at 1:42 p.m. During his conversation with Donahoe, the investigating trooper observed a smoking pipe lying on the front passenger seat. An ensuing search uncovered 30.3 grams of marijuana in the vehicle.

Donahoe was released from the Garrett County Jail after she posted a $1,000 bond.

Minor Injuries

shortly after 3:30 p.m. The rear end of the truck went into a spin, and the southbound vehicle traveled across the oncoming lane, struck the guardrail, and overturned.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported the woman to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene of the accident.

E. SUE LLOYD

E. Sue Lloyd, 53, Bayard, W.Va., died Monday, Jan. 20, 2003, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.V.

Born July 4, 1949, in Bayard, she was a daughter of the late Homer C. Weasenforth and Mary E. (Wilson) Weasenforth.

Early in her life, she attended the Bayard United Methodist Church, and was a member of the Oakland Church of Christ. She was a former deli worker at Browning's Foodland, Oakland, and a former employee of the Miners and Merchants Bank, Bayard. She was a graduate of Bayard High School.

She is survived by her husband, Glenn A. "Butch" Lloyd Jr.; one daughter, Betsy Sue Malcolm, Bayard; one son, Donald E. Kessel Jr., Gormania, W.Va.; four sisters, Stella Hawk, Grafton, W.Va., Helen J. Weasenforth, Parkersburg, W.Va., Deborah Daugherty, Mt. Storm, W.Va., and Mary Pingley, Beverly, W.Va.; three brothers, Homer C. Weasenforth Jr., Beverly, Billy Jo Weasenforth, Brandywine, W.Va., and Joshua Weasenforth, Valley Bend, W.Va.; and four grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was held on Wednesday, Jan. 22, with the Rev. Russell McConnell and Rev. Leslie Hipp officiating.

Interment was in the Bayard Cemetery.

MARGARET GARLITZ

Margaret Grace (Beeman) Wilhelm Broadwater Garlitz, 74, Consol, died Thursday, Jan. 16, 2003, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born Dec. 1, 1928, in Acosta, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Elmer and Jeannie (Hoover) Beeman. She was also preceded in death by two husbands, Floyd E. Wilhelm in 1973; and Alvin E. Broadwater in 1985; one son, Floyd Joseph Wilhelm, in 1944; three brothers; and three sisters.

She was employed in the housekeeping department of Braddock Motor Inn. She was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Shrine, Frostburg Shuffle Board League, Frostburg American Legion Auxiliary, and Avilton Community Association.

She is survived by her husband, Edwin Francis Garlitz; four daughters, Rachel A. Koffman and husband Robert, Spring Church, Pa., Mary S. Albright and husband Charles, Frostburg, Carolyn Stanton and husband, Donald Bittinger, and Audrey M. Nicol and husband Leroy, Avilton; two sons, Floyd Francis Wilhelm and wife Janice, Lonaconing, and David E. Wilhelm and wife Kathy, Frostburg; five stepchildren, Kenneth Garlitz, Cumberland, Sharon Kearney, Georgia, Thomas Garlitz and Amy Garlitz, both of Frostburg, and Michael Garlitz, Minnesota; three sisters, Minnie Whited and husband Ernie, Spangler, Pa., Wanita Horrell and husband Cloyd, Derry, Pa., and Catherine Bittinger, Deal, Pa.; one half sister, Linda Frantz and husband Harold, Clymer, Pa.; 23 grandchildren; 5 step-grandchildren; and 40 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Monday, Jan. 20 at St. Ann's Shrine, Avilton, with the Rev. Milton Hipsley officiating. A Christian wake service was held in the funeral home.

Interment was in St. Ann's Cemetery.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to the building fund for St. Ann's Hall, Avilton.

Pallbearers, all grandsons, were Billy Wellings, Robert Koffman, Floyd Wellings, Leroy Nicol Jr., Ben Nicol, and Jimmy Wilhelm; and honorary pallbearers were Jimmy Wellings, Jason Wilhelm, John Koffman, and Joseph Wilhelm.

WILLARD J. RILEY

Willard Jasper Riley, 75, Ellicott City, died suddenly on Thursday, Jan. 16, 2003, at Washington Adventist Hospital, Takoma Park.

Born May 4, 1927, in Maryland, he was a son of the late Jasper and Nina O'Brien Riley.

He was a retired heavy equipment operator.

Surviving are his wife, Brenda L. Riley, Ellicott City; four daughters, Linda Ware, Carol Hurley, Tammy Yanulevich, and Linda Imler; one son, Willard Jay Riley; two stepdaughters, Cathy Gayda and Janet Carrera; one brother, Carlos Riley; four sisters, Arletta Bittinger, Nellie Fletcher, Evelyn Martin, and Betty Cuddy; and 13 grandchildren.

Friends will be received from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 25, at the Haight Funeral Home and Chapel, Sykesville.

A service will follow at 4 p.m. in the funeral home, with the Rev. Paul Reich as celebrant.

Interment will be private.

NORMAN A. WILT

Norman A. "Rusty" Wilt, 53, Shady Dale, Ga., died Sunday, Dec. 22, 2002, at Augusta Medical Center, Augusta, Ga.

Born Jan. 5, 1949, in Oakland, he was a son of Norman Shrout Sr., Oakland, and the late Etta (Smith) Shrout and Robert M. and Beulah (Friend) Wilt.

He was a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, and was a meat department manager for Wayfield Foods, Georgia.

In addition to his father, he is survived by his wife, Gladys (Tipton) Wilt; two daughters, Tina Mills, Connecticut, and Donna Wilt, Johnson City, Tenn.; one son, Russ Wilt, at home; five sisters, Carol Davis, Linda Nazelrod, Lisa Sweitzer, and Donna Shrout, all of Oakland; three brothers, Arlie Lillie, West Virginia, Norman Shrout, Cumberland, and Mark Shrout, Oakland; and two grandchildren.

A service was held on Thursday, Dec. 26, in Georgia, with the Rev. Ben Strength officiating.

CAROLINE E. GEISWEIDT

Caroline Elizabeth Geisweidt, 80, Meyersdale, Pa., died Saturday, Jan. 18, 2003, at Meyersdale Medical Center, Meyersdale.

Born Jan. 29, 1922, in Salisbury, Pa., she was the daughter of the late Catherine (Merrbach) Brown. She was also preceded in death by two husbands, John Clarence Trent and Charles Geisweidt; her stepfather, Harvey Brown; one daughter, Cookie Geisweidt; and two grandchildren.

She was a retired seamstress for Meyersdale Manufacturing Co.

She is survived by three sons, Harvey Trent and Kenneth Trent, both of Meyersdale, and William Trent, Hunlock Creek, Pa.; two daughters, Katherine Durst, Taylor, Mich., and Bonnie Hartman, Berlin, Pa.; nine grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Salisbury, where a service was held on Tuesday, Jan. 21, with the Rev. Robert Stahl officiating.

Interment was in Salisbury Cemetery.

RICHARD J. HESSE

Richard John Hesse, 83, Oakland, died Saturday, Jan. 18, 2003, at his home.

Born Sept. 13, 1919, in the area of Silver Knob in Garrett County, he was a son of the late Edmund Charles and Mary Ann (Crowe) Hesse.

He was a retired dairy farmer and past member of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. He was a member of the Gortner Union Church of Oakland. His interests included listening to gospel music, especially local community groups.

He is survived by his wife, whom he married on June 3, 1950, Berdena Avenell (Harsh) Hesse; one daughter, Ruth Ann Beckman and husband, Marvin E. Beckman, Swanton; one sister, Elsie Virginia (Hesse) Harsh; several nieces and nephews; and many good neighbors.

Funeral arrangements were provided by Durst Funeral Home, Oakland.

Friends were received at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. A service was held at the Gortner Union Church on Tuesday, Jan. 21, with the Rev. Steven Sauder officiating.

Burial was in the Eglon Cemetery, Eglon, W.Va.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Gortner Union Church, P.O. Box 464, Oakland, MD 21550.

Colorectal Cancer Treatment Update

Colorectal cancer (CRC) is the second most common cancer and second leading cause of cancer death in many countries. CRC originates in the large intestine (colon) and rectum. Risk factors include a family history of CRC, colon polyps, ulcerative colitis, or Crohn's disease. CRC tends to occur in those who eat a diet high in animal proteins, fats, and sugar, while being low in fiber. Typically, CRC begins as a button-like swelling on the intestinal lining. It often grows to invade surrounding tissue, nearby lymph nodes, and eventually the liver as well.

Surgical removal of the affected intestine and associated lymph glands is the primary treatment usually recommended for CRC. Chemotherapy with 5-fluorouracil in combination with leucovorin often is the first drug regimen attempted for CRC. If the cancer comes back, irinotecan often is added. A recently approved drug oxaliplatin seems to work well in people with advanced CRC that do not respond adequately to combinations of 5-fluorouracil, leucovorin, and irinotecan. It received rapid approval in the US following positive test results at several clinical centers.

Committee in Maryland and one of the first Community Action Committees in the nation, where he served as the first acting director and later as the first director.

He led the "Farming for Better Living" program for 15 years, which involved 75 farm families. McHenry worked with the University of Maryland College of Agriculture and local civic and business groups to establish the Farm Credit Bureau.

He led the Dairy Marketing Study Group, which resulted in price gains exceeding $1 million to county dairy farmers. McHenry also converted 4-H club programs from a school-based to community-based model, increasing the club membership and the number of clubs in the county.

In 1967, he was named president of the Maryland Association of County Agents, and received the National Association of County Agricultural Agents Distinguished Service Award in 1968. McHenry was also adviser to both the County Livestock Association and the Holstein Association, which he founded. He was also administrator of the Western Maryland 4-H Center from 1958 until 1981.

McHenry was also adviser to various farm and community groups, including the Soil Conservation Service and Forestry Service and the Garrett County Farm Bureau. He also organized the USDA Agency Panel to serve the Garrett County Development Corporation.

McHenry was also a founding committee member for Garrett Community College, and a member of the first board of directors for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

He also assisted in the layout and development of the Wisp Ski Resort, Oakland Golf Club, and Southern High athletic fields.

McHenry's community service activities included past president of Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, American Legion Proctor Kildow Post 71, Southern High Athletic Boosters, and BPOE.

He was also a guest speaker on educational topics related to agriculture, farm management, and public affairs affecting farm families in the county.

Surviving are three children, Karen McHenry Van Dyk and her husband Kenneth of Highland; James T. McHenry and wife Gaye Ann of Denton, and their three children, Todd, Brandon, and Logan; and Michael K. McHenry, Mtn. Lake Park.

Friends may call to pay respects at the family's home, located at 600 I Street, Mtn. Lake Park, on Saturday, Jan. 25, from 3 to 7 p.m.

A memorial celebration of his life will be held on March 29 at the Western Maryland 4-H Center at 1 p.m.

Interment will be private at the Memorial Gardens Chapel on Saturday.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad or the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Building Fund.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Our Korean seminary student will go back to Fairfax, Va., to pick up his wife to join him in Bittinger. They were Saturday dinner guests of the Southerly family. Sheila managed to cook a dinner after a beautiful day on her cross-country skis with Kevin Bass on a trail broken by a snowmobile driven by Shane Buckel. I was with them in spirit.

It was so beautiful. I once painted a picture titled "A Perfect Winter Day" and today it was with blue sky, sunshine, and a thick white blanket covering everything, and now after sunset, a brilliant silver winter full moon. I learned about that from Patty Diehlman, who called to let me know that she and Steve will have to go on a plumbing emergency call for, guess what — broken water pipes in the Dry Run Road area. So Hannah will spend a few more hours with us.

It is surprising that, even if it is beautiful out, it is also very cold. I am not sure, but I think it is around zero. But this snow really makes for good cross-country skiing. It is the kind of snow that talks to you, with the creaking and cracking when you put your weight on it. How I envy Kevin, Sheila, and Shane. The beaver dam called me so loudly today. But alas, it was out of reach for me, like most things these days.

After I finished writing the above I ventured outside to my car just at sunset and got the double thrill of seeing a brilliant full moon rising over Meadow Mountain. During yesterday dusk we were lit with two bright skylights.

I was not as lucky as Mere's friend and teammate, Ashley Friend, who woke in the middle of the night late last week from a flood of bright moonlight. She got to see a lunar eclipse.

Last evening was as beautiful as the sunlight-drenched afternoon was, but it was a very subtle beauty. The wide-open fields were not white, but a silverfish cream shade with moon shadow of purple and indigo. A row of pine trees showed their wind-bended form in the west in front of the pink-gray sunset. The little woods behind "Pappy" Dale's house were silhouetted in front of the silver moon. The branches of the hardwood trees reached toward the light of the moon, except those many felled by the ice storm.

Every time you look at the woods you are reminded of that chaos and damage from that icy natural disaster. Imagine if every time you step outside you see the remainder of a human disaster: bombed out buildings and ruins everywhere from a war. Many people of the world see things that remind them of America and what our economics might do: a full graveyard, but not as many wells or happy, healthy children, hungry or sick, because of America's selfishness. Why do Iraq or North Korea hate us so much?

The Global Mission worship service at Emmanuel Lutheran Church was moving and inspiring. In place of the regular liturgy was a litany of a Korean United Methodist Church. The seminary student is fluent in his native language as well as English. The reason for his fluent English is that he spent much of his grown-up years in a rural part of Arkansas, and then went to college in Arkansas. He then lived in Canada and is now working as an indoctrination student in a Korean-American Methodist Church in Fairfax. I had to ask him if it was really true that South Korea has winter like in Bittinger. He said yes, it is true. I am sure that they may get cold and snow, but not like this spell of real winter in Bittinger with subzero temperatures and wild winds blowing lots of snow around.

I was surprised that our church attendance was so good, as it was one of the worst winter days so far. It was a small miracle that many cars started up bright and early, especially my poor old car, and that my lane was passable. I do not just thank God for that, but also a real good neighbor, Jack Beitzel. Also a good friend of Mother's, Rick Perrone, makes regular stops to help keep it open.

Jack has repaid me many times for the help I gave to his mother Leah, with her big pinto mare and her foal. I was thrilled to ride Flicka over to Accident to meet a stallion called Fire Ball, belonging to Ellsworth Yoder. Fire Ball was one of two stallions that can be claimed as my Little Joe's sire. The other possible sire of Joey was a big fancy palomino stallion belonging to Bob Glover. If you judge by appearance, Joey was much more similar to Fire Ball than Lucky Strike, but genetics are a very strange and iffy field. Joey's dam was a part-palomino named Babe belonging to John Beachy. Strange to say, if you cross two palominos most of the time you get either a chestnut or white foal.

When Babe had a foal fathered by a chestnut Arabian stallion, she delivered a foal the same color as her, with splash white legs and underside with white mane and tail, which was my sister's mount Rocket. He was not as talented as Joey.

I wish I had a chance to clone Joey because none could match up the right mare with the right stallion to come up with another "jumping fool" like Joey. I don't think any of those other offspring had the benefit of a full-time education from their earliest day by a little girl filled with dreams to be like National Velvet.

Another big regret for me was that I never tried racing Joey over fences that probably would be the very best thing for his talents. He was as fast as the wind, jumped like a deer, and had a heart so big he was never defeated in any informal pickup races we would get into. If he were bigger, or else if I were smaller like a jockey, we could race over any fence with the best of them, I believe.

I had the pleasure of assisting our American National Velvet, who actually rode in the Grand National Steeple Chase in England. Joy Slater rode a horse in my care in the sidesaddle class at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden in Manhattan. When she carried off the big bouquet of red roses it was one proud moment in my life, because in that class success was at least half dependent on the presentation of the horse, which required a good grooming and braid job. To win that class at that show you had to put on a perfect picture. Instead of a regular 20-braid mane for the biggest sidesaddle, it took 40 long perfect braids and with a combed pattern of tiny checkerboard pattern on her gleaming red rump. Isle of Erin and Joy were a perfect picture and gave a perfect performance.

That was a big thrill for me, but I think I was even more happy when I helped my middle-aged mother boss win the same class at Penn National Home Show the next year, not on Erin but her less classy mount, Bit of Hope. She was so nervous, as it was the biggest moment in my life for my sweet boss, Joan Sher. My primary responsibility with the Sher family was to show her two teenage sons how to show horses at horse shows. Joan never rode in shows except that one time, and she won a big one. She was mainly only a sidesaddle foxhunter lady.

It was a long way from an elderly country lady keeping a couple horses on her own in Bittinger to an ultra rich society lady who regularly hunted with Jackie Kennedy Onasis.

I can't believe I got off that far from my original track. But you know, I always start with items about life today in Bittinger and you never know where I will take my readers, which is something some of my readers like very much. Others think I should just stick to Bittinger.

It was easy to admire those classy ladies, Mrs. Sher and Jackie, on their perfectly groomed thoroughbreds at the hunt club, Essex Hunt Club, in New Jersey. However, I always admired Leah on her big rangy paint since she was brave enough to tend by herself and not have the luxury of staff to take care of their stable full of blue-blooded mounts. It was almost a full time job for me to keep one sidesaddle mount of Mrs. Sher sound enough for her son Greg to use for jump competition.

I used to whirlpool, massage, and bandage his leg four times a day.

Of course, Leah's horse Flicka only needed his elderly owner to trudge through deep snow to proyide her with hay, water, and love. I learned half the know-how to keep Take A Chance sound by helping Leah nurse Flicka's foal's broken knee. It was a different world in Fair Hall, New Jersey, than in Bittinger, but both had women who loved a horse and faced their fears and obstacles. They were great ladies!

Jackie always looked like a deer caught in headlights at that Hunter Trail. For all her help she still had to face those jumps alone with the whole world watching to see if she made a mistake or fell off, and she knew a picture of it would be in the newspapers and the news.

Leah faced her challenges alone, but she showed fear when faced with that terrible injury of her baby horse. What is harder, to be a pampered princess who had to face life, or a fiercely independent woman who had to ask for help? I can identify with both challenges now. I am terribly grateful that Leah's son now helps me without having to be asked.

Probably the one thing that Jackie and Leah had in common was just not love for horses, but to face whatever life gave them with gritty determination to get on with it. I know where Jackie got her character since I had the great pride of knowing her mother, a grand-dame society lady who gave her time and effort to help a young rider to develop and excel. I believe she could pull up a chair in Leah's old farmhouse and swap horse talk with Leah. Maybe they are doing that in Heaven now. They would have plenty to talk about besides horses and husbands, kids and losses. They could talk about a young horse-crazy girl, Joan Glotfelty. They are still a part of me.

I decided to call Ferne to find out whether Leah Beitzel had spent her whole life growing up in Bittinger, but I got Cindy on the phone, who was at home busily babysitting her grandniece little Marley, daughter of Doug, who is the son of Cindy's sister Mary Ellen.

Doug, wife June, and son Matthew were skiing and tubing at the Wisp. Cindy chose to stay cozy at home with little 3-year-old cupcake Marley.

I am not sure whether life on my farm has more in common with Jackie's home far in the ultra-exclusive Newport, Rhode Island, or the old-time Bittinger farm where Leah grew up. Probably a piece of both. I am sure life is not half as hard now for my three little princesses as it was on a farm during the very early part of the 20th century when Leah grew up on a farm in Bittinger. It is much easier to jump in a car and go somewhere than tending horses and hitching them up to a sleigh. Probably the sleigh would be more pretty and fun.

When I was a little girl we still had some old heavy blankets my grandfather carried in his sleigh to cover the horses while his family was in church.

My Caitlin cooked an old-fashioned dinner for her little sister, Meredith, on her birthday. She cheerfully peeled the potatoes for her

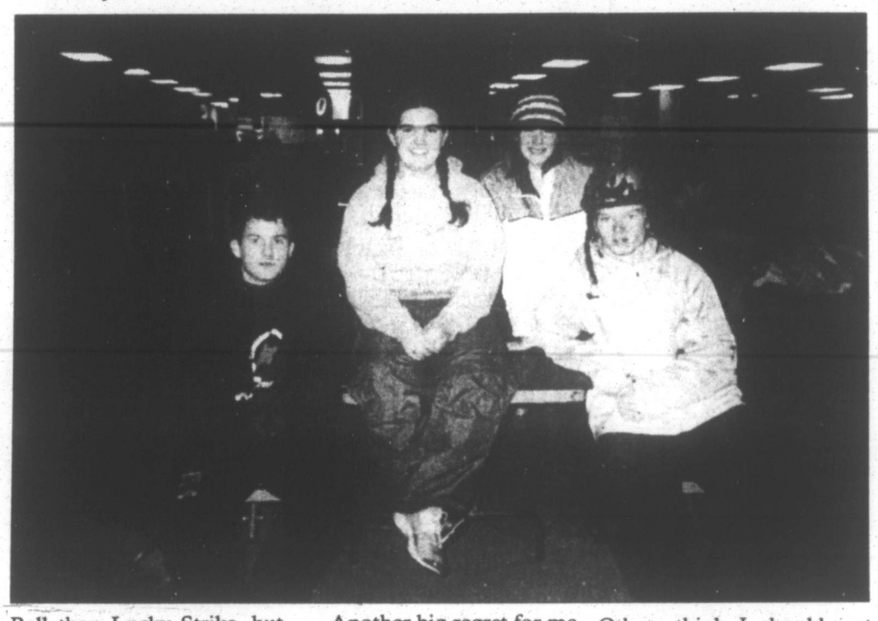
NHS STUDENTS LENDING SIGHT – Several students from Northern High School have offered to "be the eyes" for skiing guests from the Maryland School for the Blind. Sonya Broadwater and Shawn Covell are pictured above with a student from the school, with whom they spent a day last week on the slopes of Wisp Resort. In addition to Sonya and Shawn, 32 students from Northern have pledged to help with the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club blind skier program, which will take place from Jan. 28 to Feb. 13. More volunteers are sought, and an invitation is being extended to students from Southern High who may be interested. SHS students interesting in volunteering may talk with their service learning coordinator. Many of the volunteers from NHS have helped in previous years and, according to teacher Barbara Law, enjoy the experience so much they keep returning to do it again. They serve as BOLD (Blind Outdoor Leisure Development) guides. Pictured below, from left, are BOLD guides Scott Pusateri, Darcy Branthoover, and Sonya and Shawn. Local adults also help with the program. For more information, persons may contact Tom Wenzel of the Deep Creek Lions Club.



Adorable Adoptables

CAMO Cash Bash Set At Elks Lodge

A Cash Bash will be held at the Oakland Elks Lodge on Saturday, Feb. 15, to raise money for CAMO (Central American Medical Outreach).

CAMO is a Christian-based, non-denominational organization that exists to provide medical education, supplies, and equipment to the impoverished region of Central America.

Local doctor Dona Alvarez, who is on the CAMO board of directors, and Cindy Harsh, OTC (orthopedic technician certified) and CAMO board member, visit Honduras yearly to aid the impoverished.

Tickets for the Cash Bash cost $20 per person and include a meal, and those attending must be at least 18 years old. Persons wanting tickets may call Harsh at 301-334-1034.

The doors open at 11 a.m. There will be 1,000 tickets sold, and at the top of each hour from noon until 3 p.m., $400 dollars will be awarded to a winning ticket. Every 15 minutes after each hour, $300 will be awarded, and at 4 p.m. the grand prize of $4,500 will be given away. Persons do not need to be present to win.

The money raised will be used to buy supplies for CAMO. Not one penny of the money will be used for any other purpose, Harsh added.

Alvarez and Harsh will be headed to Honduras for three weeks at the end of February. This year they will be traveling with Peggy Riggleman, a nurse at Garrett County Memorial Hospital; her son Zak, a student studying medicine at Potomac State College; and Suzanne Yares, a CRNA (certified registered nurse anaesthetist) at GCMH. Yares is from Mtn. Lake Park, and the Rigglemans reside in Bayard, W.Va.

"It is the vision of CAMO to be a leader in providing and integrating safe medical equipment, related medical education and volunteer trainers in Central America," indicated a CAMO spokesperson. "We work in partnership with our developing country counterparts to identify and implement all programs. The quality and commitment of our volunteers and services is recognized as the best available, and we provide this at a lower cost than other organizations. Our volunteers consider our organization an excellent place to illustrate their faith in action."

ALL READY FOR THE CASH BASH – CAMO (Central America Medical Outreach) in cooperation with the Oakland Elks Lodge #2481 will be holding a Cash Bash on Saturday, Feb. 15, at the Elks lodge. Local doctor Dona Alvarez, who is on the CAMO board of directors, and Cindy Harsh, OTC and CAMO board member, visit Honduras yearly to aid the impoverished. Tickets cost $20, and can be purchased throughout the county or by calling Harsh at 301-334-1034. CAMO is a Christian-based, non-denominational organization that exists to provide medical education, supplies, and equipment to the impoverished region of Central America. According to Harsh, the goal of this event is to raise $10,000 for supplies for CAMO. Cash prizes will be given away each hour and at each 15 minute interval, and tips will be sold on the floor during the event. Pictured above, from the left, are Harsh, Alvarez, and Sandy Brantner, exulted ruler of the Oakland Elks. See story for more details.

4-H Club News

FRIENDSVILLE FIREFLIES
by Ashely Calhoun

The Friendsville Fireflies 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Jan. 21. President Beth Long called the meeting to order. She also installed the new officers.

Lu Friend read the minutes of the last meeting, which was held in December 2002.

Alice Long asked all the members what activities they would like to do every month for the next year.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 18, at 6 p.m. at Friendsville Elementary School.

NORTH STAR
by Kevin Haenftling

The North Star 4-H Club met on Jan. 21 at the Accident fire hall. There were nine members and seven adults present. The roll call was "Name What You Can't Live Without." Kara Savage led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Rachel Schmidt led the 4-H pledge.

Goals were set for the year. A calendar was given to the members so that they can keep track of their activities throughout the year.

Darlene Schmidt, club leader, went over the calendars and the Maryland behavior form. She also reminded the members about Bowl for Kids Sake, which will be held on March 29, and public speaking, also to be held on March 29.

Kevin Haenftling gave a demonstration on his hobby of "Rokenbok." Kara Savage gave a demonstration on baking peanut butter blossom cookies.

Annamay Broadwater volunteered to be the club's county council representative. Cory House will be club historian.

The Fair Booth Committee members are Kara and Nancy Savage, Robert Broadwater, Cory House, Rachel Schmidt, Kevin and Bonnie Haenftling, and Missy Paugh.

The Fourth of July Committee members are Annamay Broadwater; Robert and Karen Broadwater; Christina, Cory, Bethany, and Marsha House; Brett Stanton; Anita and Bryan Gardner; Rachel Schmidt; Kara Savage; and Kevin and Bonnie Haenftling.

The next club meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 11. Anyone interested in joining the club may call Darlene Schmidt at 301-746-8732.

THE SUN – In February, sunlight hours each day grow. February opens with 10 hours 10 minutes and ends with 11 hours 16 minutes. February opens with 7:27 a.m. sunrises; the last day of February will have a 6:53 a.m. sunrise. Early February sunsets are about 5:37 p.m., which slide to 6:09 p.m. Feb. 3 is the mid point of winter, with 43 days of winter before and 43 days of winter afterwards. In February both dawn and dusk last a little more than an hour. In mid February, one can view the fainter stars as late as 6:10 a.m. and as early as 6:50 p.m.

THE MOON – February opens with the moon nearly in line with the sun (called the new moon). By Feb. 4 the moon will again be easily visible in the western dusk. Each following evening the moon appears higher and grows in lighted width, becoming half full on Feb. 9. For a few days before and after this date, the moon (then resembling a letter "D") is at its best for crater and mountain spotting with binoculars and telescope. The moon will be fullest on the night of Feb. 16 then appearing in the sickle of Leo, near Leo's heart star. By the 22nd the moon will have left the evening sky, affording great views of the winter evening stars in the south. As February draws to a close, the moon will again be a crescent low in the eastern dawn.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS – Our nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine steady, unlike the bright night stars that twinkle. There are two bright planets in the evening sky. The brightest point of light is the planet Jupiter, shining low in the east in the early evening. Higher and farther to the right is the bright planet Saturn, near the star group Orion. Both Saturn and Jupiter are wonderful telescopic targets; Jupiter displays its large moons while Saturn has its great rings. We shouldn't forget the brilliant planet Venus in the eastern dawn, rising several hours ahead of the sun. To the right and higher than Venus is the dull planet Mars.

FEBRUARY'S BEST SIGHTS – In February, the star group Orion peaks in the southern evening sky. Orion's trademark is his belt of three stars in a row. Above and to the left of the belt are Orion's shoulder stars, including the bright pink star Betelgeuse. Below and to the right of the belt are Orion's feet stars, including Rigel, Orion's brightest star. Orion's belt points left and down to Sirius, the night's brightest star. February is also the first month of the year when the Big Dipper becomes prominent in the northeast. The two top stars of the Dipper point left to the North Star. Above and to the left of the North Star is the star group Cassiopeia, whose zigzag shape represents a mythical queen's throne.

FEBRUARY ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES – Our free program at the Frostburg State Planetarium is "Neptune, Eskimos and Gas Clouds." Also featured is an introductory tour of the February evening sky. Our presentations start at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. most Sundays, lasting a little less than an hour. Our showings are on Feb. 2, 9, 16 and 23. For directions on how to reach the planetarium, call 301-687-4270. The Cumberland Astronomy Club will meet on Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the LaVale Public Library. All sky gazers are welcome.

Doyle writes this column for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure or sky calendar, call the FSU Planetarium at 301-687-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "SkyWatch" a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs on weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM on 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and at 96.3 FM around Oakland. OTT Schedules Auditions For Unchanging Love Unchanging Love, a serious drama by Romulus Linney, is scheduled for presentation on March 19-23 at Our Town Theatre in Oakland. Auditions for the play are slated for Friday, Jan. 31, 7-9 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 2, 4-6 p.m., and Monday, Feb. 3, 7-9 p.m., all at the theatre.

There are nine roles for adults and one part for an older teenager. Three of the parts will require singing. Those who wish to audition for singing parts should try out on the Friday or Monday slots, as the musical director will not be present on Sunday.

Based on Russian writer Anton Chekov's story In the Ravine, the play takes place in North Carolina in the 1920s. A "sad but uplifting" battle ensues between morality and greed and life and compassion, according to Jane Avery, director.

"The play shows forgiveness in an unforgiving world," Avery said. "It is not for the faint of heart or for young people under the age of 18."

The play calls for one male age 60-70; two males 40s-50s, three males late teens to 30s, two females late 20s to 30s, and one female late teens. The singing parts are for one male in his 40s, one female in her 40s, and the teenage girl.

Unchanging Love is produced by special permission from the Dramatist's Play Publishing Co. and is sponsored in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Reservations to see the play may be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640 starting Feb. 15.

Coasters, Drifters Among Concert Series Performers

The Tri-State Concert Association has announced the addition of the Coasters and the Drifters as a double-bill concert for the "Legends of Rock & Roll Era" concert series, to be performed at Allegany High School in Cumberland.

The Coasters and the Drifters will perform on Monday, Feb. 24, beginning at 7:30 p.m., presenting legendary favorites such as "Searchin'," "Young Blood," "Yakety Yak," "Charlie Brown," "There Goes My Baby," "Dance With Me," and "Save the Last Dance for Me."

Other concerts in the series are: A Tribute to Elvis with Matt Lewis next Monday, Jan. 27; the Vogues and the Marquees on March 17; and Gary Puckett on April 5.

Memberships for all four concerts are available for $60, and may be obtained by sending a check made out to the Tri-State Concert Association, along with name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, and number of memberships desired, to Knippenberg Insurance Agency, P.O. Box 1585, Cumberland, MD 21502.

Persons may also telephone the agency at 1-301-724-1726 and purchase tickets with a credit card.

Tri-State Photo Exhibit Seeks Submissions

Submissions are being sought for the 10th annual Tri-State Photography Exhibition, open to all photographers in Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania, which will be on display in Cumberland from Thursday, Feb. 6, through Saturday, March 1. The exhibition will be on display at the Allegany Arts Council's Saville Gallery, which will also host an opening reception on Saturday, Feb. 8, from 6 to 8 p.m.

The juried exhibition has a total of $300 in prizes that will be divided among recipients of first-place honors in the categories of color, black-and-white, and special/digital effects, as well as the People's Choice and Best in Show selections.

Applications for the exhibition are available at three Cumberland locations: the Saville Gallery, 52 Baltimore Street; Christopher Photo Imaging, 723 Park Street; Queen City Center; and Clark's Camera Centre, 56 Centre Street. Each individual will have the opportunity to submit up to five photographs to the jury, and the non-refundable jury fee per photograph is $2 for Arts Council members and $4 for non-members. All entries must be dropped off for jurying at the Saville Gallery on Saturday, Feb. 1, between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

MOUNTAINEER 4-H

The Citizenship/Community Service Committee led devotions for the Jan. 13 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. Committee members Ashley Bachtel and Nicole Britner participated in the presentation which included the reading of Psalm 121. Katelyn Harsh led the 4-H and U.S. flag pledges.

The members voted to reimburse Linda Snyder for the materials she purchased for the club to make tray favors for Cortland Acres residents. Those from the club who went with Maple Spring youth on a Dec. 23 Christmas caroling outing were Kari Harsh, Katelyn Harsh, Craig Rembold, Sara Lewis, and leaders Linda Lewis and Kevin Corbin.

Those expressing interest in entering the county photo contest were Sara Lewis, Nicole Britner, and Craig Rembold; and the poster contest, Ashley Wilt, Kari Harsh, Nicole Britner, Ashley Bachtel, Bridgette Strawser, Trevor Spaid, and Tyler Harsh. These entries are due Feb. 2.

A thank-you note was received from Dana Feather for a scholarship presented her. The club received an award for small club 4-H camp attendance. February 8 is 4-H Day at a WVU basketball game. A reminder: No school, no 4-H meeting.

Talks were by Bridgette Strawser, "Horses"; Ashley Bachtel, "Cats"; and "What to Take on a Fishing Trip" by Craig Rembold. Demonstrations included "How to Set a Drag," by Craig Rembold; "How to Tie a Slip Knot," by Bridgette Strawser; and How a Digital Camera Works," by Ashley Wilt.

Members who wish to make changes in their project, or to drop one and to select another, are asked to make their plans and notify the leader, Linda Lewis, prior to the February meeting.

PERSONAL MENTION

Returning Saturday from a two-week work project in Sucre, Bolivia, were Leonard Parsons, Michael Lantz, Leonard Snyder, and Maria Harsh, all local. They accompanied others from the Garrett County area in this annual trek to the orphanage there to provide materials and labor with building and other projects.

Recent donations made to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department were from Paul and JoAnn Arnold, William and Elaine Sites, Willard Feather, George A. and Helen Lipscomb, and Oakland Service Center.

Wilma Waybright was hospitalized last week from Monday until Thursday, and is now at her home near Brookside.

Nina Layman was admitted Monday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She had been home at Aurora for a week from Monongalia General Hospital. The Laymans' son, Charles, had spent a week with them, but had returned last week to his home in Tallahassee, Fla.

The body of Richard Hesse, 83, of Gortner, was brought Tuesday, Jan. 21, to Eglon Cemetery for burial. He died Jan. 19 at his home. He was a son of the late Ed and Mary (Crowe) Hesse. His wife, Berdena (Harsh) Hesse, daughter Ruth Beckman, and sister Elsie Harsh survive him.

Glendora Skidmore, who has been caring for her father, Willard Feather, fell Monday, Jan. 20, outside the home near Aurora, and underwent surgery Tuesday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for fracture of her left shoulder. She fractured her right arm in the tumble.

CRANESVILLE TRAVELERS

By Lydia DeLauder

The Cranesville Travelers 4-H Club inducted several new members at its annual Achievement Dinner, which was held in November at Faith Church, Cranesville. A regular meeting was held during the dinner where each member invited their family to kick off a new year of 4-H.

The Travelers marched in the Terra Alta Christmas Parade on Dec. 6. The weather was bitter cold, but eight members dressed for the cold and enjoyed the festivities. They marched with a 4-H banner and held old-fashioned lanterns as they sang Christmas carols and shivered their way to the Terra Alta town hall for hot chocolate and cookies.

The annual 4-H Christmas party, caroling, and delivery of fruit baskets to the elderly was canceled this year because of snow and ice.

The Christmas party was held Jan. 13 after the regular meeting. Presents were chosen by each member with a number system for the gift exchange. Faces were aglow, and everyone enjoyed themselves. Refreshments were served by the Travelers' leader, Joann Jenkins.

The following members have entered the upcoming poster and photo contests: Mary Noland, Kim Metheny, Ashly Jenkins, Sara Wilhelm, Tiffany Whetsell, Tiffany Lewis, Greg Nine, Bethany Whetsell, John Sisler, Robin Reed, Chelsie Fultz, Trevor Jenkins, Justin Wilhelm, Zach Uphold, Cassie Fultz, and Lydia DeLauder.

The WVU Basketball Day will be held on Feb. 8 at West Virginia University. There is a $12 fee for admission, registration, and a T-shirt. This will be open to all 4-H'ers. The Travelers 4-H Club will pay the admission fee for its members.

The Travelers will be taking Valentine cups filled with candy to the elderly in the Cranesville area on Feb. 10 at 6 p.m. Cups and candy will be donated by 4-H members' families. Also in February, visual presentations for the month will be given by Cassie Fultz, Lydia DeLauder and Chelsie Fultz. Snacks will be provided by the Metheny family and the Wilhelm family.

Husky Boys Put Away Panthers, Pirates; Ready For Rams' Visit

The scrappy Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team continues to impress as it upped its record to an excellent 9-3 with a 66-43 runaway over Hancock Friday and a 55-48 win over Paw Paw Tuesday. The triumphs came after a 10-day layoff, and give the Huskies much-needed momentum heading into tomorrow night's contest when they defend their homecourt against the powerful Southern Rams.

The first quarter of the Hancock contest was a hard-fought battle that ended with the Huskies holding a slim 17-15 lead. Northern kicked into high gear in the second quarter to mount a 30-19 halftime lead on its way to a 47-31 third-quarter advantage.

Shooting guard Jason Rice sank five three-pointers on the way to netting game-high honors with 23 points. Center Andrew Frantz recorded 14 points, and forward Billy Jones rounded out the powerful junior triumvirate with eight points. Brad Spielman had 13 points to lead the Panthers.

Northern took the junior varsity contest by an unreported score.

Rice recorded 23 points for the second straight contest Tuesday against Paw Paw. The contest was a pitched battle, as the Pirates kept slashing away at Northern's lead to keep things close. NHS was up by just two buckets at the end of each of the first three stanzas — 13-9 after one quarter, 27-24 at the half, and 42-38 as the fourth quarter got under way.

Rice sank a trio of three-pointers on his way to the game-high tally, Frantz recorded 10 points, and forward Aaron Mitchell had a strong showing on both ends of the floor with nine points and 12 rebounds. Guard Matt Younkin dished out six assists before fouling out. W.C. Wilson netted 14 points for Paw Paw.

Northern took the JV contest 38-34, as Brent Beachy hit for 18 points. Jeffrey Fry recorded 14 points for the Pirates.

NHS is set for a big showdown tomorrow night when arch-rival Southern pays a visit for a battle that will be broadcast on 104.5 WKHJ-FM, with pre-game coverage slated to get under way at 7:15 p.m. The heat won't let up after that, for the Huskies follow by hosting powerhouse Allegany Tuesday. Tip-off times for both jayvee outings are 6 p.m., followed by the 7:30 p.m. varsity match-ups.

Rams Win A Thriller Over Campers, Then Cage Lions

Another thrilling, one-point, Western Maryland Interscholastic League victory over Allegany Friday evening in Cumberland, followed by a relatively easy win at Tucker County 24 hours later, put the Southern High School varsity boys back into the win column after suffering a one-point setback at Westmar the previous Tuesday.

The Rams nipped the Campers, 47-46, when Matt Stephens hit a game-winning bucket in the final seconds, and they rolled to a 64-46 victory over the Mountain Lions on Saturday to up their overall record to 9-2. They are 3-1 in WMIL competition.

After edging Allegany 10 days before in Oakland, 46-45, it appeared late in Friday's game that the Campers might win by the exact same score, as the Rams trailed 46-45 with 2:50 to play. They practically handed Alco the game in that final 2½ minutes, as they turned the ball over with 1:38 to go, and again with 45 seconds left.

Southern was forced to foul, several times, in those moments because they did not have enough team fouls to send the Campers to the line. Finally, with 28 seconds left, they committed their seventh foul of the half, but the Allegany shooter missed on the front end of a one-and-one, and the Rams pulled down the rebound.

After a Ram timeout, guard Cory Bosley was able to penetrate the lane and fire the ball to Stephens, who put the ball up and in with just eight seconds remaining, giving the Rams the one-point advantage.

The Campers then set up for a final, game-winning shot, but Aaron Laffey's attempt from the corner bounced high off the rim and time expired.

Ram coach Tom Bosley said that, following the one-point loss to Westmar, his team spent the final two days before the Allegany game working specifically on expiration-of-time scoring strategies.

"We were in the same situation at Westmar, but we didn't execute properly," Bosley said. "But tonight, Cory got penetration and made a nice feed to Matt.

"We weren't going for the last shot," he continued. "We wanted to go for the shot early enough so that, if we missed, we would still have had time to foul, send them to the line, and maybe get one more chance."

Providing another outstanding performance for the Rams was Dennis Tressler, who hit 10 of 12 shots from the floor (83%) and finished with 20 points, a game-high eight rebounds, and three blocks. The 6-4 senior forward hit all eight of his shots in the first half.

Stephens contributed 10 points, while Bosley recorded eight points and five assists.

Pacing Allegany (7-4, 2-2) was Ian Grady with 11 points. Jonathan Rebuck and Shane McDade each had 10 points, and Rebuck also grabbed five rebounds. Laffey finished with nine points.

Ram guard A.J. Bender also had five assists, and Coach Bosley noted the strong play of Bender and Bosley at the guard positions.

"This was the best these two guys have played this season as a tandem," he said. "They had few turnovers, got good penetration, and found Dennis and Matt underneath."

As in the first meeting between the two teams, the score remained close from the opening tip-off. It was knotted at 12-12 at the end of the first quarter, the Rams were on top by four at halftime, 28-24, and they led by one, 37-36, going into the final period. Southern's largest lead was eight points, 34-26, early in the third period, but the Campers responded with an 8-1 run to close the gap.

The Southern junior varsity was topped in the preliminary game, 47-35. Mike Paige, Donovan Vincent, and Lenny Dicken led the Camper jayvees in scoring with 12, 11, and 10 points, respectively, while Brad Reese paced Southern with 12 points.

Tressler excelled once again for the Ram varsity at Tucker County on Satur-

Rams Cruise Past Mtn. Lions, Huskies; Record Climbs To 9-2

The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball squad used strong team efforts to down Tucker County Saturday, 50-43, and crush Northern last night by a whopping 67-41 margin. The victories give the high-flying Rams a 9-2 mark (5-0 WMIL) heading a Monday night make-up game at Keyser.

Southern held sway for the entire Tucker contest, but the determined Mtn. Lions kept clawing away to keep the score fairly close. The Rams were up 13-8 after one quarter, 27-21 at the half, and 37-30 as the fourth quarter opened. That seven-point advantage would turn out to be identical to the Rams' margin of victory.

Junior guard Justine Pagenhardt paced the Rams with a game-high 19 points, while classmate Becca Flanagan hit for 13 from her power forward slot. Casey Taylor, another junior in the underclassman-laden SHS roster (only one senior this year) was a tiger on the Mtn. Lions end of the court, as the 5-5 guard hustled her way to five steals and eight rebounds.

Dani Summerfield and Tracy Teets had 14 and 11 points, respectively, for the Tucker hosts.

SHS took the junior varsity contest by an unreported score.

True to Southern form this year, another player stepped up to lead the varsity squad to victory last night at NHS, as Flanagan scored 19 points and snagged 10 rebounds to pace the 26-point romp.

Southern had an iron-clad grip on the game from the outset, as the Rams rolled up a 23-11 first-quarter advantage, a 40-17 halftime lead, and a 54-24 margin by the end of the third stanza.

SHS Guard Robbin Gregg was one off Flanagan's high-score tally with 18 points, and she nabbed five steals, while Pagenhardt netted 15 points. Diminutive guard Sabrina Scheffel, at 5-3 the shortest Ram on the roster, scrapped her way to seven rebounds and dished out six assists, and Taylor grabbed four steals.

Senior NHS forward Amanda Frantz led the Huskies with 14 points, classmate Heather Lander netted nine from her point guard position, and junior guard Lyndsi Butler contributed eight Northern points.

As could be expected in a cross-county showdown, the game was a very physical affair. Southern was whistled for an uncharacteristic 23 fouls, while Northern committed 17 infractions. The Rams' sloppiness didn't hurt them too much (this time), as SHS hit 11-of-14 free throws compared to NHS's 14-for-27 tally.

Southern's jayvees took their outing by a 44-16 margin, as Kayla Nazelrod connected for 16 Ram points. Tiffany Yoder led NHS with six.

Northern's Huskies (6-7, 1-6 WMIL) visit Allegany Monday, then host Meyersdale on Thursday.

THE REPUBLICAN

day, leading the Rams in scoring with 23 points and 15 rebounds, and Nathan Fitzwater produced one of his best efforts of the year, netting 17 points. Stephens also reached double figures with 12 points, and Bender dished out five assists.

The Rams jumped out to an early lead and never looked back, holding margins of 18-11, 28-18, and 46-34 at the end of the first three quarters. A dozen of Tressler's points were scored in the third period.

Pacing the Mountain Lions were Justin Thompson with 19 points and Adam Helmick with 10. Thompson hit three goals from three-point range.

The Southern junior varsity was defeated in the preliminary contest, 55-40.

The Rams will travel to the Cove this Friday night to take on county rival Northern, and will return home next Tuesday to try to avenge last week's WMIL loss to Westmar.

Winners Of Hoop Shoot Announced By Oakland Elks

A record number of local young people participated in the annual Hoop Shoot free-throw shooting competition, held Saturday at Southern High School and sponsored by Oakland Elks Lodge #2481.

Sixty-two shooters representing six schools — Accident, Broad Ford, Dennett Road, and Kitzmiller elementary, and Southern and Northern middle schools — competed, more than double the number of entries last year.

Winning first places in their respective age and gender divisions were: Laura Griffin, age 8-9, girls; Zack Knotts, 8-9, boys; Emily Bosley, 10-11, girls; Ryan Sweitzer, 10-11, boys; Danielle Daniels, 12-13, girls; and Alex Stuck, 12-13, boys.

Second-place finishers, in the same respective age/gender divisions were: Angel Rasel, Mason Dick, Kayla Petrella, Michael Hardesty, Shayna Sweitzer, and Zak Brosnihan.

Winning third places were: Amanda Sweitzer, Shane Peck, Kathy Hughes, Brian Baker, Juliana Sheets, and Tucker Paugh.

The first- and second-place finishers received trophies, and third-place winners were awarded medals. The winners in each category are invited to compete at the West District contest, to be held in Hagerstown on February 1.

Mountaintop League Games Results Noted

ConDoerr, Midas, Skiles, and Automated Packing were all winners in Mountaintop Basketball League action Sunday afternoon.

ConDoerr topped Plaza Hobby in the first game, 74-65, as Ronald Rhodes poured in 42 points for the winners. Mike Saturday Sr. scored the first eight points of the game for ConDoerr and finished with 10 points. Pacing Plaza were Jason Finch with 16 points, Brett Rice with 12, Ryan Adams with 11, and Ryan White with 10.

Hot shooting by Midas players spelled the second straight defeat of 84 Lumber in game #2. Adam Daskavich led four Midas team members in double figures, as he scored 27 points. Joey DiSimone netted 20, Bryson Meyers scored 18, and C.J. Getson finished with 11. Greg Mortimer hit a game-high 30 points for Midas, and teammate Travis Bohrer contributed 16.

The third game went into overtime before Skiles Bunch emerged with a 78-77 win over Smiley's. The game was knotted at 74 apiece at the end of regulation, and Skiles won the game when the foul shooting of Smiley's went cold in the extra period. Jonathan Price missed three of four opportunities in the final minute and was unable to force another overtime period. Nathan Long led Skiles with 21 points, followed by Nate Panther with 19, Matt Duran with 15, and Bryan Panther with 10. Adam Daskavich, who filled in for a missing Smiley's player, led all scorers with a 39-point performance, but missed two potentially game-winning shots in the final seconds. Price and Oliver Jones also reached double figures for Smiley's with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Automated Packing ran away from Scott Ford in the final game of the day, 84-59, as five Automated players finished in double figures. Mike Davis led the way with 17 points, followed by Zane Harvey with 15, Greg Harvey and James Endler with 13 each, and Hershel Seabolt with 10. Chad Reese scored 19 points to lead Scott Ford, while Michael Boatman finished with 16 and Shaun Myers added 10.

Games slated for this Sunday, Jan. 26, feature: Automotive Machine vs. ConDoerr at 1 p.m.; Plaza Hobby vs. Skiles at 2 p.m.; Smiley's vs. Midas at 3 p.m.; and 84 Lumber vs. Scott Ford at 4 p.m. Respective scorekeepers are: Plaza Hobby, Automotive Machine, Scott Ford, and Smiley's.

Ram Freshmen Fall To Keyser

The freshman boys' basketball team of Southern High School dropped a 60-40 decision to visiting Keyser on Saturday.

The Golden Tornadoes were led in scoring by Chris Szafran with 17 points, Brad Smith with 14, and Isaiah Redmond with 12. The Rams were paced by Jason Wakefield and Joey Tressler with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

It was the fourth win in seven starts for Keyser.

The freshman Rams will play again this Saturday at Frankfort. Tip-off will be at 11 a.m.

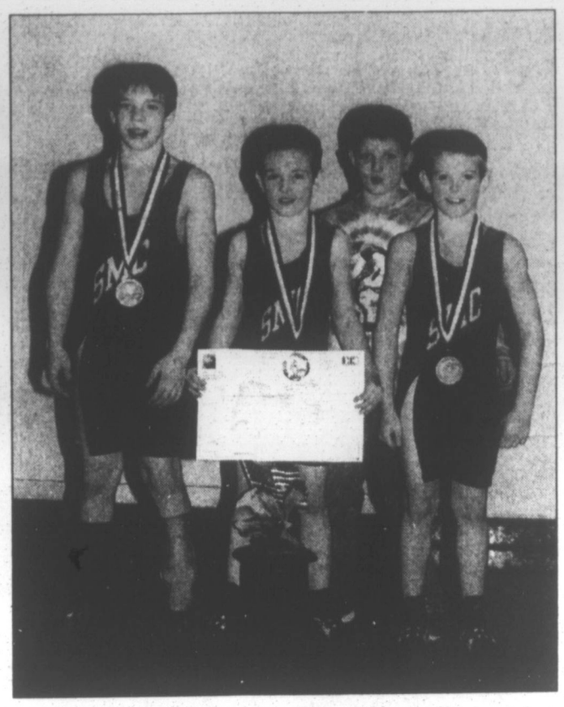
#1 IN THE NATION in his weight division is Oakland youth wrestler Jakob "Bubba" Scheffel, who is pictured above standing atop the winners' platform at the 48th annual Tulsa Nationals, held this past week in Tulsa, Okla. Scheffel, son of George and Anita Scheffel, came through the tournament brackets without having a single point scored against him. Also in the photo at far left is Joe Seay, coach of the United States Olympics wrestling team. Scheffel is also in the photo at right, along with three of his Southern Mat Club teammates. Pictured from left are: Justin Ratliff, who placed fifth in his division; Scheffel; Jason Warnick; and Jakob's brother, George "Brutus" Scheffel, who finished sixth in his division.



Huskies Edge Rams In First Meeting On Mats

For many years the Northern High School wrestling team has dominated most of its opponents, including county rival Southern. However, last Thursday's contest between the Huskies and Rams was one of the most exciting on record, with the Huskies emerging with a 39-34 team victory over a much improved Ram squad.

Two of the matches won by the Huskies via decisions were by a single point, either one of which going the other way would have given the Rams their first win over Northern in many seasons. And in both of those contests, the Huskies were trailing by a point until literally the final seconds.

The Rams took an early lead by winning three of the first four matches, as Casey Kamp won the 103-pound division via a pin, Jeff Gregory recorded a pin in the 119-pound bout, and Mike Steyer won by decision in the 125-pound class.

But the Huskies responded by winning the next six weight classes, with Mitchell Guard, Darric Kamp, and Jordan Brenneman recording pins in the 130-, 152-, and 160-pound divisions.

One of the extremely close contests was in the 135-pound division, in which Northern's Michael Guard was trailing Jeremy Gregory with just five seconds left, but won the match, 5-4, with a last-second takedown.

The other squeaker featured Northern's Danny Ganoe against Scott Wildesen in the 140-pound contest. Ganoe was behind by a point, but gained a takedown with just six seconds left to record an 8-7 decision.

Another big victory for the Huskies was an 11-5 decision by Michael Wolf over Chris Hayhurst, the defending regional champion in the 145-pound class.

The Rams rallied to win three of the four final matches, but it was not enough to overcome the Husky lead.

Southern's Geoff Tressler, Chris Bennett, and Anthony Oliverio all won on pins in the 171-, 215-, and 275-pound divisions, while Northern's Lee Yoder was awarded a forfeit in the 189-pound class.

In other action this past week, the Huskies dropped a 40-34 decision to host Meyersdale on Tuesday. The Rams were scheduled to host Morgantown on Tuesday, but results of that encounter were not received.

Southern Mat Club Members Earn Trophies

Eleven of 16 members of the Southern Mat Club who competed in a youth wrestling tournament in Fairmont, W.Va., Sunday returned home with trophies for placing 4th or better in their respective age/weight classes.

SMC members earning first places were Gavin Murphy, 7-8, 50 pounds, and Coty Rasel, 7-8, 80 pounds.

Second places were won by Scott Cooper, 7-8, 75 pounds; Kahlil Sisler, 9-10, 55 pounds; and Andrew Sweitzer, 9-10, 70 pounds.

Garnering third places were Andrew Britner, 7-8, 70 pounds, and Gavin Murphy, 9-10, 55 pounds, while the following won fourth places: Devin Hamrick, 4 and under, 40 pounds; Justin Ashby, 5-6, 45 pounds; Jacob Hanlin, 7-8, 80 pounds; and Davey Sweitzer, 11-12, 105 pounds.

Also participating were SMC members Travis Newton, Dalton Cooper, Kevin Sisler, Alex McRobie, and Jaxón Schwab.

The team will compete again this Saturday, Jan. 25, in a tournament in Taylor County, W.Va. The SMC will host its own tournament at Southern High School on Feb. 16.

NHS Grapplers Drop A Match To Meyersdale

After edging county rival Southern last Thursday evening, the Northern High School wrestling team dropped a 40-34 decision to host Meyersdale on Tuesday. It was only the second dual meet loss for the Huskies in nine starts.

Earning four pin victories in a row for the Huskies were Danny Ganoe in the 135-pound division, Michael Wolf at 145 pounds, Darric Kamp in the 152-pound bout, and Jordan Brenneman in the 160-pound class.

Casey Kamp recorded a decision in the 103-pound division, and Mike Deem was awarded a forfeit in the 215-pound division.

Gaining pins for Red Raiders were Ryan Murray (112), Don Sanner (119), Keith Hoyman (135), Dan Ackerman (140), and Ron Whitacre (275).

The Huskies were scheduled to wrestle at Keyser last night, but that match was postponed because of weather conditions. They are slated to compete in the Bedford Tournament this weekend, and host Westmar next Wednesday.

All-WMIL Team Omission Noted

Last week's coverage of the All-WMIL volleyball team honorees from Garrett County omitted Second Team selection Amanda Frantz. The senior hitter helped the Huskies to an 8-7 record and a 3-2 WMIL mark, good for third place in the league. She is also a standout for the Northern High varsity girls' basketball team.

The omission is regretted.
